

Fox Case Stirs Echo of Shonts Alienation Suit

First Husband of Defendant
Brought Fruitless Action
Against I. R. T. Executive
Divorce Suit Reveals

Mrs. Fox Loses Her Motion

Attempt to Turn Over $750
Fee on Changing Her
Counsel Denied by Court

The divorce suit of Hugh Corby Fox, of 130 West Fifty-seventh Street, a wealthy dealer in railway supplies, against Mrs. Anna Lovell Fox, reveals the fact that the defendant formerly was the wife of Frederick Hipsch, who in 1909 sued the late Theodore P. Shonts, president of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, for $200,000 for alienation of the affections of Mrs. Hipsch. In that action Mr. Shonts proved he was sick in bed on the date borne by a telegram which Mr. Hipsch charged Mr. Shonts had sent to Mrs. Hipsch. The alienation suit was dropped.

Mr. Hipsch later permitted his wife to obtain a divorce from him in Reno, and she became the second wife of Mr. Fox, whose first wife, Mrs. Marguerite Hitt Fox, divorced him in Reno in 1911.

In a phase of the Fox divorce case now pending, which had to do with the counsel fee awarded the wife and which was decided yesterday by Justice Marsh, one of the lawyers in the case refrained from using the name of Mr. Shonts because he was dead, referring to him merely as "a well known resident of New York City." The papers placed on file in the Supreme Court yesterday were submitted in connection with a motion by Mrs. Fox to compel her former attorney, John F. Cowan, former justice of the Municipal Court, to turn over to her present attorney, Edward J. Reilly, a counsel fee of $750 paid to Mr. Cowan, except a reasonable sum which Mr. Cowan was to retain for services already rendered by him. Mrs. Fox said she was without funds to pay her new lawyer.

Justice Marsh denied her motion, saying that Mrs. Fox could bring suit to determine the value of Mr. Cowan's services. This, she said, she did not want to do, fearing that her former attorney, having been a member of the Municipal Council, would have an advantage over her if she brought her suit there. Mrs. Fox explained her change of counsel by saying Mr. Cowan was "too friendly" with John D. Lindsey.

In opposition to the motion of his former client, Mr. Cowan said he had represented Mrs. Fox in her matrimonial troubles for many years and had earned more than $750 received by him. He said that Mrs. Fox, while still the wife of Mr. Hipsch, consulted him regarding the alienation suit brought by her first husband against Mr. Shonts (whose name Mr. Cowan did not use).

According to Mr. Cowan, he brought suit for Mrs. Fox in the Municipal Court to compel her husband to continue the payment of $300 a month to his wife, according to the terms of a separation agreement. Mr. Fox declared the agreement abrogated because, as he alleged, his wife had failed to keep her promise not to drink. Mr. Fox had barred Mrs. Fox from their home because of her alleged addiction to liquor. Upon her promise to abstain he took her back. After the separation agreement was made Mr. Fox ceased his payments, charging that his wife had been seen intoxicated in public places.

Mr. Cowan told Justice Marsh that the resentment of Mrs. Fox toward him was due to his refusal to have anything to do with a collusive divorce, which, he said, Mrs. Fox suggested might be obtained in Rhode Island. Mrs. Fox said that she has a good defense in the present divorce suit and was confident her husband would not secure a decree.

Appeal of Rutgers Warder Expected To Be Heard in Albany This Week

Rutgers Warder, of Ilion, N. Y., is preparing in the death house at Sing Sing prison, to make a final fight for his life before the Court of Appeals in Albany, which hear his case, according to information received at the prison yesterday, Monday or Tuesday of this week.

Embodies in Warder's case on appeal are believed to be several suggestions made by Mrs. Linus Werner, aged mother of Henry Werner, whom Warder was convicted of killing. Mrs. Werner never has believed Warder guilty of the crime, and it was learned yesterday from the Rev. Anthony N. Peterson, Protestant chaplain at the prison, that she was taken recently in the death house to talk over measures for saving his life.

Although confident of Warder's innocence, Mrs. Werner is bitter against a woman who was tried as his accomplice and acquitted.

Two Bodies Found in River
Man and Woman Died at Different Times, Police Say

The unidentified bodies of a man and a woman were found yesterday in East River off the Grand Pier at North Beach, Queens. The police of the Astoria precinct estimated that the body of the man had been in the water for more than a month and that of the woman about a week. There was no evidence on either body of foul play.

The man was about fifty years old, short and heavy, with black hair. The woman was about forty-five, short and dark. On the hem of her skirt was marked "P. A. Z. 82." It was said at the Astoria station that marks on the underwear of the woman indicated that she had been an employee of a city institution.

Charged With Murder of Girl

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 14.—A formal charge of murder was lodged to-day against Ralph Myles, a soldier. The body of Florence Miles, with a bullet wound in the breast, was found in a park here last June. Myles was lying beside the body, also with a bullet in the breast. He was taken to the military hospital, where he recovered.
