

ADVANCE OF THE BRITISH.

SKIRMISH WITH ARABIAN CAVALRY SIX MILES FROM ALEXANDRIA.

Foreign Consuls in Port Said Alarmed for their Safety—The Whole Country in a State of Anarchy—The British Advance on Cairo—Strong English and French Expeditions Preparing to Embark for Egypt.

Alexandria, July 22.—Reconnoissances were made to-day in the direction of Bahieh and Mihlah. At 9 1/2 A. M. Major-Gen. Allison moved out with two regiments of Infantry and a mounted squadron in the direction of Bahieh and Mihlah.

Arabi Pasha has levied a war tax upon land to the nominal amount of £500,000. The Khedive has received advice that Arabi Pasha is well supplied with provisions and ammunition.

The British have appointed Achmet Effendi Governor of the Sudan. He is a man of mainly nominal, but his use as a figurehead will enable authority to be exercised without wounding the native susceptibilities.

Arabi Pasha has no intention of advancing on Alexandria. The natives are leaving the city in crowds, in obedience to his summons.

London, July 22.—Despatches from Port Said said that a meeting of the Consuls was held yesterday at the house of the Austrian Consul, who said that he had proof that Arabi has proclaimed a holy war, and that his emissaries are everywhere instigating the extermination of the Christians.

London, July 22.—Despatches from Port Said said that a meeting of the Consuls was held yesterday at the house of the Austrian Consul, who said that he had proof that Arabi has proclaimed a holy war, and that his emissaries are everywhere instigating the extermination of the Christians.

London, July 22.—Despatches from Port Said said that a meeting of the Consuls was held yesterday at the house of the Austrian Consul, who said that he had proof that Arabi has proclaimed a holy war, and that his emissaries are everywhere instigating the extermination of the Christians.

London, July 22.—Despatches from Port Said said that a meeting of the Consuls was held yesterday at the house of the Austrian Consul, who said that he had proof that Arabi has proclaimed a holy war, and that his emissaries are everywhere instigating the extermination of the Christians.

London, July 22.—Despatches from Port Said said that a meeting of the Consuls was held yesterday at the house of the Austrian Consul, who said that he had proof that Arabi has proclaimed a holy war, and that his emissaries are everywhere instigating the extermination of the Christians.

London, July 22.—Despatches from Port Said said that a meeting of the Consuls was held yesterday at the house of the Austrian Consul, who said that he had proof that Arabi has proclaimed a holy war, and that his emissaries are everywhere instigating the extermination of the Christians.

London, July 22.—Despatches from Port Said said that a meeting of the Consuls was held yesterday at the house of the Austrian Consul, who said that he had proof that Arabi has proclaimed a holy war, and that his emissaries are everywhere instigating the extermination of the Christians.

London, July 22.—Despatches from Port Said said that a meeting of the Consuls was held yesterday at the house of the Austrian Consul, who said that he had proof that Arabi has proclaimed a holy war, and that his emissaries are everywhere instigating the extermination of the Christians.

London, July 22.—Despatches from Port Said said that a meeting of the Consuls was held yesterday at the house of the Austrian Consul, who said that he had proof that Arabi has proclaimed a holy war, and that his emissaries are everywhere instigating the extermination of the Christians.

London, July 22.—Despatches from Port Said said that a meeting of the Consuls was held yesterday at the house of the Austrian Consul, who said that he had proof that Arabi has proclaimed a holy war, and that his emissaries are everywhere instigating the extermination of the Christians.

London, July 22.—Despatches from Port Said said that a meeting of the Consuls was held yesterday at the house of the Austrian Consul, who said that he had proof that Arabi has proclaimed a holy war, and that his emissaries are everywhere instigating the extermination of the Christians.

London, July 22.—Despatches from Port Said said that a meeting of the Consuls was held yesterday at the house of the Austrian Consul, who said that he had proof that Arabi has proclaimed a holy war, and that his emissaries are everywhere instigating the extermination of the Christians.

