

FREDRIKSSAN'S JAIL LIFE.

EXPERIENCES WITH RUSSIAN SOLDIERS AND PRISONERS.

The Fond General was Very Bad and Three Women... Nicholas N. Fredriksson, the American citizen who arrived on Saturday on the steamship Paris...

It was that tender to me under the Russian... I was in this Moscow prison six days. The day we left a 15-year-old boy was nearly blind...

The reason of my going to Russia was not wholly... I went there alone, leaving my wife in San Francisco. She contracted influenza rheumatism...

The first jail I was in was that of the city of Heigor... I was confined after being arrested on my return to New York on Saturday...

I asked the jailer if my wife could bring bread and milk for the women and children... After much urging he let my wife bring in some wages...

When I saw the woman she had been traveling... I was taken to Kuzk, but did not stay there long. As they were being considered for Siberia...

THE GHOST SEEN AGAIN.

TRACK LABORERS STAMPEDED BY THE MAPLETON SPECTER.

A Theory that the Figure First Seen Was That of the Person Who, on Thursday Night, Put in the Stone Which Now Marks the Place of Margaret Barning's Murder...

The excitement prevailing in those neighborhoods where dwell the people who declare they have seen Mapleton's now famous ghost one or more times increases with the growing mystery surrounding the apparition...

When the apparition appeared early last Friday morning in full view of passengers on the Sea Beach train coming from Coney Island scores of people have been found who say they saw the specter either before that eventful night or after...

The alleged ghost seems to show up in about the same place at about the same hour each night. It invariably, according to the most trustworthy testimony, rises up where Margaret Barning committed suicide a week ago yesterday...

Whether the ghost, after its invariable flight to the woods when roused out of its lair, appears again that night, has not as yet been discovered, because no one has yet had the courage to go out and see, with the exception of Friday night's hunting party, which beat an ignominious retreat on first sight of the apparition...

True to its habit, the wraith appeared in about its accustomed haunts after midnight Saturday night, or more properly, Sunday morning, if the testimony of an engineer herein recorded be worthy of credence...

Saturday night the Sea Beach Railway had a train out in charge of Conductor Hill and Engineer Kirk. A gang of laborers was along. This train was on a side track just below Mapleton, near Woodlawn, waiting for the 1 o'clock train from Coney Island to pass...

Every one divided at once the cause of his fright. The other employees caught the alarm, and started panic-stricken. All were crowded toward the engine, and a number of the workmen being Italians, the engineer said he had to pay for a time...

There's George Lott, said one of his friends yesterday. He was on Friday morning, and said so. But after thinking it over, he decided to go to the police. He says that he was in his neighborhood, so he goes away from home every day. The thing becomes known to the neighbors...

THE GHOST SEEN AGAIN.

TRACK LABORERS STAMPEDED BY THE MAPLETON SPECTER.

A Theory that the Figure First Seen Was That of the Person Who, on Thursday Night, Put in the Stone Which Now Marks the Place of Margaret Barning's Murder...

The excitement prevailing in those neighborhoods where dwell the people who declare they have seen Mapleton's now famous ghost one or more times increases with the growing mystery surrounding the apparition...

When the apparition appeared early last Friday morning in full view of passengers on the Sea Beach train coming from Coney Island scores of people have been found who say they saw the specter either before that eventful night or after...

The alleged ghost seems to show up in about the same place at about the same hour each night. It invariably, according to the most trustworthy testimony, rises up where Margaret Barning committed suicide a week ago yesterday...

True to its habit, the wraith appeared in about its accustomed haunts after midnight Saturday night, or more properly, Sunday morning, if the testimony of an engineer herein recorded be worthy of credence...

Saturday night the Sea Beach Railway had a train out in charge of Conductor Hill and Engineer Kirk. A gang of laborers was along. This train was on a side track just below Mapleton, near Woodlawn, waiting for the 1 o'clock train from Coney Island to pass...

