

AMUSEMENTS.

WOODS' MUSEUM—Afternoon, Cortice Brothers. Evening, Rag Pickers of Paris. BOOTH'S THEATRE, 234 ft. between 5th and 6th av.

The Sun.

THURSDAY, JULY 15, 1899. Terms of the Sun. Daily, per year in advance, $10.00. Single copies, 5 cents.

The Pennsylvania Democratic Convention. The Hon. ASA PACKER was yesterday nominated for Governor of Pennsylvania by the Democratic State Convention.

Will Mr. Brewster Explain? We have received from Philadelphia a letter which is apparently intended for publication, detailing various particulars in the personal history of the Hon. B. HARRIS BREWSTER, Attorney-General of Pennsylvania.

The neighbors of the Hon. SANFORD E. CURRIE at Albion presented him with a watch worth $100, last Saturday evening, as a testimonial of their esteem. Mr. Currie is one of the first statesmen of New York, and before he finishes his career is very likely to receive still higher testimonials.

The Arbeiter Union, the organ of the German workmen of this city, has a thoughtful and well-written article on the influence of the American climate upon physical constitutions and health. It refers to the well-known greater dryness of our atmosphere in comparison with that of Europe, and shows how this peculiarity develops an appetite for alcoholic drinks.

But there is one topic on which we should like to have a little explanation from Mr. BREWSTER. In fact, it would seem to be due to his own character and his elevated public station that he should no longer keep silence upon the subject. We refer, of course, to his connection with JOHN RUSSELL YOUNG's conspiracy to defraud the Associated Press.

The platform is particularly suited to the candidate. It is like an old-fashioned Democratic gun, brass-mounted and flint-locked. It recognizes nothing and assumes everything. It declares that the Keystone State will never give up self-government, states the Fifteenth Amendment, insults the Democratic negroes of Virginia by scoffing at universal suffrage, sneers at the reconstruction policy, wants taxation abolished, and puts the workmen, the veterans, and the Cuban patriots on the back.

The Tehuantepec Railroad. An enterprise has recently been undertaken by a party of American capitalists, headed by our distinguished fellow townsman MARK HALL O. ROBERTS, Esq., which, though not of so great magnitude as the Pacific Railroad, is fully equal to it in commercial importance.

The point of departure of the railroad from the Atlantic side is Minatitlan, a town situated on the Coahuacalcoles river, twenty miles from the Gulf of Mexico. This point is accessible to sea-going steamers at all stages of water, and with the improvements to be made and the lighthouses to be erected, there will be no difficulties of navigation to be encountered.

that having been found by experience to be the most economical in working as well as in first cost. The preliminary carriage road will have the same general location as the railroad, but will follow a slightly different course, making its total length 200 miles. It is to have a carriage-way fifteen feet wide, and the timbers on each side to be cleared to the width of 50 feet. Ten substantial truss bridges will be required for it, besides a number of smaller bridges and culverts.

The enforcement of the new liquor law in Massachusetts is producing a great stir, and will be likely to produce a greater one at the next election. The Democratic candidates will be against the law, and the Republican politicians will fight as shy of it as they can; but they cannot avoid the responsibility of their acts.

The August Atlantic Monthly is a "star" number, having a delightful essay by Dickens "On Mr. Fechter's Actings," and an exquisite poem by George Eliot, besides the usual variety of articles by some of the best known of American magicians.

Mr. J. ELIOT CAROL. Contemporary with these lectures there will be a series on language and literature by Professor W. D. WHITNEY of Yale, Mr. W. D. HOWELLS, and Mr. F. BÖCHER.

The alliance of a daughter of the King of Austria is a delicate revenge which the Hapsburgs are taking upon the Hohenzollerns. Poor Austria, unless against the aggressive policy of Prussia, has no other alternative but to mark her disappointment by spiteful little acts which tend only to exasperate her triumphant antagonist, without mending her own case, and without restoring the dispossessed German princes to their thrones.

