

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

Tuesday, March 14. The dealings in stocks were considerably smaller than yesterday. The market is so-called apathetic. Still, the railway list received somewhat more attention than it did yesterday, which as a rule resulted in lower prices. Attention preferred the list in respect to activity, and the selling of it was apparent. The encouraging showing of the Missouri Pacific Company did not prevent a decline of a point in the price of its stock. The reactionary tendency was also pronounced in Northern Pacific common, New York Central, Manhattan Railway, Metropolitan Street Railway, and the American coal shares. The Granger stocks on the other hand, showed a good deal of firmness and closed fractionally higher than yesterday. In the industrial group American Tobacco was the conspicuous feature at a further net advance of 60 points. Sugar Refining recovered a part of its dividend loss in a few active shares, like New York Air Brake, International Paper common and Hooking Coal and Iron, made noteworthy progress toward a higher level. The iron and steel stocks that have been unusually active of late reflected, with the exception of American Iron, a few declines. A further advance in Chicago Terminal common, based upon developments already foreshadowed in this column, was one of the incidents of the day. The course of prices was influenced in the early dealings by a dull and lower market for American securities in London and by fears of activity in the local money market. When it became plain in the afternoon that the average rate for call loans would be 3 1/2 per cent, the professional element endeavored to recover some of the stocks it had sold during the forenoon, and by doing so it brought about a moderate rally. Room traders were made cautious by the appearance of moderate buying through commission houses at the extreme declines. The closing was quiet and the tone at the finish was in the main very steady.

INSURE YOUR TITLE.

Why carry the risk yourself? Title insurance is cheaper than the old system of counsel's opinion, and protects better. A hidden dower claim, an undiscovered heir, an after-born child, a false possession, an invalid will, are all covered by the title policy.
