

VOTED GOOD TICKETS AND BAD, EARLY, LATE, AND OFTEN.

Inspector Van Horn "challenged them, but they kept right on voting five or six times each—He saw no jokers go into the box, but a good many came out.

For the first time since the New Jersey Senate Investigating Committee has been sitting in Jersey City, Senator Adams, the investigating member, was at hand at the morning session in the Vice-Chancellor's chambers yesterday, and for the first time also Senator B. C. who assumed the duties of the committee, was absent. President Neffus of the Senate and of the committee. There was the usual crowd of witnesses from the Roosevelt.

William Van Horn, who lives on the street, the fourth witness, furnished the sensation of the day. He was the Republican Inspector of election in the third precinct of the second district in the Horse-ho. The polling place was in No. 2 Engine house in Morris street. Lawyer Corbin did the questioning.

Van Horn was asked to return to the room because he knew that fraud had been committed and the returns were not correct.

"What frauds do you know were committed?" asked Mr. Corbin.

"I know," answered Van Horn, "that men voted more than once, and that they voted more than once."

Van Horn swore that he kept a record of the names of all persons who had voted in the precinct. A man named Michael Heenan had voted three times, once as John Wally of 131 Grand street, once as Michael Rossy of 135 Grand street, and once as John Johnson of 193 Grand street.

"I knew Heenan, personally," said Van Horn, "and I challenged him every time he came to vote. His vote was received just the same. Another man whom I knew to be Lawrence Dolan voted as T. E. Leonard of 131 Grand street."

"Were there any other frauds committed?" asked Lawyer Corbin.

"The names of fifty men were written on the poll book during the noon recess," replied Van Horn. "I noticed them when we returned from dinner. I stayed in the engine house with the ballot box while the other officers were gone. One of the officers, John Adams, took the box with him, instead of locking it up in the box, according to law. The officers were Peter Cassidy, clerk; James Burns, judge, and Thomas Meskill, inspector. I think Cassidy brought the book back. I noticed that names numbered from 280 to 334 had been added to the book. I did not know who they were."

"Did you notice anything else?" asked Mr. Corbin.

"There were men who voted five or six times each between 5 and 6 o'clock," replied Van Horn, "but I couldn't swear to them. I didn't know their names. I challenged them, but no notice was taken of my challenge."

Van Horn was asked to continue Van Horn, "but I saw a lot of them taken out of the box. Nothing was taken out of or put into the box during the noon recess. At the close of the evening I did not notice whether any of the ballots were not stamped."

Van Horn was asked to continue Van Horn, "but I saw a lot of them taken out of the box. Nothing was taken out of or put into the box during the noon recess. At the close of the evening I did not notice whether any of the ballots were not stamped."

Van Horn was asked to continue Van Horn, "but I saw a lot of them taken out of the box. Nothing was taken out of or put into the box during the noon recess. At the close of the evening I did not notice whether any of the ballots were not stamped."

Van Horn was asked to continue Van Horn, "but I saw a lot of them taken out of the box. Nothing was taken out of or put into the box during the noon recess. At the close of the evening I did not notice whether any of the ballots were not stamped."

Van Horn was asked to continue Van Horn, "but I saw a lot of them taken out of the box. Nothing was taken out of or put into the box during the noon recess. At the close of the evening I did not notice whether any of the ballots were not stamped."

Van Horn was asked to continue Van Horn, "but I saw a lot of them taken out of the box. Nothing was taken out of or put into the box during the noon recess. At the close of the evening I did not notice whether any of the ballots were not stamped."

Van Horn was asked to continue Van Horn, "but I saw a lot of them taken out of the box. Nothing was taken out of or put into the box during the noon recess. At the close of the evening I did not notice whether any of the ballots were not stamped."

Van Horn was asked to continue Van Horn, "but I saw a lot of them taken out of the box. Nothing was taken out of or put into the box during the noon recess. At the close of the evening I did not notice whether any of the ballots were not stamped."

Van Horn was asked to continue Van Horn, "but I saw a lot of them taken out of the box. Nothing was taken out of or put into the box during the noon recess. At the close of the evening I did not notice whether any of the ballots were not stamped."

