

The Sun

WEDNESDAY, MAY 17, 1882.

Amusements To-day.

Abbey Theatre, 10, Upper Berkeley Street, Dublin.
Theatre, 10, Upper Berkeley Street, Dublin.
Theatre, 10, Upper Berkeley Street, Dublin.

The People Pay.

Secor Robinson, who leads the House of Representatives and directs the Speaker's decisions, boldly declares that the Republican programme of this Congress is to antagonize the economy of the Democrats in the last three Congresses.

The Remission of Arrears in Ireland.

The arrears bill introduced at a late hour on Monday night in the House of Commons by Mr. Gladstone is the most important measure introduced since the passing of the Catholic Disabilities Bill.

Blaine's Predicament.

The testimony of JACOB R. SHIFFERD and of ROBERT E. RANDALL leaves Mr. BLAINE in an unenviable predicament. SHIFFERD swears, with particular attention to details, that BLAINE encouraged him to default.

Our Later Duels.

It cannot be said that duelling has altogether gone out of fashion, even in New York. One of the latest duels was fought on Monday last, and was a very interesting one.

The Civil Code in the State Senate.

The Civil Code has been passed by the Assembly, and will probably come before the Judiciary Committee of the State Senate this week.

for it to-day, in proportion to the population, than there was when that Constitution was adopted. And every year that the Legislature delays the enactment of a code it postpones compliance with the popular will as solemnly expressed in the fundamental law.

Various criticisms have been made upon the Civil Code now before the Legislature. Most of these apply to any code rather than to the particular features of this one; and even those objections which relate to specific provisions of the present bill are urged with the evident purpose, not of improving it by amendment, but of defeating it altogether.

They should not be allowed to have this effect. The Civil Code has been most carefully prepared by one of the most distinguished lawyers in America, Mr. DAVID DUBLEY FIELD.

It represents not only the labors of the accomplished Commission of which he was a member thirty years ago, but constant care in the work of revision and perfection ever since. Has any better code, or any that could be compared with his for one moment, ever been brought forward by anybody else? Consider, for the sake of argument, that it is still capable of improvement.

For the most part, and in substance, however, it can be proposed, and a code that people are bound eventually to have. Adopt it now, and improve it as much as possible before the time appointed for it to go into effect. The intervening session of the Legislature will afford ample opportunity for any desirable amendment.

We are convinced that the opposition to codification on the part of lawyers is unintelligent. We know that many of the ablest men in the legal profession look upon codification not only as inevitable, but as eminently desirable. These lawyers are on the side of the people in this matter, and the people are sure to prevail.

The testimony of JACOB R. SHIFFERD and of ROBERT E. RANDALL leaves Mr. BLAINE in an unenviable predicament. SHIFFERD swears, with particular attention to details, that BLAINE encouraged him to default.

It cannot be said that duelling has altogether gone out of fashion, even in New York. One of the latest duels was fought on Monday last, and was a very interesting one.

The Civil Code has been passed by the Assembly, and will probably come before the Judiciary Committee of the State Senate this week.

for it to-day, in proportion to the population, than there was when that Constitution was adopted. And every year that the Legislature delays the enactment of a code it postpones compliance with the popular will as solemnly expressed in the fundamental law.

by evicting tenants at once before the passage of the measure, for the present thus turned out of his holding will have six months in which to invoke the benefit of the act and secure reinstatement. We should add that the law will be applicable to all tenants paying less than $150 a year, upon GUZZETTI'S valuation, that is to say, to the great mass of the Irish peasantry.

It is not surprising that Mr. PARNELL, Mr. THOMAS O'CONNOR POWER, and Mr. SHAW should have spoken in cordial approval of a bill which, as they well know, is levelled at the root of Ireland's tribulations. That there will be some outcry against confiscation on the part of the Conservatives is probable enough, and an effort may be made to rouse the indignation of the British taxpayer at the fresh burden laid upon his patient shoulders.

In short, Irish landlords had claims against their tenants for arrears amounting in the aggregate to a sum which has been computed as high as $85,000,000, and which has never been placed below $50,000,000. They will get about $30,000,000, one-half of which will be paid by the British Government.

The testimony of JACOB R. SHIFFERD and of ROBERT E. RANDALL leaves Mr. BLAINE in an unenviable predicament. SHIFFERD swears, with particular attention to details, that BLAINE encouraged him to default.

It cannot be said that duelling has altogether gone out of fashion, even in New York. One of the latest duels was fought on Monday last, and was a very interesting one.

