

THAT SUPPRESSED PLAY.

IT FORMS AN EXCITING TOPIC IN THE FRENCH CHAMBER.

The Government says it interfered only in the interest of Peace. A Question that Surprises and Shocks De France.

Paris, Jan. 29.—Last night's performance at the Theatre Francaise was quite a success. The plot of the play is a comedy in the style of the most famous of the audience who called loudly for "Thermidor." Scenes of disorder are expected to-night upon the part of people who have booked seats in advance with the intention of witnessing a performance of "Thermidor."

La Justice to-day says that President Carnot denounced "Thermidor" as a specialty of inspired flattery, whereof he was the indirect object.

Members of the Theatre Francaise are discussing a proposition to abandon the charter, granted by Napoleon I., under which the societies are organized, and to form a free organization of dramatists, under the name of the Theatre Francaise.

Members of the Theatre Francaise are discussing a proposition to abandon the charter, granted by Napoleon I., under which the societies are organized, and to form a free organization of dramatists, under the name of the Theatre Francaise.

Members of the Theatre Francaise are discussing a proposition to abandon the charter, granted by Napoleon I., under which the societies are organized, and to form a free organization of dramatists, under the name of the Theatre Francaise.

Members of the Theatre Francaise are discussing a proposition to abandon the charter, granted by Napoleon I., under which the societies are organized, and to form a free organization of dramatists, under the name of the Theatre Francaise.

Members of the Theatre Francaise are discussing a proposition to abandon the charter, granted by Napoleon I., under which the societies are organized, and to form a free organization of dramatists, under the name of the Theatre Francaise.

Members of the Theatre Francaise are discussing a proposition to abandon the charter, granted by Napoleon I., under which the societies are organized, and to form a free organization of dramatists, under the name of the Theatre Francaise.

Members of the Theatre Francaise are discussing a proposition to abandon the charter, granted by Napoleon I., under which the societies are organized, and to form a free organization of dramatists, under the name of the Theatre Francaise.

Members of the Theatre Francaise are discussing a proposition to abandon the charter, granted by Napoleon I., under which the societies are organized, and to form a free organization of dramatists, under the name of the Theatre Francaise.

Members of the Theatre Francaise are discussing a proposition to abandon the charter, granted by Napoleon I., under which the societies are organized, and to form a free organization of dramatists, under the name of the Theatre Francaise.

Members of the Theatre Francaise are discussing a proposition to abandon the charter, granted by Napoleon I., under which the societies are organized, and to form a free organization of dramatists, under the name of the Theatre Francaise.

Members of the Theatre Francaise are discussing a proposition to abandon the charter, granted by Napoleon I., under which the societies are organized, and to form a free organization of dramatists, under the name of the Theatre Francaise.

Members of the Theatre Francaise are discussing a proposition to abandon the charter, granted by Napoleon I., under which the societies are organized, and to form a free organization of dramatists, under the name of the Theatre Francaise.

Members of the Theatre Francaise are discussing a proposition to abandon the charter, granted by Napoleon I., under which the societies are organized, and to form a free organization of dramatists, under the name of the Theatre Francaise.

Members of the Theatre Francaise are discussing a proposition to abandon the charter, granted by Napoleon I., under which the societies are organized, and to form a free organization of dramatists, under the name of the Theatre Francaise.

Members of the Theatre Francaise are discussing a proposition to abandon the charter, granted by Napoleon I., under which the societies are organized, and to form a free organization of dramatists, under the name of the Theatre Francaise.

Members of the Theatre Francaise are discussing a proposition to abandon the charter, granted by Napoleon I., under which the societies are organized, and to form a free organization of dramatists, under the name of the Theatre Francaise.

Members of the Theatre Francaise are discussing a proposition to abandon the charter, granted by Napoleon I., under which the societies are organized, and to form a free organization of dramatists, under the name of the Theatre Francaise.

Members of the Theatre Francaise are discussing a proposition to abandon the charter, granted by Napoleon I., under which the societies are organized, and to form a free organization of dramatists, under the name of the Theatre Francaise.

