

MORE DEMOCRATIC WAR NEWS.

WHILE SENATOR PLATT AND GOV. ODELL SAY NEVER A WORD.

Message Will Be Discussed on Friday at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. - Senator Platt and Governor Odell are expected to discuss the "Combine" of four Republican Senators - Is T. P. Gilman to Retire? "Odell is to fire Platt out of de windy."

"Platt is to fire Odell's wind."

These were two more of the Democratic war bulletins issued yesterday as to the relations between Gov. Odell and Senator Platt. Here are two more:

"Odell is harried at the Executive Mansion in Albany. He fears attack."

"Platt is entrenched at the Fifth Avenue Hotel and will never surrender to Odell."

The Democratic war bulletins are now issued daily. They tell of a frightful fracas in the Republican camp, one side led by Gov. Odell and the other by Senator Platt. Gov. Odell is to ignore "the mailed fist" of Senator Platt and Senator Platt is to be made to walk Spanish and all that sort of thing. Gov. Odell, the bulletins go on, is to run the Legislature at Albany as he darn please and Senator Platt may either grin or whine. Gov. Odell, furthermore, is to appoint to office whomever he best fancies and Senator Platt can like it or lump it. Here are two more of the war bulletins:

"Odell's right thumb is on his nose and he is twiddling his fingers at Platt."

"Odell's left side is well out and his right is tight to his main chest. He's shouting, 'Come on, Platt.'"

Meanwhile Gov. Odell and Senator Platt haven't said a word. The Governor hasn't been in town for a week and Senator Platt is spending the holiday Congress vacation in town tending to the express business, riding out in the afternoon and having a good time with his friends. Gov. Odell is to have a jolly time with his friends of the "Tapeworm Club" at the Executive Mansion in Albany to-night. Col. George W. Dunn, chairman of the Republican State Committee, was at the Fifth Avenue Hotel yesterday restful as a clam stew.

He said he didn't know what all the bother in the Democratic newspapers meant, but evidently they had something in their minds and then the Colonel remembered an old war verse:

A speech soldier took my hand, "Come fight with us," says he. "I'm not a soldier," says I. "But you don't see us."

Senator Platt said: "The grand sanatorium will assemble on next Friday night at the Fifth Avenue Hotel."

Besides the Senator there will be Gov. Odell, Lieut.-Gov. Higgins, Senator John Raines, Speaker Nixon (if he is well enough), Col. Dunn and one or two others. The Governor's message to the Legislature, which assemblies on Jan. 7, will be discussed and the Senate and Assembly committees, the Republicans as well as the Democrats to go on them - will be turned over and over and finally settled upon.

The Governor's message to the Legislature may be an important document and then again it may not. The presumable programme is an effort to steer the drift toward Democracy in the State which was so potent on election day. The legislative conduct of the majority at Albany during the winter will be keenly watched by the Democrats.

Considerable interest is taken in the ambition of Senator Malby of St. Lawrence and Senator Brown of Jefferson to be chairman of the Finance Committee. Both are members of that committee now and Senator Malby ranks Senator Brown in time of service. For that reason it was the opinion yesterday that senator Malby will get the place. Most of the other chairmanships will without doubt be apportioned in like fashion.

A report was heard in odd nooks and corners that a "combine" had been organized by Senator Brown, Senator Brackett of Saratoga and Senator Elberg of New York city, and if such is the case it would be most effective when the appropriation bills come up for passage.

Late last night there was an unconfirmed report to the effect that Comptroller Miller desires to appoint Otto Kelsey of Livingston Deputy Comptroller in place of Theodore P. Gilman of New York city. Mr. Kelsey was unexpectedly defeated for Judge of Livingston this fall. He has been chairman of the Assembly Cities Committee and is spoken of as a most upright man and careful lawyer.

EIGHT FIREMEN OVERCOME.

Escaping Gas at a Fire in Syracuse. which Burned a Valuable Paer and a Donkey.

