

MANY PEOPLE BURIED IN THE RUINS OF A DENVER HOTEL.

An Explosion Tears the Building to Pieces and Fire Consumes the Horror—Victims Newly Cremated While the Firemen Were Vainly Striving to Save Them.

DENVER, Aug. 19.—The Gundry Hotel, on Lawrence street, between Seventeenth and Eighteenth streets, was demolished by an explosion which took place in the rear portion of the building. To add to the horror the ruins caught fire and many of the unfortunate who were not killed outright by the crash were slowly burned to death. Their screams and pleadings that they be killed to save them from torture by fire were pitiful, but the bystanders were powerless to render them any aid.

There were about sixty guests in the house, and with the help employed on the premises, would make seventy-five persons in the building at the time of the explosion. Peter Gundry, proprietor of the hotel, is given up for lost, and his wife is also missing.

It is thought that the entire force of employees in the building having been killed, for they were sleeping in the portion which fell, and the bodies of the killed and over one hundred, buried them beyond all hope of rescue, the force of the explosion shattered the windows on both sides of Lawrence street, from seventeenth to Eighteenth street, and back of the hotel on Larimer street the plate-glass windows of all the business houses were broken.

Several pedestrians were badly injured by the falling of glass and flying debris. The fronts of many buildings in the neighborhood were badly wrecked.

The hotel structure for 100 feet along the alley was 75 feet toward the front is a mass of debris. Back and plaster were piled in heaps, and when I found out that it was his mother-in-law I told him that if I could give up my daughter he certainly could give up his cigarettes, and he did.

"Violent is Mrs. Brown's daughter by a former husband and a bitter conversation they had, they are indignant at the action of the clergyman, and one of them was armed with a revolver when he accompanied Mrs. Brown on her visit to the minister. "I told him he must not use it," said Mrs. Brown, "and took it away from him."

CAUGHT BY MARKED BILLS.

Alleged Law and Order Spies Charged with Extortion.

Two men who said that they were agents of the Brooklyn Law Enforcement Society, were arrested yesterday on complaint of William H. Crampton, lessee of Ulmer Park, at Bensonhurst, who charged them with extortion.

On Sunday morning the two men, who called themselves William H. Crampton and Robert B. Wilson of 64 Bridge street, Brooklyn. They told him that they were agents of the Law Enforcement Society and that it was their duty to collect evidence against saloon keepers in the city.

Mr. Crampton communicated with the police at 100 West 12th street, New York, and Acting Detective Mulvey advised him to pay the men with marked money if they returned for the bribe. Texter accordingly marked bills amounting to $100 and laid them aside. Yesterday afternoon Crampton paid another visit to Ulmer Park, and the two men returned with the marked money. Texter paid over the marked money. Crampton pocketed the cash, then he went to the office of the police and reported with Texter. He left and was met just outside the gates of the park by Somers and Mulvey.

Crampton was taken to the Bath Beach station. There he was searched, and marked money was found on his person. He was charged on a charge of extortion.

Mr. Justice will issue a warrant for Wilson's arrest, and when the latter called at the park last night to see if Crampton had been charged, it simply contained the letters "J. K." Mr. Justice will be arrested before Justice Rhodes at Bath Beach today.

The men, who are both well known and well known to the police, were arrested by the Brooklyn Law Enforcement Society. Wilson for several weeks has been visiting Brooklyn in the name of a reporter, and has been collecting evidence of alleged violations of the law. He applied a day or two ago to the police for a warrant for the arrest of a saloon keeper named Jagan, for selling him whiskey after 1 o'clock A. M. The police refused to grant the warrant on the evidence.

BURIED THE BLOOD PIGEON.

One of the Results of the Spy System of Kefauver the Exiles Law.

Peter Spoto, 21 years old, of 447 East 113th street, and Joseph Caggiano, 27 years old, of 409 East 113th street, were arrested on a charge of collecting evidence against ex-convicts in Special Sessions yesterday who had been arrested at their instance. The cases hung fire, however, because the blood pigeons were both arrested on charges of bribery.

Spoto, of 409 East 113th street, and Caggiano, of the East 104th street station in the saloon and accused of bribery. Caggiano was charged with collecting evidence against ex-convicts in Special Sessions. "I made no offer to let up on him," said Spoto.

A SEAL CAUGHT AT OCEAN GROVE.