The Tribune has twice or three printed the income returns of residents of this city. Yesterday it varied its performance, and published a list of well-known gentlemen who had failed to return incomes. Among the names on this list were those of MANTON MARBLE, W. C. CARROLL, FRANCIS P. WHITNEY, FRANK LESLIE, W. M. ELLIOTT, SAMUEL J. TILDEN, ARON VANDERBILT, and AUGUSTUS F. BROWN.

The Hon. FRANKLIN WOOD'S name is also on this list. We happen to know that Mr. WOOD owns various lots of land, which he has been holding, awaiting a rise in real estate. The local taxes on this land have more than eaten up Mr. WOOD'S income. Probably the majority of the gentlemen named by the Tribune are similarly situated.

The neighbors of the Hon. SANFORD E. CURRIE at Albion presented him with a watch worth $100, last Saturday evening, as a testimonial of their esteem. Mr. Currie is one of the first statesmen of New York, and before he finishes his career is very likely to receive still higher testimonials.

The Arbeiter Union, the organ of the German workmen of this city, has a thoughtful and well-written article on the influence of the American climate upon physical constitutions and health. It refers to the well-known greater dryness of our atmosphere in comparison with that of Europe, and shows how this peculiarity develops an appetite for alcoholic drinks.

But there is one topic on which we should like to have a little explanation from Mr. BREWSTER. In fact, it would seem to be due to his own character and his elevated public station that he should no longer keep silence upon the subject. We refer, of course, to his connection with JOHN RUSSELL YOUNG's conspiracy to defraud the Associated Press.

The platform is particularly suited to the candidate. It is like an old-fashioned Democratic gun, brass-mounted and flint-locked. It recognizes nothing and assumes everything. It declares that the Keystone State will never give up self-government, states the Fifteenth Amendment, insults the Democratic negroes of Virginia by scoffing at universal suffrage, sneers at the reconstruction policy, wants taxation abolished, and puts the workmen, the veterans, and the Cuban patriots on the back.

The Tehuantepec Railroad. An enterprise has recently been undertaken by a party of American capitalists, headed by our distinguished fellow townsman MARK HALL O. ROBERTS, Esq., which, though not of so great magnitude as the Pacific Railroad, is fully equal to it in commercial importance.

The point of departure of the railroad from the Atlantic side is Minatitlan, a town situated on the Coahuacalcoles river, twenty miles from the Gulf of Mexico. This point is accessible to sea-going steamers at all stages of water, and with the improvements to be made and the lighthouses to be erected, there will be no difficulties of navigation to be encountered.

that having been found by experience to be the most economical in working as well as in first cost. The preliminary carriage road will have the same general location as the railroad, but will follow a slightly different course, making its total length 200 miles. It is to have a carriage-way fifteen feet wide, and the timbers on each side to be cleared to the width of 50 feet. Ten substantial truss bridges will be required for it, besides a number of smaller bridges and culverts.

The enforcement of the new liquor law in Massachusetts is producing a great stir, and will be likely to produce a greater one at the next election. The Democratic candidates will be against the law, and the Republican politicians will fight as shy of it as they can; but they cannot avoid the responsibility of their acts.

The August Atlantic Monthly is a "star" number, having a delightful essay by Dickens "On Mr. Fechter's Actings," and an exquisite poem by George Eliot, besides the usual variety of articles by some of the best known of American magicians.

The neighbors of the Hon. SANFORD E. CURRIE at Albion presented him with a watch worth $100, last Saturday evening, as a testimonial of their esteem. Mr. Currie is one of the first statesmen of New York, and before he finishes his career is very likely to receive still higher testimonials.

Mr. J. ELIOT CAROL. Contemporary with these lectures there will be a series on language and literature by Professor W. D. WHITNEY of Yale, Mr. W. D. HOWELLS, and Mr. F. BÖCHER.

The alliance of a daughter of the King of Austria is a delicate revenge which the Hapsburgs are taking upon the Hohenzollerns. Poor Austria, unless against the aggressive policy of Prussia, has no other alternative but to mark her disappointment by spiteful little acts which tend only to exasperate her triumphant antagonist, without mending her own case, and without restoring the dispossessed German princes to their thrones.