SYRACUSE, Dec. 28.-In a fire in the wholesale fruit house of B. W. Roscoe in Walton street this evening eight firemen were overcome by gas from a leaking pipe, a valuable racehorse and a donkey were cremated and four other horses were so badly suffocated that they will die. The fire was in the cellar of the building under the stables and had been burning some time before it was discovered. A dense smoke blinded and choked the firemen and the matter worsened, the building filled with gas.

The eight men who were overcome by the gas dropped with the pipe in their hands and were carried out by their companions. None is in a serious condition. Mr. Roscoe's paer, Francis B. 2224, which he bought a year ago, and the donkey were dead when the firemen reached them, and the others, although rescued, are likely to die. The fire was kept confined to the cellar of the building and was extinguished after several hours' hard work. The damage to stock and building is small. A defective light wire is thought to have caused the fire.

THE OLD SOUTH MIDDLE.

Yale's Famous Building to Go - Impossible to Fix It Up or Move It.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 28.-Because there has been so much said about the alleged rickety condition of Old South Middle College by those who favor its demolition or removal from the Yale campus, Treasurer Morris F. Tyler, who has charge of the campus buildings, has had an expert make an examination of the structure. He reported that the water table and woodwork generally cannot be saved again in any plan of reconstruction and that enough of the old bricks might be saved, if the building should be moved to another part of the campus, to replace one side of the building and the two ends.

To rebuild it would cost not less than $200,000. At this time said some time ago the corporation before long will vote to tear down the building. It now brings in $1,500 a year in rent from students.

CHOIR COMPOSED OF ONE.

Others Dismissed Because They Wouldn't Sing Without Rehearsal.

St. Simon's Protestant Episcopal Church at Concord, Staten Island, was practically without a choir yesterday.

Only one member of the former choir was in attendance, Arthur Hall, who on Christmas Day sang alone a hymn which the rest of the choir refused to join in because there had not been sufficient time in which to prepare.

After the Christmas services the rector dismissed all of the choir except Mr. Hall. During the service the rector, Miss Lulu Hunt, played the accompaniments.

"English George" of Ocean Grove Dead.

ASHBURY PARK, N. J., Dec. 28.-George G. Beaumont, alias George Smith, better known as "English George" of Ocean Grove, died here today from injuries to the head. He was picked up unconscious on Friday at midnight, when he was found frozen to the ground. There was $300.55 in gold, silver and greenbacks sewed in various parts of his clothes. He was a familiar character to many summer visitors.

POOL RAILS AT GREEK CONSUL.

Orders Him to Stand Farther Away and Talks About Disinfectants.

Demetrius N. Botassi the Greek Consul-General in this city, appeared in the Tombs police court yesterday morning as complainant against Theodore Pereskevas, a Greek, who, he said, had annoyed him. Mr. Botassi started to tell Magistrate Pool the basis of his charge when the Magistrate suddenly interrupted him and said to the policeman who had charge of the bridge:

"Put that man in his place, officer. Don't let him get so close to me. I can't stand these men blowing their breath in my face. I can't stand an antiseptic every day."

Mr. Botassi was bewildered and after some handling he was ordered back a few feet. "Now, what have you got to say?" asked Magistrate Pool.

After telling his story Mr. Botassi announced that he was the Greek Consul-General and Magistrate Pool's manner suddenly shifted.

"Yes, yes, oh yes," he said, "you are the Greek Consul. Well, I'd like to have you here as an interpreter."

Mr. Botassi gave the Magistrate his card and started to leave the court room. He was held up at the gates until the bridge policeman signalled that he was not to be detained.

The man complained of was held in $300 bail to keep the peace for three months. He went to jail in default. Mr. Botassi said that on three occasions he had got work for the man and had helped him get into a hospital once. Saturday Pereskevas appeared at the Consul-General's office, 33 South William street, and demanded that he be sent back to Greece. He made so much disturbance that a policeman was sent for. In court the man said that he was sick and out of work and was compelled to apply for help.