ASBURY PARK, Aug. 19.—A seal four and one-half feet long and weighing about 150 pounds was caught in the surf at the Ocean Grove beach. The seal is exhibited on the Ocean Grove pier.

DEATH IN A WOOLLEN MILL.

A Worker Falls Against a Belt, and the Edge of His Head is Caught in It.

EDDIE'S YOUTHFUL BRIDE.

Violent is Only 14, and Her Mother in His Languid—Separated and Cigarettes Cut Off.

Two very young persons were married on Aug. 8 by the Rev. S. Darlington, the pastor of the Primitive Methodist Church, on Monroe street, near Stuyvesant avenue, Brooklyn. They were Violet Adelaide Armstrong, aged 14 years, and Edward Randall, aged 21, both of 395 Gates avenue. The pair are separated now, and Violet's mother threatens to send her to a boarding school. She is very angry with the clergyman who performed the ceremony, but he says the girl told him that she was over 16 years old, and he believed her.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Browne, who has a boarding house at 393 Gates avenue. Violet is a pretty blonde, and is not by any means mature in her ways. About a year ago Edward Randall engaged her. About a year ago Edward Randall engaged her. About a year ago Edward Randall engaged her.

"I don't want to talk about my wedding," she said to a SUN reporter yesterday. "It is a painful subject, and mamma will do all the talking. It's true that those foolish children were married," said Mrs. Browne. "Violet is my only child and she had everything she wanted. She is a great reader and I suppose her ideas from some book. She is a perfect child in as far as it is to be a minister's wife. My son-in-law is a minister in the Episcopal church. He may have married Violet because he knows she will inherit money when she comes of age, but I am not sure. The couple have not lived together, nor do I intend that they shall. Violet goes to a boarding school on Wednesday and comes as usual on Saturdays. I do not know whether I will prosecute him. That depends on his future conduct."

"He is behaving himself very well, though," continued Mrs. Browne. "Ever since he has been in my house he has smoked cigarettes. Every day he smokes a couple of them, but when I found out that it was his mother-in-law I told him that if I could give up my daughter he certainly could give up his cigarettes, and he did."

"Violet is Mrs. Brown's daughter by a former husband and a bitter conversation they had, they are indignant at the action of the clergyman, and one of them was armed with a revolver when he accompanied Mrs. Brown on her visit to the minister. "I told him he must not use it," said Mrs. Brown, "and took it away from him."

RESCUED, THEN ARRESTED.

THREE DOCK RATS CAUGHT IN HELL GATE'S EDDIES.

Pursued by the Police, They Took to the Water—Then They Were Carried Off by the Current, but Were Rescued by a Boat Manned by the Pursuing Bluecoats.

Late on Sunday night a picnic barge landed most of its passengers at the foot of East 110th street, and three or four kegs of beer which had been stowed on the excursion boat were rolled over the railing on the lower deck untapped. The River gang, which prowls along the water front, heard of the beer. The gang is always thirsty, and ready to do almost anything for a drink.

On Monday it was particularly thirsty, and about twenty of its members boarded the barge and made straight for the beer. The few excursionists still on board gave way to the gang, and those who were not quick enough were brushed aside with little ceremony. The rough seized upon a keg of beer and started for the pier. The deck hand tried to oppose their progress. A short and hard fight convinced the boatmen that they had better let the beer go. The gang carried it off in triumph and drank it on a neighboring pier.

When the police were notified of the robbery men and beer had disappeared. Const. Westcott, who is familiar with the habits of the bluecoats, waited until 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Then he sent Roundsmen Stevens and eight patrolmen to hunt up the robbers. The policemen pounced upon about fifteen of them while they were sunning themselves on a brick scow anchored in the Harlem river between 110th and 111th streets. At sight of the bluecoats the crowd scattered in all directions. Five of them jumped overboard. One fell in trying to jump ashore and was captured. He is Joseph Kennedy, 37 years old, of 341 East 114th street.

Roundsmen Stevens and four patrolmen ran down to Capt. William Miller's boat house at 109th street and secured two boats. In one of them the Roundsmen and Policeman O'Leary pursued two of the gang who had taken to the water. They caught the swimmers under a pier at the foot of 108th street.

