

Amusements Today. Academy of Music - 8 P.M. American Institute - 8 P.M. Boston Opera House - 8 P.M. Broadway Theatre - 8 P.M. Comedy Theatre - 8 P.M. Daly's Theatre - 8 P.M. Edwa. Opera House - 8 P.M. Grand Opera House - 8 P.M. Harp Theatre - 8 P.M. Madison Square Garden - 8 P.M. Metropolitan Theatre - 8 P.M. New York Theatre - 8 P.M. Old Edwards - 8 P.M. Park Theatre - 8 P.M. Strand Theatre - 8 P.M. Union Square Theatre - 8 P.M. Wall Street Theatre - 8 P.M. West 42nd Street Theatre - 8 P.M.

whose first thought is for their own possessions. It is the people who most prize the suffrage and are most impressed by its dignity to whom government can most safely be intrusted. Who stayed at home from the polls yesterday, not even taking the pains to walk a few steps out of their way to deposit their votes? They were the very men to whom snobs and doctrinaires would commit the government of the city as the citizens most entitled and most competent to direct it.

The Cold Tea Incident. There may be a hot contest in the Senate over the removal of the public functionary who for years has mixed cocktails for Senators and served the same in leopards. Now that the election is past, Senators can confer the incident in the expansive spirit which the occasion calls for.

The removal is due to the Hon. WILLIAM PITT FRYE of Maine, the distinguished fisherman. Mr. FRYE is a cold water fisherman on principle and in practice. He believes that a liquid which is good enough for a first-class Rangeley trout to swim in is good enough for any Senator of the United States to drink. He has watched the growth of the cold tea habit among his colleagues with solicitude, and he has taken the first opportunity to strike a deadly blow at what he regards as a most demoralizing vice.

Ordinarily the appointment of the manager of the Senate restaurant has belonged to the Vice-President, but in the present case the Senator acting as President of the Senate, Mr. EDMUNDS appointed a colored gentleman named FRANCIS, who possessed special qualifications for the correct preparation of cold tea. Two or three years ago, when the Senate rules were revised, the supervision of the restaurant was transferred to the Committee on Rules. Of this committee Mr. FRYE is Chairman. Mr. EDMUNDS is not a member.

A few weeks ago those Senators who are accustomed to rely more or less upon the genius of Mr. FRANCIS for the comfort and cheerfulness of the legislative day, were startled to read in the daily newspapers that this accomplished gentleman had been superseded by a testator from Maine, one THORNTON. The change was made by a resolution which the Senate restaurant was transferred to the Committee on Rules has no power to appoint. Senator EDMUNDS is not very mad.

Previous to his assignments Mr. Roach had received every dollar due to him for the service performed, and several hundred dollars in debt, and he had been instructed by the Board of legal or equitable claim. It had been instructed by the Board of legal or equitable claim. It had been instructed by the Board of legal or equitable claim. It had been instructed by the Board of legal or equitable claim.

Abolishing Parties. We have been favored with a circular issued by the National Civil Service Reform League, avowing that "this is a peculiarly opportune time for prosecuting the work of organizing non-partisan reform associations among those in all parts of the country who believe in the application of business methods to public office."

Boycotting the Hotel. We publish in another column a circular issued by the Central Labor Union of this city against the Fifth Avenue Hotel. The proprietors of that caravansary insist on employing workmen who do not belong to any union, and they are to be dealt with severely.

The Mugwumps rebuked HILL yesterday. The bloody shirt unfolds the diject members of the Great Republican Fire-Setting Commission - SHERMAN, LOGAN, FOLKNER and HOAR.

It was too warm a day for Iceberg IRA. The safe guardians of the rights and liberties of the people are the people themselves, and all the people. Universal suffrage is steadily educating them for the work to which they apply themselves with an enthusiasm, a devotion, and an average good sense not to be found in any one part of the whole and especially among those

THE PRESIDENT VOTES EARLY. He cast eight-and-a-half Democratic votes for Cleveland.

Buffalo, Nov. 3. - President Cleveland came here to vote for no other purpose. He did not arrive here until after midnight, and stayed until 5 P. M., when he took a special train for Washington on the Lehigh Valley road. On account of the uncertainty of his departure there was not a crowd at the depot.

Mr. Cleveland spent the day quietly. At 7.50 he walked briskly out to the polling place in the First district of the Ninth ward, where he has voted for the last twelve years, and nearly reached the window of the little private stable office before the crowd of half a hundred waiting people knew that he was there. John J. McElrath, an eccentric character, shook Mr. Cleveland's hand cordially, and handed him a straight Democratic ticket. The President prudently opened the ballot, read them, and laid them at the feet of the clerk. He then turned away a crowd of friends surrounded him, and all of whom he exchanged kindly greetings.

Three cheers were given for "Cleveland and his good friends," and the President went to breakfast at Geroy's. The report was plain, and was shared by Franklin J. Locke, who had been waiting for the President in the law office in the Wood block. There the President glanced at the papers for a few minutes, and then he went to the office of everybody who came, but carefully refrained from talking politics. Buffalo office seekers, who had been waiting for the opportunity of seeing the President, were disappointed. The leading Democratic party and many Republicans called. Among his visitors was a lady, who said she was a friend of the President's.