20 ACRES OF FLOWERS.

P. R. B. to Build Extensive System of Houses and Conservatories.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Dec. 28.-The Pennsylvania Railroad Company began yesterday the erection of an extensive system of hot-houses, conservatories and hothouses for the growth of shrubbery, plants, flowers and exotics, with trees and palms, to be used principally at the gardens at all the stations along the entire New York and Pittsburgh division of the road, as well as a supply of orchids and expensive flowers for the officers and for special occasions.

It is said that some of the hothouses will be high enough to accommodate the tallest flowering plants.

The foundations of the houses of glass will extend almost over the twenty acres land owned by the company facing DuHart place, Fay and Bayway avenues, South Elizabeth. Prof. Gertanne, who is an expert in botany and horticulture, will have charge of the extensive nurseries and glass houses and will have a large corps of gardeners under him.

Supplies will be furnished by cars run on sidings to the houses and the shipment of the products will be made in the same manner.

It is the intention of the company to line many miles of its tracks between Elizabeth and Philadelphia with shade trees and to lay out gardens at every station along the line in a more extensive manner than ever before during the coming spring and summer. The hothouse controlled by the company at Linden, near the old Linden Park Blood Horse Association tracks, will be abandoned and merged in the new enterprise and the old site used for tracks for the storage of cars.

ELEVATED ROAD SNOWFALL.

Snow Inspector Complains That It Fell Into Cleaned Streets.

M. D. Bouton, snow inspector, said yesterday afternoon that the elevated railroads had marred the success attending the work of clearing away Thursday's one-and-a-half-inch snowfall by sweeping snow from platforms and trestles into streets that had been cleaned.

"It was worse than stupid," he exclaimed. "It was an outrage. In the Bronx alone it will cost the city $1,000 additionally to remove this snow. We cannot force the contractor to go back upon the streets he has already cleaned to pick up some snow that was not there when his laborers and carts passed through. It is necessary, however, for some one to do the work and the city will have to foot the bill. What it will cost to reclaim the streets in Manhattan is uncertain. I have not yet been fully informed as to the extent of the snowfall from the elevated trestles there."

By to-night Inspector Bouton expects to have the entire city cleaned. "It is the first time in the history that the city has not been forced to help the contractor complete the work," he said. "It was something new to keep the carts of the Street Cleaning Department just removing ashes and garbage. Formerly we were compelled to use the carts in hauling away snow, meanwhile allowing refuse and ashes to accumulate in boxes, cans and tin cans, house doors. I look upon this as evidence of the success of the new contract system."

Contractor Bradley deserves credit for his efforts under the double disadvantage of inexperience and of having been called out on Christmas Day, a holiday on which most men are not over anxious to work. Broadway was never before cleaned by a contractor.

The work in the Bronx was completed at noon yesterday and a large part of the districts of Manhattan north of Fifty-ninth street and west of Broadway were cleared of snow by night. The streets in Manhattan district were also shoveled clean and during the night teams and laborers were kept at work in the "dirty goods" district of Bowery and in the lower West and East sides.

Major Woodbury has complimented Inspector Bouton on the success of the street cleaning plan for paying for street cleaning according to the area covered.

Mr. Bouton explained that the contractor had a thin coating of ice has in some places been left on asphalt streets is due to orders forbidding the use of picks on the pavement. "Ordinary laborers would ruin the streets," he said, "if allowed to loosen the ice with their picks."

HE SHOT THE FAMILY DOG

AND FLED TO THE FORESTS OF THE VASTY BRONX.

Police Hunted for Miss Miller's Persistent Visitor in the Chilly Night Until 3 A. M., When He Came Out From the Bush and Surrendered Himself.

A Saturday evening call which young Stephen T. Lawler, an electrician of 278 East 14th street, made on Miss Tillie Miller of 619 Robbina avenue was productive of excitement to that section of the vast Bronx until early yesterday morning.

