MISS LYNCH, DETECTIVE.

WOMEN'S POOLROOM MANAGER HELD ON HER EVIDENCE.

Under Orders, She Shows the Blue and Brass Buttons of a Poolroom in the Neighborhood of the West Twenty-ninth Street Police Station...

When the twenty-eight women and four men arrested on Monday afternoon in the raid on the women's poolroom at 243 West Seventeenth street were arraigned before Magistrate Flammner in the Jefferson Market police court yesterday...

Miss Lynch is a detective in the force physically. She is about 5 feet 6 inches tall, and has dark hair and a clear complexion...

Her shoulders are thrown well back and her waist is slender. In court yesterday, under plainclothes, she wore a black skirt and a white sailor hat with lace collar, and under her sailor hat she looked a hundred times cooler and daintier than the best of the dowdy women taken in the raid...

LIVE TOPICS ABOUT TOWN.

THE VALUE OF GOOD ASSOCIATIONS IN AN OFFICE BUILDING WAS ILLUSTRATED LAST WEEK BY THE EXPERIENCE OF A REPUTABLE LAWYER WHO HAPPENS TO BE THE SECRETARY OF A REPUTABLE MINING COMPANY.

An office was secured as a temporary headquarters for the company in a neighborhood where many of the best mining companies had offices or desk rooms. The reputable mining company was owned by a few stockholders and it was not offering a share of stock to the public. Having completed its work in this city the company gave up its offices...

WANDERED AWAY FOUR YEARS AGO. Mrs. Leahy Writes From an Alms-house—Her Family Thought Her Dead.

HAZLETON, Pa., June 12.—After being mourned for more than four years as dead Mrs. Richard Leahy, living formerly in this city, has been heard from. She disappeared one day in 1896, and was found in an alms-house in Hazleton, Pa., on Tuesday, June 12, 1900. She was somewhat weak minded and it was assumed that she had wandered off and had been taken care of by the alms-house. She had written in an alms-house book, Philadelphia. She said that her mind was so weak that she could not remember that she was among strangers. The news after her she was dying.

COUNTRY HOMES.

BEAUTIFUL PICTURESQUE PLACES Within Ten Minutes' Ride One Hour's Ride from Grand Central Station—Solving for Many the Summer Problem—Points of Real Value to Those Who Contemplate Buying a Summer Home.

Every one at this time of the year is interested in thoughts of the country. To get a breath of fresh air—to read a book in some sequestered spot, to even to the winter train on a quiet estate and in "marble halls" fill one with longing. Then, too, the health of the children must be taken into consideration. Yes, it is absolutely necessary to go—but where? There are many places, and all have their attractions.

It has been the pleasure of the writer recently to go over the "commutation district" of the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad. This district is located in the north of the Harlem River covered by the three divisions of the New York Central, namely: The Harlem, Putnam and Hudson River divisions, and extending north along these roads from ten minutes' to one hour's ride. In this district there are many good towns, all delightfully and historically situated; some commanding a view of the majestic Hudson; others having a view of the city and the bay; others being inland amid rough and rugged country where wild flowers bloom, crags, shady nooks and babbling brooks abound. In truth, this is the very country from which the pure spring waters that feed the great water mains of New York city come. It could mention on a delightful home in one place, quaint summer cottages in another, and still other good private families to summer in, but to do so would be to do more than to list a few of the many beautiful places in the "commutation district" of the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad.

The Government was represented yesterday by District Attorney Baldwin, Assistant District Attorney Baldwin, William H. Schuchman and F. R. Minnith appeared for Mrs. Dodge. The first witness called was the late Mrs. Paul at Quarantine. He testified to the fact that Mrs. Dodge had included the jewels in her declaration made to him. Deputy Surveyor Curtis told about opening the satchel on the boat after landing and his conversation with Mrs. Dodge, in which she made the statement that she had purchased the jewels in London and had taken them to New York to be reset. Deputy Officer O'Connell, with her to the boat, testified to the fact that she had purchased the jewels in London and had taken them to New York to be reset.
