

followed rapidly, there being no death of volunteers, until no less than six gangs were in the mine. Mine Inspector McDonald directed the men...

after the fearful accident at Arvonale in the lower part of Luzerne county about eighteen years ago; this second opening is intended for the escape of the men who may be in the mine at the time of any accident...

HOW TO TEACH DEAF MUTES THE Grand Duke of Baden's Remarks on the subject to the Emperor. Berlin, June 28.—The newspapers throughout Germany are quoting and commenting upon a notable speech recently delivered by the Grand Duke of Baden upon the occasion of the ceremonies marking the twenty-fourth anniversary in memory of the soldiers of Baden who were killed in the war of 1870.

FOUR SHOTS FOR HIS WIFE. James Romkey commits murder and then kills himself. His wife had refused to live with him, and he climbed into their room and shot at her as she ran—killed at the foot of the stairs—his wife's death. New London, Conn., June 28.—James Romkey killed his wife Mary and himself today by shooting with a revolver. The couple had for some time been employed in the Bank street laundry. He was foreman and she was a helper. They have not lived very happily.

He is for a Government Currency with Gold as the Monetary Unit and Free Trade. Cleveland, June 28.—Tom L. Johnson has just written a long letter to the Hon. George Fithian of Illinois. CLEVELAND, O., June 29. The Hon. George Fithian, Illinois. Dear Sir: The Convention of Ohio having adopted the unit rule, my vote as a delegate to the convention must be counted in that of my State.

He is for a Government Currency with Gold as the Monetary Unit and Free Trade. Cleveland, June 28.—Tom L. Johnson has just written a long letter to the Hon. George Fithian of Illinois. CLEVELAND, O., June 29. The Hon. George Fithian, Illinois. Dear Sir: The Convention of Ohio having adopted the unit rule, my vote as a delegate to the convention must be counted in that of my State.

He is for a Government Currency with Gold as the Monetary Unit and Free Trade. Cleveland, June 28.—Tom L. Johnson has just written a long letter to the Hon. George Fithian of Illinois. CLEVELAND, O., June 29. The Hon. George Fithian, Illinois. Dear Sir: The Convention of Ohio having adopted the unit rule, my vote as a delegate to the convention must be counted in that of my State.

at a place about 200 yards from the foot of the shaft the inside rails were situated. There were about sixty miles in the mine, and the roof was crashing in all about the barn. The men were entombed in the mine, and the roof was crashing in all about the barn. The men were entombed in the mine, and the roof was crashing in all about the barn.

SCENE AT THE DISASTER. From a Photograph Taken Yesterday Morning. The time in the neighborhood, however, would have been of little use, as the shaft was not rescued, and the men were entombed in the mine at 3 o'clock in the afternoon said that practically nothing could be done to stop the crushing. As the shaft was not rescued, and the roof was crashing in all about the barn. The men were entombed in the mine, and the roof was crashing in all about the barn.

THE IN PLATE INDUSTRY. Statistics Completed of the Production in Pennsylvania. Harrisburg, Pa., June 28.—The Bureau of Industrial Statistics has completed a report on the tin plate industry in Pennsylvania. It will show that there are eleven plants in the State turning out what are known as black plates and thirteen that buy the black plates and then turn them by dipping or coating them with tin.

THE CHANCELLORSHIP. Prince Hohenlohe Desires to Retire—Candidates for the Office. Berlin, June 28.—In the lobby yesterday the matter of Prince Hohenlohe's early retirement from the Chancellorship was revived, and some members of the Reichstag affirmed that it was certain that he would resign within a very short time. The Emperor is reported to be awaiting the passage of the Civil Code bill before handing his resignation to the Emperor. Count Philipp von Eulenburg, German Ambassador to Austria and a close personal friend of Kaiser, Prince Furstenberg, and Prince von Hatzfeldt are mentioned as candidates for the succession.

PREMIER SOCIAL CLUB RAIDED. The Manager and Six Men Who Were Caught Playing Poker Arrested. The Premier Social Club, an organization which has its rooms in a building at Sixty-first street and Third avenue, was raided Saturday night by Acting Captain Grant of the East Sixty-seventh street station. For several weeks complaints have been coming in to the police that the club was a gambling den. The police found a poker game in progress with six men who were playing. They also found a large sum of money and a number of cards. The manager and six men were arrested.

