Insurgents Enter Capital Without Opposition.

WOSY GIL ON GERMAN WARSHIP.

President Only Seven Months—Jimenez May Succeed Him.

Roosevelt Ready to Recognize the New Government When It Restores Order—Will Hold It to the Agreements Made With Us by the Wosy Gil Administration—Arbitration of the Claims of an American Company One of the Issues.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN.
From THE SUN Correspondent at Santo Domingo.
SANTO DOMINGO CITY, Nov. 24.—The Government surrendered to the insurgents at 10 o'clock this morning after defending the capital for two weeks. President Wosy Gil and his ministers took refuge on a German warship in the harbor before the victorious insurgents entered the city. During the armistice the President had offered to resign if the insurgents would put the government in the hands of four cabinet officers, but this was rejected and the firing was resumed. The Government was in financial difficulties and decided to give up the struggle.

All the consulates, except that of the United States, are strongly guarded.

A German steamer to-day landed her cargo under the guns of the German warship.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—The State Department got a telegram to-night from W. L. Powell, United States Chargé d'Affaires at Santo Domingo City, dated yesterday, stating that the Government had agreed to capitulate the city to-day.

The result of the revolution is of the greatest consequence to the United States. A few weeks ago the insurgents served notice on the Government, and also notified Chargé d'Affaires Powell that they would not recognize agreements thereafter made by the de jure authority of the republic. Subsequently Mr. Powell made an arrangement with President Wosy Gil's administration to submit to arbitration the long pending claim of the Santo Domingo Improvement Company, an American organization, and at the time of Wosy Gil's overthrow Mr. Powell was pressing for a settlement of other American claims. This Government will not permit the new authority in Santo Domingo to repudiate arrangements made with the Wosy Gil Government. It will insist that these arrangements be carried out.

According to a recent report by the Navy Department, the revolution had its foundation in dissatisfaction on the part of Gen. Morales, Governor of Puerto Plata, in failing to secure a Cabinet office. With other nationalists he organized the insurrection on the basis of the United States' agreement by the Wosy Gil ministry to sell Samana Bay to the United States, but the State Department decided that there was any such agreement or even any recent offer of that character. Señor Galvan, Minister of Foreign Affairs under Wosy Gil, has refused to the United States the purpose of offering to sell or lease Samana Bay. Of course this Government will not now treat with him. Wosy Gil evidently hoped that he could secure the assistance of the United States in suppressing the insurrection by offering Samana Bay for a naval coaling station.

As soon as Mr. Powell reports that the revolutionists are in control and have established a government capable of maintaining order this Government will recognize the new authority.

Señor Manuel Galvan, Dominican Consul General, when informed last night at his home of the surrender of his Government, was very much depressed and refused to make any statement. But Señor J. N. Giordani, confidential agent here for the de facto government, was happy and quite willing to talk. He said:

"Though I have no official news, I have been expecting a report of the revolution's triumph for some time. We could have won before this. It was our consideration for life and property that prolonged the fight. To have carried the fight into Santo Domingo City would have resulted in a terrible loss of life and to avoid this we waited for the Government to surrender."

The overthrow of the government of the President Alejandro Wosy Gil, by the revolutionists after a conflict of just a month, came as a great surprise to local Dominicans who were the partisans of the administration. It was believed that the President had an army large enough successfully to cope with any uprising.

Wosy Gil had been the constitutional President of Santo Domingo only seven months. He led a revolution against President Vasquez, who had come into power by overthrowing the administration of Gen. Jimenez. Wosy Gil, who was formerly Consul General here, had served some years ago as head of the Government and made a capable and successful official. So when the news came of a revolt started in Puerto Plata by Gen. Morales, whom Wosy Gil had made Governor of that State, it was regarded as a mere sectional affair, without national importance. But the movement grew in strength, and before President Wosy Gil had time to organize his government properly he is deposed by men he had befriended.

Gen. Morales, who started the revolution, Gen. Jimenez, a former President, now with the insurgents, and Gen. Vasquez, who succeeded Jimenez, are mentioned as candidates for President, with Jimenez most likely to be chosen. He was formerly a merchant in this city. Wosy Gil made him fiscal agent of the coast and Europe with a salary of $12,000 as a bribe to keep him out of Santo Domingo, but Jimenez resigned and returned South.

