

BIG RAINFALL IN THE SOUTH.

VILLAGES FLOODED. RAILROAD TRAFFIC STOPPED.

Bridges Swept Away and Railroad Tracks Under Water—Some Trains Fail to Report—A Floodburst in Tennessee—Great Damage Done to Crops.

St. Louis, Mo., March 20.—Telegraphic advices report the flood situation in Mississippi, Louisiana, Tennessee and portions of Alabama the worst known.

For sixty hours Meridian has been cut off from outside communication. The through train to Shreveport is somewhere in the swamp about ten miles west and it is impossible to send assistance to passengers.

Over two thousand feet of the roadbed of the New Orleans and Northwestern road has been washed away.

The Mobile and Ohio tracks are from three to five feet under water and a fast freight with crew is somewhere in the current.

Jackson reports no trains over the Queen and Crescent route, with five miles of track under water. At many places the rails have been washed away.

At Lynchville, Tenn., a trestle went down and traffic was suspended.

From Murfreesboro come reports of bridges being swept away. There was a severe wind and rainstorm at Decatur, Ala., to-day, doing great damage.

A cyclone struck Godley, Tex., this morning, wrecking half a dozen houses.

Nashville, Tenn., March 20.—Mississippi seems to have been the center of a general floodburst to-day. Between two and three inches of rain fell.

Between the Louisville and Nashville and Nashville and Chattanooga roads are badly tied up, while the Tennessee Central and Nashville and Knoxville are practically out of business.

Reports are slow in coming in, but enough known to say that farming operations have received a heavy setback.

At Memphis, Tenn., the railroad bridges and trestles washed away and demolished, while many bridges and turnpikes have gone with the turbulent waters.

Several towns, notably in the upper country, are cut off from the outside world to-night and several of them are badly flooded.

Mount Pleasant is flooded with water standing four feet in some of the streets. Warehouses are flooded and the Louisville and Nashville depot is completely surrounded by water.

The big railroad bridges and trestles leading to the phosphate fields have been washed away. The plant of the Columbia Phosphate Company is inundated and the boiler room of the electric light plant is two feet under water.

A heavy trestle four miles below the town was washed away and trains are tied up.

Murfreesboro special says that the bridges over Stone's River have been washed away. Two bridges have lodged together and the swift current is beating them to pieces.

Part of Ranson's big mill was washed away. The electric light house at Murfreesboro is out of business, and the town is in darkness.

There is three feet of water in the railway station. The railroad bridge at Garrison is gone and several trains are laid up, unable to move either way for washouts and bridge losses.

Wires are down all over the middle of the state. The bridges north and south of Pulaski on the Louisville and Nashville system are both gone.

Few bridges remain between Columbia, Tenn., and Athens, Ala., and there will be no trains out of Nashville south in the morning. Chattanooga is cut off in that direction.

The Cumberland River here is full of drift, parts of houses, fences and bridges and rising rapidly.

So far as reported no lives have been lost.

LIVE TOPICS ABOUT TOWN.

Some of the uptown markets have added a touch of picturesque to their display of spring lamb with rows of flower pots in which fresh, green plants are growing.

This is not only a pretty innovation, but a useful one, for mint that is cut for market fades quickly and when wilted it is not fit for use in the sauce, which should always accompany spring lamb.

Some of the markets at this time of year have added growing plants to their wares and the bright bloom of geraniums and cyclamen, pansies and primroses makes the oftentimes dingy shops inviting places to visit.

Many marketing housekeepers who would never think of visiting a florist to purchase are tempted by the fragrance of the flowers and buy one or more and have them sent home with their chops and steaks.

The weekly visit of the catnip man is looked forward to with eagerness by the cats of one of the uptown streets, through which on certain days, a vendor carrying a basket of the herb goes about from one basement door to the other peddling the luxury that the basement pet loves so well.

The cats seem to know the day their friend is due and prowl about front yards and areas looking anxiously up and down the street for the coming of the pedler.

When he appears they rush to greet him, running and rubbing against his feet. When they get some of the catnip they roll upon the ground in a perfect revel of luxuriance.

Sometimes they are poor actors and rubbing against his feet. When they get some of the catnip they roll upon the ground in a perfect revel of luxuriance.