JUST ONE HOUR'S NOTICE.

MAJOR CLEVELAND THREATENS TO STOP PENNSYLVANIA TRAINS.

Assistant Superintendent Bechtold Warns Over in Half the Time Allowed to Give Notice that the Crossings in Jersey City Shall be Better Guarded.

Fatal accidents have been so numerous at the Passaic crossings at the crossing at Jersey City since the company began the work of elevating the tracks that the authorities have been aroused to the necessity of some action to prevent them.

The superintendent called on the Mayor and agreed to double the number of flagmen. This was done, but the accidents continued. It is alleged that the flagmen are incompetent and negligent. The rules of the company for the guidance of the men are very strict, but as there is no one to watch them, they shirk their duty.

Since the conference between the Mayor and Superintendent Crawford there has been an average of two or three deaths a week at the crossings in the city. Some of the accidents have been of a very sensational character.

One of these was the killing of Fireman Dinan last Saturday night at the Passaic crossings. He was driving to the fire at which Chief Farror lost his life. There has also been many narrow escapes of horse cars filled with passengers.

Yesterday morning Mayor Cleveland sent this letter to Superintendent Crawford: "This letter is to inform you that I have been informed by the press that you have been ordered to stop the Pennsylvania trains at the Passaic crossings. I am sorry to hear of this, and I am sure that you will not do so unless you are compelled to do so by the law. I am sure that you will not do so unless you are compelled to do so by the law."

The animal attacked Marie Favre, a fan girl, at the Passaic crossings, in such a cruel manner that she was soon dead. Great excitement prevailed, and the people rushed from the buildings to see the scene.

The Scottish Railroad Strike Collapse. Glasgow, Jan. 29.—The great railroad strike has at last collapsed, and the leaders of the strikers are treating with the officials of the different companies with the view of securing for the men their former places.

At Edinburgh and most of the small towns affected by the railway labor disturbances the strikers will resume work to-morrow on the company's terms. In Glasgow, also, the strikers will resume work, except those who were employees of the Caledonia Company.

The New Cure for Tuberculosis. Paris, Jan. 29.—Much interest is manifested in medical circles here in regard to the "goat's blood cure" for tuberculosis advocated by Drs. Bouchard and Proust. These doctors, it will be remembered, injected fifteen grains of goat's blood into the thighs of two patients, and on Monday asserted in this city that they had cured them.

To-day they announce that in the case of Dr. Bouchard's patient, a woman, whose temperature prior to the injection was 102, shows a decline of two degrees.

Mr. Winthorst Has an Accident. Berlin, Jan. 29.—Dr. Winthorst, the leader of the German party, met with a painful accident to-day. While leaving one of the committee rooms of the Reichstag he slipped and fell down a flight of stairs. Minister von Giese hurried to his side and assisted him to rise. He was injured, but that no bones were broken. Dr. Winthorst was conveyed to his home in a carriage. This evening he was reported as improving.

Crispien Deceals the Charges. Rome, Jan. 29.—In the Chamber of Deputies to-day Signor Biondi attacked Premier Crispien whether he was aware of the charges made by a committee of the United States Congress against the Italian Government during the immigration of Italians to the United States, and whether he would institute an inquiry into the matter. Crispien in reply declared that the charges were without foundation.

Three Saldades in One Family. Berlin, Jan. 29.—It appears that Mayor Hagedorn of Anhalt was recently convicted of embezzling municipal funds, and fled to Leipzig to escape the punishment for his crime. He was unable to bear the burden of his disgrace and both committed suicide. The Mayor's wife and daughter were also shocked, and also took their lives.

Overwhelmed by an Avalanche. London, Jan. 29.—Despatches from Greece tell of a horrible disaster wrought by an avalanche. It came rolling down from the mountains upon the town of Athamania. Twenty-five persons were killed outright and many others injured. While eighty houses were destroyed.

Mr. Bradlaugh's Condition. London, Jan. 29.—Mr. Charles Bradlaugh passed a bad night, but is no worse this morning than he was yesterday.