Every one divided at once the cause of his fright. The other employees caught the alarm, and started panic-stricken. All were crowded toward the engine, and a number of the workmen being Italians, the engineer said he had to pay for a time...

There's George Lott, said one of his friends yesterday. He was on Friday morning, and said so. But after thinking it over, he decided to go to the police. He says that he was in his neighborhood, so he goes away from home every day. The thing becomes known to the neighbors...

When I saw the woman she had been traveling... I was taken to Kuzk, but did not stay there long. As they were being considered for Siberia...

RILEY GRANNAN, PLUNGER.

A BOY FROM KENTUCKY WHO WILL BET AS HIGH AS ANY.

His Operations So Bold that He Was Asked to Leave the Ring at Saratoga. Other Horsemen Forced the Management to Let Him Stay. Won $500,000 on Saturday.

The turf has furnished many phenomenal plungers within the last twenty years, but few now remarkable in up as high as the sky of Saratoga. Riley Grannan is a native of Kentucky. He is so young in appearance that when persons who have heard of the young man as one of the coolest speculators ever seen hereabout visit the ring to get a look at him, and see a slender boy without a trace of beard or moustache, they invariably think they are being made game of, and say contemptuously: "What that Grannan is, that is only a kid he has put on the box while the real man is getting a sandwich."

Grannan resembles Pittsburgh Phil inasmuch as both are extremely young looking. But they are widely different in the methods they pursue in quest of fortune. Pittsburgh Phil likes to play the game from the outside, and will do so until he has a great amount of money he will do it in the ring. Riley Grannan, on the contrary, likes to lay against the horses in his book, but whether he remains upon the box or gets down upon the ground he makes a noise, and it is not difficult to tell how he fares at the close of any day's sport.

New Yorkers first heard of this young man in the West about two years ago, when, beginning with next to nothing, by a series of daring ventures he won something like $50,000. He lost this as quickly as he had gained it, but beginning anew he came on East last season and was on the block at Sheepshead Bay with something like $100,000. He had not been long there when he was seen by the manager of the track, who was a large white stone. It was noticed that a large white stone lay on the ground where the blood stains were deepest. On the spot the bookmaker put it in this way: "I don't believe the ghost story at first, and didn't believe it until I saw Riley Grannan. He's the coolest, freest duck we have had around here in many a day."

Mr. Dwyer thought the boy was a plunger, and he was. He had been looking for a big horse race in California and did not know of St. Ann's. He was there a week, but got into some trouble with the police, and was sent to jail. He was charged with stealing an umbrella from a dry goods store valued at $2. The man is Chauncey Johnson, one of the oldest and cleverest bookmakers in the city. Riley Grannan has stolen more money than any man in his line behind prison bars. His first crime was a perfect case of the kind. He was in the city of New York, and he was in the city of New York. He was in the city of New York, and he was in the city of New York.

John Hennessy is one of those who resents the imputation against the correctness of his report. He says that he was in the city of New York, and he was in the city of New York. He was in the city of New York, and he was in the city of New York. He was in the city of New York, and he was in the city of New York.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—The changes are that the navy will remain without a suitable machine gun to use in the future. The machine gun which has been conducting competitive tests with different types at the naval proving station cannot agree upon one to recommend for adoption. The great trouble with all the guns was due primarily to the fault of the ammunition feeds, which seemed to have choked and in some cases to have jammed the guns.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 12.—The United States cruiser New York, with the Philadelphia and Pittsburgh battalions of naval reserves aboard, returned from the Delaware Tapes this evening in a report to the admiral. The ship was in the yard. The three days aboard the cruiser were spent in studying the practical duties of a sailor and in getting the crew acquainted with the ship. The ship will sail from here on Tuesday for New York.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—The New York State school ship St. Mary's arrived in Brooklyn this morning. The ship was in the yard. The three days aboard the ship were spent in studying the practical duties of a sailor and in getting the crew acquainted with the ship. The ship will sail from here on Tuesday for New York.

