BEHIND THE MIRRORS

Crisp, caustic comment by the author of "The Mirrors of Washington," about prominent politicians, politics and policies—courageous, good natured, yet often shocking truths about those who are the Government. Here's the last word in exposé, by the most brilliant essayist of the times. He shows you Washington as he sees it—and it is indeed an eye-ful.

THE OUTLINE OF SCIENCE

before August 15th. You see, after that date, the price will be $4.50 per volume. Until then, you can secure the work at $3.75 per volume. The first two volumes are now on sale, the third will be published this month, and the fourth in September. $3.00 is $3.00. And you certainly do want this monumental work.

THE QUEEN OF SHEBA

is the title—but that isn't the half of it. You have no idea what an amazing creature she was. Only Phinneas A. Crutch knows—and he hasn't the slightest hesitation about informing the universe of Sheba's most intimate characteristics and experiences. "The Queen of Sheba" sheds totally unexpected light upon a shady historical character. And, oh, what it reveals! $100 worth of laughs for $2.50!

company her husband, the Secretary of State, Rio de Janeiro for the opening of the centennial exposition in August. There will probably be other women in the party, the personnel of which has not been completed further than the appointment of the commission by the President, with the Secretary of State as its head. Mrs. Henry C. Wallace is planning to leave Washington next week for a visit in their home in Indianapolis. Ruth Wallace, the younger daughter of the Secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. Wallace, will leave Washington to-morrow for Inwood, Pa., where she will visit a schoolmate, Miss Mary Fisher. The Ambassador of Brazil, Mr. de Alencar, will start to-morrow for a ten-day stop trip through the North and East. Mr. and Mrs. William F. Dennis left this morning for Atlantic City, where they will spend the month of August. They will be accompanied by Miss Hartley, a granddaughter of the late George Innes. Miss Hartley will tell the secrets of the White House to the young Mrs. George Maxwell, Mrs. Gardner Brown, Mrs. Sydney Fish, Miss Katherine and Miss Frances McKeever will be efficient aids at the Egyptian tents, and will be in the hand and blue, mind as well and the handwriting will be told for $5. Mr. Esmond O'Brien, with his committee, was on hand early to-day giving the finishing touches to the dancing pavilion, and it will be gay with huge tins filled with growing orange and lemon trees. Three great stands on each of the four corners of the fair grounds will hold beautiful lamps of gauze in gold and blue colors. High pillars surrounding the inclosure will hold great baskets of fruits with foliage hanging to the eaves. The color of the fair is the prevailing color of this booth, broken by orange and blue colorings. The floor of the dancing pavilion will accommodate 350 dancers. SOUTHAMPTON, Aug. 3.—Agawam Park was the scene of great activity to-day and nearly every one connected with the street fair, which opens to-morrow, was on the ground, with paint brush and carrying properties for the various booths. Mrs. Lyttleton Fox, chairman of the circus, and the members of her committee were busy placing the banners and arranging the entrance decorations. Mrs. Fox announced to-day that she will be assisted by Mr. Preston Davis and Prince Rospiglioso, who will make their first appearance outside of that place at her circus to-morrow. The pig chute will have a special place on the circus program. Young girls in costume will sell circus lemonade, pop corn, peanuts and balloons, while Mrs. Stewart Walker will sell tickets in a regular circus box outside the entrance. Mrs. Walker will be assisted by Mr. Preston Davis and Prince Rospiglioso, who will be dressed in fantastic costumes. Mrs. Stewart Walker has for the last three years worked earnestly for the street fair, and to-day was in a mood of apron painting the entrance signs and hanging bunting. Mr. and Mrs. Preston Davis are here as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Walker at the Wild Rose, their villa on the Dunes. Mrs. Victor Mapes has her two tents set well to the end of the Midway and was aided to-day in the setting up by Miss Marianne McKeever and her husband, Mr. Victor Mapes, who will read characters by handwriting to-morrow. Mr. Mapes has studied the secrets of handwriting for several years in Paris.

