

LOTS OF FUN AT ALBANY.

STIRRED UP BY THE GOFF GRAB AND LEADER AINSWORTH.

The One Gets an Awful Black Eye in the Senate and the Other Kicks Over the Tracks on the Albany Police Bill, Invokes Senator Hill's Speech to the Mills Club, and Predicts Republican Defeat—A Bill for Sunday Billiard Playing.

ALBANY, March 19.—The Goff grab bill got an awful black eye in the Senate this morning, and the occasion seemed to be equally painful to O'Connor, Lexow, and to Robertson, the putative father of the measure. Robertson was dumb as far as any words of advocacy of the bill were concerned, and said that the measure was a bill that should take a direction of its own accord.

Senator Cantor's motion to strike out the enabling clause was the signal for Senator O'Connor to rise and deliver a speech in which he attacked the bill as a measure that would take a direction of its own accord.

He was building on the basis furnished by the vapors of an indicted and discredited lawyer who had been listened to by the committee, in ignorance of the fact and of his generally unenviable character.

Senator Cantor replied that the Senator had, as usual, indulged in an attack upon a department of the Government, and that he was familiar with the facts. He corrected all the misstatements that were of consequence, and showed the office-seeking and self-aggrandizement that was behind the attempt of the Junior Judge to seize upon all the appointments of the whole bench.

As Senator Cantor sat down and Senator Lexow arose the air appeared to be suddenly charged with the comedy element. A little girl who was canvassing for a new kind of trousers for women, came in and just as she was about to enter the room she was stopped by a member of the audience.

This was very funny to those who know what would offend the signature is evoked. The bill was speedily lost sight of in the confusion of the scene.

Senator Lexow made some sort of a stumbling reply, and proceeded to state what he thought was the necessity of investing these great powers of the bill in a great reformer like Recorder Goff.

Senator Guy interrupted to ask the Senator if he knew that the special reform Grand Jury had investigated the court and found that it was all right. Lexow responded by saying that the constituent elements of that Grand Jury had been selected by the present administration.

Senator Mullin wanted to know how it was that the bill was speedily lost sight of in the confusion of the scene.

Senator O'Connor had disappeared some where, and Senator Robertson was sitting in the chair. Lexow seemed alone in frantically feeling for the bill.

Lexow was so tired by this time and the chance of doing anything with the bill was so small that he decided to go to bed.

Lexow was so tired by this time and the chance of doing anything with the bill was so small that he decided to go to bed.

Lexow was so tired by this time and the chance of doing anything with the bill was so small that he decided to go to bed.

Lexow was so tired by this time and the chance of doing anything with the bill was so small that he decided to go to bed.

Lexow was so tired by this time and the chance of doing anything with the bill was so small that he decided to go to bed.

Lexow was so tired by this time and the chance of doing anything with the bill was so small that he decided to go to bed.

He said that the Legislature could not afford to pass such legislation. He said that the Legislature could not afford to pass such legislation.

He said that the Legislature could not afford to pass such legislation. He said that the Legislature could not afford to pass such legislation.

He said that the Legislature could not afford to pass such legislation. He said that the Legislature could not afford to pass such legislation.

He said that the Legislature could not afford to pass such legislation. He said that the Legislature could not afford to pass such legislation.

He said that the Legislature could not afford to pass such legislation. He said that the Legislature could not afford to pass such legislation.

He said that the Legislature could not afford to pass such legislation. He said that the Legislature could not afford to pass such legislation.

He said that the Legislature could not afford to pass such legislation. He said that the Legislature could not afford to pass such legislation.

He said that the Legislature could not afford to pass such legislation. He said that the Legislature could not afford to pass such legislation.

He said that the Legislature could not afford to pass such legislation. He said that the Legislature could not afford to pass such legislation.

He said that the Legislature could not afford to pass such legislation. He said that the Legislature could not afford to pass such legislation.

He said that the Legislature could not afford to pass such legislation. He said that the Legislature could not afford to pass such legislation.