Miss Miller is the nineteen-year-old daughter of Mrs. Margaret Miller, a widow who lives with three daughters in a large house at the Robbina avenue address. Young Mr. Lawler, according to Mrs. Miller, has been calling on Miss Tillie for about three years, but Mrs. Miller said yesterday that she resolved the other day that he would have to curtail the number of his visits.

She also said that when Lawler called at 8 o'clock Saturday night she told him that Tillie wasn't in and that he couldn't come in, anyway.

"I'll come in and see her," said young Mr. Lawler, according to Mrs. Miller, and then he pushed in past her.

Mrs. Miller says her other two daughters wanted the use of the parlor themselves and they helped her in trying to persuade Lawler to leave. Lawler, however, found Miss Tillie in the back parlor and refused to budge.

The Miller fox terrier, which answered to the call of "Skinny," caught the contagion of excitement and rushed into the parlor. Lawler pulled his revolver and fired three shots into the dog and one into the carpet. The dog died.

Mrs. Miller, accompanied by a dozen of her excited neighbors, went out in search of a policeman and found Police Captain England and Detective Ryan at Westchester avenue. When the policeman came in at the front door young Lawler jumped out of a back window and fled to the woods.

Capt. England, Ryan and Mounted Policeman McCarthy searched for him along the Southern Boulevard until 2 o'clock yesterday morning and found the wretched "cool" 2 o'clock fox terrier, who also had found it cool, came out from the bushes at Leggett's lane and the police nabbed him. Lawler still has his revolver.

He was arraigned in the Morrisania police court later in the morning on a charge of disorderly conduct, but as Mrs. Miller didn't appear he was held in $300 bail for examination to-day.

ELEVATED ROAD SNOWFALL.

Snow Inspector Complains That It Fell Into Cleaned Streets.

M. D. Bouton, snow inspector, said yesterday afternoon that the elevated railroads had marred the success attending the work of clearing away Thursday's one-and-a-half-inch snowfall by sweeping snow from platforms and trestles into streets that had been cleaned.

"It was worse than stupid," he exclaimed. "It was an outrage. In the Bronx alone it will cost the city $1,000 additionally to remove this snow. We cannot force the contractor to go back upon the streets he has already cleaned to pick up some snow that was not there when his laborers and carts passed through. It is necessary, however, for some one to do the work and the city will have to foot the bill. What it will cost to reclaim the streets in Manhattan is uncertain. I have not yet been fully informed as to the extent of the snowfall from the elevated trestles there."

By to-night Inspector Bouton expects to have the entire city cleaned. "It is the first time in the history that the city has not been forced to help the contractor complete the work," he said. "It was something new to keep the carts of the Street Cleaning Department just removing ashes and garbage. Formerly we were compelled to use the carts in hauling away snow, meanwhile allowing refuse and ashes to accumulate in boxes, cans and tin cans, house doors. I look upon this as evidence of the success of the new contract system."

Contractor Bradley deserves credit for his efforts under the double disadvantage of inexperience and of having been called out on Christmas Day, a holiday on which most men are not over anxious to work. Broadway was never before cleaned by a contractor.

The work in the Bronx was completed at noon yesterday and a large part of the districts of Manhattan north of Fifty-ninth street and west of Broadway were cleared of snow by night. The streets in Manhattan district were also shoveled clean and during the night teams and laborers were kept at work in the "dirty goods" district of Bowery and in the lower West and East sides.

Major Woodbury has complimented Inspector Bouton on the success of the street cleaning plan for paying for street cleaning according to the area covered.

Mr. Bouton explained that the contractor had a thin coating of ice has in some places been left on asphalt streets is due to orders forbidding the use of picks on the pavement. "Ordinary laborers would ruin the streets," he said, "if allowed to loosen the ice with their picks."

JUDGE A TRUST CO. PRESIDENT

JUSTICE VAN BRUNT ONLY BANK PRESIDENT ON BENCH HERE.

