McCLURE'S MAGAZINE

ANNOUNCEMENTS

1901

10c. a Copy

A continuation and enlargement of the policy that has made the most pronounced success in current literature. The keynote of McClure's Magazine is human interest; the record of human activities and achievements, whether put into the form of fiction, historical sketches, biographical articles or descriptions of inventions and narrations of travel and exploration. McClure's Magazine contains whatever is vital, wholesome and stimulating in the life and literary product of our time.

RUDYARD KIPLING'S "KIM."

A GREAT NOVEL OF LIFE IN INDIA.

IN THE DECEMBER NUMBER will be found the opening chapter of "Kim," one of the greatest novels that has appeared in this generation. In this wondrous story of adventure, comparable to Robinson Crusoe, whose chief characters are an Irish ragamuffin of the streets and an ancient lama of Thibet, the reader is given pictures of people and places and a mighty insight into human life, its problems, its philosophy, its failures, its hopes and tragedies. Mr. Kipling has used India for his setting with marvellous effect. And the keynote of the story is the secret service of India—the institution that keeps the British informed of local disaffections. We see the priests and beggars, horse traders and fakirs, dancing girls and detectives pass over the stage in rapid succession. Besides being a novel of surpassing interest, it is a literary illumination of a marvellous people, of a mysterious religious philosophy of a land more varied than anywhere in the world.

Next to the Ground.

Entertaining Studies of Farm Life and Country Customs by MARTHA McCULLOCH-WILLIAMS.

MRS. WILLIAMS grew up on a farm in Tennessee. From infancy she lived among plants, animals and insects and knows them as she knows her mother tongue. These articles bring one close to Mother Earth. She writes with that knowledge of detail that comes only from long and intimate association. She tells of the Bree and Birds, the Hounds, the Horses, the Hogs, the Trees, the Crops, the Soil and the tillers with infinite charm.

MORE DOLLY DIALOGUES.

By ANTHONY HOPE.

IT is some years since we all lost sight of that dainty, flirtatious, elusive "Dolly," whose conversations with Mr. Carter set the English-speaking world agog with delight. Now the delectable Dolly appears again on the scene, and in More Dolly Dialogues Mr. Anthony Hope supplies us with conversations more delightful than ever. Illustrated by Howard Chandler Christy.

"WITHIN THE GATES."

By ELIZABETH STUART PHELPS.

MRS. PHELPS-WARD, author of "The Gates Ajar," gives in dramatic form her matured beliefs as to the great problems of Life, Death and the Resurrection. The drama carries the characters from this world to the next, and the action involves the problem of Redemption. It is certain to attract world-wide attention.

STAGE MEMORIES.

Recollections of a Lifetime on the Stage by Clara Morris.

OF living American actresses, none has achieved fame and success equal to Clara Morris. Her rise was full of hardships and against obstacles almost insurmountable. How this frail, friendless girl fought her way from the lowest round to the highest rank in her profession is one of the most remarkable records in dramatic history. Miss Morris writes as well as she acts. She tells the story of her trials and triumphs with dramatic power. Her reminiscences of the great men and women of her profession will be found of extraordinary interest. She will tell of John Wilkes Booth, Lawrence Barrett, Joseph Jefferson, Mrs. Gilbert and other great stars in the dramatic firmament.

STIRRING ARTICLES ON HISTORICAL SUBJECTS—FOUR GREAT FEATURES.

McClure's Magazine has for years presented new light on American History. For the coming year we have some especially good features.

DRAMATIC EPISODES IN AMERICAN HISTORY. By IDA M. TARBELL, who, as the author of the "Life of Lincoln," "Life of Napoleon," etc., has entered the front rank among American historians, will write a series of articles about well-known events, presented in a new dress. The Trial of AARON

BURR, the JACKSON-GALHOUN imbroglio and the Signing of the DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE are among her forthcoming articles.

"COLONIAL FIGHTS AND FIGHTERS." By CYRUS TOWNSEND BRADY. DE SOTO, FRONTENAC and PEPPERELL are among his subjects for the near future.

UNPUBLISHED CHAPTERS. These will include two articles from the papers left by Stephen R. Mallory, Secretary of the Confederate Navy. They graphically tell of the FALL OF RICHMOND, the FLIGHT OF THE CABINET and THE CAPTURE OF JEFFERSON DAVIS.