Bell To Be Buried On Top of Mountain Just Before Sunset

Simple, Rustic Ceremony Will Precede Placing Coffin in Tomb Blasted Out of Solid Cape Breton Rock

Silence for Phones In Honor of Inventor

MONTREAL, Aug. 3.—As a mark of respect to Alexander Graham Bell, C. F. Sise, vice-president and general manager of the Bell Telephone Company, of Canada, to-night instructed superintendents in all divisions of the company's territory to suspend service on all lines from 6:25 to 6:26 p. m., Eastern standard time, to-morrow.

It was said last night at the local offices of the telephone company that no suspension had yet been ordered here.

SYDNEY, N. S., Aug. 3.—Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, who died yesterday evening at the summit of Beinn Breagh Mountain with a simple rustic ceremony. The services will take place just before sunset.

A coffin of hard pine, lined with aeroplane linen and having handles of hand-forged iron, will envelop the body. The tomb has been blasted out of solid Cape Breton rock. By Mrs. Bell's wish the coffin was made in the inventor's own workshop and by the laboratory staff which through many years built the structures he needed in his research and experimental work.

A funeral service will be conducted at Mr. Bell's house with only members of the immediate family present. Dr. Bell's tomb is beneath a tetrahedral watch tower, built years ago by the inventor.

From it he looked out over the expanse of Bras d'Or Lakes, or over the partially wooded hills of the Baddeck country. His last watch will be kept over the scene which for more than thirty-five years called him back each summer.

A message to the Bell family from H. B. Thayer, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, follows:

"We extend our deepest sympathy and express grief in the passing of Dr. Bell. History will record his great service to mankind, but in the telephone art, working on the great discovery, are peculiarly appreciative of his genius."

William A. Lane Dead

Former Wall Street Reporter Made Home in Paris

Word has just been received in this city of the death of William A. Lane, who for many years was engaged in active newspaper work in New York City. His first employment was as a Wall Street reporter for "The Evening Post" in the early '80s and for many years he was a railroad and financial reporter for "The Sun."

For the last fifteen years he had resided abroad, before the war in the neighborhood of London and since the war in Paris. He was twice married, first to Marie, daughter of the late Robert T. Ford, and then to Mme. Camille Seydard, formerly of the Metropolitan Opera Company, Mrs. Reid and Ellen, N. Y.

The Tribune Fresh Air Fund

Guest List of Happy Boys and Girls To-day Numbers 3,543; Peak Will be Reached This Week With 4,000 Vacationists in Country

The Tribune Fund's guest list this morning numbers 3,543. That many boys and girls, accustomed to sleep and awaken in close tenement rooms, slept last night in the country and waked up this morning to see great branches waving outside their windows, to hear birds in the treetops.

For some of them—112 to be exact—this was the last of fourteen nights of such sleep, the last awakening amid such surroundings. Their vacations are over and they return to the city to-day. But they should return far different boys and girls from those who went away two weeks ago. In Danvers, Clifton Springs and Nantuxet, N. J., and Pittsford, N. J., where they have been entertained for their vacation, every care has been taken for their welfare and happiness.

The return of these 112 to-day won't decrease the Fund's guest list any, for while they are returning 293 other children will be going out to begin their vacation to-morrow 500 other children will exchange places, that number returning from two of the Fund's camps and a like number going out to take their places.

Soon to Have 4,000 Guests

During the week beginning to-day the number of Tribune guests in the country will be about 4,000. Each day some children will wind up their outings and return to the city, but each day the outgoing parties will offset or exceed in numbers the returning ones. Here's the schedule of outgoing parties:

Table listing outgoing parties for August 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31. Includes names like Rochester, N. Y., Danvers, N. J., Clifton Springs, N. J., Pittsford, N. J., etc.

Contributions to the Tribune Fresh Air Fund