The Civil Code has been passed by the Assembly, and will probably come before the Judiciary Committee of the State Senate this week.

for it to-day, in proportion to the population, than there was when that Constitution was adopted. And every year that the Legislature delays the enactment of a code it postpones compliance with the popular will as solemnly expressed in the fundamental law.

by evicting tenants at once before the passage of the measure, for the present thus turned out of his holding will have six months in which to invoke the benefit of the act and secure reinstatement.

It is not surprising that Mr. PARNELL, Mr. THOMAS O'CONNOR POWER, and Mr. SHAW should have spoken in cordial approval of a bill which, as they well know, is levelled at the root of Ireland's tribulations.

In short, Irish landlords had claims against their tenants for arrears amounting in the aggregate to a sum which has been computed as high as $85,000,000.

A foolish thing, a thing of which neither they nor their friends are likely to boast much. The duel of these days and in this latitude is commonly regarded as merely a mimic affair, and experience shows it actually is such, like the tournaments in which young fellows engage at our watering places every summer. It has not the dignity of the old and really sanguinary duel.

It is not surprising that Mr. PARNELL, Mr. THOMAS O'CONNOR POWER, and Mr. SHAW should have spoken in cordial approval of a bill which, as they well know, is levelled at the root of Ireland's tribulations.

In short, Irish landlords had claims against their tenants for arrears amounting in the aggregate to a sum which has been computed as high as $85,000,000.

The testimony of JACOB R. SHIFFERD and of ROBERT E. RANDALL leaves Mr. BLAINE in an unenviable predicament. SHIFFERD swears, with particular attention to details, that BLAINE encouraged him to default.

It cannot be said that duelling has altogether gone out of fashion, even in New York. One of the latest duels was fought on Monday last, and was a very interesting one.

The Civil Code has been passed by the Assembly, and will probably come before the Judiciary Committee of the State Senate this week.

for it to-day, in proportion to the population, than there was when that Constitution was adopted. And every year that the Legislature delays the enactment of a code it postpones compliance with the popular will as solemnly expressed in the fundamental law.

by evicting tenants at once before the passage of the measure, for the present thus turned out of his holding will have six months in which to invoke the benefit of the act and secure reinstatement.

It is not surprising that Mr. PARNELL, Mr. THOMAS O'CONNOR POWER, and Mr. SHAW should have spoken in cordial approval of a bill which, as they well know, is levelled at the root of Ireland's tribulations.

The rapid transit scheme which the financial plan and persistence of the earlier and the later years of the road have so successfully carried through, and which the people now thoughtfully appreciate, would be vainly upset by malice and selfishness. Now that these schemes are rapidly improving the service, it is not surprising that the first of a new series of proposals to make the road more profitable and more comfortable for the public has been made.

The testimony of JACOB R. SHIFFERD and of ROBERT E. RANDALL leaves Mr. BLAINE in an unenviable predicament. SHIFFERD swears, with particular attention to details, that BLAINE encouraged him to default.

It cannot be said that duelling has altogether gone out of fashion, even in New York. One of the latest duels was fought on Monday last, and was a very interesting one.

The Civil Code has been passed by the Assembly, and will probably come before the Judiciary Committee of the State Senate this week.

for it to-day, in proportion to the population, than there was when that Constitution was adopted. And every year that the Legislature delays the enactment of a code it postpones compliance with the popular will as solemnly expressed in the fundamental law.

by evicting tenants at once before the passage of the measure, for the present thus turned out of his holding will have six months in which to invoke the benefit of the act and secure reinstatement.

It is not surprising that Mr. PARNELL, Mr. THOMAS O'CONNOR POWER, and Mr. SHAW should have spoken in cordial approval of a bill which, as they well know, is levelled at the root of Ireland's tribulations.

In short, Irish landlords had claims against their tenants for arrears amounting in the aggregate to a sum which has been computed as high as $85,000,000.

The testimony of JACOB R. SHIFFERD and of ROBERT E. RANDALL leaves Mr. BLAINE in an unenviable predicament. SHIFFERD swears, with particular attention to details, that BLAINE encouraged him to default.

Letters Telling of his Visit to Monrovia and his Success There. The brief dispatch to the State Department at Washington, some weeks ago, announcing the death of the Rev. Henry Highland Garnet, D. D., United States Minister to Liberia, gave no particulars. Letters have been received here from Mrs. Barbara, Dr. Garnet's daughter, when he returned from Monrovia, giving interesting details of his arrival in that country, of the cordial welcome he received, of the hospitality and civility with which he began his life among the Liberians, and of the fatal illness which took him away after he was thought to be on the sure road to recovery.