London, July 22.—Despatches from Port Said said that a meeting of the Consuls was held yesterday at the house of the Austrian Consul, who said that he had proof that Arabi has proclaimed a holy war, and that his emissaries are everywhere instigating the extermination of the Christians.

London, July 22.—Despatches from Port Said said that a meeting of the Consuls was held yesterday at the house of the Austrian Consul, who said that he had proof that Arabi has proclaimed a holy war, and that his emissaries are everywhere instigating the extermination of the Christians.

London, July 22.—Despatches from Port Said said that a meeting of the Consuls was held yesterday at the house of the Austrian Consul, who said that he had proof that Arabi has proclaimed a holy war, and that his emissaries are everywhere instigating the extermination of the Christians.

FANNY FARNELLE'S FUNERAL.

Full Honors Selected and Lead League Committee Invited to be Present.

Funeral services for Miss Fanny Farnell will be held at 11 o'clock to-morrow morning at Ironside's, the family mansion in Borden-road, where she died. The following representatives of the Lead League have been invited to act as pall-bearers: Lane League of America, James J. Moore, of Buffalo; President of the Bowdoin League, John H. Hyatt, of Buffalo; Treasurer, and John H. Hyatt, of Buffalo; Secretary, Parnell Land League—M. D. Gallagher, of New York; President, Irish National League—M. B. Wallace, of New York.

The funeral will be held at 11 o'clock to-morrow morning at Ironside's, the family mansion in Borden-road, where she died. The following representatives of the Lead League have been invited to act as pall-bearers: Lane League of America, James J. Moore, of Buffalo; President of the Bowdoin League, John H. Hyatt, of Buffalo; Treasurer, and John H. Hyatt, of Buffalo; Secretary, Parnell Land League—M. D. Gallagher, of New York; President, Irish National League—M. B. Wallace, of New York.

The funeral will be held at 11 o'clock to-morrow morning at Ironside's, the family mansion in Borden-road, where she died. The following representatives of the Lead League have been invited to act as pall-bearers: Lane League of America, James J. Moore, of Buffalo; President of the Bowdoin League, John H. Hyatt, of Buffalo; Treasurer, and John H. Hyatt, of Buffalo; Secretary, Parnell Land League—M. D. Gallagher, of New York; President, Irish National League—M. B. Wallace, of New York.

The funeral will be held at 11 o'clock to-morrow morning at Ironside's, the family mansion in Borden-road, where she died. The following representatives of the Lead League have been invited to act as pall-bearers: Lane League of America, James J. Moore, of Buffalo; President of the Bowdoin League, John H. Hyatt, of Buffalo; Treasurer, and John H. Hyatt, of Buffalo; Secretary, Parnell Land League—M. D. Gallagher, of New York; President, Irish National League—M. B. Wallace, of New York.

The funeral will be held at 11 o'clock to-morrow morning at Ironside's, the family mansion in Borden-road, where she died. The following representatives of the Lead League have been invited to act as pall-bearers: Lane League of America, James J. Moore, of Buffalo; President of the Bowdoin League, John H. Hyatt, of Buffalo; Treasurer, and John H. Hyatt, of Buffalo; Secretary, Parnell Land League—M. D. Gallagher, of New York; President, Irish National League—M. B. Wallace, of New York.

The funeral will be held at 11 o'clock to-morrow morning at Ironside's, the family mansion in Borden-road, where she died. The following representatives of the Lead League have been invited to act as pall-bearers: Lane League of America, James J. Moore, of Buffalo; President of the Bowdoin League, John H. Hyatt, of Buffalo; Treasurer, and John H. Hyatt, of Buffalo; Secretary, Parnell Land League—M. D. Gallagher, of New York; President, Irish National League—M. B. Wallace, of New York.

The funeral will be held at 11 o'clock to-morrow morning at Ironside's, the family mansion in Borden-road, where she died. The following representatives of the Lead League have been invited to act as pall-bearers: Lane League of America, James J. Moore, of Buffalo; President of the Bowdoin League, John H. Hyatt, of Buffalo; Treasurer, and John H. Hyatt, of Buffalo; Secretary, Parnell Land League—M. D. Gallagher, of New York; President, Irish National League—M. B. Wallace, of New York.

