

LATEST NEWS FROM EUROPE.

TO-MORROW'S GREAT DEMONSTRATION AGAINST COERCION.

Fifteen Speakers at a Time will Address the Crowds in Hyde Park. The demonstration against the Coercion bill is expected to be the largest ever held in London.

LONDON, April 9.—The intention of the Tories to continue the session of Parliament right on until the Coercion bill should have passed its second reading was altered at the last moment.

Across the Channel times continue to be mildly interesting, and an occasional bubble of discontent which threatens him in the flesh, Harcourt, known from his fiery oratory as "Bully Harcourt," is getting strength for frolic dobbing in the New Forests.

Unless a big change of some kind comes in brewing for the Czar in the shape of a revolution aiming at his overthrow and at placing on the throne Alexander II's eldest son by his first wife, the Prince of Bulgaria, the young prince is represented as a prodigy of learning, ambition and craft.

It is pleasant to be able to say that coercion is becoming more and more unpopular. Unpopular is too weak a word. Coercion is already thoroughly detested.

This afternoon just at the right moment came a volley from the Grand Old Man himself splendidly calculated to take from the feet of the Conservatives any little patch of ground which Morley and Parnell may have left them to stand upon.

The illness of the infant Battenberg, the Princess Alexandra's baby, which telegraphed lack cheer and other international events has been officially denied, but it is none the less true.

It is a curious fact that the English language is the language of the English language; it is the language of a big man, thoroughly in earnest.

It is a curious fact that the English language is the language of a big man, thoroughly in earnest. Truth is written on the face of it, and as the delighted Liberal from whom I received a copy of it remarked, it shows that the Grand Old Man is very much more alive than the Conservatives have recently imagined.

It is a curious fact that the English language is the language of a big man, thoroughly in earnest. Truth is written on the face of it, and as the delighted Liberal from whom I received a copy of it remarked, it shows that the Grand Old Man is very much more alive than the Conservatives have recently imagined.

DR. REYNOLDS IN A CELL.

ACCUSED OF TRYING TO DEFRAUD AN INSURANCE COMPANY.

The Site of the Charlick Homestead Twice Burned Over—He is the Husband of the Long Island Railroad Magnate's Daughter.

The arrest of William M. Reynolds of 108 West Forty-seventh street last evening marked a case of great interest in insurance circles, and the fact that he was the husband of the late Oliver Charlick gives it the further interest of a social sensation.

His husband was formerly a physician, and has also practiced dentistry in this city. Their acquaintance is said to have grown out of professional relations as dentist and patient.

Their summer residence near Broadway station, Flushing, was a neat two-and-a-half-story frame cottage of Elizabethan architecture, and was also handsomely furnished.

On the 20th of last February the cottage was destroyed by fire, and the loss was estimated at $100,000. The fire was caused by a gas leak in the kitchen.

Reynolds was arrested on the 20th of last February, and was held in the city jail. He was charged with attempting to defraud the insurance company.

Reynolds was held in the city jail for several days. He was then released on bail. He is now being held in the city jail.

Reynolds was held in the city jail for several days. He was then released on bail. He is now being held in the city jail.

Reynolds was held in the city jail for several days. He was then released on bail. He is now being held in the city jail.

Reynolds was held in the city jail for several days. He was then released on bail. He is now being held in the city jail.

HE GAVE A BRIBE.

John Ward Tells How he Got his Lease Renewed.

The Baron Committee in Brooklyn discovered yesterday some bribery in the matter of the disposition of the Gravesend common lands on Coney Island.

John Ward, for several years a lessee, and afterward a purchaser of some of this land, as a lessee he had his lease renewed while George Delano, Bernard Doyle, and David Schneider were Commissioners.

John B. Pherson, a lessee since 1855, got a renewal of his lease for five years under the same Commissioners. They came to him and demanded $1,000 to renew the lease.