When Dr. Garnet sailed from New York, he was nearly prostrated by the aggravation of his asthmatic complaint, due to the excitement of leaving and the fatigue of preparing for his journey. His friends were therefore, apprehensive to fear that during the voyage he would be unable to do anything but rest.

It is not surprising that Mr. PARNELL, Mr. THOMAS O'CONNOR POWER, and Mr. SHAW should have spoken in cordial approval of a bill which, as they well know, is levelled at the root of Ireland's tribulations.

In short, Irish landlords had claims against their tenants for arrears amounting in the aggregate to a sum which has been computed as high as $85,000,000.

The testimony of JACOB R. SHIFFERD and of ROBERT E. RANDALL leaves Mr. BLAINE in an unenviable predicament. SHIFFERD swears, with particular attention to details, that BLAINE encouraged him to default.

It cannot be said that duelling has altogether gone out of fashion, even in New York. One of the latest duels was fought on Monday last, and was a very interesting one.

The Civil Code has been passed by the Assembly, and will probably come before the Judiciary Committee of the State Senate this week.

for it to-day, in proportion to the population, than there was when that Constitution was adopted. And every year that the Legislature delays the enactment of a code it postpones compliance with the popular will as solemnly expressed in the fundamental law.

by evicting tenants at once before the passage of the measure, for the present thus turned out of his holding will have six months in which to invoke the benefit of the act and secure reinstatement.

—Lord Spencer is the first Irish Viceroy who has been in progress, and who, declining to visit the Rev. Peter Lewis, pastor of the Free Baptist Church, Washington, has been declared to be drunk.

—A "strietly moral circus" is advertised in the Kansas papers, which gives "one hour of such entertainment as is consistent with the laws of God and man."

—The Spanish Senate the Foreign Secretary lately asserted that every Spanish was invited by a desire to see Gibraltar restored to Spain.

—The Duke of Athol strenuously encourages the collection of the "Poor Law" in a sum of £10,000, and has given £1,000.

—The lions from which Ross Eshbar painted his picture now on exhibition at Liverpool, occupied a cage in the station and were kept in a cage at Liverpool until 12,000 spectators out of 15,000 had seen them.

—The London Spectator sees in the solitary life of Darwin in travel and at home, and the wisdom of early to be in the habit of the germinating period of their lives, and the wisdom of early to be in the habit of the germinating period of their lives.

—A number of Chinese have become portrait painters in San Francisco. The chief merit of their work is cheapness. They do not undertake to paint from life, but only make enlarged copies of photographs.

—A number of Chinese have become portrait painters in San Francisco. The chief merit of their work is cheapness. They do not undertake to paint from life, but only make enlarged copies of photographs.

—A number of Chinese have become portrait painters in San Francisco. The chief merit of their work is cheapness. They do not undertake to paint from life, but only make enlarged copies of photographs.

Letters Telling of his Visit to Monrovia and his Success There. The brief dispatch to the State Department at Washington, some weeks ago, announcing the death of the Rev. Henry Highland Garnet, D. D., United States Minister to Liberia, gave no particulars.

When Dr. Garnet sailed from New York, he was nearly prostrated by the aggravation of his asthmatic complaint, due to the excitement of leaving and the fatigue of preparing for his journey.

It is not surprising that Mr. PARNELL, Mr. THOMAS O'CONNOR POWER, and Mr. SHAW should have spoken in cordial approval of a bill which, as they well know, is levelled at the root of Ireland's tribulations.

In short, Irish landlords had claims against their tenants for arrears amounting in the aggregate to a sum which has been computed as high as $85,000,000.

The testimony of JACOB R. SHIFFERD and of ROBERT E. RANDALL leaves Mr. BLAINE in an unenviable predicament. SHIFFERD swears, with particular attention to details, that BLAINE encouraged him to default.

It cannot be said that duelling has altogether gone out of fashion, even in New York. One of the latest duels was fought on Monday last, and was a very interesting one.

The Civil Code has been passed by the Assembly, and will probably come before the Judiciary Committee of the State Senate this week.

for it to-day, in proportion to the population, than there was when that Constitution was adopted. And every year that the Legislature delays the enactment of a code it postpones compliance with the popular will as solemnly expressed in the fundamental law.

by evicting tenants at once before the passage of the measure, for the present thus turned out of his holding will have six months in which to invoke the benefit of the act and secure reinstatement.