The Tribune has twice or three printed the income returns of residents of this city. Yesterday it varied its performance, and published a list of well-known gentlemen who had failed to return incomes. Among the names on this list were those of MANTON MARBLE, W. C. CARROLL, FRANCIS P. WHITNEY, FRANK LESLIE, W. M. ELLIOTT, SAMUEL J. TILDEN, ARON VANDERBILT, and AUGUSTUS F. BROWN.

The Hon. FRANKLIN WOOD'S name is also on this list. We happen to know that Mr. WOOD owns various lots of land, which he has been holding, awaiting a rise in real estate. The local taxes on this land have more than eaten up Mr. WOOD'S income. Probably the majority of the gentlemen named by the Tribune are similarly situated.

The neighbors of the Hon. SANFORD E. CURRIE at Albion presented him with a watch worth $100, last Saturday evening, as a testimonial of their esteem. Mr. Currie is one of the first statesmen of New York, and before he finishes his career is very likely to receive still higher testimonials.

The Arbeiter Union, the organ of the German workmen of this city, has a thoughtful and well-written article on the influence of the American climate upon physical constitutions and health. It refers to the well-known greater dryness of our atmosphere in comparison with that of Europe, and shows how this peculiarity develops an appetite for alcoholic drinks.

But there is one topic on which we should like to have a little explanation from Mr. BREWSTER. In fact, it would seem to be due to his own character and his elevated public station that he should no longer keep silence upon the subject. We refer, of course, to his connection with JOHN RUSSELL YOUNG's conspiracy to defraud the Associated Press.

The platform is particularly suited to the candidate. It is like an old-fashioned Democratic gun, brass-mounted and flint-locked. It recognizes nothing and assumes everything. It declares that the Keystone State will never give up self-government, states the Fifteenth Amendment, insults the Democratic negroes of Virginia by scoffing at universal suffrage, sneers at the reconstruction policy, wants taxation abolished, and puts the workmen, the veterans, and the Cuban patriots on the back.

The Tehuantepec Railroad. An enterprise has recently been undertaken by a party of American capitalists, headed by our distinguished fellow townsman MARK HALL O. ROBERTS, Esq., which, though not of so great magnitude as the Pacific Railroad, is fully equal to it in commercial importance.

The point of departure of the railroad from the Atlantic side is Minatitlan, a town situated on the Coahuacalcoles river, twenty miles from the Gulf of Mexico. This point is accessible to sea-going steamers at all stages of water, and with the improvements to be made and the lighthouses to be erected, there will be no difficulties of navigation to be encountered.

that having been found by experience to be the most economical in working as well as in first cost. The preliminary carriage road will have the same general location as the railroad, but will follow a slightly different course, making its total length 200 miles. It is to have a carriage-way fifteen feet wide, and the timbers on each side to be cleared to the width of 50 feet. Ten substantial truss bridges will be required for it, besides a number of smaller bridges and culverts.

The enforcement of the new liquor law in Massachusetts is producing a great stir, and will be likely to produce a greater one at the next election. The Democratic candidates will be against the law, and the Republican politicians will fight as shy of it as they can; but they cannot avoid the responsibility of their acts.

The August Atlantic Monthly is a "star" number, having a delightful essay by Dickens "On Mr. Fechter's Actings," and an exquisite poem by George Eliot, besides the usual variety of articles by some of the best known of American magicians.

The neighbors of the Hon. SANFORD E. CURRIE at Albion presented him with a watch worth $100, last Saturday evening, as a testimonial of their esteem. Mr. Currie is one of the first statesmen of New York, and before he finishes his career is very likely to receive still higher testimonials.

Mr. J. ELIOT CAROL. Contemporary with these lectures there will be a series on language and literature by Professor W. D. WHITNEY of Yale, Mr. W. D. HOWELLS, and Mr. F. BÖCHER.

The alliance of a daughter of the King of Austria is a delicate revenge which the Hapsburgs are taking upon the Hohenzollerns. Poor Austria, unless against the aggressive policy of Prussia, has no other alternative but to mark her disappointment by spiteful little acts which tend only to exasperate her triumphant antagonist, without mending her own case, and without restoring the dispossessed German princes to their thrones.