Van Horn was asked to continue Van Horn, "but I saw a lot of them taken out of the box. Nothing was taken out of or put into the box during the noon recess. At the close of the evening I did not notice whether any of the ballots were not stamped."

Van Horn was asked to continue Van Horn, "but I saw a lot of them taken out of the box. Nothing was taken out of or put into the box during the noon recess. At the close of the evening I did not notice whether any of the ballots were not stamped."

Van Horn was asked to continue Van Horn, "but I saw a lot of them taken out of the box. Nothing was taken out of or put into the box during the noon recess. At the close of the evening I did not notice whether any of the ballots were not stamped."

Van Horn was asked to continue Van Horn, "but I saw a lot of them taken out of the box. Nothing was taken out of or put into the box during the noon recess. At the close of the evening I did not notice whether any of the ballots were not stamped."

Van Horn was asked to continue Van Horn, "but I saw a lot of them taken out of the box. Nothing was taken out of or put into the box during the noon recess. At the close of the evening I did not notice whether any of the ballots were not stamped."

Van Horn was asked to continue Van Horn, "but I saw a lot of them taken out of the box. Nothing was taken out of or put into the box during the noon recess. At the close of the evening I did not notice whether any of the ballots were not stamped."

FIRST OF THE CLAREMONT TEA.

The Afternoon Pilgrimage to Riverside Drive Begins With Lovely Weather.

Everything seemed to combine yesterday afternoon to make enjoyable the first of the "Claremont teas," which now have become so important a feature of the spring season to the city. The first of these teas, which are held on every Thursday afternoon this month at the Hotel Claremont at the head of Riverside Drive, the tea of yesterday was almost practically the opening of the coaching season in New York. Mr. R. Van Rensselaer Cruger is at the head of the tea, and the committee have taken charge of these Thursday teas. The committee is composed of Mrs. Edward Cooper, Mrs. George E. De Forest, Mrs. J. Hamilton Robb, Mrs. James P. Kennel, Mrs. Nicholas H. Rich, Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, and Mrs. Orme Wilson. They were all present yesterday.

The tea was held at the Hotel Claremont at the head of Riverside Drive, the tea of yesterday was almost practically the opening of the coaching season in New York. Mr. R. Van Rensselaer Cruger is at the head of the tea, and the committee have taken charge of these Thursday teas. The committee is composed of Mrs. Edward Cooper, Mrs. George E. De Forest, Mrs. J. Hamilton Robb, Mrs. James P. Kennel, Mrs. Nicholas H. Rich, Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, and Mrs. Orme Wilson. They were all present yesterday.

The tea was held at the Hotel Claremont at the head of Riverside Drive, the tea of yesterday was almost practically the opening of the coaching season in New York. Mr. R. Van Rensselaer Cruger is at the head of the tea, and the committee have taken charge of these Thursday teas. The committee is composed of Mrs. Edward Cooper, Mrs. George E. De Forest, Mrs. J. Hamilton Robb, Mrs. James P. Kennel, Mrs. Nicholas H. Rich, Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, and Mrs. Orme Wilson. They were all present yesterday.

The tea was held at the Hotel Claremont at the head of Riverside Drive, the tea of yesterday was almost practically the opening of the coaching season in New York. Mr. R. Van Rensselaer Cruger is at the head of the tea, and the committee have taken charge of these Thursday teas. The committee is composed of Mrs. Edward Cooper, Mrs. George E. De Forest, Mrs. J. Hamilton Robb, Mrs. James P. Kennel, Mrs. Nicholas H. Rich, Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, and Mrs. Orme Wilson. They were all present yesterday.

The tea was held at the Hotel Claremont at the head of Riverside Drive, the tea of yesterday was almost practically the opening of the coaching season in New York. Mr. R. Van Rensselaer Cruger is at the head of the tea, and the committee have taken charge of these Thursday teas. The committee is composed of Mrs. Edward Cooper, Mrs. George E. De Forest, Mrs. J. Hamilton Robb, Mrs. James P. Kennel, Mrs. Nicholas H. Rich, Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, and Mrs. Orme Wilson. They were all present yesterday.