The funeral will be held at 11 o'clock to-morrow morning at Ironside's, the family mansion in Borden-road, where she died. The following representatives of the Lead League have been invited to act as pall-bearers: Lane League of America, James J. Moore, of Buffalo; President of the Bowdoin League, John H. Hyatt, of Buffalo; Treasurer, and John H. Hyatt, of Buffalo; Secretary, Parnell Land League—M. D. Gallagher, of New York; President, Irish National League—M. B. Wallace, of New York.

The funeral will be held at 11 o'clock to-morrow morning at Ironside's, the family mansion in Borden-road, where she died. The following representatives of the Lead League have been invited to act as pall-bearers: Lane League of America, James J. Moore, of Buffalo; President of the Bowdoin League, John H. Hyatt, of Buffalo; Treasurer, and John H. Hyatt, of Buffalo; Secretary, Parnell Land League—M. D. Gallagher, of New York; President, Irish National League—M. B. Wallace, of New York.

The funeral will be held at 11 o'clock to-morrow morning at Ironside's, the family mansion in Borden-road, where she died. The following representatives of the Lead League have been invited to act as pall-bearers: Lane League of America, James J. Moore, of Buffalo; President of the Bowdoin League, John H. Hyatt, of Buffalo; Treasurer, and John H. Hyatt, of Buffalo; Secretary, Parnell Land League—M. D. Gallagher, of New York; President, Irish National League—M. B. Wallace, of New York.

The funeral will be held at 11 o'clock to-morrow morning at Ironside's, the family mansion in Borden-road, where she died. The following representatives of the Lead League have been invited to act as pall-bearers: Lane League of America, James J. Moore, of Buffalo; President of the Bowdoin League, John H. Hyatt, of Buffalo; Treasurer, and John H. Hyatt, of Buffalo; Secretary, Parnell Land League—M. D. Gallagher, of New York; President, Irish National League—M. B. Wallace, of New York.

REVENUE REFORM OPPOSED.

REPUBLICAN SENATORS REFUSING TO MAKE DEMANDED REDUCTIONS.

Senator Beck on the Army of Tax-Paying Ohioites—Senator Jones on the Revenue Bill—Senator Sherman on the Revenue Bill.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The Republicans in the Senate to-day steadily voted down every material reduction in internal revenue taxes proposed by the Democrats, and put through the measure to exempt luxuries which they had agreed upon in caucus, and voted down an amendment offered by Mr. Beck to retain the taxes on perfumery, medicinal preparations, and other articles in schedule A of section 2407 of the Revised Statutes. The vote was a party one—26 to 29—Mr. Davis of Illinois voting no with the Republicans.

Mr. Vance moved to retain the stamp tax on playing cards. Mr. Sherman thought the gentleman from North Carolina ought to show his virtuous indignation against card playing in some other way than by continuing to vote against it. Mr. Vance said that he had made the motion because he was curious to know why, in the name of God and morality, American statesmen would tax salt while leaving cards free. He had been unable to hear the remark of the gentleman from Ohio, but was satisfied that the gentleman had had said something in behalf of the oppressed people who had to pay an extra five cents upon a pack of cards. The gambling halls would appreciate this, and he hoped the bill would pass.

Mr. Sherman thought the gentleman from North Carolina ought to show his virtuous indignation against card playing in some other way than by continuing to vote against it. Mr. Vance said that he had made the motion because he was curious to know why, in the name of God and morality, American statesmen would tax salt while leaving cards free. He had been unable to hear the remark of the gentleman from Ohio, but was satisfied that the gentleman had had said something in behalf of the oppressed people who had to pay an extra five cents upon a pack of cards. The gambling halls would appreciate this, and he hoped the bill would pass.

Mr. Sherman thought the gentleman from North Carolina ought to show his virtuous indignation against card playing in some other way than by continuing to vote against it. Mr. Vance said that he had made the motion because he was curious to know why, in the name of God and morality, American statesmen would tax salt while leaving cards free. He had been unable to hear the remark of the gentleman from Ohio, but was satisfied that the gentleman had had said something in behalf of the oppressed people who had to pay an extra five cents upon a pack of cards. The gambling halls would appreciate this, and he hoped the bill would pass.