The Tribune has twice or three printed the income returns of residents of this city. Yesterday it varied its performance, and published a list of well-known gentlemen who had failed to return incomes. Among the names on this list were those of MANTON MARBLE, W. C. CARROLL, FRANCIS P. WHITNEY, FRANK LESLIE, W. M. ELLIOTT, SAMUEL J. TILDEN, ARON VANDERBILT, and AUGUSTUS F. BROWN.

The Hon. FRANKLIN WOOD'S name is also on this list. We happen to know that Mr. WOOD owns various lots of land, which he has been holding, awaiting a rise in real estate. The local taxes on this land have more than eaten up Mr. WOOD'S income. Probably the majority of the gentlemen named by the Tribune are similarly situated.

The neighbors of the Hon. SANFORD E. CURRIE at Albion presented him with a watch worth $100, last Saturday evening, as a testimonial of their esteem. Mr. Currie is one of the first statesmen of New York, and before he finishes his career is very likely to receive still higher testimonials.

The Arbeiter Union, the organ of the German workmen of this city, has a thoughtful and well-written article on the influence of the American climate upon physical constitutions and health. It refers to the well-known greater dryness of our atmosphere in comparison with that of Europe, and shows how this peculiarity develops an appetite for alcoholic drinks.

But there is one topic on which we should like to have a little explanation from Mr. BREWSTER. In fact, it would seem to be due to his own character and his elevated public station that he should no longer keep silence upon the subject. We refer, of course, to his connection with JOHN RUSSELL YOUNG's conspiracy to defraud the Associated Press.

The platform is particularly suited to the candidate. It is like an old-fashioned Democratic gun, brass-mounted and flint-locked. It recognizes nothing and assumes everything. It declares that the Keystone State will never give up self-government, states the Fifteenth Amendment, insults the Democratic negroes of Virginia by scoffing at universal suffrage, sneers at the reconstruction policy, wants taxation abolished, and puts the workmen, the veterans, and the Cuban patriots on the back.

The Tehuantepec Railroad. An enterprise has recently been undertaken by a party of American capitalists, headed by our distinguished fellow townsman MARK HALL O. ROBERTS, Esq., which, though not of so great magnitude as the Pacific Railroad, is fully equal to it in commercial importance.

The point of departure of the railroad from the Atlantic side is Minatitlan, a town situated on the Coahuacalcoles river, twenty miles from the Gulf of Mexico. This point is accessible to sea-going steamers at all stages of water, and with the improvements to be made and the lighthouses to be erected, there will be no difficulties of navigation to be encountered.

that having been found by experience to be the most economical in working as well as in first cost. The preliminary carriage road will have the same general location as the railroad, but will follow a slightly different course, making its total length 200 miles. It is to have a carriage-way fifteen feet wide, and the timbers on each side to be cleared to the width of 50 feet. Ten substantial truss bridges will be required for it, besides a number of smaller bridges and culverts.

The enforcement of the new liquor law in Massachusetts is producing a great stir, and will be likely to produce a greater one at the next election. The Democratic candidates will be against the law, and the Republican politicians will fight as shy of it as they can; but they cannot avoid the responsibility of their acts.

The August Atlantic Monthly is a "star" number, having a delightful essay by Dickens "On Mr. Fechter's Actings," and an exquisite poem by George Eliot, besides the usual variety of articles by some of the best known of American magicians.

The neighbors of the Hon. SANFORD E. CURRIE at Albion presented him with a watch worth $100, last Saturday evening, as a testimonial of their esteem. Mr. Currie is one of the first statesmen of New York, and before he finishes his career is very likely to receive still higher testimonials.

Mr. J. ELIOT CAROL. Contemporary with these lectures there will be a series on language and literature by Professor W. D. WHITNEY of Yale, Mr. W. D. HOWELLS, and Mr. F. BÖCHER.