A New Diamond Cutting. The "Twentieth Century."

For over 25 years no improvement was made in the faceting of diamonds. This year, however, a new and quite original cutting has been introduced called the "Twentieth Century" cutting.

This new cutting does away with the flat table of the brilliant, and increases the number of facets from 58 to 80. It is so scientifically accurate in form that diamonds cut in the "Twentieth Century" style scintillate equally from every point of view, and are intensified in beauty to an extent heretofore unknown.

It has been universally pronounced by gem experts and connoisseurs to be the most perfect form in which diamonds have ever appeared. The public is invited to inspect the "Twentieth Century" Cuttings in the specimens, both set and unset, which we now have on exhibition.

GEO. RAINES ATTACKS A JUROR

HE IS THE ONE WHO STOOD OUT IN WEAVER FORGERY CASE.

Mr. Raines Accuses Him of Trying to Prejudice the Jurors Against Mrs. Weaver by a False and Scandalous Statement That Was Not in Evidence.

ROCHESTER, March 20.—The Allos M. Weaver forgery case will be tried again and the second trial will open April 14. Last Sunday the jury in the first trial was discharged after reporting that they could not agree.

There was an immediate expression of popular disapproval, which was heightened by the news that the jury stood eleven to one in favor of acquittal, and this in the face of the fact that Mrs. Weaver admitted forging the $1,200 note, her sole defense being her declaration that she had no criminal intent.

The one who stood out for conviction was Joseph T. Alling, the Good Government leader, and who taught for years the largest Bible class in the United States.

The Hon. George Raines, who defended Mrs. Weaver, attacked Mr. Alling in the following public statement: "If the twelfth juror in this case were some farmer or ordinary tradesman, the case would not be retried, but Mr. Alling, in his political relations, is a different person. He needs a vindication, and to give it he has undertaken to make a record."

When Mr. Alling was taken on the stand he testified that he was unacquainted with the prisoner at the bar or with Mrs. Wells; that he knew nothing about the transaction to be tried and had no opinion whether defendant was guilty or innocent; that he knew of no reason why he could not believe in the evidence, or make it more difficult for him to decide the issue.

"I distinctly charge that in the jury room, when deliberating upon the verdict, Mr. Alling said to his associates, 'You haven't known the Weaver family all these years as I have. You don't know how Simon was hounded. Why, this woman is a changed creature now. She is a hotel, got on a table and danced a can-can.'"

Neither of these three things was suggested by the evidence in the case. Mr. Alling is too intelligent a man to be accused for not having more frankly avowed on his examination as a juror a prejudice against Mrs. Weaver. It is not to be invented for his statement to the jury outside of the evidence. Members of the jury authorize me to make this statement and will substantiate it.

The only dinner at which champagne was drunk at Powers' Hotel when Mrs. Weaver was present was given by Simon Weaver to his friends, and no such incident occurred as decorated Mr. Alling's argument to his associates jurors.

In reply to Mr. Raines' criticism Mr. Alling says: "I have only this to say that I am perfectly willing to have every word I said in the jury room repeated, provided they are correctly repeated."

MORMONISM GROWING.

Remarkable Statement of its Spread Endeavored to Stop It.

The alarm sounded yesterday concerning the progress of Mormonism was based on the remarkable statement printed below. It was prepared by secretaries of home missionary societies of Presbyterian, Baptist, Congregational, Methodist Episcopal, North and South, Reformed, Cumberland Presbyterian, Disciples of Christ and United Brethren churches, who unite in an appeal to the Christian public of America to resist Mormon encroachments. Here is the full statement:

As representatives of missionary societies of Christian denominations in the United States we beg most earnestly to call the attention of the Christian public to the position, work and menace of Mormonism in our country.

As we moved to this statement by the vitality which the Mormon system has shown not only in Western States and Territories, but generally throughout the country, we are persuaded that Christian people have a right to be informed of the nature, methods, and objects of this system, and of the danger which it presents to the life of our country.

The ambition of Mormonism, which they do not even conceal, is to secure control of State and Territory, and to establish a theocracy of power they may make national legislation against Mormonism impossible. Toward this end they are moving by an organization as compact and skillfully devised for its purposes as any that ever engaged the activities of man.

