

THEMES FROM THE THEATRES.

THE CONRED GERMAN COMPANY BEGINS ITS SEASON.

New Members Introduced in the Original Performance of "The Veiled Image of Sals"...

A large, intelligent and enthusiastic audience filled the Irving Place Theatre last evening...

"The Veiled Image of Sals" was a strong drama, heavy in plot and exposition, and not likely to be widely popular.

The second and third acts are as Sals, before and inside of the temple. The maid follows her lover to disengage him...

Much interest was felt in the newcomers in the company, and in renewing acquaintances with players of former seasons.

The appearance of Daudet's Sappho at a Sunday school strawberry festival could hardly cause more surprise than the play of "Sappho" at the Murray Hill Theatre.

Minnie Madden Fleke has decided to make no fight against the unanimous verdict of failure of "Miranda of the Falcony."

THE EPISCOPAL CONVENTION.

TRIENNIAL MEETING OPENS TODAY IN SAN FRANCISCO.

The J. P. Morgan Special Train Arrives With Eastern Delegates—Marriage of Divorced Persons, the Ritual and the Church in Hawaii the Most Important Questions to Be Considered.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 1.—The triennial convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States will open in San Francisco to-morrow morning with an attendance of 80 Bishops, about 400 clergymen and about 2,500 lay delegates.

The J. P. Morgan special train, carrying Bishop Potter and other dignitaries of the Church, arrived to-day. Mr. Morgan and his party went to the Charles Crocker mansion on Nob Hill, where Mr. Morgan will entertain.

Three questions which will occupy the convention are of great importance. They are the marriage of divorced persons, the ritual and the Hawaiian Church. The Committee on Marriage and Divorce appointed by the last convention has prepared a report which recommends that no divorced persons be permitted to marry in the Episcopal Church.

The ritualistic question has never received any prominence at previous conventions, as the ritualists were mainly confined to the churches of New York, Chicago, Springfield and Fond Du Lac.

The question of the church in Hawaii is expected to be a thorn in the side of the convention. This matter is entirely new. The annexation of the islands brings it up at this time.

Only the men who knew the late Charles C. Delmonico will ever appreciate the fact that for many years he worked much harder than any other man in the city.

HISCOCK APPOINTED.

Gov. Odell Promotes Syracuse Justice to Appellate Division. SYRACUSE, Oct. 1.—Justice Frank H. Hiscock of this city received a telegram from Gov. Odell this morning announcing his appointment to the Appellate Division, Fourth Department, and that his commission would follow at once.

Justice Hiscock was born in 1856 and was educated at Cornell University. He is a member of the New York State Bar and the American Bar Association.

MISS TOWNLEY'S SUDDEN DEATH.

To the Westfield Townspeople It Seemed Somewhat Mysterious—Acute Mania. PLAINFIELD, N. J., Oct. 1.—In the sudden death of Miss Daisy Townley, daughter of James H. Townley of Westfield, which occurred at her father's home last Friday evening, there was something of a mystery.

POLES ABHOR ASSASSINATION.

Not Responsible for Czolgosz's Crime, but Loyal and Patriotic. STRACONNE, N. Y., Oct. 1.—The convention of the Polish Roman Catholic Union of the United States opened here to-day. Among the delegates are 100 priests. The convention was called to order by the Rev. President Anthony Polowinski, who introduced Mayor James K. McGuire, Peter Kielbasa of Chicago, in responding, said that the Poles abhorred the crime of Czolgosz and were not responsible for it.

LIVE TOPICS ABOUT TOWN.

Terena Carreno, the pianist, who is soon to be married for the fourth time, is at present a resident of Berlin. She lived for some years in New York and one almost forgotten phase of her career is connected with her life in this city.

It is some time since this city has been the scene of a theatrical episode like that at the Metropolitan Opera House on last Saturday night when the performance that had been on view came to a sudden if not unexpected end.

As indicating the complete isolation of the Manhattan Club from the dominant wing of the Democracy in New York, it is interesting to note that not a single political conference on the municipal campaign has been reported as having been held there.

The club at which Mr. Croker lives has had all the notoriety. When Mr. Croker announced several weeks ago that his headquarters hereafter would be the Democratic Club, local Tammany men resigned from the Manhattan and followed him.

My dear Madam: I am detained at the Adams street station. I have only one minute to write you. I am so sorry to hear of your illness. I hope you will get well soon.

Carrie Deutch of 443 East Sixth street, who took Paris green at her home on Sunday to frighten her parents because they had scolded her for spending all her wages on a gay colored waist was fined $10 for disorderly conduct in the Yorkville Police court yesterday. The complaint charged her with "annoying deponent personally by taking an insufficient amount of poison to do her harm so as to frighten people."

Settas-Smith.

GREENWICH, Conn., Oct. 1.—Gerstman Arnold Settas, Jr., formerly of New York city, but now of Greenwich, and Mrs. Emily Florence Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Watson of England, were married yesterday by the Rev. W. C. Bernard, M.A., of Philipburg, Canada. Mr. Settas, who is wealthy, was taken ill with typhoid fever 180 days ago. He was taken to the hospital at Stamford where he recovered his convalescence. Mrs. Smith, who was matron there, looked after him, and this attention finally led to marriage.