Mr. Sherman thought the gentleman from North Carolina ought to show his virtuous indignation against card playing in some other way than by continuing to vote against it. Mr. Vance said that he had made the motion because he was curious to know why, in the name of God and morality, American statesmen would tax salt while leaving cards free. He had been unable to hear the remark of the gentleman from Ohio, but was satisfied that the gentleman had had said something in behalf of the oppressed people who had to pay an extra five cents upon a pack of cards. The gambling halls would appreciate this, and he hoped the bill would pass.

Mr. Sherman thought the gentleman from North Carolina ought to show his virtuous indignation against card playing in some other way than by continuing to vote against it. Mr. Vance said that he had made the motion because he was curious to know why, in the name of God and morality, American statesmen would tax salt while leaving cards free. He had been unable to hear the remark of the gentleman from Ohio, but was satisfied that the gentleman had had said something in behalf of the oppressed people who had to pay an extra five cents upon a pack of cards. The gambling halls would appreciate this, and he hoped the bill would pass.

Mr. Sherman thought the gentleman from North Carolina ought to show his virtuous indignation against card playing in some other way than by continuing to vote against it. Mr. Vance said that he had made the motion because he was curious to know why, in the name of God and morality, American statesmen would tax salt while leaving cards free. He had been unable to hear the remark of the gentleman from Ohio, but was satisfied that the gentleman had had said something in behalf of the oppressed people who had to pay an extra five cents upon a pack of cards. The gambling halls would appreciate this, and he hoped the bill would pass.

Mr. Sherman thought the gentleman from North Carolina ought to show his virtuous indignation against card playing in some other way than by continuing to vote against it. Mr. Vance said that he had made the motion because he was curious to know why, in the name of God and morality, American statesmen would tax salt while leaving cards free. He had been unable to hear the remark of the gentleman from Ohio, but was satisfied that the gentleman had had said something in behalf of the oppressed people who had to pay an extra five cents upon a pack of cards. The gambling halls would appreciate this, and he hoped the bill would pass.

Mr. Sherman thought the gentleman from North Carolina ought to show his virtuous indignation against card playing in some other way than by continuing to vote against it. Mr. Vance said that he had made the motion because he was curious to know why, in the name of God and morality, American statesmen would tax salt while leaving cards free. He had been unable to hear the remark of the gentleman from Ohio, but was satisfied that the gentleman had had said something in behalf of the oppressed people who had to pay an extra five cents upon a pack of cards. The gambling halls would appreciate this, and he hoped the bill would pass.

Mr. Sherman thought the gentleman from North Carolina ought to show his virtuous indignation against card playing in some other way than by continuing to vote against it. Mr. Vance said that he had made the motion because he was curious to know why, in the name of God and morality, American statesmen would tax salt while leaving cards free. He had been unable to hear the remark of the gentleman from Ohio, but was satisfied that the gentleman had had said something in behalf of the oppressed people who had to pay an extra five cents upon a pack of cards. The gambling halls would appreciate this, and he hoped the bill would pass.

WORKING IN CHOKING SMOKE.

BOSTON'S MURDER MYSTERY.

Tracing the Man who Cooked—The Slaying of Mrs. Willa—The Murderer's Identity.

Boston, July 22.—Just after 6 o'clock on the morning of the 19th, at Harriet Bell, who lived with her mother, Willa at 3 Kirkland street, was entering her house with a pail of milk she was followed into the entry by a man who walked leisurely into Tromont street. He passed a man who had seen the beginning of the assault, by whom he was pointed out to two policemen, who thinking the affair was a family quarrel, allowed him to pass on. He soon disappeared, and although the murderer was discovered a moment afterward, the perpetrator could not be found, and the police have thus far been unable to fix his identity.