Their approaches to people are made the more seductive because their appeal is made to the most sacred and accepted Bible truths. Only after entrance has been gained and the door closed against retreat is the awful system gradually unveiled to its converts.

By means of colonization it has so effected the State of Utah, and the territories of Arizona and New Mexico, that it will soon secure, if it has not already secured, practical control in all that region.

Its power in contiguous States and Territories is increasing at an alarming rate. By means of colonization it has so effected the State of Utah, and the territories of Arizona and New Mexico, that it will soon secure, if it has not already secured, practical control in all that region.

Its missionary activity throughout the United States is almost incalculable. It has now 2,000 missionaries in the field—1,400 of them in the Southern States, and to have held the same territory for many years are also establishing missions in foreign countries on a large scale.

CHINA TAKING OUR ADVICE.

SUGGESTIONS AS TO THE AGREEMENT WITH RUSSIA.

Mr. Conger and British Minister Said to Be in Favor With Those Negotiating It—Hopeful of Early Evacuation of Manchuria—Russo-Chinese Bank's Stand.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. PEKIN, March 20.—Sir Ernest Satow and Mr. Conger, the British and American Ministers, respectively, whose suggestions to the Chinese will be largely incorporated in the forthcoming agreement with Russia, are hopeful that a conclusion will be reached providing for the early evacuation of Manchuria, although all the obstacles to this have not been removed.

Chinese officials acting for Chang Po Hai, the Minister of Education, are trying to get possession of 5,000,000 taels, which was deposited in the Russo-Chinese Bank as a guaranty of China's participation in the construction of the Manchurian railway. It is reported that the bank has refused to refund the money for the reason that the treaty has not been signed.

M. Pokotilov, the manager of the Russo-Chinese Bank, says he does not intend to refund the money for the purpose of allowing it to be paid into the Yokohama Specie Bank, a competitor of his company, which has recently been established here.

The Chinese say they want the money to start the educational system. It is said, however, that the Chinese officials want the money themselves, as the rapidly increasing income is ample to build and support the university to which the Government is pledged.

PRIESTS HELD AS HOSTAGES.

Chinese Rebels Demand the Return of Money Paid to the Church.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. PEKIN, March 20.—Gen. Chiang states that two priests are being held as hostages by the rebels near Chaoyang, until 7,000 taels ($5,000), which the rebels assert was collected from them by the Church, is returned. It is asserted by the rebels that in consideration of this money, the Church promised them protection against an invasion by the allies of the French and Russians. The French authorities here deny that there is any difficulty in that district. Notwithstanding this the situation is believed to be serious. The Catholic Deputy accompanied Gen. Ma Yu Kun with 5,000 Chinese troops to the scene to assist in bringing about a settlement.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. PEKIN, March 20.—Miss Ellen Stone, the American missionary who was abducted by Bulgarian brigands and subsequently released upon the payment of a large ransom, passed through this city yesterday on her way to London.

In an interview with a Tagblatt representative she declared that the suspicion of the Turkish authorities that Pastor Talika, whose wife was abducted with Miss Stone, was concerned in their capture was ludicrous.

She further said that she did not know whether she would ever return to the Balkans. It is understood that Miss Stone will sail for the United States on Saturday or Monday.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. PEKIN, March 20.—The Public Prosecutor has released Allmann, Hirschmann and Besen, the merchants who were arrested on suspicion of being concerned in the recent diamond frauds. An investigation showed that the diamonds it was supposed they had misappropriated were bought. Their creditors asked for the release of the partners.

When the alleged thefts were first reported it was suggested here that there was a scheme to cover up attempts at smuggling. Provided the diamonds were successfully smuggled into this country all would be well. If they were discovered and seized, the owners could claim them as stolen property.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. PEKIN, March 20.—The announcement of the death of Cecil Rhodes created a profound sensation here. It is thought that his loss to Rhodesia is incalculable.

The Mayor of Maitland and the authorities have telegraphed expressions of their great sympathy for the late statesman. They also expressed the hope that the disposition of his vast interests will be vested in safe hands.