—Lord Spencer is the first Irish Viceroy who has been in progress, and who, declining to visit the Rev. Peter Lewis, pastor of the Free Baptist Church, Washington, has been declared to be drunk.

—A "strietly moral circus" is advertised in the Kansas papers, which gives "one hour of such entertainment as is consistent with the laws of God and man."

—The Spanish Senate the Foreign Secretary lately asserted that every Spanish was invited by a desire to see Gibraltar restored to Spain.

—The Duke of Athol strenuously encourages the collection of the "Poor Law" in a sum of £10,000, and has given £1,000.

—The lions from which Ross Eshbar painted his picture now on exhibition at Liverpool, occupied a cage in the station and were kept in a cage at Liverpool until 12,000 spectators out of 15,000 had seen them.

—The London Spectator sees in the solitary life of Darwin in travel and at home, and the wisdom of early to be in the habit of the germinating period of their lives, and the wisdom of early to be in the habit of the germinating period of their lives.

—A number of Chinese have become portrait painters in San Francisco. The chief merit of their work is cheapness. They do not undertake to paint from life, but only make enlarged copies of photographs.

—A number of Chinese have become portrait painters in San Francisco. The chief merit of their work is cheapness. They do not undertake to paint from life, but only make enlarged copies of photographs.

—A number of Chinese have become portrait painters in San Francisco. The chief merit of their work is cheapness. They do not undertake to paint from life, but only make enlarged copies of photographs.

The rapid transit scheme which the financial plan and persistence of the earlier and the later years of the road have so successfully carried through, and which the people now thoughtfully appreciate, would be vainly upset by malice and selfishness.

The testimony of JACOB R. SHIFFERD and of ROBERT E. RANDALL leaves Mr. BLAINE in an unenviable predicament. SHIFFERD swears, with particular attention to details, that BLAINE encouraged him to default.

It cannot be said that duelling has altogether gone out of fashion, even in New York. One of the latest duels was fought on Monday last, and was a very interesting one.

The Civil Code has been passed by the Assembly, and will probably come before the Judiciary Committee of the State Senate this week.

for it to-day, in proportion to the population, than there was when that Constitution was adopted. And every year that the Legislature delays the enactment of a code it postpones compliance with the popular will as solemnly expressed in the fundamental law.

by evicting tenants at once before the passage of the measure, for the present thus turned out of his holding will have six months in which to invoke the benefit of the act and secure reinstatement.

It is not surprising that Mr. PARNELL, Mr. THOMAS O'CONNOR POWER, and Mr. SHAW should have spoken in cordial approval of a bill which, as they well know, is levelled at the root of Ireland's tribulations.

In short, Irish landlords had claims against their tenants for arrears amounting in the aggregate to a sum which has been computed as high as $85,000,000.

The testimony of JACOB R. SHIFFERD and of ROBERT E. RANDALL leaves Mr. BLAINE in an unenviable predicament. SHIFFERD swears, with particular attention to details, that BLAINE encouraged him to default.

Letters Telling of his Visit to Monrovia and his Success There. The brief dispatch to the State Department at Washington, some weeks ago, announcing the death of the Rev. Henry Highland Garnet, D. D., United States Minister to Liberia, gave no particulars.

When Dr. Garnet sailed from New York, he was nearly prostrated by the aggravation of his asthmatic complaint, due to the excitement of leaving and the fatigue of preparing for his journey.

It is not surprising that Mr. PARNELL, Mr. THOMAS O'CONNOR POWER, and Mr. SHAW should have spoken in cordial approval of a bill which, as they well know, is levelled at the root of Ireland's tribulations.

In short, Irish landlords had claims against their tenants for arrears amounting in the aggregate to a sum which has been computed as high as $85,000,000.

The testimony of JACOB R. SHIFFERD and of ROBERT E. RANDALL leaves Mr. BLAINE in an unenviable predicament. SHIFFERD swears, with particular attention to details, that BLAINE encouraged him to default.

It cannot be said that duelling has altogether gone out of fashion, even in New York. One of the latest duels was fought on Monday last, and was a very interesting one.

The Civil Code has been passed by the Assembly, and will probably come before the Judiciary Committee of the State Senate this week.

for it to-day, in proportion to the population, than there was when that Constitution was adopted. And every year that the Legislature delays the enactment of a code it postpones compliance with the popular will as solemnly expressed in the fundamental law.

by evicting tenants at once before the passage of the measure, for the present thus turned out of his holding will have six months in which to invoke the benefit of the act and secure reinstatement.