The tea was held at the Hotel Claremont at the head of Riverside Drive, the tea of yesterday was almost practically the opening of the coaching season in New York. Mr. R. Van Rensselaer Cruger is at the head of the tea, and the committee have taken charge of these Thursday teas. The committee is composed of Mrs. Edward Cooper, Mrs. George E. De Forest, Mrs. J. Hamilton Robb, Mrs. James P. Kennel, Mrs. Nicholas H. Rich, Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, and Mrs. Orme Wilson. They were all present yesterday.

The tea was held at the Hotel Claremont at the head of Riverside Drive, the tea of yesterday was almost practically the opening of the coaching season in New York. Mr. R. Van Rensselaer Cruger is at the head of the tea, and the committee have taken charge of these Thursday teas. The committee is composed of Mrs. Edward Cooper, Mrs. George E. De Forest, Mrs. J. Hamilton Robb, Mrs. James P. Kennel, Mrs. Nicholas H. Rich, Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, and Mrs. Orme Wilson. They were all present yesterday.

The tea was held at the Hotel Claremont at the head of Riverside Drive, the tea of yesterday was almost practically the opening of the coaching season in New York. Mr. R. Van Rensselaer Cruger is at the head of the tea, and the committee have taken charge of these Thursday teas. The committee is composed of Mrs. Edward Cooper, Mrs. George E. De Forest, Mrs. J. Hamilton Robb, Mrs. James P. Kennel, Mrs. Nicholas H. Rich, Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, and Mrs. Orme Wilson. They were all present yesterday.

The tea was held at the Hotel Claremont at the head of Riverside Drive, the tea of yesterday was almost practically the opening of the coaching season in New York. Mr. R. Van Rensselaer Cruger is at the head of the tea, and the committee have taken charge of these Thursday teas. The committee is composed of Mrs. Edward Cooper, Mrs. George E. De Forest, Mrs. J. Hamilton Robb, Mrs. James P. Kennel, Mrs. Nicholas H. Rich, Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, and Mrs. Orme Wilson. They were all present yesterday.

The tea was held at the Hotel Claremont at the head of Riverside Drive, the tea of yesterday was almost practically the opening of the coaching season in New York. Mr. R. Van Rensselaer Cruger is at the head of the tea, and the committee have taken charge of these Thursday teas. The committee is composed of Mrs. Edward Cooper, Mrs. George E. De Forest, Mrs. J. Hamilton Robb, Mrs. James P. Kennel, Mrs. Nicholas H. Rich, Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, and Mrs. Orme Wilson. They were all present yesterday.

The tea was held at the Hotel Claremont at the head of Riverside Drive, the tea of yesterday was almost practically the opening of the coaching season in New York. Mr. R. Van Rensselaer Cruger is at the head of the tea, and the committee have taken charge of these Thursday teas. The committee is composed of Mrs. Edward Cooper, Mrs. George E. De Forest, Mrs. J. Hamilton Robb, Mrs. James P. Kennel, Mrs. Nicholas H. Rich, Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, and Mrs. Orme Wilson. They were all present yesterday.

The tea was held at the Hotel Claremont at the head of Riverside Drive, the tea of yesterday was almost practically the opening of the coaching season in New York. Mr. R. Van Rensselaer Cruger is at the head of the tea, and the committee have taken charge of these Thursday teas. The committee is composed of Mrs. Edward Cooper, Mrs. George E. De Forest, Mrs. J. Hamilton Robb, Mrs. James P. Kennel, Mrs. Nicholas H. Rich, Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, and Mrs. Orme Wilson. They were all present yesterday.

The tea was held at the Hotel Claremont at the head of Riverside Drive, the tea of yesterday was almost practically the opening of the coaching season in New York. Mr. R. Van Rensselaer Cruger is at the head of the tea, and the committee have taken charge of these Thursday teas. The committee is composed of Mrs. Edward Cooper, Mrs. George E. De Forest, Mrs. J. Hamilton Robb, Mrs. James P. Kennel, Mrs. Nicholas H. Rich, Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, and Mrs. Orme Wilson. They were all present yesterday.

The tea was held at the Hotel Claremont at the head of Riverside Drive, the tea of yesterday was almost practically the opening of the coaching season in New York. Mr. R. Van Rensselaer Cruger is at the head of the tea, and the committee have taken charge of these Thursday teas. The committee is composed of Mrs. Edward Cooper, Mrs. George E. De Forest, Mrs. J. Hamilton Robb, Mrs. James P. Kennel, Mrs. Nicholas H. Rich, Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, and Mrs. Orme Wilson. They were all present yesterday.