He said that the Legislature could not afford to pass such legislation. He said that the Legislature could not afford to pass such legislation.

He said that the Legislature could not afford to pass such legislation. He said that the Legislature could not afford to pass such legislation.

He said that the Legislature could not afford to pass such legislation. He said that the Legislature could not afford to pass such legislation.

He said that the Legislature could not afford to pass such legislation. He said that the Legislature could not afford to pass such legislation.

He said that the Legislature could not afford to pass such legislation. He said that the Legislature could not afford to pass such legislation.

He said that the Legislature could not afford to pass such legislation. He said that the Legislature could not afford to pass such legislation.

Port Richmond. Mr. Austin's, the better sanitary condition of board shops and flour and meat stores.

Senator Stapleton's, authorizing Syracuse to issue bonds for certain improvements.

Mr. Vachon's, providing that Excise Commissioner should be interested in the sale of liquors or cigars.

Mr. Vachon's, providing that Excise Commissioner should be interested in the sale of liquors or cigars.

Mr. Vachon's, providing that Excise Commissioner should be interested in the sale of liquors or cigars.

Mr. Vachon's, providing that Excise Commissioner should be interested in the sale of liquors or cigars.

Mr. Vachon's, providing that Excise Commissioner should be interested in the sale of liquors or cigars.

Mr. Vachon's, providing that Excise Commissioner should be interested in the sale of liquors or cigars.

Mr. Vachon's, providing that Excise Commissioner should be interested in the sale of liquors or cigars.

Mr. Vachon's, providing that Excise Commissioner should be interested in the sale of liquors or cigars.

Mr. Vachon's, providing that Excise Commissioner should be interested in the sale of liquors or cigars.

Mr. Vachon's, providing that Excise Commissioner should be interested in the sale of liquors or cigars.

Mr. Vachon's, providing that Excise Commissioner should be interested in the sale of liquors or cigars.

Mr. Vachon's, providing that Excise Commissioner should be interested in the sale of liquors or cigars.

Mr. Vachon's, providing that Excise Commissioner should be interested in the sale of liquors or cigars.

Mr. Vachon's, providing that Excise Commissioner should be interested in the sale of liquors or cigars.

Mr. Vachon's, providing that Excise Commissioner should be interested in the sale of liquors or cigars.

PARTY REORGANIZATION.

NEW YORK DEMOCRATS PLAN LARGER STATE CONVENTIONS.

One Point of County Representation, Would Diminish the Preponderance of the Great Democratic Counties—It's a Matter of Party Interest.

The conference between Senator Hill and Senator Murphy at Albany, the speech of Senator Hill at the Fort Orange Club, and the presence in town last night, at the Hoffman House, of the Hon. Daniel G. Griffin of Watertown, and the Hon. Samuel A. Hearsley of Utica, were matters of comment among the Democrats at Albany.

Immediately after last fall's election, THE SUN announced that Senator Hill and his friends believed that the Democratic party in the State should be reorganized.

Mr. Hill's plan was to divide the State into smaller counties, and to give each county an equal number of representatives in the State Assembly.

Mr. Hill's plan was to divide the State into smaller counties, and to give each county an equal number of representatives in the State Assembly.

Mr. Hill's plan was to divide the State into smaller counties, and to give each county an equal number of representatives in the State Assembly.

Mr. Hill's plan was to divide the State into smaller counties, and to give each county an equal number of representatives in the State Assembly.

Mr. Hill's plan was to divide the State into smaller counties, and to give each county an equal number of representatives in the State Assembly.

Mr. Hill's plan was to divide the State into smaller counties, and to give each county an equal number of representatives in the State Assembly.

Mr. Hill's plan was to divide the State into smaller counties, and to give each county an equal number of representatives in the State Assembly.

Mr. Hill's plan was to divide the State into smaller counties, and to give each county an equal number of representatives in the State Assembly.