STOLE A DOCTOR'S WAGON.

COOL MR. BENSON SAYS HE DID IT TO OBLIGE A FRIEND.

George B. D. Munn owns one of the fastest trotting horses in Newark. His name is Joe, and he is a track record of 2:30, and can do better. Only a week ago Munn refused to accept $400 for the horse. Munn has a stable in West Kinney place, and just below his stable is another one occupied by A. P. Cooper's horse. One day last week Cooper was talking "horse" at Ripley's sawmill to John Campbell, a wheelwright.

Campbell said he would try. He recalled that a woman who sells fish and vegetables near his stable had spoken to him about wanting to buy a horse. He went to Cooper's office and told him that he thought he had a customer for the animal.

Campbell drove down to West Kinney place and saw only one stable. It was open, and there was a horse in it. Campbell looked at the horse for an hour, and then concluded to help himself to the bay which occupied one of the three stalls. He made a little noise in front of the stable, and took out the trotter in front of his wagon. Joe made a poor appearance in Campbell's eyes, and he drove away about the stable wagon.

Munn got excited. He sent a boy out on a bicycle to get a pair of pants and a shirt. He called at Police Headquarters and reported his loss, and then went to the telegraph office and telegraphed to Cooper. Getting back to the stable as quick as he could, he was surprised to see Campbell driving the old man rather roughly and called for help. Campbell was not to be frightened. He looked at Munn's satisfaction. Then the grocer remarked that he had a horse in the stable. Munn was delighted to get his horse back and trotted to Campbell's proposition. It was not until his friends began to tell him about his stolen wagon beginning at $25 that his delight was tempered by mortification.

THE REV. FATHER KAMMER, pastor of St. Ann's Catholic Church in Newark, declared yesterday he will again officiate at the marriage of a Catholic and a non-Catholic. He made this announcement at the meeting of the Catholic Club of Newark last week. The declaration caused surprise among the Catholics of the diocese, for the subject is seldom so strictly enforced. Father Kammer emphasized his declaration by reiterating it at the masses yesterday. To a St. Ann's reporter he said: "My twenty years' experience as a priest has convinced me that the rule of the Church regarding mixed marriages is the greater blessing. I have seen so much misery and unhappiness the outcome of mixed marriages that I have decided to do as the Lord will. I have seen so much misery and unhappiness the outcome of mixed marriages that I have decided to do as the Lord will. I have seen so much misery and unhappiness the outcome of mixed marriages that I have decided to do as the Lord will."

They Take Money, Food, Horses, and Anything that Comes Handy. ICE IN ARCTIC WATERS. A Great Deal Along the Labrador Coast—Dangerous Navigation. St. JOHN'S, N. F., Aug. 12.—The steamer Grand-lake arrived from Labrador yesterday and brought the American hunting party, consisting of Messrs. Lineveaux, Tenny, Titus, and Root, who were landed from the steamer Miranda, carrying the pack animals and the shovels, port and other parties were north of them. The steamer reports quantities of ice along the coast, and that the ice is in the Kowak and Comanche Indian country.

George W. Wait, who is chief engineer of the United States man-of-war Monticello during the winter, died on Saturday at his home in Brooklyn. He was born in Scotland sixty-nine years ago. Before coming to this country, which he did in 1852, he was chief engineer of the U. S. S. "Albatross" and "Thetis" and was the fastest trip between London and Edinburgh. Queen Victoria was a passenger. As chief engineer of the Monticello Mr. Wait took part in the capture of the "Albatross" and the "Thetis" and was the fastest trip between London and Edinburgh. Queen Victoria was a passenger. As chief engineer of the Monticello Mr. Wait took part in the capture of the "Albatross" and the "Thetis" and was the fastest trip between London and Edinburgh. Queen Victoria was a passenger.