The tea was held at the Hotel Claremont at the head of Riverside Drive, the tea of yesterday was almost practically the opening of the coaching season in New York. Mr. R. Van Rensselaer Cruger is at the head of the tea, and the committee have taken charge of these Thursday teas. The committee is composed of Mrs. Edward Cooper, Mrs. George E. De Forest, Mrs. J. Hamilton Robb, Mrs. James P. Kennel, Mrs. Nicholas H. Rich, Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, and Mrs. Orme Wilson. They were all present yesterday.

The tea was held at the Hotel Claremont at the head of Riverside Drive, the tea of yesterday was almost practically the opening of the coaching season in New York. Mr. R. Van Rensselaer Cruger is at the head of the tea, and the committee have taken charge of these Thursday teas. The committee is composed of Mrs. Edward Cooper, Mrs. George E. De Forest, Mrs. J. Hamilton Robb, Mrs. James P. Kennel, Mrs. Nicholas H. Rich, Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, and Mrs. Orme Wilson. They were all present yesterday.

The tea was held at the Hotel Claremont at the head of Riverside Drive, the tea of yesterday was almost practically the opening of the coaching season in New York. Mr. R. Van Rensselaer Cruger is at the head of the tea, and the committee have taken charge of these Thursday teas. The committee is composed of Mrs. Edward Cooper, Mrs. George E. De Forest, Mrs. J. Hamilton Robb, Mrs. James P. Kennel, Mrs. Nicholas H. Rich, Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, and Mrs. Orme Wilson. They were all present yesterday.

The tea was held at the Hotel Claremont at the head of Riverside Drive, the tea of yesterday was almost practically the opening of the coaching season in New York. Mr. R. Van Rensselaer Cruger is at the head of the tea, and the committee have taken charge of these Thursday teas. The committee is composed of Mrs. Edward Cooper, Mrs. George E. De Forest, Mrs. J. Hamilton Robb, Mrs. James P. Kennel, Mrs. Nicholas H. Rich, Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, and Mrs. Orme Wilson. They were all present yesterday.

The tea was held at the Hotel Claremont at the head of Riverside Drive, the tea of yesterday was almost practically the opening of the coaching season in New York. Mr. R. Van Rensselaer Cruger is at the head of the tea, and the committee have taken charge of these Thursday teas. The committee is composed of Mrs. Edward Cooper, Mrs. George E. De Forest, Mrs. J. Hamilton Robb, Mrs. James P. Kennel, Mrs. Nicholas H. Rich, Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, and Mrs. Orme Wilson. They were all present yesterday.

KILLED HIS WIFE'S LOVER.

GRINNELL'S JEALOUSY AROUSED BY ENGINEER CORRELL.

His Wife Says that She and the Dead Man were Lovers, and that He Had Threatened to Kill the Mate's Engineer.

Dubuque, April 17.—North McGregor, about sixty miles north of this city, was last night the scene of a tragedy. George Cornell, an engineer on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad, was shot by J. A. Grinnell.

For years Mr. Grinnell has been court reporter for the McGregor district, and about ten years ago was married to a young lady of Claston county, a Miss Gienn, who has relatives in Dubuque. They lived with their child, a boy, in McGregor, and Mr. Grinnell's duties were his absence from home the greater part of the time.

About a month or two ago Mr. Grinnell first intimated that he had any knowledge of the rumors concerning Mrs. Grinnell's relations with other men, which had been about for some time. He called on two occasions at the home of the engineer, but he was not received. He then called on the engineer's mother, George, who was not at home, but his father and mother became alarmed and sought to mollify Mr. Grinnell by assuring him that their son would cease his attentions to Mrs. Grinnell.

The roommaster also sought and obtained two interviews with Mr. Grinnell. The latter was called on at his home in McGregor, and came with his wife and child to Dubuque. He sent George word that he would shoot him on sight, but this threat, it was thought, was made with no other purpose than to scare Cornell from the house.