The alliance of a daughter of the King of Austria is a delicate revenge which the Hapsburgs are taking upon the Hohenzollerns. Poor Austria, unless against the aggressive policy of Prussia, has no other alternative but to mark her disappointment by spiteful little acts which tend only to exasperate her triumphant antagonist, without mending her own case, and without restoring the dispossessed German princes to their thrones.

The Tribune has twice or three printed the income returns of residents of this city. Yesterday it varied its performance, and published a list of well-known gentlemen who had failed to return incomes. Among the names on this list were those of MANTON MARBLE, W. C. CARROLL, FRANCIS P. WHITNEY, FRANK LESLIE, W. M. ELLIOTT, SAMUEL J. TILDEN, ARON VANDERBILT, and AUGUSTUS F. BROWN.

The Hon. FRANKLIN WOOD'S name is also on this list. We happen to know that Mr. WOOD owns various lots of land, which he has been holding, awaiting a rise in real estate. The local taxes on this land have more than eaten up Mr. WOOD'S income. Probably the majority of the gentlemen named by the Tribune are similarly situated.

The neighbors of the Hon. SANFORD E. CURRIE at Albion presented him with a watch worth $100, last Saturday evening, as a testimonial of their esteem. Mr. Currie is one of the first statesmen of New York, and before he finishes his career is very likely to receive still higher testimonials.

The Arbeiter Union, the organ of the German workmen of this city, has a thoughtful and well-written article on the influence of the American climate upon physical constitutions and health. It refers to the well-known greater dryness of our atmosphere in comparison with that of Europe, and shows how this peculiarity develops an appetite for alcoholic drinks.

But there is one topic on which we should like to have a little explanation from Mr. BREWSTER. In fact, it would seem to be due to his own character and his elevated public station that he should no longer keep silence upon the subject. We refer, of course, to his connection with JOHN RUSSELL YOUNG's conspiracy to defraud the Associated Press.

The platform is particularly suited to the candidate. It is like an old-fashioned Democratic gun, brass-mounted and flint-locked. It recognizes nothing and assumes everything. It declares that the Keystone State will never give up self-government, states the Fifteenth Amendment, insults the Democratic negroes of Virginia by scoffing at universal suffrage, sneers at the reconstruction policy, wants taxation abolished, and puts the workmen, the veterans, and the Cuban patriots on the back.

The Tehuantepec Railroad. An enterprise has recently been undertaken by a party of American capitalists, headed by our distinguished fellow townsman MARK HALL O. ROBERTS, Esq., which, though not of so great magnitude as the Pacific Railroad, is fully equal to it in commercial importance.

The point of departure of the railroad from the Atlantic side is Minatitlan, a town situated on the Coahuacalcoles river, twenty miles from the Gulf of Mexico. This point is accessible to sea-going steamers at all stages of water, and with the improvements to be made and the lighthouses to be erected, there will be no difficulties of navigation to be encountered.

that having been found by experience to be the most economical in working as well as in first cost. The preliminary carriage road will have the same general location as the railroad, but will follow a slightly different course, making its total length 200 miles. It is to have a carriage-way fifteen feet wide, and the timbers on each side to be cleared to the width of 50 feet. Ten substantial truss bridges will be required for it, besides a number of smaller bridges and culverts.

The enforcement of the new liquor law in Massachusetts is producing a great stir, and will be likely to produce a greater one at the next election. The Democratic candidates will be against the law, and the Republican politicians will fight as shy of it as they can; but they cannot avoid the responsibility of their acts.

The August Atlantic Monthly is a "star" number, having a delightful essay by Dickens "On Mr. Fechter's Actings," and an exquisite poem by George Eliot, besides the usual variety of articles by some of the best known of American magicians.

The neighbors of the Hon. SANFORD E. CURRIE at Albion presented him with a watch worth $100, last Saturday evening, as a testimonial of their esteem. Mr. Currie is one of the first statesmen of New York, and before he finishes his career is very likely to receive still higher testimonials.

Mr. J. ELIOT CAROL. Contemporary with these lectures there will be a series on language and literature by Professor W. D. WHITNEY of Yale, Mr. W. D. HOWELLS, and Mr. F. BÖCHER.