When he was imprisoned witness was confined in the penitentiary. He was sick all the time, and he was not allowed to see any one.

When he was imprisoned witness was confined in the penitentiary. He was sick all the time, and he was not allowed to see any one.

When he was imprisoned witness was confined in the penitentiary. He was sick all the time, and he was not allowed to see any one.

When he was imprisoned witness was confined in the penitentiary. He was sick all the time, and he was not allowed to see any one.

When he was imprisoned witness was confined in the penitentiary. He was sick all the time, and he was not allowed to see any one.

When he was imprisoned witness was confined in the penitentiary. He was sick all the time, and he was not allowed to see any one.

When he was imprisoned witness was confined in the penitentiary. He was sick all the time, and he was not allowed to see any one.

A STUDENT KILLS HIMSELF.

YOUNG GILBERT FISH'S PISTOL EXPLODES IN HIS HAND.

He was No. 17 in Rank in the Freshman Class in the City College—Living Long Enough to Explain How it Happened.

Gilbert Austin Fish, a promising student of the freshman class of the College of the City of New York, died yesterday morning from a pistol-shot wound inflicted by himself on Friday evening.

His father stood out after dinner, and returning at 9 o'clock, went out in the hallway of his flat with the boy's grandmother, who was holding a pistol in her hand.

He was No. 17 in Rank in the Freshman Class in the City College—Living Long Enough to Explain How it Happened.

He was No. 17 in Rank in the Freshman Class in the City College—Living Long Enough to Explain How it Happened.

He was No. 17 in Rank in the Freshman Class in the City College—Living Long Enough to Explain How it Happened.

He was No. 17 in Rank in the Freshman Class in the City College—Living Long Enough to Explain How it Happened.

He was No. 17 in Rank in the Freshman Class in the City College—Living Long Enough to Explain How it Happened.

He was No. 17 in Rank in the Freshman Class in the City College—Living Long Enough to Explain How it Happened.

He was No. 17 in Rank in the Freshman Class in the City College—Living Long Enough to Explain How it Happened.

MR. BLAINE'S ILLNESS.

He has a Slight Broncho-Pneumonia, but his Symptoms are Favorable.

St. Louis, April 9.—A despatch from Fort Gibson, I. T., dated Friday, says: Mr. Blaine was suffering from a severe cold on Sunday evening last when he arrived at Gibson Station.

Mr. Blaine is suffering from a heavy cold, accompanied by violent fever and was quite sick, but to-night has a favorable change.

Mr. Blaine is suffering from a heavy cold, accompanied by violent fever and was quite sick, but to-night has a favorable change.

Mr. Blaine is suffering from a heavy cold, accompanied by violent fever and was quite sick, but to-night has a favorable change.

Mr. Blaine is suffering from a heavy cold, accompanied by violent fever and was quite sick, but to-night has a favorable change.

Mr. Blaine is suffering from a heavy cold, accompanied by violent fever and was quite sick, but to-night has a favorable change.

Mr. Blaine is suffering from a heavy cold, accompanied by violent fever and was quite sick, but to-night has a favorable change.

Mr. Blaine is suffering from a heavy cold, accompanied by violent fever and was quite sick, but to-night has a favorable change.

Mr. Blaine is suffering from a heavy cold, accompanied by violent fever and was quite sick, but to-night has a favorable change.

Mr. Blaine is suffering from a heavy cold, accompanied by violent fever and was quite sick, but to-night has a favorable change.

JOSEPH CHAMBERLAIN.

A NERE POLITICAL TRADER, WITHOUT CANONICAL PRINCIPLES.

Socially a Parish, Politically a Magnate—A Medical of Radical Shrivelled into a Conservative Unionist—Gladstone's Well-founded Distrust of his Intentions.

LONDON, April 9.—England is to-day in a struggle between practical and ideal notions. The Liberal party is doing all the fighting on both sides, the Tories simply grin. They know they are safe.

