

JACK THE SLOGGER CAUGHT?

POLICE HAVE MAN WHO PAWNED MISS MORTON'S WATCH.

Confesses Also That He Pawned Miss McPhee's Watch—State Police of Massachusetts Get Him—Says Another Man Gave Them to Him to Pawn.

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 8.—The State police tonight arrested a man in Cambridge who has confessed to having pawned the watches taken from Miss McPhee and Miss Morton, the victims of "Jack-the-Slugger."

The police are very reticent about the arrest and further than saying that an arrest has been made, they do not give out any particulars. It is understood that the man arrested has said that the watches were given to him to pawn by another man. He will not give the name of the man from whom he alleges he got the watches.

According to a statement made public this afternoon by Richard D. Ware, counsel for Alan G. Mason, the alleged "Jack the Slugger," the man arrested by Mason's family when he was first arrested on last Tuesday has been strengthened greatly and the police will have a hard task to dispose of him.

Mr. Ware says that he has discovered a street car conductor on a certain car which left Sullivan Square, Charlestown, bound through Highland Avenue, Somerville, who identified Alan G. Mason as one of the passengers who rode on the car when it left Sullivan Square last Saturday night about 10 o'clock. The conductor's name, as given by Mr. Ware, visited the car during the night and continued for the defence says that the conductor, whose name he declines to give out, pointed out Mason from several men who were lined up before him.

When Mason was arrested the various members of his family, and a Mr. Tyler, who was their guest on the night the Morton woman was murdered, told the police that Alan Mason did not leave his home that night until 9:30 o'clock. Mr. Tyler thought that it was at least 9:45 o'clock. Mr. Ware points to that fact and shows that it would be possible for Mason to have reached Sullivan Square at the time given by the car conductor, it being only about twelve minutes' ride from his home.

The conductor who made the identification told Mr. Ware before going to the jail that he remembered distinctly that shortly before 10 o'clock Saturday night he saw a man of slight build, dark hair and eyes with a Jack hat and black overcoat on his car, but could not tell where he boarded it. Soon after leaving Sullivan Square a woman got on the car. The conductor is not sure whether a man got on with her or not.

The slight man described by the conductor got up in the rear of the car, his coat and hat on, and he was looking toward the rear, holding in each hand a strap. He was nervous. The conductor turned at that time and saw the man in the rear of the car, a man in a dark coat and hat, who was looking toward the rear of the car.

"I do not know," said the man who got on my car at the Waverly terminal at 10:28 o'clock the Saturday night Miss Morton was killed. He rode into Boston to the corner Massachusetts avenue and Beacon street.

James Burke, aged 17, living at West Cambridge, who was standing with his father in Waverly on the night of the murder, tells of a strange incident. Burke and his father got on a train at Clevelands Brook station at 10:22 o'clock. The train was crowded and about seventeen minutes after the murder was committed. When the train reached the station, Burke was standing in the aisle, and he was holding a long pipe, which he was smoking. He says that the man who was killed by the train was sitting in the last car of the moving train. The boy says that the man who was killed was sitting in the last car of the moving train.

The boy says that the man appeared to be watching for the conductor. He saw the conductor get up and go to the door of the train. He says that the man who was killed was sitting in the last car of the moving train.

Burke describes the strange passenger as a man of slight build, with a mustache and black hair. He is sure that he could identify the man if he saw him again.

KILLED BY A HUNTER.

Sportsman Fired a Rifle at a Duck and Shot a Man Behind a Fence.

ISWICH, Mass., Nov. 8.—Another fatality has been added to the record of the game hunters by the killing of Walter Farnham of Lincoln on Friday afternoon, when John Dodge and Charles Taylor of Topsfield were shooting ducks on Hood's Pond.

The two gunners saw a duck in the pond. Taylor fired at it with his shotgun. Dodge then put his rifle to his shoulder and fired.

Immediately after the report of the rifle they heard a terrific shriek. Dodge went at once to S. D. Hod's house at the upper end of the pond and told him he thought he had shot some one. A horse was harnessed and Dodge and Taylor were away, he notified B. P. Edwards, the druggist, who went at once to the pond and found that Walter Farnham had been shot and had died.

Farnham lay behind the fence doubled up, with his hands clutching at his neck. His gun was found loaded and lying against the fence.

BOY GUIDE LOSTS A FOOT.

The Victim of a Hunter Who Carried His Gun in a Careless Manner.

UTICA, Nov. 8.—Arthur Remington, 18 years of age, of Harrisville, was guiding a party at Ackerman's camp, Round Lake, yesterday. He was carrying a shotgun on his hip from New York, and one of them carried his gun in a dangerous manner. The boy spoke to him and told him not to do that. The gun was discharged and the bullet struck the boy in the right leg of his ankle. The boy was carried two miles to the camp and a doctor from Waterbury was summoned to treat the lad's foot.

FATAL ELECTION WAGER.

Lozer Swam a River a Mile Wide, but Soon Collapsed.