He snapped a string. STEVE MERRITT is a jolly undertaker. It was a good job putting the Wicked Senator underground.

Roach to be the Inker. The Republican Senate Will Make Capital of Secretary Whitney's Policy.

Washington, Nov. 3. - It is known that Mr. Hale, doubtless inspired by Wm. E. Chandler, is now in investigation in the Senate in regard to the transference of John Roach to the Navy Department. The menace of that inquiry does not in the least disturb Mr. Whitney. On the contrary, the fullest scrutiny is desired in order not only to expose the whole action of the department concerning these contracts, but to let the country see how well and false the statements have been on this subject made by the agents, associates, and friends of Mr. Roach.

Women try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes. Chairman Sanderson bowed gracefully to the women, and handed them a ballot.

Arguing the Tabor Case. The Lawyers Left the Prisoners and the Judge Held the Proceeding.

Boston, Nov. 3. - Judge Allen today heard the arguments of the counsel in the Tabor divorce case. Mr. Butterworth in behalf of Mrs. Tabor asserted that her husband had long been trying to get some testimony on which he could found a claim to a divorce from his wife, and said that if Tabor were a true man he could not possibly have witnessed the acts of infidelity which he has seen without thinking the person. The lawyer said Mrs. Tabor denied that she was in Parker Downes's study on the afternoon when Mr. Tabor and his looking glass were at the mansion. The lawyer also endeavored to explain the situation at 7 P. M. when the door was burst open. He said that Mrs. Tabor's conduct was perfectly proper, and such as ladies wear in the study of a house.

Boycotting a Fashionable Hotel. A Circular from the Central Labor Union.

192 Third Avenue, New York, Oct. 24. DEAR SIR: As a patron of the Fifth Avenue Hotel, you have a right to know the personal independence, as well as the great regret, you are about to incur by your visit to this hotel. It is a fact that this hotel is being used as a public in a light which your true character as a citizen and as a member of the community would not permit you to support.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Spoiling an Election. The Man that Contained Hollinger and his Girl switched off to the Lockup.

Nowicki, Nov. 3. - Three Saratoga trunks are at Police Headquarters in this city, containing the bridal outfit of Edward Hollinger, a spruce colored plaster, 30 years old, and Miss Emmeline Beale, the young colored cook of the Rev. Dr. Howe of the Park Church. Mr. Hollinger was to sleep with Miss Beale last night, and they were going to Norfolk, He passed the night in the lockup here, and Emmeline was too doped to attend to her cooking.

Loss of the Bark Cassin. The Captain and Two Officers Lost Seven Men and Five Remains on the Wreck.

Washington, Nov. 3. - The Secretary of State has received from United States consular officers in Japan a report of the bark Cassin, which was wrecked on the coast of Japan. From these it is learned that on Sept. 11, the vessel, which was laden with 34,000 cases of kerosene, when about 150 miles from Tanashashima Island, near Yanduman's Straits, encountered a severe typhoon and was wrecked. On the 13th seven of the fifteen men composing the crew were killed. The bark was blown to the westward and without water, clothing, or other supplies, and finally reached Tanashashima Island, where they were taken to Kagashima and Okinawa.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Mysterious Tragedy in St. Louis. A Portrait Painter's Room Found Ransacked with Blood, but the Victim Missing.

St. Louis, Nov. 3. - No. 170 South Broadway is a small tumble-down brick shanty, two stories in height. It is smoke burnt, dirty, and of mean appearance outside. The upper part of the front door is filled with small panes of glass. The door opens directly into the one lower apartment. The shutters to the window by the side of the door were closed tightly this morning, and a yellow curtain drawn over the glass shut out all view of the interior from the outside. A tin sign on the door shows that F. Guise, portrait painter and copyist, has an office within. The single downer apartment is a small room, and is furnished with a bed, a table, a chair, and a stool. The room was occupied by Guise as a sleeping room. A bureau, a chair, and a stool were scattered about the room. A bedstead with a few cooking utensils constituted the furniture. On the Saturday morning Guise left the room at about 10 o'clock this morning, and did not return until about 10 o'clock the next morning. When he returned he found the room in a state of confusion. The bedstead was overturned, and the room was filled with blood. A razor, both stained with blood. In the rear room were a coat and a bundle of clothing, a chair, and a stool. A small round mirror hung on the side of the wall, and there was a trace of the victim of the tragedy. No one is sure of having seen Guise go in or out of the room for several days. It is reported that Guise had a quarrel with a woman, and that he was drunk and had a razor, both stained with blood. In the rear room were a coat and a bundle of clothing, a chair, and a stool. A small round mirror hung on the side of the wall, and there was a trace of the victim of the tragedy. No one is sure of having seen Guise go in or out of the room for several days.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.

Woman try to vote. The gentlemen who obligingly registered themselves to be the voters in the election of the Twenty-first Assembly district, the Saturday afternoon at 7 P. M., were surprised to find that the women were nearly all in and that everything was going on quietly, the door opened and the women came in, and they were dressed in black satin. She was followed by a gentleman, and then by a crowd, which jammed into the little space so that the woman and her attendant were pushed close up to the ballot boxes.