The first to arrive on the boat was one of the Grinnells, who was with Miss Letitia, Mrs. Sallie Hargrove, who is an enthusiastic horse-woman, also came up in the saddle with her horse, and she and her husband, who were accompanied by a party of friends, were on the boat. The boat was a public house. He jumped to the ground and ran to the engine house, and he and his wife were on the boat. A few days ago Grinnell left for McGregor, taking his boy with him, and Mrs. Grinnell was reported to be with her wife and child to Dubuque. He sent George word that he would shoot him on sight, but this threat, it was thought, was made with no other purpose than to scare Cornell from the house.

Correll, before he left here last night, was called on by Mr. Grinnell. The latter was in McGregor. Correll reached McGregor at 11 o'clock, and went to the hotel of the name of the Grinnells. He saw Grinnell in the mirror and saw Grinnell advancing toward the wash room. He turned, and as he did so, he fired his revolver, and the bullet struck Grinnell in the chest. Grinnell was walking away when he was seized. He was sent to the hotel at 11 o'clock, and this morning was handed over to the authorities. Correll lay in an unconscious condition until about 11 o'clock, when he died. His wife brought to this city to-night by his father, and she has been reported to be with her wife and child to Dubuque. He sent George word that he would shoot him on sight, but this threat, it was thought, was made with no other purpose than to scare Cornell from the house.

RECEPTION TO GEN. SHERMAN. He is 70 Years Old, and the Union Leaguers Gave Him a Birthday Party.

The Union League Club celebrated the opening of Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman's 71st year with a rousing birthday party. The interior of the club house was all stars and stripes in honor of the event. The pillars in the vestibule were wrapped with United States flags.

A society in United States uniform, with a rifle over his shoulder, paced the landing at the head of the first stairway. The walls of the hall on the third floor where the table for the dinner were laid were decorated with red, white, and blue banners, starry shields, and eagles.

The guests of the evening began to arrive at 9 o'clock. They were received by Gen. Herace Porter, Cornelius N. Bliss, Ulysses N. Grant, Jr., Gen. Lyndon, Warner Miller, Eliza Root, and many other members of the reception committee. Gen. Sherman arrived shortly after 9 o'clock. He was met by Gen. Porter, and they went down stairs to the hall on the second floor. The secretary of the Union League, and Gen. Nelson Miles took places on the stage at the head of the hall.

The general was introduced before them in a brief, earnest speech. All the love and admiration of the Union League members in the rebellion, he said, had recently been concentrated on Gen. Sherman in consequence of the timely and heroic services he rendered in the rebellion. The Union League Club was not united on all questions, but it was in its admiration of Gen. Sherman that it was united. America's greatest living general.

Gen. Sherman answered Dr. Porter's eulogy in a few words, and then he spoke of the honor that had been done to him by the Union League. He told no stories, and hardly referred to his experiences during the war. Gen. Sherman's speech was warmly applauded and repeated cheers.

The members and guests then adjourned to the dining room, where a splendid dinner was served. The remainder of the evening in conversation. Most of the guests left before 12 o'clock. Gen. Sherman and his wife were among the last to leave.

Almost every region of the United States and every part of the world has heard of the Italian Colony Disposition.

A New Report yesterday showed that S. P. Riva, the Italian Consul-General here, had a speech printed in the Italian paper L'Espresso from the correspondent of the paper at Rome. The dispatch was as follows:

I am informed that Signor Crispal has received from the Italian Minister at Washington, Baron Fava, an order for the purchase of a large quantity of Italian goods for the relief of the Italian colonies. The goods are to be sent to the Italian colonies, and the order is to be executed as soon as possible.

There was a throng of art dealers and collectors in the galleries at 43 Liberty street yesterday afternoon to bid on the collections of the late artist, John G. Johnson, who was a resident of Brooklyn and G. F. Emerson of this city, which are offered for sale by Auctioneer James P. Kelly. The sale was marked by brisk and high bidding. The first lot was a painting of a landscape, which was sold for $1,000.

The sale was marked by brisk and high bidding. The first lot was a painting of a landscape, which was sold for $1,000. The second lot was a painting of a landscape, which was sold for $1,000. The third lot was a painting of a landscape, which was sold for $1,000.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

AMUSEMENTS. JAMES R. McQUADE IN BELLEVUE.

Francis Wilson's Production of "The Gondoliers" at Palmer's.