LAUREL, Del., Nov. 8.—George Wilson swam the Nanticoke River, a mile wide at its home near Arden, yesterday in payment of an election wager. But just his life Wilson bet that Maryland would elect five Democrats to Congress. Henry Watkins, who won the bet, owing to the cold water and strong current, but others bantered him and said the feat could not be accomplished. At 4 o'clock Wilson was taken to the opposite shore. He swam the river, but soon collapsed and died this morning without regaining consciousness. He was 30 years old and had a large family.

Stock in the American Heat, Light and Power Company positively advances Saturday, Nov. 22nd, from 40 to 50 cents a share. The allotment may be over-subscribed before that time.

The unprecedented demand for shares in the American Heat, Light and Power Company indicates that entire amount of stock may be exhausted any day this week. It is announced positively that stock at 40 cents cannot be purchased after Saturday, November 22nd. The American Heat, Light and Power Company is destined to become the greatest industrial corporation in all history. The tremendous importance of its process and patents is being appreciated by the largest financial interests of the country. The use of its processes means a revolution in the industrial world.

The American Heat, Light and Power Company owns the famous Dr. James J. Johnston patents on the process and apparatus for the manufacture of gas from air and crude oil. The process has been proven a commercial success by actual use. One of the largest iron works in the country is using the process for every purpose for which heat, light and power are needed. The plant can be seen in operation any day. Its uses cover over 60 per cent. in fuel and increase the efficiency of labor over 33 per cent. The Company is manufacturing isolated plants for use in factories and expects to be able to install at least 250 plants of a certain type in New York City alone within one year. The profit to the company is $4,000 on each plant. If only 250 plants are installed it means a net profit of $1,000,000 Assured the First Year.

Within six months the company will be able to accept orders for larger plants for power houses, rolling mills, etc., and smaller plants for use in villages, residences, etc. From business now on hand an income of enormous proportion is assured.

The opportunity to secure a full profit-sharing interest in a company whose process is sure to revolutionize the commerce of the world is offered to the public. Shares now selling at 40 cents will probably reach par within three months and may within a year be worth $1.00 a share. Applications should be made within the next two or three days without fail, as there will be a rush as the closing date draws near. Nov. 22nd is positively the last day for shares at 40 cents.

CALL AT THE COMPANY'S OFFICES AND SEE THE DEMONSTRATION PLANT. MAKE ALL REMITTANCES PAYABLE TO The American Heat, Light and Power Company 277 Broadway, New York City.

RUMORS IN MOLINEUX CASE.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY UNABLE TO FIND ANY BASIS FOR THEM.

More Than One Man Has Been Suspected Heretofore of the Murder of Mrs. Adams—Many Applications for Passes to the Court Room on Monday.

Within the last two days District Attorney Jerome has been making inquiry into some particularly ugly rumors that have been circulating since the day when Mrs. Kate J. Adams was poisoned four years ago. These stories have been told with such a semblance of authority that many persons who have been very conversant with the case against Molineux have doubted his guilt, and among them being two members of Mr. Jerome's staff.

During the present trial these rumors and also to have been revived and again became so strong that a SUN reporter went to District Attorney Jerome and asked him if he had heard of them and if he had investigated them.

"I have heard of them and have tried to run them down," replied Mr. Jerome, "but I have never been able to learn one thing corroborative of them, nor to find any one who is supposed to be in a position to say just how much truth there is in them."

"The man you want is in your office now," replied THE SUN reporter, who told the man's name. Mr. Jerome went for him and told him what had been said.

"It is true that I know about these stories," admitted the man, "and it is true that I have not contradicted them. I do know, however, that my silence has led many people to believe that they are true, but the reason that I have not spoken before is that no one in authority has ever asked me to make a statement about them. Some of them I know to be false."

"I also know that the District Attorney's office at the time of the investigation of the Adams case had no other man, some came near being arrested, and it was not until the evidence pointed so strongly against Molineux that he was finally induced to cease his efforts to arrest the other man and to turn his attention to Molineux."

A notice has also been in circulation for three years a story that a certain photograph is locked up in the safe of a lawyer in the Molineux case, a compromise situation. I know that this photograph is not where it is said to be and I know that thousands of dollars in my pocket I spent weeks in trying to get such a photograph. I found the woman who was said to have taken the photograph and she told me she did not know the least thing about it. I was more interested in obtaining that photograph and in informing those rumors than in trying to place the blame on the other man. I was compelled to believe that they were not true and that there never has been such a photograph.

"I have investigated in a number of directions along this line," said Mr. Jerome, "and I have never been able to find the least bit of evidence to corroborate these ugly stories. I had, this case would not have been tried in my office until I had run it down."

Opinion in the Dist. Att. Jerome's office is widely disseminated as to whether much of a case has been a case against Molineux on his second trial. All of the Dist. Att. Jerome's staff are conversant, of course, with the material it offered in evidence upon the former trial and most of them are, however, are fans to say that they do not think his guilt has been proved this time.