Mr. Hill's plan was to divide the State into smaller counties, and to give each county an equal number of representatives in the State Assembly.

Mr. Hill's plan was to divide the State into smaller counties, and to give each county an equal number of representatives in the State Assembly.

Mr. Hill's plan was to divide the State into smaller counties, and to give each county an equal number of representatives in the State Assembly.

Mr. Hill's plan was to divide the State into smaller counties, and to give each county an equal number of representatives in the State Assembly.

Mr. Hill's plan was to divide the State into smaller counties, and to give each county an equal number of representatives in the State Assembly.

Mr. Hill's plan was to divide the State into smaller counties, and to give each county an equal number of representatives in the State Assembly.

NEW JERSEY LEGISLATURE.

To Take a recess on Friday Until June—A Week's Session on Monday.

TRENTON, N. J., March 19.—The Republican steering committee decided today that the Legislature should adjourn on Friday and recess on next Wednesday to act upon any veto the Governor might send in, after which a recess should be taken until June, when it should meet again to receive the report of the Brookfield faction.

The fight was between the Budget and the anti-Budget factions, James M. Parsons and Edwin H. Bidwell were appointed trustees of the Boys' School at Jamesburg.

In joint meeting, at noon, the Legislature elected a new Commissioner of Deeds, and a new County Clerk.

The House authorized to condemn certain lands and to acquire rights in them for the purpose of constructing a canal twenty feet deep and from 300 to 500 feet wide, beginning at the Delaware River above Bordentown and passing about two miles east of Trenton.

The House authorized to condemn certain lands and to acquire rights in them for the purpose of constructing a canal twenty feet deep and from 300 to 500 feet wide, beginning at the Delaware River above Bordentown and passing about two miles east of Trenton.

The House authorized to condemn certain lands and to acquire rights in them for the purpose of constructing a canal twenty feet deep and from 300 to 500 feet wide, beginning at the Delaware River above Bordentown and passing about two miles east of Trenton.

The House authorized to condemn certain lands and to acquire rights in them for the purpose of constructing a canal twenty feet deep and from 300 to 500 feet wide, beginning at the Delaware River above Bordentown and passing about two miles east of Trenton.

The House authorized to condemn certain lands and to acquire rights in them for the purpose of constructing a canal twenty feet deep and from 300 to 500 feet wide, beginning at the Delaware River above Bordentown and passing about two miles east of Trenton.

The House authorized to condemn certain lands and to acquire rights in them for the purpose of constructing a canal twenty feet deep and from 300 to 500 feet wide, beginning at the Delaware River above Bordentown and passing about two miles east of Trenton.

The House authorized to condemn certain lands and to acquire rights in them for the purpose of constructing a canal twenty feet deep and from 300 to 500 feet wide, beginning at the Delaware River above Bordentown and passing about two miles east of Trenton.

The House authorized to condemn certain lands and to acquire rights in them for the purpose of constructing a canal twenty feet deep and from 300 to 500 feet wide, beginning at the Delaware River above Bordentown and passing about two miles east of Trenton.

The House authorized to condemn certain lands and to acquire rights in them for the purpose of constructing a canal twenty feet deep and from 300 to 500 feet wide, beginning at the Delaware River above Bordentown and passing about two miles east of Trenton.

The House authorized to condemn certain lands and to acquire rights in them for the purpose of constructing a canal twenty feet deep and from 300 to 500 feet wide, beginning at the Delaware River above Bordentown and passing about two miles east of Trenton.

The House authorized to condemn certain lands and to acquire rights in them for the purpose of constructing a canal twenty feet deep and from 300 to 500 feet wide, beginning at the Delaware River above Bordentown and passing about two miles east of Trenton.

The House authorized to condemn certain lands and to acquire rights in them for the purpose of constructing a canal twenty feet deep and from 300 to 500 feet wide, beginning at the Delaware River above Bordentown and passing about two miles east of Trenton.