The best three swimmers in the gang were Michael Maher, 29 years old, of 111 East 108th street; Daniel Brennan, 21, of 2175 Third avenue; and Michael Healy, 22, of 422 East Seventy-sixth street. They struck out into the stream and rolling over on their backs dived into the water. The policemen searched as much as ease in the water as on shore, they called the police all the names they could think of, and their profane vocabulary is a large one. When the bluecoats started for the boats the fugitives realized that they had work before them, and struck boldly out for Ward's Island. There the two men were seen by the patrolmen launched the second boat. Officers Long, Hayden, and O'Brien manned the boat.

The swimmers underestimated the strength of the current, and were carried below Ward's Island, where they could not reach the island. The fugitives turned and swam with the tide. It was dangerous work, and counter currents swept them out of their course. The police, however, were apparently less familiar with the eddies than the swimmers, and for a time the chase was a hot one. The boatmen, who kept well ahead of the boat.

Finally their strength began to fail and they were compelled to bend every effort to keeping afloat and let the tide drift them toward Blackwell's Island. The police redoubled their efforts, and after a long search they finally captured the two men at Blackwell's Island. Healy was released. He was almost exhausted, but he managed to say as he was dragged into the boat.

"Hurry after dem other fellers; they's worse tired out than me, and I couldn't a lasted much longer," he said.

WHY IN MISS MAMIE M. EARLEY?

Odd Circumstances Surrounding Her Disappearance.

Nothing has yet been heard as to the whereabouts of Miss Mamie M. Earley, formerly head nurse in the Brooklyn Maternity Hospital. Miss Earley left the home of Mr. C. H. Hatch in Englewood, last Thursday at 1 P. M. to go to Montclair, where, it is said, she had been engaged as nurse by Dr. K. B. White. She was seen by her brother's house, at 230 Catherine street, at 5 P. M. About 7:30 she left her home and since then nothing has been heard of her.

MISS S. A. ALLEN, MATRON OF THE BROOKLYN MATERNITY HOSPITAL, SAID YESTERDAY THAT SHE HAD RECEIVED A LETTER FROM MISS MAMIE M. EARLEY, FORMERLY HEAD NURSE IN THE BROOKLYN MATERNITY HOSPITAL, WHO SHE SAID HAD LEFT HER HOME IN ENGLEWOOD, N. J., LAST THURSDAY AT 1 P. M. TO GO TO MONTCLAIR, N. J., WHERE SHE HAD BEEN ENGAGED AS NURSE BY DR. K. B. WHITE.

Miss Earley was seen by her brother's house, at 230 Catherine street, at 5 P. M. About 7:30 she left her home and since then nothing has been heard of her.

CHINA WON'T PERMIT IT.

300 PERSONS KILLED. A Terrific Explosion at the Tools Barracks in Russia.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—The Daily News will tomorrow publish a despatch from Trieste saying that newspapers there report that an explosion occurred today at the artillery barracks at Tools, capital of the government of that name, in Russia. Three hundred persons are said to have been killed, including many officers. The barracks are a heap of ruins. An examination into the cause of the explosion led to the discovery that the barracks had been undermined everywhere. Many arrests have been made of persons suspected of being implicated in the outrage, which is supposed to have been the work of nihilists.

HAMILTON FISH, JR., ARRESTED.

Locked Up on a Charge of Making a Disturbance at the Casino.

Hamilton Fish, Jr., nephew of Speaker Fish, was locked up in the West Third street station on a charge of making a disturbance at the Casino, where he was playing roulette. Fish, who is a well-built six-footer, was in the Casino room with several friends, and about 11 o'clock became engaged in a discussion with one of the waiters about the price of a round of drinks.

Refusals to the dispute young Fish had attracted considerable notice by his loud remarks. As Fish had created a disturbance a short time ago on the roof, Manager Canary determined to take no chances, so he sent down stairs for Policeman Kupfren.

When the policeman appeared one of Fish's friends, who was standing by, immediately called Fish, who is a well-built six-footer, was in the Casino room with several friends, and about 11 o'clock became engaged in a discussion with one of the waiters about the price of a round of drinks.

RUINED BY TOO MUCH MONEY.

The Querr Excuse Advanced by James Hughes, Who Admitted Swindling.