—Lord Spencer is the first Irish Viceroy who has been in progress, and who, declining to visit the Rev. Peter Lewis, pastor of the Free Baptist Church, Washington, has been declared to be drunk.

—A "strietly moral circus" is advertised in the Kansas papers, which gives "one hour of such entertainment as is consistent with the laws of God and man."

—The Spanish Senate the Foreign Secretary lately asserted that every Spanish was invited by a desire to see Gibraltar restored to Spain.

—The Duke of Athol strenuously encourages the collection of the "Poor Law" in a sum of £10,000, and has given £1,000.

—The lions from which Ross Eshbar painted his picture now on exhibition at Liverpool, occupied a cage in the station and were kept in a cage at Liverpool until 12,000 spectators out of 15,000 had seen them.

—The London Spectator sees in the solitary life of Darwin in travel and at home, and the wisdom of early to be in the habit of the germinating period of their lives, and the wisdom of early to be in the habit of the germinating period of their lives.

—A number of Chinese have become portrait painters in San Francisco. The chief merit of their work is cheapness. They do not undertake to paint from life, but only make enlarged copies of photographs.

—A number of Chinese have become portrait painters in San Francisco. The chief merit of their work is cheapness. They do not undertake to paint from life, but only make enlarged copies of photographs.

—A number of Chinese have become portrait painters in San Francisco. The chief merit of their work is cheapness. They do not undertake to paint from life, but only make enlarged copies of photographs.

The rapid transit scheme which the financial plan and persistence of the earlier and the later years of the road have so successfully carried through, and which the people now thoughtfully appreciate, would be vainly upset by malice and selfishness.

The testimony of JACOB R. SHIFFERD and of ROBERT E. RANDALL leaves Mr. BLAINE in an unenviable predicament. SHIFFERD swears, with particular attention to details, that BLAINE encouraged him to default.

It cannot be said that duelling has altogether gone out of fashion, even in New York. One of the latest duels was fought on Monday last, and was a very interesting one.

The Civil Code has been passed by the Assembly, and will probably come before the Judiciary Committee of the State Senate this week.

for it to-day, in proportion to the population, than there was when that Constitution was adopted. And every year that the Legislature delays the enactment of a code it postpones compliance with the popular will as solemnly expressed in the fundamental law.

by evicting tenants at once before the passage of the measure, for the present thus turned out of his holding will have six months in which to invoke the benefit of the act and secure reinstatement.

It is not surprising that Mr. PARNELL, Mr. THOMAS O'CONNOR POWER, and Mr. SHAW should have spoken in cordial approval of a bill which, as they well know, is levelled at the root of Ireland's tribulations.

In short, Irish landlords had claims against their tenants for arrears amounting in the aggregate to a sum which has been computed as high as $85,000,000.

The testimony of JACOB R. SHIFFERD and of ROBERT E. RANDALL leaves Mr. BLAINE in an unenviable predicament. SHIFFERD swears, with particular attention to details, that BLAINE encouraged him to default.

Letters Telling of his Visit to Monrovia and his Success There. The brief dispatch to the State Department at Washington, some weeks ago, announcing the death of the Rev. Henry Highland Garnet, D. D., United States Minister to Liberia, gave no particulars.

When Dr. Garnet sailed from New York, he was nearly prostrated by the aggravation of his asthmatic complaint, due to the excitement of leaving and the fatigue of preparing for his journey.

It is not surprising that Mr. PARNELL, Mr. THOMAS O'CONNOR POWER, and Mr. SHAW should have spoken in cordial approval of a bill which, as they well know, is levelled at the root of Ireland's tribulations.

In short, Irish landlords had claims against their tenants for arrears amounting in the aggregate to a sum which has been computed as high as $85,000,000.

The testimony of JACOB R. SHIFFERD and of ROBERT E. RANDALL leaves Mr. BLAINE in an unenviable predicament. SHIFFERD swears, with particular attention to details, that BLAINE encouraged him to default.

It cannot be said that duelling has altogether gone out of fashion, even in New York. One of the latest duels was fought on Monday last, and was a very interesting one.

The Civil Code has been passed by the Assembly, and will probably come before the Judiciary Committee of the State Senate this week.

for it to-day, in proportion to the population, than there was when that Constitution was adopted. And every year that the Legislature delays the enactment of a code it postpones compliance with the popular will as solemnly expressed in the fundamental law.

by evicting tenants at once before the passage of the measure, for the present thus turned out of his holding will have six months in which to invoke the benefit of the act and secure reinstatement.