Applications for admission to Monday's session of the trial were more numerous yesterday in the Dist. Att. Jerome's office than they have been at any time during the trial. The applicants are anxious to hear how the prosecution will allow the prosecution to go in summing up the case. They expect to hear tomorrow a fairly concise explanation of the evidence and to see what the defense will have to say about the prosecution's case and methods.

The prosecutor expects to occupy three hours in summing up.

Engineer Who Caused an Accident.

New BRUNSWICK, Nov. 8.—It has been learned that Joseph Kelly, the Philadelphia engineer who ran into the rear end of a waiting train at Montic Park a few weeks ago, has been suspended for three months.

At the end of that time he will probably get some small job on the road and will finally work up to his old position, according to rumors. His brother is station master at the Jersey City station of the Pennsylvania.

PLUNDER IN HIS BACK YARD.

A Philadelphia Finds Three Patrol Wagon Loads of Stolen Goods There.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8.—When R. S. Warner and his wife returned to their home, 4509 Swanton street, tonight, they found carefully hidden in their back yard a lot of valuable goods. There were fifty-one pieces of fine china, bric-a-brac, jewelry, three high hats, ten pairs of suspenders, about a dozen pairs of trousers, sixteen pairs of shoes, five complete suits, six overcoats, stockings, a clock and a rosary.

The articles, it is supposed, are the proceeds of some robbery on the river and used Warner's back yard as a temporary hiding place.

"I'd like to think they were given me," said Warner, as he looked at the treasure, "but it's too early for Christmas presents."

The police now have the goods locked up in the district station house. There were three patrol wagon loads of them.

EIGHT ASK $80,000 DAMAGES.

More to Sue Youkers Railroad Company Allegedly. Value, $150,000.

YONKERS, N. Y., Nov. 8.—Representatives of Breunig & Co., attorneys at law, served on the officials of the Youkers Railroad Company papers in eight suits for damages aggregating $80,000.

The suits are the first installment of fifteen to be brought by the same firm on behalf of people who were hurt in the collision between a trolley car and an automobile which took place on the Youkers road two weeks ago, in which two persons were hurt, and for which W. B. Raymond of New York, was sentenced to six months imprisonment in the Kings County Penitentiary. The suits will be pushed to trial as speedily as possible.

The largest damages are claimed by Miss Catherine Callahan, who was severely injured in all the people on the car. Her clock was split from the bridge of her nose, and she was extended almost to the back of her head. The top of her head was broken and several other cuts on her chin and forehead. She was also badly bruised and suffered severely.

Rose and Daniel Galish claim $15,000 each for cuts, bruises and shock, while Mary Murray and James E. Murray each claim $5,000 for the same cause. George, William and James Arthur, infants, sue through William Arthur, their guardian, for $10,000 each. The driver of the automobile who was struck by Dr. Miles in his office, and who was out and bruised. The papers in seven other suits will be served next week and the damages will be $100,000.

A determined effort will be made by the attorneys for the victims to prove the railroad company liable for the accident. They will be assisted very materially by Chas. F. Raymond and by D. Dodge, the owner of the automobile. The railroad company will try to place the blame on the driver of the trolley car. The result of the trial of these cases will have considerable bearing on Raymond's appeal from his sentence of imprisonment.

JUDGE MARRIES A MILL GIRL.

The Hon. A. J. Cornish of Nebraska Weds His Second Wife at Home, St. Louis, Mo.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 8.—Mr. and Mrs. P. A. O'Donnell of this city have received the announcement of the marriage of their daughter, Miss Alice O'Donnell, to the Hon. Albert J. Cornish, Judge of the Supreme Court of Nebraska, the bride and groom being second cousins, his announcement came as a surprise to all concerned.

The marriage ceremony was performed on Oct. 28, in St. Theresa's Pro-Cathedral, Lincoln, Neb. After an elaborate luncheon to a few intimate friends, Judge and Mrs. Cornish left on a wedding trip for Colorado and the Pacific coast.

Just before Labor Day and extended an invitation to Miss O'Donnell to accompany them and to make them an extended visit and she accepted.

A. J. Cornish is an attractive young man and has a host of friends in Rome who are pleased to extend congratulations and best wishes. For the past two or three years she and her sister, Miss Maud O'Donnell, have been employed in a knitting mill in Utica, and there they have also made many friends. Judge Cornish is a wealthy man and stands high in Nebraska, both professionally and socially.

SPEEDWAY CHAMPIONSHIP.

Kingmond and Nathan Straus Again Carry Off the Honors.

A programme replete with sport brought a goodly number of spectators to the Speedway grandstand yesterday afternoon. The air was crisp and a strong wind blew down the stretch, but the sun was bright and the wind helped the horses to make speed.

The event of the afternoon was Brush & Kingmond's match race, in which the former won by a head. Kingmond made a mistake at the start and was unable to get away. The former owner of Dusty Wilkes, to come on and drive the race yesterday.

The second heat produced a contest that has never been so close in the history of the track. The first heat was won by Kingmond and the second by Nathan Straus. The race was a very close one and the spectators were very much interested.