James Hughes, who was the coupon clerk in Eugene Kelly's banking office, was tried at the Court of Special Sessions yesterday with three other men of obtaining money under false pretenses. They used the name of the Right Rev. Abbott Alexis Eberbeck, rector of St. Anselm's Church, to help them in the swindle. Hughes is a fine-looking fellow. Justice Jerome said in the course of the case that he was "Hughes, how is it that a man of your apparent calibre could descend to such petty thieving as this?"

MISSING A PAIR.

A Naval Lieutenant and His Wife in a Peck of Trouble.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19.—A naval lieutenant of the receiving ship Franklin at Norfolk Navy Yard is in trouble over the thrifty arrangements of his wife. He is on a two-week trip to the East from the city. He has recently detailed today on this coast, and came out here with his wife on a pass furnished by the Santa Fe Company from Chicago to Mohave, Cal. Last week his wife had to return. She had the pass which was for her husband's benefit, and she had to return to her home in this city to Mohave, and arrangements were made with a ticket scalper to furnish her with a temporary husband for the overland trip to Mohave. The conductor threatened transportation, agreed to pay for the lady's meals and sleeping accommodations. In return she was to be furnished with a ticket for the return trip to the East. The ticket scalper, however, had only enough to pay his face and say meals.

The ticket scalper, however, had only enough to pay his face and say meals. The conductor threatened transportation, agreed to pay for the lady's meals and sleeping accommodations. In return she was to be furnished with a ticket for the return trip to the East. The ticket scalper, however, had only enough to pay his face and say meals.

ORDER OF RED MEN NEEDED.

FARMER DENIED CALLED DOWN.

He is Asked to Explain Weather Forecasts Which He Says He Did Not Send Out.

Washington, Aug. 19.—Farmer Dunn, the local official of the Weather Bureau of New York city, has been called by Chief Willis Moore of the Weather Bureau for an explanation of certain matters that have been printed in the papers of the city wherein he predicts the weather. Numerous reports have been published there and throughout the country that two months of hot and dry weather may be looked for, and these predictions are repudiated by the Weather Bureau. Chief Moore said to-day:

"These reports say that Mr. Dunn, the local forecast official in New York, has made this forecast after consultation with me. I wish to say that I had no consultation with him, and neither Mr. Dunn nor any other official of the Weather Bureau authorized, the printing of meteorological forecasts to make any such prediction. Mr. Dunn has to-day been called out on an explanation of his forecast."

Mr. Dunn, when seen in regard to the above statement, said: "The whole thing is the work of some malicious person using my name. I have no objection to my name being used in connection with the weather bureau, but I have no objection to my name being used in connection with the weather bureau, but I have no objection to my name being used in connection with the weather bureau."

DID THIS DOG DIE INSANE?

An Autopsy and Microscopical Examination as to If It Were a Madman.

Under the direction of Dr. Charles S. Benedict of the Health Board, an attempt is being made to discover whether the dog that bit Policeman Buchanan of the West Thirtieth street station on Saturday was mad or not. Yesterday Dr. Higgins performed an autopsy on the body of the dog, and also pieces of flesh containing smaller nerve fibers. The dissection was performed in the laboratory of the Health Board, and the results will be reported in a few days.

POISONED WHILE PICKING A CUCUMBER.

Mrs. Mary A. Anderson of Highway went into her garden on Sunday to gather vegetables. In the process she was bitten on the hand by a dog. Mrs. Anderson thrust her bare arm among the vines to pick the cucumber, and as she did so felt a curious stinging. She picked up the cucumber and found it was covered with two broken leaves at right angles. Symptoms were arranged before Mrs. Anderson. After doctor after treating the wound said he believed it had been caused by the spines on the leaves of a large green worm such as insect worms.

BALTIMORE'S WEATHER OFFICE ON FIRE.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 19.—The local observer of the United States Weather Bureau, whose offices are located on the top floor of the Johns Hopkins University building at the corner of Duval and Hill streets and Howard street, found the roof of the building ablaze this afternoon. An alarm was sounded, and the chief building inspector in removing to the scene, the fire department was quickly on the scene and dousing the place with water, and many of the valuable scientific instruments were damaged.

BEER MEN'S BLUE MONDAY.

BEER MEN'S BLUE MONDAY. BEER MEN'S BLUE MONDAY. BEER MEN'S BLUE MONDAY.

