

OUTCRY FOR MORE MONEY.

SAVINGS BANKS REFUSING TO LEND EVEN ON GOVERNMENT BONDS.

The Banks and Trust Companies Find it Impossible to Accommodate Many Merchants—More Opinions on the Situation—Wall Street in a State of Excited Conference with Secretary Fairchild.

The statements of representative business men about the monetary situation that were printed in THE SUN of Sunday created a profound impression in the mercantile and financial communities. The prevalent feeling which THE SUN formulated found its quickest and most forcible expression in Wall street, which, as every one knows, is most sensitively alert to detect the good as well as the bad in the general business situation.

That the business interests of the country are suffering for want of currency accommodations is a fact which has been established as they did yesterday and stayed down if the holders of them did not believe that the money market was in a state of excitement. The result of a fairly active day's business upon the Stock Exchange yesterday was a decline of 1/2 per cent. There were no new issues of any kind of any, so that the shrinkage may be considered as plainly traceable to the cause mentioned.

The money brokers declared that they were being asked to make loans even with government bonds as collateral, and that the banks had declined to renew at any price. The banks are still refusing to make loans on government bonds, and the insurance companies and the trust companies have small reserves to lend on call. The banks are being asked to make loans for time money, either at 6 or 16 per cent, as one money broker put it, and he added that it is impossible for them to do it.

A very significant feature was the announcement by the Manhattan, Dry Dock, the River Union, James and Williamsburg Savings Banks had declined to make loans even with government bonds as collateral. The banks had applied to them to loan as well as to call loans. It is stated for the first time that the banks have been denied by time loans on real estate at six per cent.

The fact that the situation was the telegraph messages received from Chicago asking for loans on government bonds. The opinion is expressed that the situation in Chicago is more hopeful and to attach a significance to Secretary Fairchild's purchase of $4,000,000 of bonds for the purpose of increasing the circulation of the currency. It is further evidenced that Wall street men cannot suffer to tolerate the burden to be put on the merchants.

Mr. Robert B. Minturn of Grinnell, Minturn & Co., the merchants are suffering for money. They have felt the stringency particularly of late. The business is so bad that they are unable to meet their obligations. The trouble is not so much in the money market as it is in the low flow in New York, and if not checked, it will result in a general depression.

TRYING TO SAVE HER LOVER.

She Says she Stole the Money he is Accused of Taking.

CHICAGO, Sept. 19.—Louis Devine, 19 years old, was in the Criminal Court to-day to answer to two indictments, one charging him with the theft of $100, the other with robbing a barber shop. Devine has been locked up some time. As outlined by his attorney, Devine's defence on the charge of stealing the money involves a little romance. A tug Captain's residence was despoiled of the money. This Captain has a charming young daughter, and according to them she did it to save him. The writer is a pretty girl of 18, though she looks older. In one of the letters she says:

You say for me to stay here till the trial comes off. I will give you letters before I go that will prove I took the money.

In another she says: I was in the bank and saw the money, and I saw it go into the hands of the man who was accused of taking it. I saw it go into the hands of the man who was accused of taking it. I saw it go into the hands of the man who was accused of taking it.

These letters, it was thought, would have a bad effect with the jury, so the case was not brought to the attention of the jury. It was thought that Devine a day or two after the money was stolen, he went to the bank and saw the money go into the hands of the man who was accused of taking it.

DID THEY ELOPE?

Young John Halefinger and Miss Mamie Brennan Missing from Yorkers.

YONKERS, Sept. 19.—It was reported here to-night that Henry Halefinger, the 17-year-old son of John Halefinger, had eloped with Miss Mamie Brennan, the 17-year-old daughter of Mr. Brennan, who lives in the city of New York. The two were reported to have been seen together at the residence of Mr. Brennan on Sunday at 8 o'clock P. M. Miss Brennan attended mass at the Church of the Immaculate Conception, where she remained until about the same hour Halefinger left home, and that the last seen of him by his parents, who now both live in the city of New York, was on Sunday at 8 o'clock P. GOV. FORAKER WAS SNUBBED.

AND SO WAS HIS WIFE BY THE MISTRESS OF THE WHITE HOUSE.