FIRE ON A CLYDE LINE SHIP.

Dominican Rebels Said They Mistook Her for a Gunboat.

The Clyde Line steamer New York arrived here yesterday from Dominican ports, at one of which, Samana, the steamer was fired upon by the insurgents. The New York touched at all the other ports of the island without being molested, although at the capital, Santo Domingo, she was exposed to the firing between the Government and insurgent forces.

The New York was entering the bay of Samana at 4 o'clock in the morning on Nov. 11, when a shot was fired close to the ship from the insurgent force. Capt. Marmon of the New York told this about it yesterday.

"We were entering the west channel about 4 o'clock in the morning, and I was standing on the bridge, when I heard a report, and a shell whistled over my head. The channel is very narrow and the shore rises into a high cliff. I never knew that I was so fortified before in all my experience with Dominican revolutions, but learned later that the insurgents had two guns up there.

"It was impossible for them to hit us, because they were so far above. They might have blown off the top of the smokestack, nothing more. I pretended that I had understood the shot for a salute and ordered the quartermaster to blow three whistles. Then we went in as fast as we could, because the channel was too narrow to turn around."

When Capt. Marmon arrived at Samana, and the New York was fired upon, he fled a protest with the insurgent Government. He was told that his steamer had been mistaken for one of the Dominican gunboats.

MARSH ESTATE SAVES $20,000.

Justice Mearns Says Huyler Acted the Part of a Thief and a Fraud.

GOSHEN, Nov. 24.—Justice Mearns presided at a special term of court in Goshen to-day, at which an action was brought by John H. Huyler, executor of the estate of Luther R. Marsh, one Daniel Wells, ex-partner and afterward victim of Ann O'Della Dies Debar's spook picture frauds, against the executors of the estate of Clarissa J. Huyler.

The suit involved $20,000, the amount of four insurance policies and accrued interest on the policy of $10,000, which had been made over by Mrs. Huyler, shortly before her death. The executors of her estate alleged that the transfer was legitimate, and the plaintiff alleged that undue influence had been used.

Mr. Marsh, during the last years of his life, was one Mrs. Huyler's family in Middletown, and Mrs. Huyler, who was a physician, had great influence over him.

When Huyler took the stand to testify for the plaintiff, he said that on the morning of the day that the policies were transferred he accompanied his wife to the room of Mr. Marsh, where the woman went into a trance. She said that she had a tremendous uproar among the spooks and that all were greatly displeased with Mr. Marsh because of his obstinacy in refusing to transfer the policies to Mrs. Huyler.

Mr. Marsh, he said, pleaded with her for a little time as his will was made out and he would have to change it in order to transfer the policies to her. She told him, however, to go at once across the street to the old "long haired lawyer" and have the change made. Mr. Marsh went and while he was gone Mrs. Huyler said to her husband that they would get all the old man's money.

Justice Mearns wanted to hear no more testimony.

"This man," he said, "acted the part of a thief and a fraud when he assisted his wife to obtain possession of these policies."

Justice Mearns said that he would decide the case in favor of the Marsh estate.

WEAVER'S ROW WITH DURHAM.

The Forty-two Ward Leaders Pledge Support to the Party Boss.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 24.—The break in friendly political relations between Mayor Weaver and Israel Durham, the Republican machine boss, has aroused widespread attention.

"You must retain Davidson as Receiver of Taxes, or I will resign," was the last position of the Mayor in his dealings with the Republican organization.

Veto the loan bill and we'll put it through," said the Mayor, and put Davidson out anyway," is the retort of the political leaders.

Entrance was gained to Mr. Raymond's bedroom on the second story of a ten-story building by a group of burglars who were in the dresser. Among the articles taken were a gold watch and chain, several diamond studs, gold bracelets and several pearls.

After dinner Mrs. Raymond went upstairs to her room and was surprised to find the door locked on the inside. When the door was forced open it was evident at once that burglars had been in the room. It is believed that the burglars were a party of five who were in the room above, and therefore they did not get as much as they were after.

GRAB FOR REAL MONEY.

Cent Falls on the Curb in the Greene Copper Crowd.