THE QUESTION OF A CHIEF MANAGER FOR McKINLEY UNDER DISCUSSION. There is a warm controversy in progress among the McKinley campaign workers over the choice of chief manager for McKinley and Hobart in the pending campaign. It is understood that President Charles A. Moore of the Montauk Club occupies the foremost place in the confidence of McKinley and Hanna, and it is believed that he will be selected to conduct the campaign. It is true that Mr. Moore has never been prominently in the organization, and has even shown his hostility to machine politics by declining to run for a place in the General Committee. His political activity for the past few years has been confined to the Republican Club and to getting up receipts to a conspicuous statement in the Montauk Club.

THE QUESTION OF A CHIEF MANAGER FOR McKINLEY UNDER DISCUSSION. There is a warm controversy in progress among the McKinley campaign workers over the choice of chief manager for McKinley and Hobart in the pending campaign. It is understood that President Charles A. Moore of the Montauk Club occupies the foremost place in the confidence of McKinley and Hanna, and it is believed that he will be selected to conduct the campaign. It is true that Mr. Moore has never been prominently in the organization, and has even shown his hostility to machine politics by declining to run for a place in the General Committee.

THE REV. DR. FULTON'S OLD FLOCK. It Has a New Name, New Blood, and a New Pastor, but Retains the Old Church. It was announced yesterday at the services in the Central Baptist Church in Adelphi street, Brooklyn, that the Rev. Mr. Sears of New Jersey had accepted the call to the pastorate, which would take charge in a few weeks. The Adelphi Street Church has now a flourishing congregation. It is composed of the united flocks of the old Bridge Street Central Church, which was founded about twenty years ago, and the Rev. Dr. Justin D. Fulton, who united recently the Bridge Street Church was abandoned, and when it sold the indebtedness on the Adelphi Street property will be cleared up. Dr. Fulton, the Centennial Church had a stormy congregation it was deemed advisable to take that of the older organization.

WERE EXAMINING A PISTOL. Young Charles Davison Accidentally Shot by His Friend. PATERSON, June 28.—Charles Davison, aged 17 years, of 109 Market street, is dying at the General Hospital of the effects of a bullet in the head from a revolver in the hands of John Cairns, aged 15. Davison and Cairns were in the yard in the rear of Davison's house about 8 o'clock this evening. Cairns had a revolver in his hand which he was trying to show to Davison. Davison decided that the pistol was a toy and should be made to enter the twin workings from those of the Clear Spring colliery. The two boys were examining the pistol in the yard when the workings met under the river. General Manager Cairns of the Clear Spring colliery says that it will be necessary to pierce a pillar of coal about 200 feet thick to get into the twin workings. He said that the pillar is a diamond drill in order to avoid the danger that would result from blasting into the workings. At the present time the twin workings will be started on a tunnel about ten feet square. The tunnel will be pushed at ten feet per day. It will probably require a day or two under the conditions to complete the job. The officials trust to lock only to find the gateway into which they will gain entrance to the mine.

DRUNK ON THE ROOF OF A HOUSE. Paddy Leah's Antics Watched by the Parisiennes on St. Michael's. As the churchgoers streamed out of St. Michael's Roman Catholic Church in West Thirtieth street after the 8 o'clock mass yesterday morning they saw a man acting queerly on the roof of a house opposite the church. He was staggering along the edge of the roof, and it seemed as if he were about to fall. Some one finally got a policeman who hurried to the scene of the disturbance. The man was taken down and taken to the hospital. He was found to be drunk on the roof of a house. He would not tell where he lived. As he couldn't pay the $5 he was fined in Jefferson Market Court he was locked up.

GOOD NEWS FOR SOCIALISTS. Germany May Modify the Prohibitory Laws. BERLIN, June 28.—At the close of the debate on the second reading of the Government's Civil Code bill in the Reichstag yesterday, Prince Hohenlohe made an announcement in relation to the existing prohibitory laws affecting the rights of Socialists. The Socialist members whom these regulations have been especially operative, had moved the repeal of the measures, but the Chamber would not assent to their abrogation. Prince Hohenlohe said that the debate need continue no further, as modifications of the laws have been proposed. The Government will retain command of the Turkish forces in the island.

THE QUESTION OF A CHIEF MANAGER FOR McKINLEY UNDER DISCUSSION. There is a warm controversy in progress among the McKinley campaign workers over the choice of chief manager for McKinley and Hobart in the pending campaign. It is understood that President Charles A. Moore of the Montauk Club occupies the foremost place in the confidence of McKinley and Hanna, and it is believed that he will be selected to conduct the campaign. It is true that Mr. Moore has never been prominently in the organization, and has even shown his hostility to machine politics by declining to run for a place in the General Committee.