Cost $75 to Plead Guilty in Special Sessions and $30 in General Sessions. New York man Sullzer Indicted with His Boys for Selling His Two Per Cent Beer—Homes Says Nine-Tenths of the Retailers Are Bankrupt—$11,000 in Fines—They Make a Bunch of Basketful of Hints.

Forty-eight pleas of guilty of violating the Excise law were put in in the special sessions yesterday, and were immediately imposed on the forty-eight defendants. Of the fines imposed $3,200 was collected in cash, making the total amount of fines collected so far this month in this court $11,000. The general sessions Grand Jury presented yesterday twenty-four more indictments against James E. Sullzer, proprietor of Sullzer's Harlem River Park, on the evidence against his bartender, August Rosenbly, who was arrested by Policeman Nash of the East 130th street station on July 7, Sullzer was indicted jointly with his bartender for violating the Excise law. Rosenbly has been out on bail ever since his arrest. Sullzer says that the beer sold in his place on that Sunday contained only two per cent of alcohol. An analysis was made by the Health Department, and it was found to be only one and one-half per cent. Sullzer then said that the percentage of alcohol was increased because of the fermentation occasioned by delay in making the analysis. His bartender was held for trial in the special sessions. Sullzer had the case transferred to the grand jury, and the grand jury indicted Sullzer yesterday. The policeman testified that Sullzer was present when the beer was sold, and the grand jury decided to indict both.

Sullzer called at the office of the Clerk of the General Sessions yesterday to learn when his bartender's case would be put on the calendar. He was just about to leave when a detective sergeant Cut met him in the doorway. "I have a warrant for your arrest, Mr. Sullzer," said Cut.

"What?" gasped the picnic park man, telephoned for his counsel, and Michael Kennedy, a saloon keeper at 214 Ninth street, went bail for him in $100. The other indictments are against Hugh J. Martin, saloon keeper, 49 East 120th street (two indictments); Michael T. Joyce, saloon keeper at 547 Verick street; John Shortell, bartender at 245 Verick street; James E. Sullzer, James E. Sullzer, saloon keeper, and Henry Cassidy, bartender at 179 Greenwich avenue; Patrick Kelly, saloon keeper, at 427 West Sixteenth street; Anton Sykora, saloon keeper at 51 East Seventy-second street; Frank McCarthy (two indictments), bartender at 979 Greenwich street; Charles A. McInerney, saloon keeper at 111 East 110th street; Charles Giergich, bartender at West Broadway and Third street; Francis J. Grandy, saloon keeper at 443 Third avenue; John Fogarty, bartender at 308 Third avenue; Richard Heilig, bartender at 717 Seventh avenue; Andrew Langan, bartender at 244 Ninth street; James E. Sullzer, bartender at 231 Monroe street; Michael Dugan, bartender at 122 Verick street; Peter Coffey, bartender at 307 Third street; Patrick Cummings, bartender at 411 Monroe street; and John Corbin, saloon keeper at 113 West street. The cases will come up for pleading today.

There were four cases left over from the bench tried before Recorder Goff on last Friday. The defendants pleaded guilty yesterday, and the other cases were adjourned because the police were unable to locate the defendants. In the case of Bernard McCarthy, bartender at 343 Tenth avenue, was charged with selling liquor to a minor, and the Recorder said: "Your Honor, this man desires to plead guilty. There is no objection on my part against him, one for selling liquor and the other for exposure. I told him frankly that the exposure brought him into a bad name, and he was willing to plead guilty. It is his intention hereafter to refrain from violating the law."

"That is all right," said the Recorder, and if the defendant was convicted, the evidence is that the policeman, standing fifteen or twenty feet away, saw and took down the name of the defendant, and that the defendant was responsible for this defendant, and can truthfully state that he will not do it again. He hopes, as many other do, that the Legislature will afford him the proper spirit," said the Recorder. "I'm glad to see that this spirit of conforming to the law has manifested itself."

Your Honor said something last week about a concerted effort on the part of the saloon keepers to block the wheels of justice, and your cases transferred from the Special Sessions to the grand jury. I am glad to see you to believe what I'm going to say. That is, that the association which I represent and the committee mentioned here have not done any such purpose. All to a man, or I might say, a large majority of them, are fair-minded men, and they are not going to do anything of the kind. The idea being of getting at the proper time an expression of opinion from the makers. Transfers from the special sessions to the general sessions are not a matter of individual action."