There Are Two Bank Directors - Justice Van Brunt Will Not Be Active in the Affairs of the Windsor Trust Co. Until His Term Expires in Three Years.

Presiding Justice Charles H. Van Brunt of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, First Department, is the president of the new Windsor Trust Company which was organized six weeks ago and will begin business this morning at Fifth avenue and Forty-seventh street in the Windsor Arcade Building. The other officers are Robert H. McCurdy, James A. Burden, Jr., and John Alvin Young, vice presidents, Ford Huntington, treasurer, and A. Gordon Norrie, secretary.

Justice Van Brunt's term expires on Dec. 31, 1905. As he was born in 1856 he does not reach the age limit for service on the bench until a year after his term expires. There is no law prohibiting him from being at the same time a Justice of the Supreme Court and a bank president and the statement was made by one of the other officers of the new institution last night that Justice Van Brunt at present has no intention of resigning from the bench.

"It is not Justice Van Brunt's intention," said this officer of the new company, who is a director as well, "to devote much of his time to the active management of the trust company until he leaves the bench. The fact is that until his term expires he will really be a sort of nominal head of the institution, the real work being entrusted to the other officers and the executive committee. Since Justice Van Brunt's selection as head of the company became known there have been many inquiries as to whether or not he was going to resign from the bench. He has decided, however, not to. Justice Van Brunt was elected at a meeting of the directors about a month ago. Several men had been mentioned for the place, but Justice Van Brunt was practically the unanimous choice of the directors. We had his assurance that if elected he would take the place on the bench, but that he would not be expected to do any active work until the expiration of his term. This, of course, was agreeable to the directors, most of whom know the Justice personally and were very glad of his acceptance. Justice Van Brunt's duties will not at all interfere with his judicial duties during the remainder of his term. When he retires from the bench, however, he probably will become the active head of the institution."

When asked if Justice Van Brunt was to have a salary as nominal president of the company, the officer quoted as set: "That is a matter on which neither I nor any other director would feel at liberty to speak."

Justice Van Brunt was not at home to callers yesterday. He lives at 10 East Forty-seventh street, the new trust company's offices will be only about a block away from his house. The Justice has been on the bench since 1889 and will be 69 years when his term expires.

The new trust company is capitalized at $1,000,000 and has a surplus of $500,000. Among the directors of it are August Be-

New Overland Service
To be inaugurated JANUARY 4, 1903
Chicago
TO
San Francisco
CHICAGO, MILWAUKEE, & ST. PAUL AND UNION PACIFIC LINE
Route: Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, Union Pacific, and Southern Pacific Railways
THREE DAILY TRAINS
to COLORADO, UTAH and CALIFORNIA
For detailed information call upon any railroad ticket agent or passenger representative of this Company, or address,
J. H. HILAND, Traffic Manager, CHICAGO.
F. A. MILLER, General Passenger Agent, CHICAGO.
W. S. HOWELL, General Eastern Agent, 361 Broadway, New York.

JUDGE A TRUST CO. PRESIDENT

JUSTICE VAN BRUNT ONLY BANK PRESIDENT ON BENCH HERE.

There Are Two Bank Directors - Justice Van Brunt Will Not Be Active in the Affairs of the Windsor Trust Co. Until His Term Expires in Three Years.

Presiding Justice Charles H. Van Brunt of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, First Department, is the president of the new Windsor Trust Company which was organized six weeks ago and will begin business this morning at Fifth avenue and Forty-seventh street in the Windsor Arcade Building. The other officers are Robert H. McCurdy, James A. Burden, Jr., and John Alvin Young, vice presidents, Ford Huntington, treasurer, and A. Gordon Norrie, secretary.

Justice Van Brunt's term expires on Dec. 31, 1905. As he was born in 1856 he does not reach the age limit for service on the bench until a year after his term expires. There is no law prohibiting him from being at the same time a Justice of the Supreme Court and a bank president and the statement was made by one of the other officers of the new institution last night that Justice Van Brunt at present has no intention of resigning from the bench.