Mr. Leonard Jerome Very Weak. London, Jan. 29.—There was no change to-day in the condition of Mr. Leonard Jerome. He is very weak, and his friends are exceedingly anxious for his recovery.

Humored Death of the Amerer. Bombay, Jan. 29.—It is reported here that Atay Khan, Khan of the Amerer of Afghanistan, is dead.

Notes of Foreign Hoppings. Dr. von Stephan Yerman, Secretary of State for Post and Telegraphs, announced in the Reichstag to-day that he had received information to reduce the tariff on telegrams from forty to twenty pennings.

Advices from Moscow, on the Red Sea, say that the Russian fleet was overpowered by the British fleet, and that the Russian fleet was unable to bear the burden of his disgrace and both committed suicide.

Civil War in Chile. The insurgents steadily gaining ground. Government troops retreating.

Buenos Aires, Jan. 29.—Advices received here from Chile show that the insurgents are steadily gaining ground. So far after the bombardment of La Serena, the rebel forces occupied La Serena, the city of Coquimbo, without any opposition on the part of the government troops, though the latter occupied La Serena in force, being quartered in the houses of the city.

THIRTY-THREE MORE MINERS MISSING.

A Hot Call Reveals Further Fatality at the Mammoth Mine.

Yorktown, Pa., Jan. 29.—It was discovered this afternoon at the Mammoth mine disaster that by the rolls of the company twenty-three more men are missing in addition to the 107 found dead. It is probable that the twenty-three unaccounted for will not be found for weeks, because of the immense piles of wreckage that must be cleared away.

Twenty-seven more dead miners were buried at noon to-day, many of the graves being marked "Unknown," because they could not be identified.

An appeal for aid has been issued throughout the coke regions, and Mr. Powderly has been asked to issue a similar call for the benefit of the miners of the mine. That call is one that no one man could not be explained even by old miners.

A major disaster has been issued also by all Pittsburgh labor organizations, and newspaper and business offices are receiving subscriptions. It is thought by experts that the force of the explosion was augmented by the fire of the coal dust in the mine, which ignited the gas.

JOHNSTON, Jan. 29.—A movement is on foot here looking to arrangement of a plan whereby the coal lands of the Third District Committee contributed for the Johnston sufferers may be transferred to the other sufferers by the disaster in the Mammoth mine.

EMPHROSED IN A BURNING MINE. Eight Men Who Cannot Escape Death by Fire or Smoke at Iron Mountain, Mich. Iron Mountain, Mich., Jan. 29.—At 6 o'clock to-night a part of the Chapin mine, the largest and most productive in Michigan, caught fire at the sixth level. The fire has spread to an alarming extent, and smoke is pouring from all about the mine. The men who are underground without any possible escape.

It is thought that they have probably succumbed to the smoke. How the fire started is not known. The tops of the shafts are being covered to prevent air from entering the mine.

THE FORCE BILL MAY BE REVIVED. Another Attempt to be Made to Get It Again Before the Senate. Washington, Jan. 29.—It is asserted to-night that the pressure from the White House has been so great during the last three days that the House will make an attempt to get the Force Bill again before the Senate.

The Democratic leaders feel so confident that this is to be done that word was sent to the House Democrats this afternoon to make haste very slowly in acting upon bills. Thereupon a strong desire to debate unimportant bills was expressed.

A GIRL AND HER STEPFATHER GONE. The Deserted Wife and Mother Takes the Matter in a Philosophical Way. Pittsburg, Jan. 29.—Richard Murphy and his stepdaughter, have disappeared, and Mrs. Richard Murphy, the mother of the girl, thinks they have gone to New York. She has a young and beautiful stepdaughter who is also much younger than her mother, and not at all bad looking.

Mr. Pipher's Transformation. An English Woman Who Becomes a French Physician When She Goes into a Trance. Dr. Richard Hodgson of Boston told the members of the American branch of the Society for Psychical Research last night about his experiments with Mrs. Pipher, the Spiritualist medium, which have been going on for three years.