These are dull and unprofitable days on the Broad street market, and the sight of real money is a luxury not often enjoyed by the brokers. It was not surprising, therefore, that when somebody dropped a cent in the Greene Consolidated Copper crowd yesterday afternoon there was a wild and excited scramble for it. The successful grab was made by a broker whose sight was rendered more than usually keen by a pair of brilliantly polished glasses. His joy was not, however, enjoyed by the other brokers, who were broken by the loss of their prize. The transaction had netted him a loss of $1.75.

ODELL SEES THE PRESIDENT.

TWO TALKS AND A DINNER WITH PLATT AND DUNN.

Took the Midnight Train for New York—No Bricks Flying Around, but a Harmonious Gathering, Says Col. Dunn—Early State Convention Discussed.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—The conference on political affairs in the State of New York, which was begun at the White House yesterday when Senator Platt and Col. George W. Dunn took luncheon with the President, was continued to-night, when Mr. Roosevelt had the gentlemen as his guests at dinner, reinforced by Gov. Odell.

The Governor arrived in Washington this afternoon in response to the President's invitation and went to the White House, where he had a half hour's talk with Mr. Roosevelt shortly before 4 o'clock. The dinner party to-night began at 10 o'clock. Senator Platt and Col. Dunn returned to the Arlington Hotel, but the Governor remained to have a further talk with the President. Mr. Odell went directly from the White House to take the midnight train for New York.

Senator Platt did not talk about what took place at the White House conference, but Col. Dunn gave out that the talk with the President was highly satisfactory from every point of view.

"It was a very pleasant and harmonious gathering," said he. "There was none of those bricks flying around that some folks have been talking about."

"There seems to be a general idea that this dinner was given for the purpose of promoting harmony in the Republican organization in New York. There isn't going to be any lack of harmony, and there isn't any trouble about the Republican party getting together next year for a victory throughout the State."

Sensational reports that Senator Platt is about to hand over the reins of leadership to Gov. Odell were entirely without foundation, Col. Dunn said. The thing wasn't mentioned to-night, he declared, and the idea wasn't in anybody's mind, so far as he knew.

The matter of calling an early convention in New York next year to elect delegates to the national convention was spoken of, and the opinion was expressed that the convention should be held soon after the primaries in New York, which take place in the latter part of March. As for the matter of instructing the national convention delegates for Roosevelt, there was nothing said about it to-night, Col. Dunn said.

"It wasn't necessary," he continued, "for, of course, the State and the Republican organization is for Roosevelt."

ODELL WOULD BE U. S. SENATOR.

And Set Up the Pins Now to Bow Out Deput.

Gov. Odell, some of his friends said at the Republican Club last night, has attempted to precipitate a quarrel among the Republican brethren in the State of New York at this time for one or two purposes.

One is to displace the incumbent, Senator Thomas C. Platt. The first purpose is described to be to prevent the reelection of Chauncey M. Depew as United States Senator. The Legislature elected next fall will vote on Mr. Depew's successor, and Gov. Odell's friends say that he is a candidate for Governor.

Senator Platt, it is known, has informed Gov. Odell that he is for the reelection of Depew.

Another purpose, according to the Governor's friends, and it should be remembered that the Governor's friends tell these stories, is for the advantage of his own party, as Senator, to defeat Mr. Linn Bruce, president of the New York Republican county committee, and Col. George W. Dunn as chairman of the Republican State committee, and, finally, to have some other Republican than Frank M. Baker of Oswego succeed Baker as United States Senator.

As to the other ambitions, a Union League Club Republican put it this way:

"Senator Platt took Gov. Odell off the tail of an ice wagon and made him Governor of the State of New York, and the Governor cannot disrupt the Republican party in the State on the eve of an important national election."

Because of Gov. Odell's desire to upset things a little ahead of the game, candidates for Governor on the State ticket are being scared off. The Hon. Timothy L. Woodruff of Brooklyn could be nominated if he so desired, by the great majority of the State, but Gov. Odell's friends said that he was looking over the ground, and that he did not care to go into a losing race, and, for that matter, the friends of other candidates were talking the same way last night.

A personal friend of Mr. Woodruff's who has been with him a number of days, said:

"Mr. Platt and a number of Republicans are very favorable to the nomination of Mr. Woodruff for Governor. It is no matter about that quarrel between Woodruff and Sheldon at Saratoga Springs last year, the trouble between them and Mr. Sheldon has been patched up. Woodruff is the man to be Governor and manage the details of the party's affairs. The Republican organization of the State must cluster around the man who is to have charge of these details. Odell cannot do this. He is a man of no ability, and cannot do the job. Black and Payne exercise at the moment very little influence in the party. William Barnes, Jr., I hear, wants to succeed Col. Dunn as chairman of the State committee."