Gladstone leads the fight for idealism. How he fights is too well known for present comment. Enough that he never is in better condition for fighting, and that his splendid faculties are working to their highest capacity for Ireland.

Chamberlain is of a new and growing class—the class of political traders without canonical principles. A manufacturer's son, he is well versed in the technical meaning of that word, but he has never acquired the genuine, the spirit of patriotism, or the disinterestedness of political conduct which adheres to principles false.

Chamberlain is of a new and growing class—the class of political traders without canonical principles. A manufacturer's son, he is well versed in the technical meaning of that word, but he has never acquired the genuine, the spirit of patriotism, or the disinterestedness of political conduct which adheres to principles false.

Chamberlain is of a new and growing class—the class of political traders without canonical principles. A manufacturer's son, he is well versed in the technical meaning of that word, but he has never acquired the genuine, the spirit of patriotism, or the disinterestedness of political conduct which adheres to principles false.

Chamberlain is of a new and growing class—the class of political traders without canonical principles. A manufacturer's son, he is well versed in the technical meaning of that word, but he has never acquired the genuine, the spirit of patriotism, or the disinterestedness of political conduct which adheres to principles false.

Chamberlain is of a new and growing class—the class of political traders without canonical principles. A manufacturer's son, he is well versed in the technical meaning of that word, but he has never acquired the genuine, the spirit of patriotism, or the disinterestedness of political conduct which adheres to principles false.

Chamberlain is of a new and growing class—the class of political traders without canonical principles. A manufacturer's son, he is well versed in the technical meaning of that word, but he has never acquired the genuine, the spirit of patriotism, or the disinterestedness of political conduct which adheres to principles false.

Chamberlain is of a new and growing class—the class of political traders without canonical principles. A manufacturer's son, he is well versed in the technical meaning of that word, but he has never acquired the genuine, the spirit of patriotism, or the disinterestedness of political conduct which adheres to principles false.

VICTORY IN RHODE ISLAND.

The Democrats Eject Their Ticket in Newport and Win the Legislature.

NEWPORT, April 9.—The battle has been fought and a Democratic victory won. The four Republican Assemblymen who failed of an election on Wednesday went before a mixed convention of Republicans and Prohibitionists yesterday, where an effort was made to elect a ticket for the coming year.

The Democrats ejected their ticket in Newport and won the Legislature. The four Republican Assemblymen who failed of an election on Wednesday went before a mixed convention of Republicans and Prohibitionists yesterday.

The Democrats ejected their ticket in Newport and won the Legislature. The four Republican Assemblymen who failed of an election on Wednesday went before a mixed convention of Republicans and Prohibitionists yesterday.

The Democrats ejected their ticket in Newport and won the Legislature. The four Republican Assemblymen who failed of an election on Wednesday went before a mixed convention of Republicans and Prohibitionists yesterday.

The Democrats ejected their ticket in Newport and won the Legislature. The four Republican Assemblymen who failed of an election on Wednesday went before a mixed convention of Republicans and Prohibitionists yesterday.

The Democrats ejected their ticket in Newport and won the Legislature. The four Republican Assemblymen who failed of an election on Wednesday went before a mixed convention of Republicans and Prohibitionists yesterday.

The Democrats ejected their ticket in Newport and won the Legislature. The four Republican Assemblymen who failed of an election on Wednesday went before a mixed convention of Republicans and Prohibitionists yesterday.

The Democrats ejected their ticket in Newport and won the Legislature. The four Republican Assemblymen who failed of an election on Wednesday went before a mixed convention of Republicans and Prohibitionists yesterday.

The Democrats ejected their ticket in Newport and won the Legislature. The four Republican Assemblymen who failed of an election on Wednesday went before a mixed convention of Republicans and Prohibitionists yesterday.

The Democrats ejected their ticket in Newport and won the Legislature. The four Republican Assemblymen who failed of an election on Wednesday went before a mixed convention of Republicans and Prohibitionists yesterday.