DISBANDING OF THE ARMIES. By IDA M. TARBELL. Two articles prepared after great research, dealing with the return of the Union and Confederate soldiers to their homes. Hitherto inaccessible official records make these articles of unusual value.

Tales of a Merry Monarch.

Some of the Romantic Adventures of James V. of Scotland, by ROBERT BARR.

THESE have been heretofore announced as the "JIMMY" Stories, because by this pet name this unconventional monarch was known to his people, among whom he often travelled and revelled in disguise. Some of these adventures are told with characteristic humor by Mr. Barr.

Robert Barr.

People of the Woods.

Entertaining articles about Animals of the Forest by W. D. HULBERT.

THESE are descriptions of animal life by one who has lived long in the woods and has been the playfellow of some and the keen observer of others. Mr. Hulbert not only knows his friends well, but he writes of them with imaginative charm. These are not only absolutely correct, but they hold an intellectual mirror up to nature whereby we may know them from their own standpoint so far as this is possible.

The Loon.

Stories of Wall Street.

Illustrating Remarkable Incidents of the Financial World, by EDWIN LEFEVRE.

WHILE these are fiction, they are based on actual or typical events of "The Street." They throw a flood of light on the way financial transactions are carried on. They involve pathos, humor, romance and tragedy. They are written from actual knowledge.

At the Ticker.

Great Character Sketches.

COUNT LEO TOLSTOY, by ANDREW D. WHITE, LL. D., Ambassador to Germany.

RICHARD CROKER, by William Allen White.

PROFESSOR HAECKEL, The German Darwin, by Ray Stannard Baker.

JOHN WILKES BOOTH, by Clara Morris.

An Encyclopedia of Business.

READERS of our magazine know that our advertising pages are an index of business progress and prosperity. They are prepared with all the skill and artistic excellence which great commercial enterprises can employ. They show better than anything else can just what is being done for mankind to make life happier in its outward circumstances. They appeal as strongly and profitably to the reader in their way as the text does to the intellectual life. They are certainly of great importance and replete with artistic attractions.

BOY CONVICTED OF MANSLAUGHTER.

Unexpected Verdict Against Youth Who Shot a Girl in an Ice Cream Saloon.

Owen Squire, 18 years old, of Richmond Hill, L. I., was convicted in the County Court at Long Island City yesterday of manslaughter in the second degree. The jury recommended the youthful prisoner to mercy. Squire was indicted last Friday by the Queens County Grand Jury on a charge of manslaughter in the second degree for shooting Lizzie Horwood, 14 years old, of 3212 Fulton street, Richmond Hill. The shooting occurred about 5 o'clock on the afternoon of election day in Philip Koch's saloon, 100 West 11th street, near the corner of Avenue C and 11th street, Richmond Hill. Squire had been hunting in the woods nearby. Owen Squire had a Robert rifle and his brother carried an air gun. There were several young people in the saloon, including the girl who was shot and her cousin, Mary Hartie, about her age.

The story of the shooting, as told by young Squire in his cell in the Queens County Jail last night, was that he had the rifle standing upright in the saloon, and he was waiting for the cream soda left on the table to be picked up. He was sitting at the table when the girl came in, and he saw the rifle in the saloon. He felt that the rifle was unaccounted for and he went to look for it. He found it in a hallway. He picked it up and he intended to take it home, but he saw the girl and he shot her. He did not know that she was there. He did not know that she was shot. He did not know that she was dead. He did not know that he was convicted of manslaughter in the second degree.

Though the boy was indicted only on Friday, his case was called for trial on Thursday. The other testimony for the prosecution consisted of a report of the details of the shooting, which was given by the district attorney. The defense was given by Arthur M. Saunders of Richmond Hill. The most important testimony was given by Arthur M. Saunders of Richmond Hill, who testified that she was looking in the mirror and saw him point the rifle at the Horwood girl. He cross-examined, however, he said that she could not see Squire in the mirror, but saw only the end of the rifle barrel. He also testified that the rifle was standing upright in the saloon, and he was waiting for the cream soda left on the table to be picked up. He was sitting at the table when the girl came in, and he saw the rifle in the saloon. He felt that the rifle was unaccounted for and he went to look for it. He found it in a hallway. He picked it up and he intended to take it home, but he saw the girl and he shot her. He did not know that she was there. He did not know that she was shot. He did not know that she was dead. He did not know that he was convicted of manslaughter in the second degree.