Out of this, in the estimation of Republicans who are looking for victory next year, something happy is bound to come, for the simple reason that the situation has been transposed since Samuel J. Tilden's time, and the more the Republicans quarrel the better shape they are in to enter into a contest on election day.

Some Republicans are bitter against Gov. Odell because, they say, he selects Senator Brackett and Louis F. Payne to be his chief advisers. They are bitter against Gov. Odell because they say that he has selected Mr. Brackett and Mr. Payne, affairs are not looking very harmonious when somebody hands out at the Republican Club—as was done last night—handbills containing an editorial from the Lions Republic of April 24, 1902, asking "Who is Senator Brackett?" describing him as an "arch traitor" and other unpleasant things, and awarding to him "the cordial contempt of all mankind."

The fact that this character was distributed by Republicans is an evidence of the bitterness and piteous character of the situation at this moment.

Cousin William Barnes of the Albany Evening Journal is a graduate of the Albany Law School and a member of the Albany and Republican leader of Albany county. He is now studying the role of the "sweet little cherub that sits up aloft to keep watch for the life of poor Dick."

Mr. Barnes printed the following in the Albany Evening Journal last night:

"Senator Platt has no objection to the party leadership. President Roosevelt's miserable mortgage upon the nomination for President, Gov. Odell, no inherent custodianship of the party's interests."

W. S. CAMERON HURT AGAIN.

Thrown at Meadow Brook Hunt and Receives Concussion of the Brain.

HEMPSTEAD, N. Y., Nov. 24.—W. Scott Cameron's first appearance in the saddle since he broke his collarbone, about seven weeks ago, ended in another accident, which is more serious than the first. With his left arm strapped to his side Mr. Cameron presented himself at the Meadow Brook Hunt Club meet at Westbury this afternoon, much to the surprise of the other riders.

When Foxhall Keene, the M. F. H., threw the pack on the scent, Mr. Cameron was the first off. At the third fence, however, his hunter stumbled and threw him to the ground on his head. With only one arm available Mr. Cameron was unable to save himself, and when picked up he was unconscious. Mrs. Cameron was following in a trap, and seeing her husband's predicament she ran to his assistance. Mr. Cameron was put into her trap quickly driven to Hempstead.

Dr. Charles G. P. Finn found that while the weak shoulder had not been injured, Mr. Cameron had received a slight concussion of the brain and several severe bruises. To-night he is resting quietly. The dinner party to-night began at 10 o'clock. Senator Platt and Col. Dunn returned to the Arlington Hotel, but the Governor remained to have a further talk with the President. Mr. Odell went directly from the White House to take the midnight train for New York.

Senator Platt did not talk about what took place at the White House conference, but Col. Dunn gave out that the talk with the President was highly satisfactory from every point of view.

ADICKS'S YACHT SEIZED.

Two Newport Men Attach the Ilderim on Claims of Debts Unpaid.

NEWPORT, R. I., Nov. 24.—Two attachments were placed on J. Edward Adicks's sloop yacht Ilderim. The first was to satisfy a claim for $200 for groceries by Frederick P. Garretson, former Mayor of Newport and a leading grocer of Newport, with whom Mr. Adicks traded in the summer of 1901 when he occupied Belvoir, his villa in the fashionable Beacon Hill district.

Mr. Garretson said this afternoon that he had been trying for several months to collect the money, which he says Mr. Adicks owes him, but that Mr. Adicks had ignored his repeated requests for payment. The total damages claimed is $300, which covers the amount of the bill and costs.

The Sheriff found the Ilderim, which Mr. Adicks bought from Cornelius Vanderbilt four years ago, in winter quarters at the Newport Hotel, and after making the attachment put a keeper aboard. Mr. Adicks was not here last season and the Ilderim was not in commission. The case will be called in the District Court next week, and if it is not answered Mr. Garretson will get judgment and the yacht will be levied upon.

The second attachment was made by Luke Croughan, a blacksmith, who has a bill against Mr. Adicks for horseshoeing for $250.

NEW MEXICO INDIANS ANGRY.