Why There Was No Fight. Buffalo, Jan. 29.—The glove contest between Billy Welch of this city and Bert Doran of Hamilton at the Arlington Athletic Club did not take place on Saturday.

The New Cruiser a Success. Vallejo, Cal., Jan. 29.—The cruiser San Francisco has returned to Mare Island yard from her final test trial trip. She looks well after her ocean run.

Why There Was No Fight. Buffalo, Jan. 29.—The glove contest between Billy Welch of this city and Bert Doran of Hamilton at the Arlington Athletic Club did not take place on Saturday.

The New Cruiser a Success. Vallejo, Cal., Jan. 29.—The cruiser San Francisco has returned to Mare Island yard from her final test trial trip. She looks well after her ocean run.

Why There Was No Fight. Buffalo, Jan. 29.—The glove contest between Billy Welch of this city and Bert Doran of Hamilton at the Arlington Athletic Club did not take place on Saturday.

The New Cruiser a Success. Vallejo, Cal., Jan. 29.—The cruiser San Francisco has returned to Mare Island yard from her final test trial trip. She looks well after her ocean run.

Why There Was No Fight. Buffalo, Jan. 29.—The glove contest between Billy Welch of this city and Bert Doran of Hamilton at the Arlington Athletic Club did not take place on Saturday.

The New Cruiser a Success. Vallejo, Cal., Jan. 29.—The cruiser San Francisco has returned to Mare Island yard from her final test trial trip. She looks well after her ocean run.

Why There Was No Fight. Buffalo, Jan. 29.—The glove contest between Billy Welch of this city and Bert Doran of Hamilton at the Arlington Athletic Club did not take place on Saturday.

The New Cruiser a Success. Vallejo, Cal., Jan. 29.—The cruiser San Francisco has returned to Mare Island yard from her final test trial trip. She looks well after her ocean run.

Why There Was No Fight. Buffalo, Jan. 29.—The glove contest between Billy Welch of this city and Bert Doran of Hamilton at the Arlington Athletic Club did not take place on Saturday.

FATHER YODYZSUS'S WOUNDS.

HOW THE WILLAMSVORON PRIEST WAS HURT IN HIS A MYSTERY.

Two Accounts by Himself, Two by People Who Live Near His Church—Was He Beaten by Mrs. Diligis's Friends?

The Rev. Mathias M. Yodyzus, pastor of the Polish Roman Catholic Church of St. George, in North South street, Williamsville, is still at his home in the flat opposite the church, nursing his injuries. He is suffering with a cut head, a badly bruised eye, and a broken nose. How he obtained these hurts is a mystery.

He told a policeman who sympathized with him that he had fallen over a pile of frozen snow, and that he had a severe frost-bite on the forehead of his church, saying that he had been assaulted and clubbed by a gang of his countrymen in Greenpoint.

Several stories are told among the people who live near his church. The most generally accepted one is that the priest was beaten by a great many enemies among the Poles living around Chrystie street by his treatment of Diligis and Mrs. Diligis. The priest was accused of abducting Mrs. Diligis, and when her husband visited the pastoral residence to inquire after his wife, he was greeted with a revolver.

Another story, supported by an equal amount of evidence, is that the priest was thrown in a house at North Seventh and Berry streets by Poles, most of whom are members of his congregation who know that there are only five families in Greenpoint who attend service in the church. These families live in the flat.

He then went last night that he had seen Mrs. Yodyzus on Sunday. At 10 o'clock on Monday evening Father Yodyzus was seen going in the direction of the Grand Street car house, and was then seen running from the ferry. He was then mud-beaten and bruised, and was in charge of the ferry house at 2 o'clock on Tuesday morning told a story very different from the one he had given the description of the priest passed through the gates at about that time. He now tells the story that he had been beaten by his own people, and that he had been thrown in a house at North Seventh and Berry streets by Poles, most of whom are members of his congregation who know that there are only five families in Greenpoint who attend service in the church. These families live in the flat.

Another story, supported by an equal amount of evidence, is that the priest was thrown in a house at North Seventh and Berry streets by Poles, most of whom are members of his congregation who know that there are only five families in Greenpoint who attend service in the church. These families live in the flat.