The Recorder replied: "I'm glad to hear you state yourself as conforming to the law, and I trust that there will be no effort to clog the business of these courts for the trial. I have looked over the records of the Special Sessions, and I am glad to see that you are acquittal in excise cases. It appears to me, from what I have seen, that if a man has a good conscience he has a great chance of being acquitted. The Court of Special Sessions is especially constituted to relieve the pressure of the courts. There is no reason why a man in the liquor trade should not be a law-abiding citizen. As to this case, you are not a defendant in this case, and your trial will be adjourned hereafter to live up to the letter of the law. I treat this case the same as any other case, and I am glad to see that you are acquittal in excise cases. It appears to me, from what I have seen, that if a man has a good conscience he has a great chance of being acquitted. The Court of Special Sessions is especially constituted to relieve the pressure of the courts. There is no reason why a man in the liquor trade should not be a law-abiding citizen. As to this case, you are not a defendant in this case, and your trial will be adjourned hereafter to live up to the letter of the law. I treat this case the same as any other case, and I am glad to see that you are acquittal in excise cases. It appears to me, from what I have seen, that if a man has a good conscience he has a great chance of being acquitted. The Court of Special Sessions is especially constituted to relieve the pressure of the courts. There is no reason why a man in the liquor trade should not be a law-abiding citizen. As to this case, you are not a defendant in this case, and your trial will be adjourned hereafter to live up to the letter of the law. I treat this case the same as any other case, and I am glad to see that you are acquittal in excise cases. It appears to me, from what I have seen, that if a man has a good conscience he has a great chance of being acquitted. The Court of Special Sessions is especially constituted to relieve the pressure of the courts. There is no reason why a man in the liquor trade should not be a law-abiding citizen. As to this case, you are not a defendant in this case, and your trial will be adjourned hereafter to live up to the letter of the law. I treat this case the same as any other case, and I am glad to see that you are acquittal in excise cases. It appears to me, from what I have seen, that if a man has a good conscience he has a great chance of being acquitted. The Court of Special Sessions is especially constituted to relieve the pressure of the courts. There is no reason why a man in the liquor trade should not be a law-abiding citizen. As to this case, you are not a defendant in this case, and your trial will be adjourned hereafter to live up to the letter of the law. I treat this case the same as any other case, and I am glad to see that you are acquittal in excise cases. It appears to me, from what I have seen, that if a man has a good conscience he has a great chance of being acquitted. The Court of Special Sessions is especially constituted to relieve the pressure of the courts. There is no reason why a man in the liquor trade should not be a law-abiding citizen. As to this case, you are not a defendant in this case, and your trial will be adjourned hereafter to live up to the letter of the law. I treat this case the same as any other case, and I am glad to see that you are acquittal in excise cases. It appears to me, from what I have seen, that if a man has a good conscience he has a great chance of being acquitted. The Court of Special Sessions is especially constituted to relieve the pressure of the courts. There is no reason why a man in the liquor trade should not be a law-abiding citizen. As to this case, you are not a defendant in this case, and your trial will be adjourned hereafter to live up to the letter of the law. I treat this case the same as any other case, and I am glad to see that you are acquittal in excise cases. It appears to me, from what I have seen, that if a man has a good conscience he has a great chance of being acquitted. The Court of Special Sessions is especially constituted to relieve the pressure of the courts. There is no reason why a man in the liquor trade should not be a law-abiding citizen. As to this case, you are not a defendant in this case, and your trial will be adjourned hereafter to live up to the letter of the law. I treat this case the same as any other case, and I am glad to see that you are acquittal in excise cases. It appears to me, from what I have seen, that if a man has a good conscience he has a great chance of being acquitted. The Court of Special Sessions is especially constituted to relieve the pressure of the courts. There is no reason why a man in the liquor trade should not be a law-abiding citizen. As to this case, you are not a defendant in this case, and your trial will be adjourned hereafter to live up to the letter of the law. I treat this case the same as any other case, and I am glad to see that you are acquittal in excise cases. It appears to me, from what I have seen, that if a man has a good conscience he has a great chance of being acquitted. The Court of Special Sessions is especially constituted to relieve the pressure of the courts. There is no reason why a man in the liquor trade should not be a law-abiding citizen. As to this case, you are not a defendant in this case, and your trial will be adjourned hereafter to live up to the letter of the