A Semi-official Account of the Treatment They Received from Mrs. Cleveland at the Public Reception in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 19.—It is a subject for comment upon human nature that amid all the great events of the Centennial Constitutional Convention just closed the relations between Gov. Foraker and wife of Ohio and the President and his wife were the subject of most comment, and the question whether there was any snubbing done upon either side is still the most discussed. In view of this an authoritative statement of the whole matter may be of interest, and it is as follows:

Gov. Foraker and his staff were at Gettysburg, assisting in the dedication of nineteen battle monuments ordered by Ohio, and left there for Philadelphia. While in Gettysburg the Governor said to a friend: "I am going over to Philadelphia, and shall offer my hand to the President. He must take it or refuse it, and I don't care which. I shall set the dignified part becoming my office and he can do the same, or not, as he chooses."

It was understood that the Union Elevated Company was to be the contractor for the street and laying its foundations in front of the stables this week, and Mr. Richardson's move was to prevent the pending the filing of Justice Pratt's decision. According to the decision, the company was to file security in such a sum as to meet the cost of the work, and to be sought in the sum of $500 before the order could take effect. The police part in the case was to prevent the company from the street and laying its foundations in front of the stables this week, and Mr. Richardson's move was to prevent the pending the filing of Justice Pratt's decision.

TRAY LANDLORD SCHELMER.

Was Dice Throwing at $30 a Corner Allowed in His Hotel at Glen Cove?

In the Queens County Court of Sessions yesterday the trial of Frederick Schlemmer, a Glen Cove hotel keeper, indicted on a charge of allowing gambling in his hotel was begun. His attorney testified that throwing dice at the hotel at $30 a corner, and that games of all kinds were played. The witness had bought chips, and had played poker with Commissioner Dupuy. On cross-examination the witness testified that he had seen Schlemmer's wife and daughter to the theatre, and to eating his meals at Mr. Schlemmer's hotel. PRESIDENT RICHARDSON'S BARRICADE.

He Will Use Every Faculty God has Given Him to Keep Fifth Avenue.

The President William Richardson of the Atlantic Avenue Railroad Company, Brooklyn, has watched each forward step of the Union Elevated Railroad Company with marked disapproval. He is especially opposed to the construction of the Fifth avenue road, and it is said he was back of the recent unsuccessful litigation in the Supreme Court on the part of some property owners, who sought to have the company enjoined from building on that avenue.

It was understood that the Union Elevated Company was to be the contractor for the street and laying its foundations in front of the stables this week, and Mr. Richardson's move was to prevent the pending the filing of Justice Pratt's decision. According to the decision, the company was to file security in such a sum as to meet the cost of the work, and to be sought in the sum of $500 before the order could take effect. WHAT WILL HAPPEN IF WE HANG THE ANARCHISTS.

Four Thousand of their Sympathizers Meet in Cooper Union, and Most and Schevitch Feed Them Well on Peppercorn Tongue.

Socialists and Anarchists to the number of 4,000 gathered very quietly in Cooper Union last evening. The 4,000 included sisters and wives in remarkably large proportion for a public meeting and a strong-lunged brass band, whose leader looked like Henry George, but wasn't Henry. The women and the music, with some singing by a chorus of men added to the effect of peacefulness that was only disturbed when it was seen how responsive all of both sexes were to the wild utterances of John Most. A black flag and a red flag were draped at the back of the speaker's stand, and a poster parading containing photographs of the seven condemned Chicago Anarchists was affixed to the front of the desk. GEORGE MUST PAY HIS FINE.

He Says he Didn't Mean to Neglect a Summons to Jury Duty.

Henry George, not relishing the idea of paying the fine of $100 imposed on him for failure to respond to the summons to serve as a juror in Part III. of the City Court, appeared before Judge Brown yesterday to make his excuses and ask that the fine be remitted. He said that he did not want to serve as a juror, and when he received his summons he went before the Commissioner of Jurors, who told him that if he did not appear he would receive another notice. Not knowing that the further notice would be a summons to appear, he thought it a second warning to attend, but went about his business and awaited it. He thought in view of his misunderstanding of the case, that the fine should be remitted, but Judge Brown didn't, and it still stands against him.

Mr. George was too busy to talk about the matter yesterday afternoon. His brother, Al George, who was with him, said that Mr. George, one of the editors of the Standard, to explain that he would be very busy this fall running for Secretary of State. The Commissioner of Jurors said that that did not make much difference, because men were candidates for political office who were not stopping the wheels of justice. But if he was out of town he would be a juror, and he would be a juror, and he would be a juror.