Some six weeks ago, a blonde reporter was conversing with the Klondike man, who gave opportunity for investigation in a new direction. This proved that the man had an adopted sister living in Indiana place. When asked about her brother she declared that she had not seen her for two years, but that she had seen her on the night of March 6, and that he had been on the streets of Boston for some time. It was learned that he had served a five years' sentence in a New England prison, and had been arrested for carrying a dirk knife. It was his habit when drunk to go into the houses of his neighbors, and he was described by the child "Willa." She also told of a peculiar type of man, which she saw on the morning of the murder. She was seen by an acquaintance standing at the door of the house, and she was waiting for some one.

The motive for the murder may be found in the fact that the woman who was killed was the same woman as Mrs. Bell, and who resembled her in appearance. This woman was a French girl, who had been living in the house of the murdered woman, and who was described by the child "Willa." She also told of a peculiar type of man, which she saw on the morning of the murder. She was seen by an acquaintance standing at the door of the house, and she was waiting for some one.

The motive for the murder may be found in the fact that the woman who was killed was the same woman as Mrs. Bell, and who resembled her in appearance. This woman was a French girl, who had been living in the house of the murdered woman, and who was described by the child "Willa." She also told of a peculiar type of man, which she saw on the morning of the murder. She was seen by an acquaintance standing at the door of the house, and she was waiting for some one.

The motive for the murder may be found in the fact that the woman who was killed was the same woman as Mrs. Bell, and who resembled her in appearance. This woman was a French girl, who had been living in the house of the murdered woman, and who was described by the child "Willa." She also told of a peculiar type of man, which she saw on the morning of the murder. She was seen by an acquaintance standing at the door of the house, and she was waiting for some one.

The motive for the murder may be found in the fact that the woman who was killed was the same woman as Mrs. Bell, and who resembled her in appearance. This woman was a French girl, who had been living in the house of the murdered woman, and who was described by the child "Willa." She also told of a peculiar type of man, which she saw on the morning of the murder. She was seen by an acquaintance standing at the door of the house, and she was waiting for some one.

The motive for the murder may be found in the fact that the woman who was killed was the same woman as Mrs. Bell, and who resembled her in appearance. This woman was a French girl, who had been living in the house of the murdered woman, and who was described by the child "Willa." She also told of a peculiar type of man, which she saw on the morning of the murder. She was seen by an acquaintance standing at the door of the house, and she was waiting for some one.

The motive for the murder may be found in the fact that the woman who was killed was the same woman as Mrs. Bell, and who resembled her in appearance. This woman was a French girl, who had been living in the house of the murdered woman, and who was described by the child "Willa." She also told of a peculiar type of man, which she saw on the morning of the murder. She was seen by an acquaintance standing at the door of the house, and she was waiting for some one.

The motive for the murder may be found in the fact that the woman who was killed was the same woman as Mrs. Bell, and who resembled her in appearance. This woman was a French girl, who had been living in the house of the murdered woman, and who was described by the child "Willa." She also told of a peculiar type of man, which she saw on the morning of the murder. She was seen by an acquaintance standing at the door of the house, and she was waiting for some one.

The motive for the murder may be found in the fact that the woman who was killed was the same woman as Mrs. Bell, and who resembled her in appearance. This woman was a French girl, who had been living in the house of the murdered woman, and who was described by the child "Willa." She also told of a peculiar type of man, which she saw on the morning of the murder. She was seen by an acquaintance standing at the door of the house, and she was waiting for some one.

PIG IRON AND CHEMICALS.

LONG BRANCH, July 22.—The Tariff Commission held its first public session this afternoon. A communication was presented by Henry Clay and John G. Thompson, in favor of a 10 per cent duty on pig iron.

The Tariff Commission held its first public session this afternoon. A communication was presented by Henry Clay and John G. Thompson, in favor of a 10 per cent duty on pig iron. The commission is now engaged in a study of the tariff on pig iron, and it is expected that a report will be made in a few days.

The Tariff Commission held its first public session this afternoon. A communication was presented by Henry Clay and John G. Thompson, in favor of a 10 per cent duty on pig iron. The commission is now engaged in a study of the tariff on pig iron, and it is expected that a report will be made in a few days.