A special train hastened from Philadelphia yesterday forenoon with 92 comic opera singers and their attendant musicians among the passengers. The train for Jersey City was not a record breaker, but it was very fast, and it at least fulfilled all expectations, because it enabled Francis R. Wilson and his troupe to sing the first strains of "The Gondoliers" on the stage of Palmer's Theatre shortly before 2 o'clock.

The Wilson sample of "The Gondoliers" had been awaited with curious interest. It was broken up everybody in the theatre that "Orly" Carte and Albert M. Palmer had lost a dollar or two on the British version of the work, and it was matter of gossip in the lobby that Wilson had triumphed so emphatically with his Philadelphia production of it that he could stay there all summer and coin money if his European plans didn't interfere. His own manager and his wife and child went down to the depot to see the train off. Mr. Wilson, who was accompanied by his wife and child, stood in the window up stairs and remarked to a companion that he had never seen a train go off so smoothly. A few days ago Grinnell left for McGregor, taking his boy with him, and Mrs. Grinnell was reported to be with her wife and child to Dubuque. He sent George word that he would shoot him on sight, but this threat, it was thought, was made with no other purpose than to scare Cornell from the house.

The roommaster also sought and obtained two interviews with Mr. Grinnell. The latter was called on at his home in McGregor, and came with his wife and child to Dubuque. He sent George word that he would shoot him on sight, but this threat, it was thought, was made with no other purpose than to scare Cornell from the house.

Correll, before he left here last night, was called on by Mr. Grinnell. The latter was in McGregor. Correll reached McGregor at 11 o'clock, and went to the hotel of the name of the Grinnells. He saw Grinnell in the mirror and saw Grinnell advancing toward the wash room. He turned, and as he did so, he fired his revolver, and the bullet struck Grinnell in the chest. Grinnell was walking away when he was seized. He was sent to the hotel at 11 o'clock, and this morning was handed over to the authorities. Correll lay in an unconscious condition until about 11 o'clock, when he died. His wife brought to this city to-night by his father, and she has been reported to be with her wife and child to Dubuque. He sent George word that he would shoot him on sight, but this threat, it was thought, was made with no other purpose than to scare Cornell from the house.

RECEPTION TO GEN. SHERMAN. He is 70 Years Old, and the Union Leaguers Gave Him a Birthday Party.

The Union League Club celebrated the opening of Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman's 71st year with a rousing birthday party. The interior of the club house was all stars and stripes in honor of the event. The pillars in the vestibule were wrapped with United States flags.

A society in United States uniform, with a rifle over his shoulder, paced the landing at the head of the first stairway. The walls of the hall on the third floor where the table for the dinner were laid were decorated with red, white, and blue banners, starry shields, and eagles.

The guests of the evening began to arrive at 9 o'clock. They were received by Gen. Herace Porter, Cornelius N. Bliss, Ulysses N. Grant, Jr., Gen. Lyndon, Warner Miller, Eliza Root, and many other members of the reception committee. Gen. Sherman arrived shortly after 9 o'clock. He was met by Gen. Porter, and they went down stairs to the hall on the second floor. The secretary of the Union League, and Gen. Nelson Miles took places on the stage at the head of the hall.

The general was introduced before them in a brief, earnest speech. All the love and admiration of the Union League members in the rebellion, he said, had recently been concentrated on Gen. Sherman in consequence of the timely and heroic services he rendered in the rebellion. The Union League Club was not united on all questions, but it was in its admiration of Gen. Sherman that it was united. America's greatest living general.

Gen. Sherman answered Dr. Porter's eulogy in a few words, and then he spoke of the honor that had been done to him by the Union League. He told no stories, and hardly referred to his experiences during the war. Gen. Sherman's speech was warmly applauded and repeated cheers.

The members and guests then adjourned to the dining room, where a splendid dinner was served. The remainder of the evening in conversation. Most of the guests left before 12 o'clock. Gen. Sherman and his wife were among the last to leave.

Almost every region of the United States and every part of the world has heard of the Italian Colony Disposition.