The alliance of a daughter of the King of Austria is a delicate revenge which the Hapsburgs are taking upon the Hohenzollerns. Poor Austria, unless against the aggressive policy of Prussia, has no other alternative but to mark her disappointment by spiteful little acts which tend only to exasperate her triumphant antagonist, without mending her own case, and without restoring the dispossessed German princes to their thrones.

The Tribune has twice or three printed the income returns of residents of this city. Yesterday it varied its performance, and published a list of well-known gentlemen who had failed to return incomes. Among the names on this list were those of MANTON MARBLE, W. C. CARROLL, FRANCIS P. WHITNEY, FRANK LESLIE, W. M. ELLIOTT, SAMUEL J. TILDEN, ARON VANDERBILT, and AUGUSTUS F. BROWN.

The Hon. FRANKLIN WOOD'S name is also on this list. We happen to know that Mr. WOOD owns various lots of land, which he has been holding, awaiting a rise in real estate. The local taxes on this land have more than eaten up Mr. WOOD'S income. Probably the majority of the gentlemen named by the Tribune are similarly situated.

The neighbors of the Hon. SANFORD E. CURRIE at Albion presented him with a watch worth $100, last Saturday evening, as a testimonial of their esteem. Mr. Currie is one of the first statesmen of New York, and before he finishes his career is very likely to receive still higher testimonials.

The Arbeiter Union, the organ of the German workmen of this city, has a thoughtful and well-written article on the influence of the American climate upon physical constitutions and health. It refers to the well-known greater dryness of our atmosphere in comparison with that of Europe, and shows how this peculiarity develops an appetite for alcoholic drinks.

But there is one topic on which we should like to have a little explanation from Mr. BREWSTER. In fact, it would seem to be due to his own character and his elevated public station that he should no longer keep silence upon the subject. We refer, of course, to his connection with JOHN RUSSELL YOUNG's conspiracy to defraud the Associated Press.

The platform is particularly suited to the candidate. It is like an old-fashioned Democratic gun, brass-mounted and flint-locked. It recognizes nothing and assumes everything. It declares that the Keystone State will never give up self-government, states the Fifteenth Amendment, insults the Democratic negroes of Virginia by scoffing at universal suffrage, sneers at the reconstruction policy, wants taxation abolished, and puts the workmen, the veterans, and the Cuban patriots on the back.

The Tehuantepec Railroad. An enterprise has recently been undertaken by a party of American capitalists, headed by our distinguished fellow townsman MARK HALL O. ROBERTS, Esq., which, though not of so great magnitude as the Pacific Railroad, is fully equal to it in commercial importance.

The point of departure of the railroad from the Atlantic side is Minatitlan, a town situated on the Coahuacalcoles river, twenty miles from the Gulf of Mexico. This point is accessible to sea-going steamers at all stages of water, and with the improvements to be made and the lighthouses to be erected, there will be no difficulties of navigation to be encountered.

that having been found by experience to be the most economical in working as well as in first cost. The preliminary carriage road will have the same general location as the railroad, but will follow a slightly different course, making its total length 200 miles. It is to have a carriage-way fifteen feet wide, and the timbers on each side to be cleared to the width of 50 feet. Ten substantial truss bridges will be required for it, besides a number of smaller bridges and culverts.

The enforcement of the new liquor law in Massachusetts is producing a great stir, and will be likely to produce a greater one at the next election. The Democratic candidates will be against the law, and the Republican politicians will fight as shy of it as they can; but they cannot avoid the responsibility of their acts.

The August Atlantic Monthly is a "star" number, having a delightful essay by Dickens "On Mr. Fechter's Actings," and an exquisite poem by George Eliot, besides the usual variety of articles by some of the best known of American magicians.

The neighbors of the Hon. SANFORD E. CURRIE at Albion presented him with a watch worth $100, last Saturday evening, as a testimonial of their esteem. Mr. Currie is one of the first statesmen of New York, and before he finishes his career is very likely to receive still higher testimonials.

Mr. J. ELIOT CAROL. Contemporary with these lectures there will be a series on language and literature by Professor W. D. WHITNEY of Yale, Mr. W. D. HOWELLS, and Mr. F. BÖCHER.