"It is not Justice Van Brunt's intention," said this officer of the new company, who is a director as well, "to devote much of his time to the active management of the trust company until he leaves the bench. The fact is that until his term expires he will really be a sort of nominal head of the institution, the real work being entrusted to the other officers and the executive committee. Since Justice Van Brunt's selection as head of the company became known there have been many inquiries as to whether or not he was going to resign from the bench. He has decided, however, not to. Justice Van Brunt was elected at a meeting of the directors about a month ago. Several men had been mentioned for the place, but Justice Van Brunt was practically the unanimous choice of the directors. We had his assurance that if elected he would take the place on the bench, but that he would not be expected to do any active work until the expiration of his term. This, of course, was agreeable to the directors, most of whom know the Justice personally and were very glad of his acceptance. Justice Van Brunt's duties will not at all interfere with his judicial duties during the remainder of his term. When he retires from the bench, however, he probably will become the active head of the institution."

When asked if Justice Van Brunt was to have a salary as nominal president of the company, the officer quoted as set: "That is a matter on which neither I nor any other director would feel at liberty to speak."

Justice Van Brunt was not at home to callers yesterday. He lives at 10 East Forty-seventh street, the new trust company's offices will be only about a block away from his house. The Justice has been on the bench since 1889 and will be 69 years when his term expires.

The new trust company is capitalized at $1,000,000 and has a surplus of $500,000. Among the directors of it are August Be-

NEWARK LOOKS FOR A BISHOP

HIGH CHURCHMEN AND LOW TRYING TO COMPROMISE.

If They Don't There May Be a Prolonged Struggle Over the Election - The Rev. Dr. George M. Fluke of Providence, Leading Candidate for the Office.

There is a possibility of a hard contest in the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Newark over the election of a Bishop Coadjutor, which is to be made at a special convention in Christ Church, East Orange, on Tuesday, Jan. 20. The present Bishop, Dr. Thomas Alfred Starkey, is 84 years old.

Efforts are being made by both the High and the Low Churchmen of the diocese to avoid a clash at the convention. The High Church element has been invited by the Rev. C. C. Edmunds of Grace Church Newark, to attend a conference on Monday, Jan. 5. The Broad Churchmen, led by the Rev. Louis Shreve Osborne of Trinity Church, Newark, will hold a similar meeting two days later. It is not improbable that representatives of both branches will be appointed to confer in an effort to agree upon one or two men whose names shall be presented to the convention.

The diocese is rather evenly divided as to churchmanship, but the rectors are more disposed to favor a High Churchman than the laymen, and if there is a contest it will not be so easy to secure the lay vote for a High Churchman as it will be to obtain the clerical vote.

Friends of the Rev. Dr. Richard Henry Nelson of St. Peter's Church, Philadelphia, have been active in the diocese in his behalf. He was one of the candidates for Bishop among the Broad Churchmen. It is said that the election of Dr. Fluke would be entirely acceptable to the High Churchmen. He is a favorite with the Broad Churchmen. The Rev. Dr. Alexander Mann, rector of Grace Church, Orange, and archdeacon of Newark, is a favorite with the Broad Churchmen. He is a brother of Dr. Cameron Mann, recently consecrated Bishop of North Dakota. Dr. Mann's name will probably go before the convention if there is a contest. The Rev. Percy S. Grant of New York is another candidate. His election is considered improbable.

Among the High churchmen whose names will be considered by the conferences are the Rev. Richard F. Wilkes of Trinity Church, Washington, D. C.; the Rev. Dr. Wilford L. Robbins, dean of All Saints' Church, Albany; the Rev. Henry B. Bryan of Garden City, the Rev. Prof. William Walter Webb of Nashotas, Wis.; Dr. Nelson and Dr. Fluke, with the indications favoring the selection of the last named.