The Tariff Commission held its first public session this afternoon. A communication was presented by Henry Clay and John G. Thompson, in favor of a 10 per cent duty on pig iron. The commission is now engaged in a study of the tariff on pig iron, and it is expected that a report will be made in a few days.

The Tariff Commission held its first public session this afternoon. A communication was presented by Henry Clay and John G. Thompson, in favor of a 10 per cent duty on pig iron. The commission is now engaged in a study of the tariff on pig iron, and it is expected that a report will be made in a few days.

The Tariff Commission held its first public session this afternoon. A communication was presented by Henry Clay and John G. Thompson, in favor of a 10 per cent duty on pig iron. The commission is now engaged in a study of the tariff on pig iron, and it is expected that a report will be made in a few days.

The Tariff Commission held its first public session this afternoon. A communication was presented by Henry Clay and John G. Thompson, in favor of a 10 per cent duty on pig iron. The commission is now engaged in a study of the tariff on pig iron, and it is expected that a report will be made in a few days.

The Tariff Commission held its first public session this afternoon. A communication was presented by Henry Clay and John G. Thompson, in favor of a 10 per cent duty on pig iron. The commission is now engaged in a study of the tariff on pig iron, and it is expected that a report will be made in a few days.

The Tariff Commission held its first public session this afternoon. A communication was presented by Henry Clay and John G. Thompson, in favor of a 10 per cent duty on pig iron. The commission is now engaged in a study of the tariff on pig iron, and it is expected that a report will be made in a few days.

The Tariff Commission held its first public session this afternoon. A communication was presented by Henry Clay and John G. Thompson, in favor of a 10 per cent duty on pig iron. The commission is now engaged in a study of the tariff on pig iron, and it is expected that a report will be made in a few days.

The Tariff Commission held its first public session this afternoon. A communication was presented by Henry Clay and John G. Thompson, in favor of a 10 per cent duty on pig iron. The commission is now engaged in a study of the tariff on pig iron, and it is expected that a report will be made in a few days.

The Tariff Commission held its first public session this afternoon. A communication was presented by Henry Clay and John G. Thompson, in favor of a 10 per cent duty on pig iron. The commission is now engaged in a study of the tariff on pig iron, and it is expected that a report will be made in a few days.

LIFE IN THE METROPOLIS.

THE STORY OF A NEW YORK OFFICE BOY TELLS OF HIS WEEK'S ADVENTURES.

Frederick Boone, 14 years old, living with his father at 38 Avenue D, left the house on Thursday morning, June 13, to go to the office of Stearns & Curtis in William street, where he was office boy. He did not come home again for several days, and his father had been anxious for some time. His shoes were worn, his feet were swollen, and his face was haggard.

Frederick Boone, 14 years old, living with his father at 38 Avenue D, left the house on Thursday morning, June 13, to go to the office of Stearns & Curtis in William street, where he was office boy. He did not come home again for several days, and his father had been anxious for some time. His shoes were worn, his feet were swollen, and his face was haggard.

Frederick Boone, 14 years old, living with his father at 38 Avenue D, left the house on Thursday morning, June 13, to go to the office of Stearns & Curtis in William street, where he was office boy. He did not come home again for several days, and his father had been anxious for some time. His shoes were worn, his feet were swollen, and his face was haggard.

Frederick Boone, 14 years old, living with his father at 38 Avenue D, left the house on Thursday morning, June 13, to go to the office of Stearns & Curtis in William street, where he was office boy. He did not come home again for several days, and his father had been anxious for some time. His shoes were worn, his feet were swollen, and his face was haggard.

Frederick Boone, 14 years old, living with his father at 38 Avenue D, left the house on Thursday morning, June 13, to go to the office of Stearns & Curtis in William street, where he was office boy. He did not come home again for several days, and his father had been anxious for some time. His shoes were worn, his feet were swollen, and his face was haggard.

Frederick Boone, 14 years old, living with his father at 38 Avenue D, left the house on Thursday morning, June 13, to go to the office of Stearns & Curtis in William street, where he was office boy. He did not come home again for several days, and his father had been anxious for some time. His shoes were worn, his feet were swollen, and his face was haggard.