He then went last night that he had seen Mrs. Yodyzus on Sunday. At 10 o'clock on Monday evening Father Yodyzus was seen going in the direction of the Grand Street car house, and was then seen running from the ferry. He was then mud-beaten and bruised, and was in charge of the ferry house at 2 o'clock on Tuesday morning told a story very different from the one he had given the description of the priest passed through the gates at about that time. He now tells the story that he had been beaten by his own people, and that he had been thrown in a house at North Seventh and Berry streets by Poles, most of whom are members of his congregation who know that there are only five families in Greenpoint who attend service in the church. These families live in the flat.

Another story, supported by an equal amount of evidence, is that the priest was thrown in a house at North Seventh and Berry streets by Poles, most of whom are members of his congregation who know that there are only five families in Greenpoint who attend service in the church. These families live in the flat.

He then went last night that he had seen Mrs. Yodyzus on Sunday. At 10 o'clock on Monday evening Father Yodyzus was seen going in the direction of the Grand Street car house, and was then seen running from the ferry. He was then mud-beaten and bruised, and was in charge of the ferry house at 2 o'clock on Tuesday morning told a story very different from the one he had given the description of the priest passed through the gates at about that time. He now tells the story that he had been beaten by his own people, and that he had been thrown in a house at North Seventh and Berry streets by Poles, most of whom are members of his congregation who know that there are only five families in Greenpoint who attend service in the church. These families live in the flat.

Another story, supported by an equal amount of evidence, is that the priest was thrown in a house at North Seventh and Berry streets by Poles, most of whom are members of his congregation who know that there are only five families in Greenpoint who attend service in the church. These families live in the flat.

He then went last night that he had seen Mrs. Yodyzus on Sunday. At 10 o'clock on Monday evening Father Yodyzus was seen going in the direction of the Grand Street car house, and was then seen running from the ferry. He was then mud-beaten and bruised, and was in charge of the ferry house at 2 o'clock on Tuesday morning told a story very different from the one he had given the description of the priest passed through the gates at about that time. He now tells the story that he had been beaten by his own people, and that he had been thrown in a house at North Seventh and Berry streets by Poles, most of whom are members of his congregation who know that there are only five families in Greenpoint who attend service in the church. These families live in the flat.

Another story, supported by an equal amount of evidence, is that the priest was thrown in a house at North Seventh and Berry streets by Poles, most of whom are members of his congregation who know that there are only five families in Greenpoint who attend service in the church. These families live in the flat.

He then went last night that he had seen Mrs. Yodyzus on Sunday. At 10 o'clock on Monday evening Father Yodyzus was seen going in the direction of the Grand Street car house, and was then seen running from the ferry. He was then mud-beaten and bruised, and was in charge of the ferry house at 2 o'clock on Tuesday morning told a story very different from the one he had given the description of the priest passed through the gates at about that time. He now tells the story that he had been beaten by his own people, and that he had been thrown in a house at North Seventh and Berry streets by Poles, most of whom are members of his congregation who know that there are only five families in Greenpoint who attend service in the church. These families live in the flat.

Another story, supported by an equal amount of evidence, is that the priest was thrown in a house at North Seventh and Berry streets by Poles, most of whom are members of his congregation who know that there are only five families in Greenpoint who attend service in the church. These families live in the flat.

He then went last night that he had seen Mrs. Yodyzus on Sunday. At 10 o'clock on Monday evening Father Yodyzus was seen going in the direction of the Grand Street car house, and was then seen running from the ferry. He was then mud-beaten and bruised, and was in charge of the ferry house at 2 o'clock on Tuesday morning told a story very different from the one he had given the description of the priest passed through the gates at about that time. He now tells the story that he had been beaten by his own people, and that he had been thrown in a house at North Seventh and Berry streets by Poles, most of whom are members of his congregation who know that there are only five families in Greenpoint who attend service in the church. These families live in the flat.

Another story, supported by an equal amount of evidence, is that the priest was thrown in a house at North Seventh and Berry streets by Poles, most of whom are members of his congregation who know that there are only five families in Greenpoint who attend service in the church. These families live in the flat.

