

TUXEDO CLUB'S ANNUAL GOLF.

DOUGLAS WINS GOLD MEDAL AND MAKES A RECORD.

Course Longer and Better Than Ever Seen—Enmet, Carnegie and Macdonald Next to the Leader—No Play Today—Intercity Match Postponed.

There was gloomy weather with occasional showers at the start of the annual tournament of the Tuxedo Club yesterday, but the afternoon was clear and as there was no wind the conditions for low scoring were favorable throughout the entire day. The course was longer by 55 yards than when the last tournament was held, yet Douglas won the gold medal with 160, six strokes less than Travis required on that occasion and made a new record for the course.

The added length, 555 yards against 470, has been gained by adding on to a number of the holes, and, as the green was never in such good condition, it may be that the course was really no more difficult than when Travis won. Douglas twice recorded a 75, Macdonald, who played with him, was second in the morning with a 78, but he needed ten more in the afternoon and dropped to fourth place. Enmet, who made a 78 on his afternoon round, was second at the finish, while Carnegie, who had been very steady, was third. Douglas was the only one of the four to use a solid gutta percha ball.

The feature was the fine showing of Douglas. "It was as fine golf as an amateur has ever played in this country," said Macdonald, in an afterthought talk, "for every hole was honestly earned without any aid from luck. There was no make-do stroke to be holed out, and, but the strength hole on the second round, Douglas took two puts on each green." The one lucky hole was the sixteenth, the 110-yard one, when Douglas dropped his ball a few inches from the hole and got a two. In the morning he was short here and the hole had cost a four. The one poorly scored hole was the thirtieth, where Douglas's ball jotted down that should have been a four to be par. Douglas had rather a short drive and a hanging lie for his brassy, so that he did not get the ball off very clean. His mashie pitch was poor one and failed to reach the green. This shot was really his only poor one of the day. Of the 100 who qualified for the President's cup, Watson, Sr. and Hull, Jr., made fine recoveries after poor morning rounds, while Macdonald and Kane fell off in the afternoon. Thirty-eight finished with better scores than they had in the morning. Reese Smith was the guiding star of the tourney on behalf of the club and he directed every detail, great or small, without a hitch. The second round was postponed for the Governor's cup and the others for the consolation cup. The tournament will not be continued today, a half holiday being ordered in the match play until tomorrow.

LAWSON EXPLAINS.

Is Ready to Put Up Purse of $50,000 for the Abbot-Crescous Race.

BOSTON, Sept. 18.—Lawson issued the following statement to-night in explanation of the Abbot-Crescous fiasco: "That there may be no misunderstanding in regard to the Crescous-Charlie Herr-Borah race which was to have taken place on Sept. 19 over the Revereville track, under the auspices of the New England Trotting Horse Breeders' Association, I give the following facts:

Last December when it looked as though a three-cornered race between Crescous, Charlie Herr and Borah would be very interesting I entered into an agreement with Messrs. Ketcham and Cabell, owners of Crescous and Herr, for a race between the three horses to take place in September for $10,000 a side and $50,000 to be added by me. Each owner deposited $2,500 forfeit. My reason for adding $50,000 was that all parties agreed that the race should be run on the West End Nursery and Crippled Children's Home.

Two weeks ago Mr. Jewett, Secretary of the New England Breeders' Association, notified me that Charlie Herr had become lame, it would be impossible to have the race take place, and that if the entire gate receipts were to be given to charity an equally good race or races should be substituted. I therefore arranged to offer $25,000, which I would donate for a race between Crescous and the Abbot, and $5,000, $4,000 of which I would donate, for a race between Lord Derby and Borah. Mr. Jewett notified me that the Abbot was to be run on the West End Nursery and Crippled Children's Home, and he has some new head stalls which are to be stretched. The Columbia will be hauled out again on Monday and receive a final run, and on Tuesday she will go to the Erie Basin to be measured with the Shamrock.

The postponement of the race at the request of the committee of the Royal Yacht Club in order to respect the memory of President McKinley has the dry docked the Shamrock. When the dry docked the Shamrock was engaged for the Erie Basin, it was understood that as soon as the yacht vacated the dock the steamer New York was to be put in and that the Shamrock was to be put in and that the Shamrock was to be put in and that the Shamrock was to be put in.

THE HORSE SHOW WENT ON NOTWITHSTANDING THE RAIN, AND THE JUDGES CONCLUDED THEIR WORK AT 2:45.

The principal awards were as follows: Best stallion, a yearling, by the American Stallion Co.; best brood mare, by the American Stallion Co.; best yearling, by the American Stallion Co.

COLUMBIA TO TRY NEW SAILS.

LAUNCHED FROM THE DRY DOCK AND TOWED TO GLEN COVE.