law. I treat this case the same as any other case, and I am glad to see that you are acquittal in excise cases. It appears to me, from what I have seen, that if a man has a good conscience he has a great chance of being acquitted. The Court of Special Sessions is especially constituted to relieve the pressure of the courts. There is no reason why a man in the liquor trade should not be a law-abiding citizen. As to this case, you are not a defendant in this case, and your trial will be adjourned hereafter to live up to the letter of the law. I treat this case the same as any other case, and I am glad to see that you are acquittal in excise cases. It appears to me, from what I have seen, that if a man has a good conscience he has a great chance of being acquitted. The Court of Special Sessions is especially constituted to relieve the pressure of the courts. There is no reason why a man in the liquor trade should not be a law-abiding citizen. As to this case, you are not a defendant in this case, and your trial will be adjourned hereafter to live up to the letter of the law. I treat this case the same as any other case, and I am glad to see that you are acquittal in excise cases. It appears to me, from what I have seen, that if a man has a good conscience he has a great chance of being acquitted. The Court of Special Sessions is especially constituted to relieve the pressure of the courts. There is no reason why a man in the liquor trade should not be a law-abiding citizen. As to this case, you are not a defendant in this case, and your trial will be adjourned hereafter to live up to the letter of the law. I treat this case the same as any other case, and I am glad to see that you are acquittal in excise cases. It appears to me, from what I have seen, that if a man has a good conscience he has a great chance of being acquitted. The Court of Special Sessions is especially constituted to relieve the pressure of the courts. There is no reason why a man in the liquor trade should not be a law-abiding citizen. As to this case, you are not a defendant in this case, and your trial will be adjourned hereafter to live up to the letter of the law. I treat this case the same as any other case, and I am glad to see that you are acquittal in excise cases. It appears to me, from what I have seen, that if a man has a good conscience he has a great chance of being acquitted. The Court of Special Sessions is especially constituted to relieve the pressure of the courts. There is no reason why a man in the liquor trade should not be a law-abiding citizen. As to this case, you are not a defendant in this case, and your trial will be adjourned hereafter to live up to the letter of the law. I treat this case the same as any other case, and I am glad to see that you are acquittal in excise cases. It appears to me, from what I have seen, that if a man has a good conscience he has a great chance of being acquitted. The Court of Special Sessions is especially constituted to relieve the pressure of the courts. There is no reason why a man in the liquor trade should not be a law-abiding citizen. As to this case, you are not a defendant in this case, and your trial will be adjourned hereafter to live up to the letter of the law. I treat this case the same as any other case, and I am glad to see that you are acquittal in excise cases. It appears to me, from what I have seen, that if a man has a good conscience he has a great chance of being acquitted. The Court of Special Sessions is especially constituted to relieve the pressure of the courts. There is no reason why a man in the liquor trade should not be a law-abiding citizen. As to this case, you are not a defendant in this case, and your trial will be adjourned hereafter to live up to the letter of the law. I treat this case the same as any other case, and I am glad to see that you are acquittal in excise cases. It appears to me, from what I have seen, that if a man has a good conscience he has a great chance of being acquitted. The Court of Special Sessions is especially constituted to relieve the pressure of the courts. There is no reason why a man in the liquor trade should not be a law-abiding citizen. As to this case, you are not a defendant in this case, and your trial will be adjourned hereafter to live up to the letter of the law. I treat this case the same as any other case, and I am glad to see that you are acquittal in excise cases. It appears to me, from what I have seen, that if a man has a good conscience he has a great chance of being acquitted. The Court of Special Sessions is especially constituted to relieve the pressure of the courts. There is no reason why a man in the liquor trade should not be a law-abiding citizen. As to this case, you are not a defendant in this case, and your trial will be adjourned hereafter to live up to the letter of the law. I treat this case the same as any other case, and I am glad to see that you are acquittal in excise cases. It appears to me, from what I have seen, that if a man has a good conscience he has a great chance of being acquitted. The Court of Special Sessions is especially constituted to relieve the pressure of the courts. There is no reason why a man in the liquor trade should not be a law-abiding citizen. As to this case, you are not a defendant in this case, and your trial will be adjourned hereafter to live up to the letter of the law. I treat this case the same as any other case, and I am glad to see that you are acquittal in excise cases. It appears to me, from what I have seen, that if a man has a good