He then went last night that he had seen Mrs. Yodyzus on Sunday. At 10 o'clock on Monday evening Father Yodyzus was seen going in the direction of the Grand Street car house, and was then seen running from the ferry. He was then mud-beaten and bruised, and was in charge of the ferry house at 2 o'clock on Tuesday morning told a story very different from the one he had given the description of the priest passed through the gates at about that time. He now tells the story that he had been beaten by his own people, and that he had been thrown in a house at North Seventh and Berry streets by Poles, most of whom are members of his congregation who know that there are only five families in Greenpoint who attend service in the church. These families live in the flat.

Another story, supported by an equal amount of evidence, is that the priest was thrown in a house at North Seventh and Berry streets by Poles, most of whom are members of his congregation who know that there are only five families in Greenpoint who attend service in the church. These families live in the flat.

He then went last night that he had seen Mrs. Yodyzus on Sunday. At 10 o'clock on Monday evening Father Yodyzus was seen going in the direction of the Grand Street car house, and was then seen running from the ferry. He was then mud-beaten and bruised, and was in charge of the ferry house at 2 o'clock on Tuesday morning told a story very different from the one he had given the description of the priest passed through the gates at about that time. He now tells the story that he had been beaten by his own people, and that he had been thrown in a house at North Seventh and Berry streets by Poles, most of whom are members of his congregation who know that there are only five families in Greenpoint who attend service in the church. These families live in the flat.

Another story, supported by an equal amount of evidence, is that the priest was thrown in a house at North Seventh and Berry streets by Poles, most of whom are members of his congregation who know that there are only five families in Greenpoint who attend service in the church. These families live in the flat.

He then went last night that he had seen Mrs. Yodyzus on Sunday. At 10 o'clock on Monday evening Father Yodyzus was seen going in the direction of the Grand Street car house, and was then seen running from the ferry. He was then mud-beaten and bruised, and was in charge of the ferry house at 2 o'clock on Tuesday morning told a story very different from the one he had given the description of the priest passed through the gates at about that time. He now tells the story that he had been beaten by his own people, and that he had been thrown in a house at North Seventh and Berry streets by Poles, most of whom are members of his congregation who know that there are only five families in Greenpoint who attend service in the church. These families live in the flat.

DEATH AT THE BANQUET.

Secretary Windom Falls Beside Delmonico's Table.

DEAD IN A FEW MINUTES. He Had Just Ended a Protest Against Free Coinage of Silver.

Continuation at the Dinner of the Board of Trade—The Prostrate Secretary Carried into an Ante-room, Where He Died on One of the Tables Six Minutes After He was Stricken—The Doctors Draw Up a Certificate of Death from Apoplexy, Although Heart Disease was Suspected—The Guests Dismissed with the News of the Secretary's Death—President Harrison Greatly Shocked—He Himself Breaks the News to Mrs. Windom at Mr. Wamsucker's Dinner.

The Hon. William Windom, Secretary of the Treasury of the United States, died last night almost while in the act of speaking at the annual dinner of the New York Board of Trade and Transportation at Delmonico's. The banquet was attended by about 250 of the leading merchants and citizens of New York, who had been listening with great interest to the clear exposition of his financial views by the Secretary and to the occasional bits of humor with which he enlivened a naturally dreary subject. He was, to all appearance, in excellent health. He spoke in a clear, loud voice. His points were made with the address of an expert speaker. He read with fluency and emphasis from a prepared manuscript from which he deviated only for a moment to request that his hearers should refrain from interrupting him with applause in order not to take away from the time of the speaker assigned to succeed him. He had finished his speech about 10 o'clock with these words:

"Give us direct and ample transportation facilities under the American flag and controlled by American citizens; a currency sound in quality and adequate in quantity; an international bank to facilitate exchange and a system of reciprocity carefully adjusted within the lines of protection, and not only will our foreign commerce again invade every sea, but every American industry will be quickened and our whole people feel the impulse of a new and better life."