—Lord Spencer is the first Irish Viceroy who has been in progress, and who, declining to visit the Rev. Peter Lewis, pastor of the Free Baptist Church, Washington, has been declared to be drunk.

—A "strietly moral circus" is advertised in the Kansas papers, which gives "one hour of such entertainment as is consistent with the laws of God and man."

—The Spanish Senate the Foreign Secretary lately asserted that every Spanish was invited by a desire to see Gibraltar restored to Spain.

—The Duke of Athol strenuously encourages the collection of the "Poor Law" in a sum of £10,000, and has given £1,000.

—The lions from which Ross Eshbar painted his picture now on exhibition at Liverpool, occupied a cage in the station and were kept in a cage at Liverpool until 12,000 spectators out of 15,000 had seen them.

—The London Spectator sees in the solitary life of Darwin in travel and at home, and the wisdom of early to be in the habit of the germinating period of their lives, and the wisdom of early to be in the habit of the germinating period of their lives.

—A number of Chinese have become portrait painters in San Francisco. The chief merit of their work is cheapness. They do not undertake to paint from life, but only make enlarged copies of photographs.

—A number of Chinese have become portrait painters in San Francisco. The chief merit of their work is cheapness. They do not undertake to paint from life, but only make enlarged copies of photographs.

—A number of Chinese have become portrait painters in San Francisco. The chief merit of their work is cheapness. They do not undertake to paint from life, but only make enlarged copies of photographs.

The rapid transit scheme which the financial plan and persistence of the earlier and the later years of the road have so successfully carried through, and which the people now thoughtfully appreciate, would be vainly upset by malice and selfishness.

The testimony of JACOB R. SHIFFERD and of ROBERT E. RANDALL leaves Mr. BLAINE in an unenviable predicament. SHIFFERD swears, with particular attention to details, that BLAINE encouraged him to default.

It cannot be said that duelling has altogether gone out of fashion, even in New York. One of the latest duels was fought on Monday last, and was a very interesting one.

The Civil Code has been passed by the Assembly, and will probably come before the Judiciary Committee of the State Senate this week.

for it to-day, in proportion to the population, than there was when that Constitution was adopted. And every year that the Legislature delays the enactment of a code it postpones compliance with the popular will as solemnly expressed in the fundamental law.

by evicting tenants at once before the passage of the measure, for the present thus turned out of his holding will have six months in which to invoke the benefit of the act and secure reinstatement.

It is not surprising that Mr. PARNELL, Mr. THOMAS O'CONNOR POWER, and Mr. SHAW should have spoken in cordial approval of a bill which, as they well know, is levelled at the root of Ireland's tribulations.

In short, Irish landlords had claims against their tenants for arrears amounting in the aggregate to a sum which has been computed as high as $85,000,000.

The testimony of JACOB R. SHIFFERD and of ROBERT E. RANDALL leaves Mr. BLAINE in an unenviable predicament. SHIFFERD swears, with particular attention to details, that BLAINE encouraged him to default.

Letters Telling of his Visit to Monrovia and his Success There. The brief dispatch to the State Department at Washington, some weeks ago, announcing the death of the Rev. Henry Highland Garnet, D. D., United States Minister to Liberia, gave no particulars.

When Dr. Garnet sailed from New York, he was nearly prostrated by the aggravation of his asthmatic complaint, due to the excitement of leaving and the fatigue of preparing for his journey.

It is not surprising that Mr. PARNELL, Mr. THOMAS O'CONNOR POWER, and Mr. SHAW should have spoken in cordial approval of a bill which, as they well know, is levelled at the root of Ireland's tribulations.

In short, Irish landlords had claims against their tenants for arrears amounting in the aggregate to a sum which has been computed as high as $85,000,000.

The testimony of JACOB R. SHIFFERD and of ROBERT E. RANDALL leaves Mr. BLAINE in an unenviable predicament. SHIFFERD swears, with particular attention to details, that BLAINE encouraged him to default.

It cannot be said that duelling has altogether gone out of fashion, even in New York. One of the latest duels was fought on Monday last, and was a very interesting one.

The Civil Code has been passed by the Assembly, and will probably come before the Judiciary Committee of the State Senate this week.

for it to-day, in proportion to the population, than there was when that Constitution was adopted. And every year that the Legislature delays the enactment of a code it postpones compliance with the popular will as solemnly expressed in the fundamental law.

by evicting tenants at once before the passage of the measure, for the present thus turned out of his holding will have six months in which to invoke the benefit of the act and secure reinstatement.