WOMAN ACCUSES DOCTOR.

Mrs. Insel Dying of Malpractice - Dr. Emil Schumacher Arrested.

Police Captain Gans of the Hamburg avenue station, Williamsburg, received word late on Saturday night that Mary Insel, a young married woman of 546 Central avenue, was dying of malpractice.

Mrs. Insel told detectives that Dr. Emil Schumacher of 22 Troutman street was responsible for her condition. Mrs. Insel was taken to the German Hospital and Coroner Williams sent for. Mrs. Insel was unconscious when she reached the hospital, but she regained consciousness and told Dr. Schumacher was arrested and arraigned yesterday in the Ewen street police court before Magistrate O'Reilly. He pleaded not guilty and was committed without bail until to-morrow.

Dr. Schumacher, before getting a physician's diploma, was a barber at South Eighth street and Driggs avenue.

SYRACUSE MEN BUY AN APARTMENT HOUSE

Police Captain Thomas.

SYRACUSE, Dec. 28.-Charles W. Metz, Charles G. Baldwin and Graham K. Bette have purchased from Police Captain Andrew J. Thomas of New York an apartment house in New York for $175,000. It is in 104th street, near Riverside Drive. In part payment Thomas took $50,000 worth of real estate in Syracuse and on Long Island.

HECK FOR AN AMATEUR SLEUTH.

He Unearthed an Exile Violation, but the Magistrate Freed the Prisoner.

A volunteer's efforts to help enforce the exile law were discouraged by Magistrate Deuel in the Jefferson Market police court yesterday. A young man giving the name of Hally McDermott had caused the arrest of Corl Kohrs, who works in a saloon at 294 Eighth avenue.

McDermott explained that he went into the liquor place at 110 o'clock yesterday morning and bought a glass of beer, 15 cents worth of whiskey and a cigar. Then he hunted up Policeman Willemse and demanded that he arrest Kohrs. This the policeman did.

When the case came up for examination Magistrate Deuel said to the policeman: "Did you see the liquor sold?"

"No," answered Willemse.

"Then you have no right to make this arrest," said the Magistrate. "Policemen should not arrest men for violating the exile law unless they see the offences committed."

Kohrs was discharged.

SALE OF HOUSE COATS.

All at the 13th St. Store.

$2.00, former price $3.00

$3.45, " " $5 & $6.50

$4.90, " " $7.50

$6.45, " " $10.00

$9.90, " " $15.00

$12.45, " " $18 & $20

HACKETT CARHART & CO.

Three BROADWAY Stores. Cor. 13th St. Cor. Canal St. Near Chambers.

THE MARK QUALITY

HIGHEST prices paid for ladies' garments. Highest Quality. Diamond, Jewelry, Fur, etc.

1898 The Mark Quality

NO MONDAY. BY THE STORES AT 100 NASSAU ST. N. Y.

BUSINESS PERSONAL.

HIGHEST prices paid for ladies' garments. Highest Quality. Diamond, Jewelry, Fur, etc.

1898 The Mark Quality

NO MONDAY. BY THE STORES AT 100 NASSAU ST. N. Y.

BUSINESS PERSONAL.

HIGHEST prices paid for ladies' garments. Highest Quality. Diamond, Jewelry, Fur, etc.

1898 The Mark Quality

NO MONDAY. BY THE STORES AT 100 NASSAU ST. N. Y.

BUSINESS PERSONAL.

HIGHEST prices paid for ladies' garments. Highest Quality. Diamond, Jewelry, Fur, etc.

1898 The Mark Quality

NO MONDAY. BY THE STORES AT 100 NASSAU ST. N. Y.

BUSINESS PERSONAL.

HIGHEST prices paid for ladies' garments. Highest Quality. Diamond, Jewelry, Fur, etc.

1898 The Mark Quality

NO MONDAY. BY THE STORES AT 100 NASSAU ST. N. Y.

BUSINESS PERSONAL.