conscience he has a great chance of being acquitted. The Court of Special Sessions is especially constituted to relieve the pressure of the courts. There is no reason why a man in the liquor trade should not be a law-abiding citizen. As to this case, you are not a defendant in this case, and your trial will be adjourned hereafter to live up to the letter of the law. I treat this case the same as any other case, and I am glad to see that you are acquittal in excise cases. It appears to me, from what I have seen, that if a man has a good conscience he has a great chance of being acquitted. The Court of Special Sessions is especially constituted to relieve the pressure of the courts. There is no reason why a man in the liquor trade should not be a law-abiding citizen. As to this case, you are not a defendant in this case, and your trial will be adjourned hereafter to live up to the letter of the law. I treat this case the same as any other case, and I am glad to see that you are acquittal in excise cases. It appears to me, from what I have seen, that if a man has a good conscience he has a great chance of being acquitted. The Court of Special Sessions is especially constituted to relieve the pressure of the courts. There is no reason why a man in the liquor trade should not be a law-abiding citizen. As to this case, you are not a defendant in this case, and your trial will be adjourned hereafter to live up to the letter of the law. I treat this case the same as any other case, and I am glad to see that you are acquittal in excise cases. It appears to me, from what I have seen, that if a man has a good conscience he has a great chance of being acquitted. The Court of Special Sessions is especially constituted to relieve the pressure of the courts. There is no reason why a man in the liquor trade should not be a law-abiding citizen. As to this case, you are not a defendant in this case, and your trial will be adjourned hereafter to live up to the letter of the law. I treat this case the same as any other case, and I am glad to see that you are acquittal in excise cases. It appears to me, from what I have seen, that if a man has a good conscience he has a great chance of being acquitted. The Court of Special Sessions is especially constituted to relieve the pressure of the courts. There is no reason why a man in the liquor trade should not be a law-abiding citizen. As to this case, you are not a defendant in this case, and your trial will be adjourned hereafter to live up to the letter of the law. I treat this case the same as any other case, and I am glad to see that you are acquittal in excise cases. It appears to me, from what I have seen, that if a man has a good conscience he has a great chance of being acquitted. The Court of Special Sessions is especially constituted to relieve the pressure of the courts. There is no reason why a man in the liquor trade should not be a law-abiding citizen. As to this case, you are not a defendant in this case, and your trial will be adjourned hereafter to live up to the letter of the law. I treat this case the same as any other case, and I am glad to see that you are acquittal in excise cases. It appears to me, from what I have seen, that if a man has a good conscience he has a great chance of being acquitted. The Court of Special Sessions is especially constituted to relieve the pressure of the courts. There is no reason why a man in the liquor trade should not be a law-abiding citizen. As to this case, you are not a defendant in this case, and your trial will be adjourned hereafter to live up to the letter of the law. I treat this case the same as any other case, and I am glad to see that you are acquittal in excise cases. It appears to me, from what I have seen, that if a man has a good conscience he has a great chance of being acquitted. The Court of Special Sessions is especially constituted to relieve the pressure of the courts. There is no reason why a man in the liquor trade should not be a law-abiding citizen. As to this case, you are not a defendant in this case, and your trial will be adjourned hereafter to live up to the letter of the law. I treat this case the same as any other case, and I am glad to see that you are acquittal in excise cases. It appears to me, from what I have seen, that if a man has a good conscience he has a great chance of being acquitted. The Court of Special Sessions is especially constituted to relieve the pressure of the courts. There is no reason why a man in the liquor trade should not be a law-abiding citizen. As to this case, you are not a defendant in this case, and your trial will be adjourned hereafter to live up to the letter of the law. I treat this case the same as any other case, and I am glad to see that you are acquittal in excise cases. It appears to me, from what I have seen, that if a man has a good conscience he has a great chance of being acquitted. The Court of Special Sessions is especially constituted to relieve the pressure of the courts. There is no reason why a man in the liquor trade should not be a law-abiding citizen. As to this case, you are not a defendant in this case, and your trial will be adjourned hereafter to live up to the letter of the law. I treat this case the same as any other case, and I am glad to see that you are acquittal in excise cases. It appears to me, from what I have seen, that if a man has a good conscience he has a great chance of being acquitted. The Court of Special Sessions is especially constituted to relieve the pressure of the courts. There is no reason why a man in the