Frederick Boone, 14 years old, living with his father at 38 Avenue D, left the house on Thursday morning, June 13, to go to the office of Stearns & Curtis in William street, where he was office boy. He did not come home again for several days, and his father had been anxious for some time. His shoes were worn, his feet were swollen, and his face was haggard.

Frederick Boone, 14 years old, living with his father at 38 Avenue D, left the house on Thursday morning, June 13, to go to the office of Stearns & Curtis in William street, where he was office boy. He did not come home again for several days, and his father had been anxious for some time. His shoes were worn, his feet were swollen, and his face was haggard.

Frederick Boone, 14 years old, living with his father at 38 Avenue D, left the house on Thursday morning, June 13, to go to the office of Stearns & Curtis in William street, where he was office boy. He did not come home again for several days, and his father had been anxious for some time. His shoes were worn, his feet were swollen, and his face was haggard.

Frederick Boone, 14 years old, living with his father at 38 Avenue D, left the house on Thursday morning, June 13, to go to the office of Stearns & Curtis in William street, where he was office boy. He did not come home again for several days, and his father had been anxious for some time. His shoes were worn, his feet were swollen, and his face was haggard.

Frederick Boone, 14 years old, living with his father at 38 Avenue D, left the house on Thursday morning, June 13, to go to the office of Stearns & Curtis in William street, where he was office boy. He did not come home again for several days, and his father had been anxious for some time. His shoes were worn, his feet were swollen, and his face was haggard.

MAZEPPA WITH VARIATIONS.

CONCERTS IN A THIRD AVENUE THEATRE—DISMISSED BY THE POLICE.

In Parker's Third Avenue Theatre last night, after the variety performance was over, the first act of "Mazeppa" was played, with Miss Fannie Louise Buckingham as Mazeppa. After the performance was over, the police came in and dismissed the company.

In Parker's Third Avenue Theatre last night, after the variety performance was over, the first act of "Mazeppa" was played, with Miss Fannie Louise Buckingham as Mazeppa. After the performance was over, the police came in and dismissed the company.

In Parker's Third Avenue Theatre last night, after the variety performance was over, the first act of "Mazeppa" was played, with Miss Fannie Louise Buckingham as Mazeppa. After the performance was over, the police came in and dismissed the company.

In Parker's Third Avenue Theatre last night, after the variety performance was over, the first act of "Mazeppa" was played, with Miss Fannie Louise Buckingham as Mazeppa. After the performance was over, the police came in and dismissed the company.

In Parker's Third Avenue Theatre last night, after the variety performance was over, the first act of "Mazeppa" was played, with Miss Fannie Louise Buckingham as Mazeppa. After the performance was over, the police came in and dismissed the company.

In Parker's Third Avenue Theatre last night, after the variety performance was over, the first act of "Mazeppa" was played, with Miss Fannie Louise Buckingham as Mazeppa. After the performance was over, the police came in and dismissed the company.

In Parker's Third Avenue Theatre last night, after the variety performance was over, the first act of "Mazeppa" was played, with Miss Fannie Louise Buckingham as Mazeppa. After the performance was over, the police came in and dismissed the company.

In Parker's Third Avenue Theatre last night, after the variety performance was over, the first act of "Mazeppa" was played, with Miss Fannie Louise Buckingham as Mazeppa. After the performance was over, the police came in and dismissed the company.

In Parker's Third Avenue Theatre last night, after the variety performance was over, the first act of "Mazeppa" was played, with Miss Fannie Louise Buckingham as Mazeppa. After the performance was over, the police came in and dismissed the company.

In Parker's Third Avenue Theatre last night, after the variety performance was over, the first act of "Mazeppa" was played, with Miss Fannie Louise Buckingham as Mazeppa. After the performance was over, the police came in and dismissed the company.

In Parker's Third Avenue Theatre last night, after the variety performance was over, the first act of "Mazeppa" was played, with Miss Fannie Louise Buckingham as Mazeppa. After the performance was over, the police came in and dismissed the company.