

M'CLELLAN TO EAST SIDERS.

TALKS TO A BIG MEETING IN SCULLY'S DISTRICT.

Great, Who's With Him, Sits the Crowd Most by Plea for More Sunday Amusements—Majority Candidate Agrees That Personal Liberty's the Real Issue.

McClellan and Grout spoke at a Democratic meeting in Apollo Hall in Clinton street last night. The hall was packed with the faithful brought out by Leader Scully, but the cheering was not prolonged and the speeches did not arouse the old time Tammany enthusiasm.

Both candidates talked for the most part about the evils of the Republican legislation at Albany and the next Presidential campaign. Neither touched upon "Red Lights," although they were in what was the "Red Light" district under Tammany.

Mr. Grout started in right away to talk about Republicanism and Democracy, but he got more applause when he touched on the "excuse question." He said: "We have on our statute books laws which say we are to have our day of leisure."

Mr. McClellan got more cheers than Grout, but they weren't enough to satisfy the managers of the party. Mr. McClellan read his speech, and had some trouble keeping his audience's attention.

Mr. McClellan said that the real issue in the campaign is not the city and then proceeded to attack the Baines law on the plea that it was solely for the purpose of building up the Republican machine outside of New York.

Mr. Grout says: REMOVE GREENE. Tells Harlem Democrats That Should Be McClellan's First Duty.

The Democrats of Washington Heights held a well attended meeting last night in Washington Hall, 167th street and Amsterdam avenue.

Charles V. Fornes was the first speaker. William Hepburn Russell, who followed him, said that he believed that it was his duty as an ex-officer under the present administration to have a "heart to heart" talk with Democrats and tell why he got out.

LOW AT PRO-CANAL MEETING.

McClellan There in Spirit—Nixon Calls for Missionaries.

A meeting to boom the 1,000-ton barge canal scheme was held at the Produce Exchange yesterday afternoon. Something like 2,000 men, a dozen modish young women and the Twenty-third Regiment Band attended. The young women were in the gallery. The men and the band were in the pit. Mayor Low and Col. George B. McClellan's letter of regret were also there.

Albert Kinkel, chairman of the Produce Exchange, called the meeting to order and introduced the Mayor as the presiding officer. Mr. Low got a rousing reception when he arose to speak. Among other things he said:

If the question that brought this meeting together were in any sense a party question, I should not feel at liberty to be here. But inasmuch as both the great political parties of the State have declared in favor of the canal, it is evidently becoming that the Mayor of New York should do likewise.

In view of the great importance of this measure to the people of New York, it is indeed clear that if the Mayor did not declare himself upon this question he would be manifestly failing in his public duty.

DEVERY TRIES HIS FRENCH ON,

BUT FOUND IT WOULDN'T DO TO TALK OF MURPHY IN.

Calls "Gene Cumskey a 'Wardman for Sullivan and Murphy' in Grout's Office—Truly Expects to Get More Votes Than McClellan in Brooklyn.

Bill Devery wore the tri-color for a necktie last night and on a pump there was a frog above the long in honor of the visit of Frenchmen of the Ninth Assembly district to the Devery political headquarters.

Big Bill finished his course of "French by Mail in Ten Days" on Sunday, and then told Eddie Schneider to let the Frenchmen come. The ex-Chief has lost forty pounds since he began the course.

"But it ain't my language study or worrying about Charlie de Docks," said Bill, tucking in the loose end of his trousers, "but it's the talk about Murphy and Devery that I don't like. I've been living on for two weeks to get the accent."

The Frenchmen brought their own band, and it mixed the Marseillaise and Devery's in a medley. The band played so long and so many times that the Frenchmen got a chance to expose his French to the air.

Mr. Devery paid his respects to the Comptroller's office and said that "Gene Cumskey, the deputy auditor under Grout, was a man that grabbed Nathan Strauss's speech at Saratoga and tore it up."

CROWD AT EAST SIDE WEDDING.

All Kinds of Politicians at the Debenzky-Michaelson Nuptials.

If anybody happened to have a toothache last night on the East Side—that is, on the East Side of town, or on either side of his mouth—he certainly had to grin and bear it, for Toothache R.W. in East Broadway was closed early on account of the wedding of Louis Debenzky and Miss Michaelson.

The dentist who had been invited were the neighbors and friends of Louis Debenzky, who is a political power in the Fourth Assembly district. Debenzky, who is a rabbi, Maurice, is the Mayor of East Broadway. The bride was Miss Bessie Michaelson, and the ceremony was performed at the Martin factory.

The ceremony was performed by Rabbi Cooper and was accompanied by the breaking of a glass goblet, led in a haka-cherief, the groom crushing it with his foot, in accordance with the Hebrew custom.

Coats That Grow Old Too Young.

The trouble with ordinary ready-made clothes is that they lose their shape after a little wear—the coat fronts wrinkle up, the collar sags, the shoulders droop. A poorly made shoulder causes most of these defects. The shoulder should be the mainstay of a garment. The ordinary shoulder is obtained by "stuffing" it full of wadding which stretches and does not retain its shape. Our "Crescent" Shoulder is the result of careful modelling and tailoring—and the shape is permanent. Our "close-fitting" collar is hand-tailored and fits snugly about the neck. These two important features we have put into all of our Fall suits and overcoats from the lowest to the highest priced.

$15 Fall Suits and Overcoats.

A luxurious silk-lined black Thibet medium length Overcoat for $15. An aristocratic long loose Cravenette Overcoat or of other fabrics in tans, grays and blacks for $15. Topcoats the ever-popular in all the new shades of covert for $15. The new fall suits are in every fabric that is good style—grays, browns, blues, blacks, in chevrons, cassimeres, tweeds, thibets, worsteds &c. Single or double breasted, $15. And from $12.50 to $35 for other suits and overcoats.

EPISCOPAL BISHOPS MEET.

Pan-American Gathering Begins Its Sessions in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—The Pan-American Congress of Protestant Episcopal Bishops of the United States, the West Indies, British America, Canada and the Hawaiian Islands began its session here today. It is considered one of the most important conferences of the Episcopal clergy ever held in this country.

Although the Congress has no final jurisdiction on any matters in dispute, authorities believe that any decisions it may make will have a marked effect upon the policy of the Church. About thirty of the visiting Bishops are already in Washington.

Smith Gets a Quarter and a Polite Note From a Woman Borrower.

When Policeman Harry Smith of the Bridge squad went out duty at midnight last night he found a silver quarter and this note awaiting him: Dear Sir: Enclosed please find 25 cents with which I have just repaid your loan. I am indeed more than grateful to you and next time, if this should occur again, why I will not attempt an hour to the court, please to ask. Again thanking you for your kindness, let me say myself, Sincerely yours, One Who Was in Distress.