The alliance of a daughter of the King of Austria is a delicate revenge which the Hapsburgs are taking upon the Hohenzollerns. Poor Austria, unless against the aggressive policy of Prussia, has no other alternative but to mark her disappointment by spiteful little acts which tend only to exasperate her triumphant antagonist, without mending her own case, and without restoring the dispossessed German princes to their thrones.

The Tribune has twice or three printed the income returns of residents of this city. Yesterday it varied its performance, and published a list of well-known gentlemen who had failed to return incomes. Among the names on this list were those of MANTON MARBLE, W. C. CARROLL, FRANCIS P. WHITNEY, FRANK LESLIE, W. M. ELLIOTT, SAMUEL J. TILDEN, ARON VANDERBILT, and AUGUSTUS F. BROWN.

The Hon. FRANKLIN WOOD'S name is also on this list. We happen to know that Mr. WOOD owns various lots of land, which he has been holding, awaiting a rise in real estate. The local taxes on this land have more than eaten up Mr. WOOD'S income. Probably the majority of the gentlemen named by the Tribune are similarly situated.

The neighbors of the Hon. SANFORD E. CURRIE at Albion presented him with a watch worth $100, last Saturday evening, as a testimonial of their esteem. Mr. Currie is one of the first statesmen of New York, and before he finishes his career is very likely to receive still higher testimonials.

The Arbeiter Union, the organ of the German workmen of this city, has a thoughtful and well-written article on the influence of the American climate upon physical constitutions and health. It refers to the well-known greater dryness of our atmosphere in comparison with that of Europe, and shows how this peculiarity develops an appetite for alcoholic drinks.

But there is one topic on which we should like to have a little explanation from Mr. BREWSTER. In fact, it would seem to be due to his own character and his elevated public station that he should no longer keep silence upon the subject. We refer, of course, to his connection with JOHN RUSSELL YOUNG's conspiracy to defraud the Associated Press.

The platform is particularly suited to the candidate. It is like an old-fashioned Democratic gun, brass-mounted and flint-locked. It recognizes nothing and assumes everything. It declares that the Keystone State will never give up self-government, states the Fifteenth Amendment, insults the Democratic negroes of Virginia by scoffing at universal suffrage, sneers at the reconstruction policy, wants taxation abolished, and puts the workmen, the veterans, and the Cuban patriots on the back.

The Tehuantepec Railroad. An enterprise has recently been undertaken by a party of American capitalists, headed by our distinguished fellow townsman MARK HALL O. ROBERTS, Esq., which, though not of so great magnitude as the Pacific Railroad, is fully equal to it in commercial importance.

The point of departure of the railroad from the Atlantic side is Minatitlan, a town situated on the Coahuacalcoles river, twenty miles from the Gulf of Mexico. This point is accessible to sea-going steamers at all stages of water, and with the improvements to be made and the lighthouses to be erected, there will be no difficulties of navigation to be encountered.

that having been found by experience to be the most economical in working as well as in first cost. The preliminary carriage road will have the same general location as the railroad, but will follow a slightly different course, making its total length 200 miles. It is to have a carriage-way fifteen feet wide, and the timbers on each side to be cleared to the width of 50 feet. Ten substantial truss bridges will be required for it, besides a number of smaller bridges and culverts.

The enforcement of the new liquor law in Massachusetts is producing a great stir, and will be likely to produce a greater one at the next election. The Democratic candidates will be against the law, and the Republican politicians will fight as shy of it as they can; but they cannot avoid the responsibility of their acts.

The August Atlantic Monthly is a "star" number, having a delightful essay by Dickens "On Mr. Fechter's Actings," and an exquisite poem by George Eliot, besides the usual variety of articles by some of the best known of American magicians.

The neighbors of the Hon. SANFORD E. CURRIE at Albion presented him with a watch worth $100, last Saturday evening, as a testimonial of their esteem. Mr. Currie is one of the first statesmen of New York, and before he finishes his career is very likely to receive still higher testimonials.