At the close of his speech Secretary Windom was rewarded with an outburst of applause which was several times renewed, and for a moment attention was directed from him by the rising of ex-Judge William H. Aronau to announce the speaker who had been assigned to succeed him, and by the rising of Judge F. Hayward, Mr. Aronau had just announced the company by relating an incident of his travel abroad during the administration of Mr. Cleveland when he was obliged to make use of a letter which he had received from Secretary Bayard in order to procure money to take the place of that which he had failed to receive of a bankrupt banking house upon which he had a letter of credit.

The merriment aroused by the relation of this anecdote had not subsided before the assembly was alarmed by a loud gasp proceeding from the seat of Secretary Windom, who occupied a chair between Benjamin F. Tracy, Secretary of the Navy, and President Ambrose Snow, but a few feet from where Mr. Aronau stood. All eyes were at once turned in the direction of Secretary Windom. At that instant he slid off his chair and sat on the floor, leaning against the chair with his eyes shut, and his face pallid and his hands outstretched. It was not until a few minutes later that he was pronounced dead. Immediately there were cries of "Keep your seats!" "Keep quiet!" "Are there any physicians present?"

The next minute three physicians, who were among the guests, were on their way to Mr. Windom, who by this time was lying on his back on the floor. The first to reach him was an instinctive movement to rush forward to Mr. Windom's assistance, and about half the assembly were at once upon his feet. Some one cried "Water! Water!" Secretary Tracy dashed some water in the face of Secretary Windom, who then sat up and said that he was feeling better. Immediately there were cries of "Keep your seats!" "Keep quiet!" "Are there any physicians present?"

The next minute three physicians, who were among the guests, were on their way to Mr. Windom, who by this time was lying on his back on the floor. The first to reach him was an instinctive movement to rush forward to Mr. Windom's assistance, and about half the assembly were at once upon his feet. Some one cried "Water! Water!" Secretary Tracy dashed some water in the face of Secretary Windom, who then sat up and said that he was feeling better. Immediately there were cries of "Keep your seats!" "Keep quiet!" "Are there any physicians present?"

The next minute three physicians, who were among the guests, were on their way to Mr. Windom, who by this time was lying on his back on the floor. The first to reach him was an instinctive movement to rush forward to Mr. Windom's assistance, and about half the assembly were at once upon his feet. Some one cried "Water! Water!" Secretary Tracy dashed some water in the face of Secretary Windom, who then sat up and said that he was feeling better. Immediately there were cries of "Keep your seats!" "Keep quiet!" "Are there any physicians present?"

The next minute three physicians, who were among the guests, were on their way to Mr. Windom, who by this time was lying on his back on the floor. The first to reach him was an instinctive movement to rush forward to Mr. Windom's assistance, and about half the assembly were at once upon his feet. Some one cried "Water! Water!" Secretary Tracy dashed some water in the face of Secretary Windom, who then sat up and said that he was feeling better. Immediately there were cries of "Keep your seats!" "Keep quiet!" "Are there any physicians present?"

The next minute three physicians, who were among the guests, were on their way to Mr. Windom, who by this time was lying on his back on the floor. The first to reach him was an instinctive movement to rush forward to Mr. Windom's assistance, and about half the assembly were at once upon his feet. Some one cried "Water! Water!" Secretary Tracy dashed some water in the face of Secretary Windom, who then sat up and said that he was feeling better. Immediately there were cries of "Keep your seats!" "Keep quiet!" "Are there any physicians present?"

The next minute three physicians, who were among the guests, were on their way to Mr. Windom, who by this time was lying on his back on the floor. The first to reach him was an instinctive movement to rush forward to Mr. Windom's assistance, and about half the assembly were at once upon his feet. Some one cried "Water! Water!" Secretary Tracy dashed some water in the face of Secretary Windom, who then sat up and said that he was feeling better. Immediately there were cries of "Keep your seats!" "Keep quiet!" "Are there any physicians present?"