The Columbia was lowered off the floating dock at the Morse Iron Works early yesterday morning. The bronze underbody of the yacht had been beautifully burnished, and it glistens like new metal. The final touches were given to the bronze about 7 o'clock, and then the scaffolding that had been erected around the boat was removed, and soon afterward she was put in the water again. The yacht looks to be in the best possible condition, and every one on board is confident that she will be doing well in the Shamrock. Matt Miller said, "If we have a breeze such as that which has been blowing this week we will make it three straight." He thinks that the Shamrock will be at her best in light weather on account of her big rig, and he says that the Columbia is best when it blows hard, and the harder it blows the better she sails.

Capt. Barr when he visited the Shamrock in the Erie Basin early in the week told Capt. Sycamore that the Columbia was going to take three straight. Capt. Sycamore smiled and quietly replied: "Yes, it will be three straight, but you have named the wrong boat." As soon as the Columbia was in the water a line was passed to the yacht from the tug Wallace B. Flint and the Columbia was towed to Glen Cove, where she will remain until next Monday. Capt. Barr was taking a few more trials before the race, and he has some new head stalls which are to be stretched. The Columbia will be hauled out again on Monday and receive a final run, and on Tuesday she will go to the Erie Basin to be measured with the Shamrock.

RAIN SPOILS HARNESSES RACES.

Admiral Dewey Wins New England Futurity in Straight Heat.

REARVILLE, Mass., Sept. 17.—Rain again interfered with the harness meeting yesterday. The big event of the day, the 230 trot for a purse of $10,000, was started in a pouring rain, and only one heat was run off. The 233 pace was not finished either, an upset occurring in the second heat, necessitating one or more heats to decide a winner.

The race postponed from yesterday was started just after 11 o'clock this morning. There was a continual drizzle, and the conditions were anything but good for racing. The first event called was the New England Futurity, and Admiral Dewey had no difficulty in finishing first in the two heats. Ben Hal was the favorite for the 233 pace, but he failed to materialize, except in the second heat, when Yadda made a bad break a short distance from the wire. In the third heat Gatoomb was substituted for Raymond behind Yadda and won easily, although the race was a hard race for the money. In the fourth heat the judges substituted Deers for Turner. Yadda went to the front, but at the half made a bad break. Ben Hal then took the lead, but he was unable to hold it, and Deers won the race. Deers was the favorite in the 233 pace, but he failed to materialize, except in the second heat, when Yadda made a bad break a short distance from the wire. In the third heat Gatoomb was substituted for Raymond behind Yadda and won easily, although the race was a hard race for the money.

Despite the fact that Dolly Dillon beat Toggias at Providence, the latter pulled favorably in the race. He was the favorite in the 233 pace, but he failed to materialize, except in the second heat, when Yadda made a bad break a short distance from the wire. In the third heat Gatoomb was substituted for Raymond behind Yadda and won easily, although the race was a hard race for the money.

TWO RACES FOR W. C. WHITNEY.

LADY GODIVA AND BOWDY IN FRONT AT GRAVESSEND.

Gold Heels, the Only Successful Favorite, Defeated Wax Taper—The Royal Taper, the Two-Year-Old Handicap, Won the Year-Old Cup and the Year-Old Handicap.

The unpleasant weather did not entirely kill off the attendance at the Gravesend race meeting yesterday. The grandstand, sheltered themselves in afternoon, paddock and betting ring all the afternoon. Though there were no stake events to be decided, the card provided a number of stunting races. Only one favorite was victorious, but there was plenty of backing for three or four choices who won. William C. Whitney's colors were seen to good advantage in the Royal Taper, the Two-Year-Old Handicap, and the Year-Old Cup and the Year-Old Handicap. The track was very muddy and delays at the post were frequent, chiefly because of the size of the fields and also for the reason that some of the jockeys refused to break their mounts in the fifth race. Wax Taper was set down by the starter for one day for not making a possible effort to get away with Deland.

The most important race, a $1,000 handicap for all ages, at a mile and a half, was affected by the withdrawal of First Whip, Watercure, Terminus, Advance Guard, Kiniskine, Decatur, Kamara, The Amazon, Lombré and Smokey. First Whip, Watercure and Duellist left in there was plenty to puzzle the talent. Gold Heels opened an odds on favorite at 4 to 1, but he needed to even money. Wax Taper was the favorite at 2 to 1, but he was due to the plunge on Duellist, who was backed from ten to seven. Wax Taper carried top weight, 126 pounds, and he finished in the third place. A good thing because of the duelling going on. But when they got away with Duellist setting the pace to the lower turn, Wax Taper, trailing in behind the others, low ground, rapidly, half a dozen lengths away from his field. It was a close race among the others until they reached the far turn, where Gold Heels began to show his class. He was going wide to avoid the shower of blinding mud, overhauled his rivals one by one until he was after Gold Heels at the head of the stretch. Odon took the favorite, for Wax Taper, under the hard riding of Bullman, was flying on to the wire. Gold Heels managed to maintain the lead, however, though it was only by a neck that he won. Wax Taper was four lengths in front of the Royal Taper, who was the favorite. The Royal Taper was four lengths in front of the Royal Taper, who was the favorite. The Royal Taper was four lengths in front of the Royal Taper, who was the favorite.