The House authorized to condemn certain lands and to acquire rights in them for the purpose of constructing a canal twenty feet deep and from 300 to 500 feet wide, beginning at the Delaware River above Bordentown and passing about two miles east of Trenton.

The House authorized to condemn certain lands and to acquire rights in them for the purpose of constructing a canal twenty feet deep and from 300 to 500 feet wide, beginning at the Delaware River above Bordentown and passing about two miles east of Trenton.

IS LAUTERBACH SECURE?

HIS FRIENDS COUNT ON MAJORITY IN THE COUNTY COMMITTEE.

Which Would Be Reduced to One Majority If Hilliard's Delegation Should Desert—Close Figuring for To-morrow Night.

The lines are drawn so closely between the Republican local faction, headed by Hilliard, and the Democratic local faction, headed by Hilliard, that it is necessary to hold frequent caucuses to ascertain their strength.

All of the leaders were present except George Hilliard of the Sixth, and it was said that Mr. Hilliard had not received a notice. Mr. Hilliard is one of the so-called "flat leaders" who has been recently referred to as likely to desert to the Brookfield faction.

It is estimated that if Hilliard and his four colleagues in the Sixth district, including the two who are thought to be in the Brookfield faction would have a clear majority of 11 votes.

Estimating the defection of the five delegates from the Sixth district as a possibility, it was estimated that there would be a majority of 11 votes against Brookfield. This estimate does not take into account one or two disgruntled Brookfield men whom the Lauterbach men hoped to capture.

There is a story behind the filling of the vacant seats in the County Committee, headed by Gen. Collins' son, Lloyd Collins. There are five delegates to the County Committee from that district. The appointments of Gen. Collins as County Clerk and of Dr. Collins as County Treasurer, a deadlock in the delegation, which was broken by the use of patronage.

The policy decided upon by the Lauterbach men was to wait until the election of the County Committee, and then to propose to construct a canal twenty feet deep and from 300 to 500 feet wide, beginning at the Delaware River above Bordentown and passing about two miles east of Trenton.

The House authorized to condemn certain lands and to acquire rights in them for the purpose of constructing a canal twenty feet deep and from 300 to 500 feet wide, beginning at the Delaware River above Bordentown and passing about two miles east of Trenton.

The House authorized to condemn certain lands and to acquire rights in them for the purpose of constructing a canal twenty feet deep and from 300 to 500 feet wide, beginning at the Delaware River above Bordentown and passing about two miles east of Trenton.

The House authorized to condemn certain lands and to acquire rights in them for the purpose of constructing a canal twenty feet deep and from 300 to 500 feet wide, beginning at the Delaware River above Bordentown and passing about two miles east of Trenton.

The House authorized to condemn certain lands and to acquire rights in them for the purpose of constructing a canal twenty feet deep and from 300 to 500 feet wide, beginning at the Delaware River above Bordentown and passing about two miles east of Trenton.

The House authorized to condemn certain lands and to acquire rights in them for the purpose of constructing a canal twenty feet deep and from 300 to 500 feet wide, beginning at the Delaware River above Bordentown and passing about two miles east of Trenton.

The House authorized to condemn certain lands and to acquire rights in them for the purpose of constructing a canal twenty feet deep and from 300 to 500 feet wide, beginning at the Delaware River above Bordentown and passing about two miles east of Trenton.

The House authorized to condemn certain lands and to acquire rights in them for the purpose of constructing a canal twenty feet deep and from 300 to 500 feet wide, beginning at the Delaware River above Bordentown and passing about two miles east of Trenton.

The House authorized to condemn certain lands and to acquire rights in them for the purpose of constructing a canal twenty feet deep and from 300 to 500 feet wide, beginning at the Delaware River above Bordentown and passing about two miles east of Trenton.

The House authorized to condemn certain lands and to acquire rights in them for the purpose of constructing a canal twenty feet deep and from 300 to 500 feet wide, beginning at the Delaware River above Bordentown and passing about two miles east of Trenton.