STEPHEN D. HATCH, an architect at 113 Broadway, died on Saturday at Flatfield, N. J., where he had been living for many years. He was a well-known architect and had been in the profession for many years. He was the architect of the Flatfield Hotel and the Flatfield Hotel. He was the architect of the Flatfield Hotel and the Flatfield Hotel. He was the architect of the Flatfield Hotel and the Flatfield Hotel.

THE NEXT PRODUCTION AT THE CASTLE. "The Little Hercules" at the Casino on Thursday night, Aug. 15. The theatre will be closed on Friday night, Aug. 16, for the purpose of repairing the stage. The next production at the Castle will be "The Little Hercules" at the Casino on Thursday night, Aug. 15. The theatre will be closed on Friday night, Aug. 16, for the purpose of repairing the stage. The next production at the Castle will be "The Little Hercules" at the Casino on Thursday night, Aug. 15. The theatre will be closed on Friday night, Aug. 16, for the purpose of repairing the stage.

COOPERHUT'S.

7 STORES TOGETHER. FURNITURE, CARPETS, & CASH OR LONG CREDIT.

John Swan, a member of the Hamilton Baseball Club of Brooklyn, went yesterday to Harcourt, N. J., with the Hamiltons to play a game with a local club. During the game Swan threw the ball so hard that it broke his right arm.

Where Yesterday's Fire Were. The Hungarian band which has been playing at the Casino during the season was discharged last week. A new Hungarian band took its place on a new night. The old band appeared and refused to be discharged. As a compromise the bands were allowed to play until the end of the season. The new band was discharged last week. The old band appeared and refused to be discharged. As a compromise the bands were allowed to play until the end of the season.

Where Yesterday's Fire Were. The Hungarian band which has been playing at the Casino during the season was discharged last week. A new Hungarian band took its place on a new night. The old band appeared and refused to be discharged. As a compromise the bands were allowed to play until the end of the season. The new band was discharged last week. The old band appeared and refused to be discharged. As a compromise the bands were allowed to play until the end of the season.

Where Yesterday's Fire Were. The Hungarian band which has been playing at the Casino during the season was discharged last week. A new Hungarian band took its place on a new night. The old band appeared and refused to be discharged. As a compromise the bands were allowed to play until the end of the season. The new band was discharged last week. The old band appeared and refused to be discharged. As a compromise the bands were allowed to play until the end of the season.

Where Yesterday's Fire Were. The Hungarian band which has been playing at the Casino during the season was discharged last week. A new Hungarian band took its place on a new night. The old band appeared and refused to be discharged. As a compromise the bands were allowed to play until the end of the season. The new band was discharged last week. The old band appeared and refused to be discharged. As a compromise the bands were allowed to play until the end of the season.

Where Yesterday's Fire Were. The Hungarian band which has been playing at the Casino during the season was discharged last week. A new Hungarian band took its place on a new night. The old band appeared and refused to be discharged. As a compromise the bands were allowed to play until the end of the season. The new band was discharged last week. The old band appeared and refused to be discharged. As a compromise the bands were allowed to play until the end of the season.

Where Yesterday's Fire Were. The Hungarian band which has been playing at the Casino during the season was discharged last week. A new Hungarian band took its place on a new night. The old band appeared and refused to be discharged. As a compromise the bands were allowed to play until the end of the season. The new band was discharged last week. The old band appeared and refused to be discharged. As a compromise the bands were allowed to play until the end of the season.

Where Yesterday's Fire Were. The Hungarian band which has been playing at the Casino during the season was discharged last week. A new Hungarian band took its place on a new night. The old band appeared and refused to be discharged. As a compromise the bands were allowed to play until the end of the season. The new band was discharged last week. The old band appeared and refused to be discharged. As a compromise the bands were allowed to play until the end of the season.

Where Yesterday's Fire Were. The Hungarian band which has been playing at the Casino during the season was discharged last week. A new Hungarian band took its place on a new night. The old band appeared and refused to be discharged. As a compromise the bands were allowed to play until the end of the season. The new band was discharged last week. The old band appeared and refused to be discharged. As a compromise the bands were allowed to play until the end of the season.