They Threaten to Kill Industrial Teacher Sent to Civilize Them.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Indian Commissioner Charles G. Taylor, from Denver, N. M., late to-night stating that the Jacarilla Apache tribe of Indians was preparing to go on the warpath and wipe out of existence the Indian school at Lamberton, in that State, kill the industrial teacher, spoil the educational plans of the bureau, and raise Cain generally.

The commission immediately telegraphed Indian Agent Johnson at Dulce, urging him to use every effort to quell the disturbance. Troops will be asked for, if the agent reports that this step be taken. Settlers in the vicinity are in a state of panic.

William Saylor is the industrial teacher. He went from Washington last month with a book of instructions on "How to Civilize the Indians." It is said that the wrath of the Indians was aroused over the teaching order that the Indian pupils should take baths.

JACKIES HAD A LIVELY TIME.

Four Went Overboard from Navy Tug and Sobbered Up in the Cold Water.

Thirty-five jackies and a naval officer in uniform arrived in Jersey City at 3:45 o'clock yesterday on a Pennsylvania Railroad train from Philadelphia. The sailors had evidently been having a good time somewhere, for a number of them could not walk a chalk line to save their necks. They were all rather dazed and unsteady on the ferryhouse to the pier of the Adams Express Company, at the north end of the station, where a Government tug was waiting to transport them to the Brooklyn navy yard.

The advance guard rushed aboard the boat at the pier, followed by the main body of the crew. Two splashes, and two jackies who fell or were pushed overboard sobbered up suddenly in the cold water.

Other sailors jumped in after them, and then all hands on the boat crowded along the rail and offered suggestions and helping hands. Ropes and boat hooks were brought into play and the four drenched and shivering jackies were pulled aboard.

The tug started for the navy yard as soon as the rescues were effected. It was believed by several ferry hands who witnessed the embarkation that the trip would be lively.

CONFESSIONS TO MURDERS.

Youthful Robber Under Arrest for Killing a Detective Confesses Other Crimes.

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—Gustave Marx, the youthful robber who shot and killed Detective John Quinn a few nights ago, to-night cleared up the mystery of the South Side car barn robbery which followed the commission of the crime. He revealed the identity of two of his companions. According to his confession the car barn robbery was only one of a series in which he and three companions participated in the last four months.

In his confession as to the car barn robbery Marx implicates Harvey Cardine and Peter Nierdmeyer, who have not been arrested. Marx says:

"I went in and ordered the men to hold up the bus. They obeyed. Just then Peter Nierdmeyer burst in the window and began shooting. Harvey Cardine then threw a bomb and the bus was blown up. Cardine went in a hot truck the money. All three ran away and walked east on Sixty-first street to Jackson Park and sat down to wait for the police. This was about $2,250, of which I got about $150 as my share."

SUBS W. A. CLARK'S DAUGHTER

MRS. VLASTO SAYS MRS. CULVER ALIENATED VLASTO.

$500,000, About, Will Cover Damage—A Group Photo of Two—Vlasto Says It's a Political Plot to Beat Him in Athens, Greece, for Parliament.

Mrs. Elizabeth R. Vlasto, wife of Solon J. Vlasto, a Greek, his brother suit against Mrs. Mary J. C. Culver, a daughter of United States Senator William A. Clark of Montana and the wife of Dr. Everett Mallory Culver (whom she is suing for divorce), for the alienation of Mr. Vlasto's affections, alleging damages of no less than $500,000. The summons and complaint were served on Mrs. Culver yesterday at her residence, 175 West Fifty-eighth street, by a man from Howe & Hummel, Mrs. Vlasto's attorneys.

Mrs. Culver is Senator Clark's elder daughter and a sister of Mrs. Lewis Rutherford Morris. She returned from Europe on the Teutonic last Thursday. Mr. Vlasto returned from Europe several weeks ago. Mrs. Vlasto was at the pier when the Teutonic docked, armed with a horsewhip. She said she was waiting for the purpose of horsewhipping her relative by marriage whom she expected to find there.

Mrs. Vlasto said at that time that this relative whom she was bent on chastising had broken up his own home and had come between another woman and her husband, and that the other woman was looking for a divorce.

"I believe it is my duty to stop this divorce if possible," she said, "and reunite a once happy family. She didn't find her man at the pier and made no attempt to speak to Mrs. Culver."