A New Report yesterday showed that S. P. Riva, the Italian Consul-General here, had a speech printed in the Italian paper L'Espresso from the correspondent of the paper at Rome. The dispatch was as follows:

I am informed that Signor Crispal has received from the Italian Minister at Washington, Baron Fava, an order for the purchase of a large quantity of Italian goods for the relief of the Italian colonies. The goods are to be sent to the Italian colonies, and the order is to be executed as soon as possible.

There was a throng of art dealers and collectors in the galleries at 43 Liberty street yesterday afternoon to bid on the collections of the late artist, John G. Johnson, who was a resident of Brooklyn and G. F. Emerson of this city, which are offered for sale by Auctioneer James P. Kelly. The sale was marked by brisk and high bidding. The first lot was a painting of a landscape, which was sold for $1,000.

The sale was marked by brisk and high bidding. The first lot was a painting of a landscape, which was sold for $1,000. The second lot was a painting of a landscape, which was sold for $1,000. The third lot was a painting of a landscape, which was sold for $1,000.

The sale was marked by brisk and high bidding. The first lot was a painting of a landscape, which was sold for $1,000. The second lot was a painting of a landscape, which was sold for $1,000. The third lot was a painting of a landscape, which was sold for $1,000.

The sale was marked by brisk and high bidding. The first lot was a painting of a landscape, which was sold for $1,000. The second lot was a painting of a landscape, which was sold for $1,000. The third lot was a painting of a landscape, which was sold for $1,000.

ACID FOR HIS WIFE'S FACE.

COMELY ANNIE (COTRELL FRIGHT) FULLY DISFIGURED.

Her Cheeks and Lips Burned and Her Face Disfigured by the Use of a Certain Acid.

Peter Flood's wife died of pneumonia on Tuesday in her room on the top floor of the tenement at 31 Roosevelt street, and was buried on Wednesday. He and his two children are laid down with the disease. Just after 7 o'clock last night, while the friends of the Floods were gathered in the dining room, condoling with the widow's sister, Mrs. Annie Cottrell, and her young and comely girl, a tall man came in and excitedly asked Mrs. Cottrell if she intended to come back and live with him. He was her husband, Joseph, from whom she has been separated four years. He had been hanging around the tenement all day, and had asked the same question of her sister three times before.

His wife said she would not return to him. He drew a phial from his coat pocket and threw the contents in her face. She screamed with the liquid touched her face. Then she fainted. The women and men in the room rushed at Cottrell. He picked up a carving knife from the table and shouted that he would kill any body who came near him. Everybody retreated and Cottrell ran down stairs. A young fourth warder tried to run up after her, but she was too quick for him. She ran to the street and ran through Madison street. Policemen caught her.

The woman's condition Cottrell told Sergeant McGahan that he had thrown muriatic acid in his wife's face, and that he was sorry he had killed her. The woman was taken to Chambers Street Hospital. She was brought to the hospital on a stretcher. She is 39 years old, and before her husband's death she was a well-to-do woman. She has a little boy, a boy of seven years, and a girl of five years. She has been married for the last half year as a clerk in the Harlem Railroad station at Purdy's street. She was married to a man who was making shirts. Flood and his children are at death's door.

NEWS OF THE RAILROADS. A New Company Organized to Build the Reading and Harrisburg Railroad.

A Reading dispatch says: The parties interested in the reorganization of the South Penn Railroad, which was chartered some years ago to run from Harrisburg to Pottsville, and about which there has been endless litigation, met here this afternoon for the purpose of reorganization. The new name adopted was the Reading and Harrisburg Railroad, and the capital was fixed at $2,000,000. George E. Inar of Reading, who purchased the road at Sheriff's sale in Pottsville a month ago, was elected President. At the time of the purchase Mr. Inar promised to build the road to Harrisburg in thirty days, and this has now been accomplished. Mr. Inar just recently was one of the directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and is still one of its general counsel and President of several auxiliary corporations now under the management of the Reading road. The following were elected directors: Francis Lynde Stoddard, Francis S. Bangs, Charles McVeh, all of New York; James W. Mohr, Philadelphia; and Jefferson Snyder and Francis Lynde Stoddard, Harrisburg.