THE QUESTION OF A CHIEF MANAGER FOR McKINLEY UNDER DISCUSSION. There is a warm controversy in progress among the McKinley campaign workers over the choice of chief manager for McKinley and Hobart in the pending campaign. It is understood that President Charles A. Moore of the Montauk Club occupies the foremost place in the confidence of McKinley and Hanna, and it is believed that he will be selected to conduct the campaign. It is true that Mr. Moore has never been prominently in the organization, and has even shown his hostility to machine politics by declining to run for a place in the General Committee.

THE QUESTION OF A CHIEF MANAGER FOR McKINLEY UNDER DISCUSSION. There is a warm controversy in progress among the McKinley campaign workers over the choice of chief manager for McKinley and Hobart in the pending campaign. It is understood that President Charles A. Moore of the Montauk Club occupies the foremost place in the confidence of McKinley and Hanna, and it is believed that he will be selected to conduct the campaign. It is true that Mr. Moore has never been prominently in the organization, and has even shown his hostility to machine politics by declining to run for a place in the General Committee.

CONFEDERATE BRUNION WEEK IN RICHMOND. Richmond, Va., June 28.—The exercises of Confederate Brunion week in Richmond, Va., were held at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, where President Jefferson Davis and his wife were buried. The exercises were held in the afternoon, and were attended by a large number of people. The services were led by the pastor of the church, the Rev. Hartley Carmichael, D. D., and were of a most impressive character. The exercises were held in the afternoon, and were attended by a large number of people.

THE QUESTION OF A CHIEF MANAGER FOR McKINLEY UNDER DISCUSSION. There is a warm controversy in progress among the McKinley campaign workers over the choice of chief manager for McKinley and Hobart in the pending campaign. It is understood that President Charles A. Moore of the Montauk Club occupies the foremost place in the confidence of McKinley and Hanna, and it is believed that he will be selected to conduct the campaign. It is true that Mr. Moore has never been prominently in the organization, and has even shown his hostility to machine politics by declining to run for a place in the General Committee.

THE QUESTION OF A CHIEF MANAGER FOR McKINLEY UNDER DISCUSSION. There is a warm controversy in progress among the McKinley campaign workers over the choice of chief manager for McKinley and Hobart in the pending campaign. It is understood that President Charles A. Moore of the Montauk Club occupies the foremost place in the confidence of McKinley and Hanna, and it is believed that he will be selected to conduct the campaign. It is true that Mr. Moore has never been prominently in the organization, and has even shown his hostility to machine politics by declining to run for a place in the General Committee.

THE QUESTION OF A CHIEF MANAGER FOR McKINLEY UNDER DISCUSSION. There is a warm controversy in progress among the McKinley campaign workers over the choice of chief manager for McKinley and Hobart in the pending campaign. It is understood that President Charles A. Moore of the Montauk Club occupies the foremost place in the confidence of McKinley and Hanna, and it is believed that he will be selected to conduct the campaign. It is true that Mr. Moore has never been prominently in the organization, and has even shown his hostility to machine politics by declining to run for a place in the General Committee.

THE QUESTION OF A CHIEF MANAGER FOR McKINLEY UNDER DISCUSSION. There is a warm controversy in progress among the McKinley campaign workers over the choice of chief manager for McKinley and Hobart in the pending campaign. It is understood that President Charles A. Moore of the Montauk Club occupies the foremost place in the confidence of McKinley and Hanna, and it is believed that he will be selected to conduct the campaign. It is true that Mr. Moore has never been prominently in the organization, and has even shown his hostility to machine politics by declining to run for a place in the General Committee.

THE QUESTION OF A CHIEF MANAGER FOR McKINLEY UNDER DISCUSSION. There is a warm controversy in progress among the McKinley campaign workers over the choice of chief manager for McKinley and Hobart in the pending campaign. It is understood that President Charles A. Moore of the Montauk Club occupies the foremost place in the confidence of McKinley and Hanna, and it is believed that he will be selected to conduct the campaign. It is true that Mr. Moore has never been prominently in the organization, and has even shown his hostility to machine politics by declining to run for a place in the General Committee.

THE QUESTION OF A CHIEF MANAGER FOR McKINLEY UNDER DISCUSSION. There is a warm controversy in progress among the McKinley campaign workers over the choice of chief manager for McKinley and Hobart in the pending campaign. It is understood that President Charles A. Moore of the Montauk Club occupies the foremost place in the confidence of McKinley and Hanna, and it is believed that he will be selected to conduct the campaign. It is true that Mr. Moore has never been prominently in the organization, and has even shown his hostility to machine politics by declining to run for a place in the General Committee.