Vlasto is about 60 years old, with snow white hair and beard. He has been in this country for about thirty years. For some time he has had an office with his brother, Demetrius, at 2 and 4 Stone street. Demetrius is the editor of a Greek paper called Atlantis. Solon used to be an importer of brimstone and coffee. He is well known at the Waldorf-Astoria, Delmonico and Sherry's.

He is a native of the island of Syra, off the coast of Greece, and his father was a school teacher. He married his wife, who is an English woman, about twenty-eight years ago. They have a son, who is about 20 years old, who is a conductor on a Western railroad and lives in Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Vlasto separated some time ago. The wife is now living at the Hotel Westminster. In her complaint she alleges, according to Mr. Hummel, that Mrs. Culver and Vlasto have spent much time together in the last year in New York, France and Switzerland.

There is a photograph of Mrs. Culver and Vlasto taken together at one of the European capitals. Vlasto, it is said, is dressed, in the picture, in Oriental costume.

Mrs. Vlasto denied herself reporters last evening when she came to the City. She referred all inquiries to her attorney, Henry G. Atwater. Mr. Atwater, at his home, in East Orange, last night said:

"As a matter of fact, Vlasto and his wife had separated before Vlasto ever met Mrs. Culver. Mrs. Culver was never in danger of his affections. Mr. Vlasto called on the Culvers often. He was a friend principally of Dr. Culver, but was a friend of both Dr. and Mrs. Culver for two or three years. I understand that the Vlastos separated about six years ago."

Mr. Atwater said that the Vlastos separated about six years ago. He said that the Plaza Hotel last night, denied the truth of the charges made by his wife. He said that, while he spends much of his time in New York, he is a citizen of Greece, and is now a candidate for the National Assembly of Athens. He said that he has political enemies in Greece who have inspired his wife to begin this action, but that he has no enemies in New York, since he is thirty years older than Mrs. Culver.

F. A. MAGOWAN MISSING.

Somebody Advertises for News of the Ex-Mayor of Trenton.

An advertisement appeared in the papers yesterday asking for information concerning the whereabouts of Frank A. Magowan, who was very prominent in the political and financial life of Trenton, of which city he was Mayor a few years ago, and who got into considerable trouble in a financial and marital way. Neil McCallum, a note broker of 55 Broadway, who inserted the advertisement, said he would show up on some notes and that the former Mayor of Trenton had awkwardly disappeared from the scene. He said he would show up in a couple of days, however. Mr. McCallum said:

"McCallum said that he understood that Magowan had been living at hotels in New York for some time and that he was interested in a waterfront improvement project in Chicago."

"Magowan told me," said the broker, "that a member of the Cabinet was interested in the same scheme."

TO DEMAND CUSTODY OF ZIEGLER

Attorney-General Crow of Missouri Will Appear Before Gov. Odell.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 24.—E. C. Crow, Attorney-General of Missouri, returned to Jefferson City this morning and on Saturday will go to Albany, N. Y., to appear at a hearing before Gov. Odell, set for Monday, to determine whether the requisition of the Governor of Missouri for William Ziegler of New York, millionaire, indicted for bribery, shall be honored.

Ziegler's fight to save himself from being brought back to Missouri probably will hinge on the question of whether he was in this State at the time the offenses charged in the indictment were committed. Mr. Crow is prepared to show that Ziegler was in Missouri before, during and after the session of the Legislature when the crimes in connection with baking powder legislation are alleged to have been committed.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN.
YOKOHAMA, Nov. 24.—Public impatience at the delay in the negotiations with Russia regarding Manchuria is growing. Trade is impeded by the procrastination, and public meetings protesting against the Government's inactivity continue to be held. Ex-Mayor Edson, a rich clinician, has been appointed Police Commissioner and George R. Crawford, president of the Westchester Fire Insurance Company, who draws a salary of $25,000 a year, will preside over the Civil Service Board at $5 a meeting.

They say that they consented to take office for the sole purpose of helping Dr. Brush to rectify the general reputation of the city, which suffered several years during the recent administration.

Former Clerk of Senator Foraker Will Entertain All the People of Athens, Ohio.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 24.—United States Senator J. B. Foraker had just received an invitation to a dinner to be given at Athens, Ohio, and the host is to