Most of the directors are members of the law firm with which ex-President Cleveland was connected. Mr. Mohr is the President of the firm, and Mr. Bangs is the general manager of the firm. Mr. Inar is general manager of the Reading and Harrisburg Railroad. The new company has for a long time been building a new line from Harrisburg to Pottsville. It has been very close to the South Penn. This in connection with the fact that the general manager of the Reading and Harrisburg Railroad, Mr. Inar, has been a member of the law firm with which ex-President Cleveland was connected, has been a member of the law firm with which ex-President Cleveland was connected.

Francis Lynde Stoddard, Francis S. Bangs, Charles McVeh, all of New York; James W. Mohr, Philadelphia; and Jefferson Snyder and Francis Lynde Stoddard, Harrisburg.

Most of the directors are members of the law firm with which ex-President Cleveland was connected. Mr. Mohr is the President of the firm, and Mr. Bangs is the general manager of the firm. Mr. Inar is general manager of the Reading and Harrisburg Railroad. The new company has for a long time been building a new line from Harrisburg to Pottsville. It has been very close to the South Penn. This in connection with the fact that the general manager of the Reading and Harrisburg Railroad, Mr. Inar, has been a member of the law firm with which ex-President Cleveland was connected, has been a member of the law firm with which ex-President Cleveland was connected.

Francis Lynde Stoddard, Francis S. Bangs, Charles McVeh, all of New York; James W. Mohr, Philadelphia; and Jefferson Snyder and Francis Lynde Stoddard, Harrisburg.

Most of the directors are members of the law firm with which ex-President Cleveland was connected. Mr. Mohr is the President of the firm, and Mr. Bangs is the general manager of the firm. Mr. Inar is general manager of the Reading and Harrisburg Railroad. The new company has for a long time been building a new line from Harrisburg to Pottsville. It has been very close to the South Penn. This in connection with the fact that the general manager of the Reading and Harrisburg Railroad, Mr. Inar, has been a member of the law firm with which ex-President Cleveland was connected, has been a member of the law firm with which ex-President Cleveland was connected.

Francis Lynde Stoddard, Francis S. Bangs, Charles McVeh, all of New York; James W. Mohr, Philadelphia; and Jefferson Snyder and Francis Lynde Stoddard, Harrisburg.

Most of the directors are members of the law firm with which ex-President Cleveland was connected. Mr. Mohr is the President of the firm, and Mr. Bangs is the general manager of the firm. Mr. Inar is general manager of the Reading and Harrisburg Railroad. The new company has for a long time been building a new line from Harrisburg to Pottsville. It has been very close to the South Penn. This in connection with the fact that the general manager of the Reading and Harrisburg Railroad, Mr. Inar, has been a member of the law firm with which ex-President Cleveland was connected, has been a member of the law firm with which ex-President Cleveland was connected.

Francis Lynde Stoddard, Francis S. Bangs, Charles McVeh, all of New York; James W. Mohr, Philadelphia; and Jefferson Snyder and Francis Lynde Stoddard, Harrisburg.

Most of the directors are members of the law firm with which ex-President Cleveland was connected. Mr. Mohr is the President of the firm, and Mr. Bangs is the general manager of the firm. Mr. Inar is general manager of the Reading and Harrisburg Railroad. The new company has for a long time been building a new line from Harrisburg to Pottsville. It has been very close to the South Penn. This in connection with the fact that the general manager of the Reading and Harrisburg Railroad, Mr. Inar, has been a member of the law firm with which ex-President Cleveland was connected, has been a member of the law firm with which ex-President Cleveland was connected.

Francis Lynde Stoddard, Francis S. Bangs, Charles McVeh, all of New York; James W. Mohr, Philadelphia; and Jefferson Snyder and Francis Lynde Stoddard, Harrisburg.

Most of the directors are members of the law firm with which ex-President Cleveland was connected. Mr. Mohr is the President of the firm, and Mr. Bangs is the general manager of the firm. Mr. Inar is general manager of the Reading and Harrisburg Railroad. The new company has for a long time been building a new line from Harrisburg to Pottsville. It has been very close to the South Penn. This in connection with the fact that the general manager of the Reading and Harrisburg Railroad, Mr. Inar, has been a member of the law firm with which ex-President Cleveland was connected, has been a member of the law firm with which ex-President Cleveland was connected.

Francis Lynde Stoddard, Francis S. Bangs, Charles McVeh, all of New York; James W. Mohr,