The next minute three physicians, who were among the guests, were on their way to Mr. Windom, who by this time was lying on his back on the floor. The first to reach him was an instinctive movement to rush forward to Mr. Windom's assistance, and about half the assembly were at once upon his feet. Some one cried "Water! Water!" Secretary Tracy dashed some water in the face of Secretary Windom, who then sat up and said that he was feeling better. Immediately there were cries of "Keep your seats!" "Keep quiet!" "Are there any physicians present?"

The next minute three physicians, who were among the guests, were on their way to Mr. Windom, who by this time was lying on his back on the floor. The first to reach him was an instinctive movement to rush forward to Mr. Windom's assistance, and about half the assembly were at once upon his feet. Some one cried "Water! Water!" Secretary Tracy dashed some water in the face of Secretary Windom, who then sat up and said that he was feeling better. Immediately there were cries of "Keep your seats!" "Keep quiet!" "Are there any physicians present?"

The next minute three physicians, who were among the guests, were on their way to Mr. Windom, who by this time was lying on his back on the floor. The first to reach him was an instinctive movement to rush forward to Mr. Windom's assistance, and about half the assembly were at once upon his feet. Some one cried "Water! Water!" Secretary Tracy dashed some water in the face of Secretary Windom, who then sat up and said that he was feeling better. Immediately there were cries of "Keep your seats!" "Keep quiet!" "Are there any physicians present?"

The next minute three physicians, who were among the guests, were on their way to Mr. Windom, who by this time was lying on his back on the floor. The first to reach him was an instinctive movement to rush forward to Mr. Windom's assistance, and about half the assembly were at once upon his feet. Some one cried "Water! Water!" Secretary Tracy dashed some water in the face of Secretary Windom, who then sat up and said that he was feeling better. Immediately there were cries of "Keep your seats!" "Keep quiet!" "Are there any physicians present?"

The next minute three physicians, who were among the guests, were on their way to Mr. Windom, who by this time was lying on his back on the floor. The first to reach him was an instinctive movement to rush forward to Mr. Windom's assistance, and about half the assembly were at once upon his feet. Some one cried "Water! Water!" Secretary Tracy dashed some water in the face of Secretary Windom, who then sat up and said that he was feeling better. Immediately there were cries of "Keep your seats!" "Keep quiet!" "Are there any physicians present?"

The next minute three physicians, who were among the guests, were on their way to Mr. Windom, who by this time was lying on his back on the floor. The first to reach him was an instinctive movement to rush forward to Mr. Windom's assistance, and about half the assembly were at once upon his feet. Some one cried "Water! Water!" Secretary Tracy dashed some water in the face of Secretary Windom, who then sat up and said that he was feeling better. Immediately there were cries of "Keep your seats!" "Keep quiet!" "Are there any physicians present?"

The next minute three physicians, who were among the guests, were on their way to Mr. Windom, who by this time was lying on his back on the floor. The first to reach him was an instinctive movement to rush forward to Mr. Windom's assistance, and about half the assembly were at once upon his feet. Some one cried "Water! Water!" Secretary Tracy dashed some water in the face of Secretary Windom, who then sat up and said that he was feeling better. Immediately there were cries of "Keep your seats!" "Keep quiet!" "Are there any physicians present?"

The next minute three physicians, who were among the guests, were on their way to Mr. Windom, who by this time was lying on his back on the floor. The first to reach him was an instinctive movement to rush forward to Mr. Windom's assistance, and about half the assembly were at once upon his feet. Some one cried "Water! Water!" Secretary Tracy dashed some water in the face of Secretary Windom, who then sat up and said that he was feeling better. Immediately there were cries of "Keep your seats!" "Keep quiet!" "Are there any physicians present?"

The next minute three physicians, who were among the guests, were on their way to Mr. Windom, who by this time was lying on his back on the floor. The first to reach him was an instinctive movement to rush forward to Mr. Windom's assistance, and about half the assembly were at once upon his feet. Some one cried "Water! Water!" Secretary Tracy dashed some water in the face of Secretary Windom, who then sat up and said that he was feeling better. Immediately there were cries of "Keep your seats!" "Keep quiet!" "Are there any physicians present?"

WEATHER.