The House authorized to condemn certain lands and to acquire rights in them for the purpose of constructing a canal twenty feet deep and from 300 to 500 feet wide, beginning at the Delaware River above Bordentown and passing about two miles east of Trenton.

IS LAUTERBACH SECURE?

HIS FRIENDS COUNT ON MAJORITY IN THE COUNTY COMMITTEE.

Which Would Be Reduced to One Majority If Hilliard's Delegation Should Desert—Close Figuring for To-morrow Night.

The lines are drawn so closely between the Republican local faction, headed by Hilliard, and the Democratic local faction, headed by Hilliard, that it is necessary to hold frequent caucuses to ascertain their strength.

All of the leaders were present except George Hilliard of the Sixth, and it was said that Mr. Hilliard had not received a notice. Mr. Hilliard is one of the so-called "flat leaders" who has been recently referred to as likely to desert to the Brookfield faction.

It is estimated that if Hilliard and his four colleagues in the Sixth district, including the two who are thought to be in the Brookfield faction would have a clear majority of 11 votes.

Estimating the defection of the five delegates from the Sixth district as a possibility, it was estimated that there would be a majority of 11 votes against Brookfield. This estimate does not take into account one or two disgruntled Brookfield men whom the Lauterbach men hoped to capture.

There is a story behind the filling of the vacant seats in the County Committee, headed by Gen. Collins' son, Lloyd Collins. There are five delegates to the County Committee from that district. The appointments of Gen. Collins as County Clerk and of Dr. Collins as County Treasurer, a deadlock in the delegation, which was broken by the use of patronage.

The policy decided upon by the Lauterbach men was to wait until the election of the County Committee, and then to propose to construct a canal twenty feet deep and from 300 to 500 feet wide, beginning at the Delaware River above Bordentown and passing about two miles east of Trenton.

The House authorized to condemn certain lands and to acquire rights in them for the purpose of constructing a canal twenty feet deep and from 300 to 500 feet wide, beginning at the Delaware River above Bordentown and passing about two miles east of Trenton.

The House authorized to condemn certain lands and to acquire rights in them for the purpose of constructing a canal twenty feet deep and from 300 to 500 feet wide, beginning at the Delaware River above Bordentown and passing about two miles east of Trenton.

The House authorized to condemn certain lands and to acquire rights in them for the purpose of constructing a canal twenty feet deep and from 300 to 500 feet wide, beginning at the Delaware River above Bordentown and passing about two miles east of Trenton.

The House authorized to condemn certain lands and to acquire rights in them for the purpose of constructing a canal twenty feet deep and from 300 to 500 feet wide, beginning at the Delaware River above Bordentown and passing about two miles east of Trenton.

The House authorized to condemn certain lands and to acquire rights in them for the purpose of constructing a canal twenty feet deep and from 300 to 500 feet wide, beginning at the Delaware River above Bordentown and passing about two miles east of Trenton.

The House authorized to condemn certain lands and to acquire rights in them for the purpose of constructing a canal twenty feet deep and from 300 to 500 feet wide, beginning at the Delaware River above Bordentown and passing about two miles east of Trenton.

The House authorized to condemn certain lands and to acquire rights in them for the purpose of constructing a canal twenty feet deep and from 300 to 500 feet wide, beginning at the Delaware River above Bordentown and passing about two miles east of Trenton.

The House authorized to condemn certain lands and to acquire rights in them for the purpose of constructing a canal twenty feet deep and from 300 to 500 feet wide, beginning at the Delaware River above Bordentown and passing about two miles east of Trenton.

The House authorized to condemn certain lands and to acquire rights in them for the purpose of constructing a canal twenty feet deep and from 300 to 500 feet wide, beginning at the Delaware River above Bordentown and passing about two miles east of Trenton.

The House authorized to condemn certain lands and to acquire rights in them for the purpose of constructing a canal twenty feet deep and from 300 to 500 feet wide, beginning at the Delaware River above Bordentown and passing about two miles east of Trenton.