Mittler-Nanton.

The marriage of Miss Julia Elizabeth Mittler and Mills Mittler was celebrated yesterday morning in the Church of St. Ignace Loyola, Park avenue and Eighty-fourth street. The Rev. WIDOW HAS HIM ARRESTED.

Mrs. Dayton Says Rogers Persistently Annoys Her With His Attention.

J. Edward Rogers of 267 West Twelfth street, who says he is a retired real estate dealer, was arraigned yesterday before Magistrate Dooley in the Adams street court in Brooklyn on the complaint of Mrs. M. M. Dayton, 35 years old, a widow, who charges him with persistently annoying her with his attentions.

Mr. Rogers asserts that it was generally understood by mutual friends that they were to be married and that as late as Sept. 11 he received a pleasant note from her. He also exhibited this letter, which he said he had received from Mrs. Dayton on Sept. 11.

Mr. Rogers said that he was under obligation to pay certain debts by November and Jan. 1. You know I have no means of way of getting money except by my patients that I am doing in any way, and I am about ready to make you prove your right to it as far as I am concerned.

TROUSERS LIKE ROSA BONHEUR.

MISS HALL FORSWORE SKIRTS ENTIRELY YEARS AGO.

Boston Girl a Friend and Imitator of the French Artist Her Italian "Wife"—To Follow Her Body to the Grave—They Were Nine Years Together.

Caroline Winslow Hall, whose sex was revealed on Monday night when she died on the Italian steamship Citta di Torino, will probably be buried in Boston to-morrow and among the mourners at the funeral will be Giuseppina Bonheur, or Baidelli, the Italian girl who passed as Miss Hall's wife. Albert G. Hall of Boston, a cousin of the dead girl, saw the Italian woman yesterday. She told him that she had become acquainted with Caroline Winslow Hall in Milan nine years ago.

The Italian woman added that she had promised Miss Hall to go as far as Boston with Miss Hall's body in case Miss Hall died on the way over. She asked permission to accompany the body to Boston and was told by Miss Hall's relative that had she were not objecting, then when Mr. Hall left the ship Miss Baidelli packed her trunk and followed him, but he went down to the Barge Office to make arrangements for the removal of Miss Hall's body from Swinburne Island, while Miss Baidelli went to an Italian restaurant to have supper.

Through an interpreter Miss Baidelli said to the reporters: "I met her in Milan and I was earning a living as a teacher and governess. I met her on the street and in some way we got talking and she seemed to be interested in me. I liked her and we agreed to meet again and did so the next day. Then we met more frequently and became attached to each other. She was an artist and she painted beautifully. She told me that her father was a wealthy resident of Boston and that she had no brothers or sisters we could stick together and I could be a sister to her."

"She took me all over Europe and treated me royally. When she went to Switzerland about four years ago, I went with her and she registered at a hotel as my husband. At some of the hotels where we stopped she registered as Mr. Winslow. At others she registered as Mrs. Winslow. At others she registered as Mr. Hall. I posed as her wife just to oblige her, because she said that we could travel better. But when she returned to Italy two years ago, she declared that she never more would put on skirts."

"She said her mother had just died and she had to return to her home and that she intended to will the fortune to me if I remained true to her. She also agreed to take care of me as long as I lived, saying that she would be my mother. She also provided for me as had informed her father of our attachment for each other. At Genoa she looked after the baggage. She had a trunk and a suitcase and she was about to die and that she might as well drink herself to death. I liked her because she was good to me and because she was so kind to me. I liked her because she was good to me and because she was so kind to me. I liked her because she was good to me and because she was so kind to me."

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 1.—Miss Hall, the well-known Boston architect, who drew the plans for the Hollis Street Theatre building, died on Monday at her home, 155 East Broadway, at the age of 57.

GETS WATCH AFTER 27 YEARS.

Silver Timepiece Stolen Long Ago Recovered in a Peculiar Way. NEWBURG, N. Y., Oct. 1.—A remarkable case of recovering a stolen watch has occurred here. Twenty-seven years ago last Judge James W. Taylor lived at 182 Grand street adjoining the residence of former Mayor R. B. Odell. His son, Fred M. Taylor, now lessee of the Academy of Music, was then 10 years old and was the owner of a silver watch which had been presented to him by his father. On the inside of the case was inscribed, "Presented to Fred M. Taylor by his father," and the date when presented, seven years ago.

At this time twenty-seven years ago the Taylor residence was robbed by burglars and among the articles of silverware and other valuables stolen was the boy's silver watch. Nothing was ever heard or seen of the watch until a day or two ago. Harry Decker, son of George W. Decker, Superintendent of the Pennsylvania Coal Company's works here, took his watch to the jeweler James Mitchell, 27 Golden street, to have it repaired. Mr. Mitchell gave young Decker a silver watch to guide him as to the time while his own timepiece was being repaired. Shortly thereafter he presented the case to the inside. Mr. Taylor, although now 27 years old, was made acquainted with the fact and is now the happy possessor of the watch given him when but a lad by his father. Mr. Mitchell, the jeweler, did not know of the inscription until it was discovered by young Decker.