THE PRESIDENTIAL FIELD.

Mr. Seward's Fourth of July Speech in San Francisco. At the celebration of the anniversary of the Fourth of July in California, San Francisco, Monday, the 5th inst., after the orator of the day, H. H. Haight, had referred eloquently to the terms of the guest, the Hon. Wm. H. Seward, he was interrupted by loud and continuous applause.

At the close of the oration the President proposed three cheers for the venerable statesman, the city's guest, Hon. Wm. H. Seward. They were given with enthusiasm, and the waving of hands, and the cheering, called Mr. Seward to his feet, who then addressed the assembly.

After the applause subsided, S. M. Mayer came forward and sang the "Star-spangled Banner" with fine effect, the chorus being given by his singers and the entire audience.

The proceedings were closed by singing the Doxology, the Prayers, and the benediction, which were given by Mr. Seward, joined with others in the solemn words of prayer.

After the closing exercises, Mr. Seward was escorted to the "Grand Hotel" by the Marshal and Aides, and then to the residence of the President, where he had a quiet night's rest.

After the applause subsided, S. M. Mayer came forward and sang the "Star-spangled Banner" with fine effect, the chorus being given by his singers and the entire audience.

The proceedings were closed by singing the Doxology, the Prayers, and the benediction, which were given by Mr. Seward, joined with others in the solemn words of prayer.

After the closing exercises, Mr. Seward was escorted to the "Grand Hotel" by the Marshal and Aides, and then to the residence of the President, where he had a quiet night's rest.

After the applause subsided, S. M. Mayer came forward and sang the "Star-spangled Banner" with fine effect, the chorus being given by his singers and the entire audience.

The proceedings were closed by singing the Doxology, the Prayers, and the benediction, which were given by Mr. Seward, joined with others in the solemn words of prayer.

After the closing exercises, Mr. Seward was escorted to the "Grand Hotel" by the Marshal and Aides, and then to the residence of the President, where he had a quiet night's rest.

After the applause subsided, S. M. Mayer came forward and sang the "Star-spangled Banner" with fine effect, the chorus being given by his singers and the entire audience.

The proceedings were closed by singing the Doxology, the Prayers, and the benediction, which were given by Mr. Seward, joined with others in the solemn words of prayer.

After the closing exercises, Mr. Seward was escorted to the "Grand Hotel" by the Marshal and Aides, and then to the residence of the President, where he had a quiet night's rest.

SUNBEAMS.

—Mount Whitney, in California, 15,000 feet high, is said to be the highest peak in the United States.

—One of the sons of the Viceroy of Egypt is about to be entered as a student at Oxford University.

—The new Perrinian Minister has taken Mr. Bortwell's house at Washington, formerly occupied by Senator Hays.

—A Mississippi paper reports that a cargo of iron, or centry pit, is in full bloom on the plantation of Mr. T. D. Davis, near Kingston, Adams county, in that State.

—Hoblin, the great Italian tenor, who is now at the head of a singing school at Barcelona, in Spain, is also President of a Republic of white tailers, in Madrid, is one of the leading anarchists in that city.

—The Artesian well at the St. Louis County Farm has reached a depth of three thousand eight hundred and thirty feet, and seven meters, at a cost of $28,500. The County Court will shortly determine whether to continue or abandon the further sinking of the well.

—A correspondent thus describes the two candidates for Governor of Tennessee: "The contest between the two is very marked. Senter is young, but has a reputation for being a good man; he is tall, with a broad forehead, and a fine, white hair, and is the superintendent of a saw factory, in Madrid, is one of the leading anarchists in that city.

—The Artesian well at the St. Louis County Farm has reached a depth of three thousand eight hundred and thirty feet, and seven meters, at a cost of $28,500. The County Court will shortly determine whether to continue or abandon the further sinking of the well.

—A correspondent thus describes the two candidates for Governor of Tennessee: "The contest between the two is very marked. Senter is young, but has a reputation for being a good man; he is tall, with a broad forehead, and a fine, white hair, and is the superintendent of a saw factory, in Madrid, is one of the leading anarchists in that city.