

MRS. VLASTO GOES ON SUING.

THIS TIME SUES HER HUSBAND, "UNCLE," TO THE CULVERS.

After a Long Separation at $100 a Month Seeks One for Desertion—Mrs. Culver's Counsel Rides Suit Against Her—Culver Expected at Once.

The Vlasto-Culver-Vlasto litigation took a new turn yesterday. Mrs. Elizabeth R. Vlasto, wife of Solon J., the Greek friend of Mrs. Everett Mallory Culver, daughter of United States Senator William A. Clark and wife of Dr. Everett M. Culver, directed her attorneys, Howe & Hummel, yesterday to bring suit against her husband for separation on the ground of desertion. She had already sued Mrs. Culver for a wife of $500,000, for alienating Vlasto. Mrs. Culver is suing Dr. Culver for divorce.

Papers were served on Vlasto at his office, 2 Stone street, yesterday afternoon and he was turned over by him to his attorney, Louis F. Dowie. Next Wednesday Howe & Hummel will make application to a Justice of the Supreme Court for counsel fees and alimony pending the decision of the separation suit.

Mrs. Vlasto has said that an offer of a large amount of money was made to her if she would not begin any litigation against her husband or Mrs. Culver. Mr. Dowie said yesterday afternoon that if Mrs. Vlasto, in any papers served in the separation suit, had made statements reflecting upon the character of Mr. Vlasto, all such statements would be wholly inadmissible.

Henry G. Atwater, attorney for Mrs. Culver, discussed rather freely yesterday afternoon Mrs. Vlasto's suit against his client for $500,000. Among other things Mr. Atwater said:

"Now that this suit has been begun and the other side has rushed it into the newspapers, I propose bringing it to trial as quickly as possible and having it tried in open court and before a jury. I want everybody to have the opportunity to hear what the testimony will be. I shall draw my answer this afternoon, serve it on Friday and have it put on the calendar at the earliest possible moment."

He does not believe that Mrs. Vlasto's active move to bring the case to trial, but we want to get this woman into court as soon as possible and find out who's behind her. At the trial, Mrs. Vlasto's attorney, Mr. Dowie, however, I don't suppose this action can be tried much before the latter part of the year. I believe I could make a pretty shrewd guess as to the source of the woman's inspiration. A certain publication in this country has been very busy in the past few months, during which she has been separated from her husband, she has lived in the city, Mrs. Vlasto's attorney, Mr. Dowie, she received regularly every month from her husband—$100 a month. I believe I am right in saying that she has no money to spend in litigation, because if she had she would have begun to spend it long ago. She and her husband have lived in the city for two years.

Mr. Atwater was asked if there was anything in Mrs. Vlasto's reported statement that Vlasto and Mrs. Culver had occupied the same room at a European hotel. "Why," said Mr. Atwater, "that story is the most ridiculous of all. Mrs. Vlasto and Mrs. Culver never put up at the same hotels in Europe or anywhere else. In the first place, Mrs. Vlasto is a widow and Mrs. Culver is a married woman. Mrs. Vlasto is concerned with the facts of a woman friend, her little daughter and nurse and two maids. Vlasto, who goes to Europe every year, has no money to spend in litigation, because if she had she would have begun to spend it long ago. She and her husband have lived in the city for two years."

TRUANT SCHOOL IN THE COUNTRY

Proposed to the Board of Education and Approved. Despite Protests.

At the meeting of the Board of Education yesterday a committee was appointed to arrange for building a truant school out in the country convenient to a railroad station. In the discussion over the project it was acknowledged that the proposal was rather a novelty, but Commissioner Greene said that the cottage plan contemplated would enable this city to keep in step with recent progress in the treatment of boys.

It is intended that the truant school shall be a group of cottages in a quiet country spot where the boys will have an opportunity to acquire some practical knowledge of farming and can be compelled to saw wood when not studying gardening or some other useful occupation. Each cottage will have its tenants thirty boys and a teacher. A good sized farm will be attached to the school. In the summer the boys will be sent to the city to work on the farm. It is suggested that some of the boys in the city might be tempted to play truant in the summer to that they might be sent to Father Knickerbocker's summer resort free.

How much is this going to cost? "One of the members asked. "We can't tell yet. Perhaps $150,000 or $200,000," Commissioner Lunnin answered. "Why use such a sum of money for a school out in the country when we have not schools enough in this city to accommodate all of our children? Some of the children are truant because they cannot get into the public schools. There's no room for them," said Mr. Barrett.

A tribute to the memory of Andrew H. Green, who was once president of the Board of Education, was entered on the minutes and a copy ordered sent to his family.

TURKEY FOR EVERYONE TO-DAY

IF PRICES ARE UP, NEW YORK'S CHARITY IS ROUNDLESS.

Some of the Feasts Prepared for the Poor and the Unfortunate by the Wealthy and Philanthropic—Hospital and Prisons to Share in the Good Cheer.

Turkeys are away up in price, and chickens and ducks and other fowl come high, but New York, if the number and the size of the charitable dinners to be given to-day count for anything, is going to have just as big and just as good a Thanksgiving as any of the good, big Thanksgivings of the past. Nearly all the churches will hold services in the morning, most of the business places will close, and the city's big departments of Charity and Correction are going to feed with good things the hundreds in their care, as well as private individuals all over Greater New York, will vie with each other in making the day a happy one for the city's poor.

The little folks of the city who don't see a turkey, alive or dead, perhaps more than once a year will, as they always do, count on a big share of the attention and good things that have been arranged for to-day. The Harlem Rescue Mission will feed 500 of these little ones at its quarters, Third avenue and 124th street, and the Young Folks' League of the Hebrew Orphan Asylum will eat turkey and mince pie and have as their guests a lot of poor children from The Bronx.

Mrs. William E. Dodge, Jr., will give a big dinner at the boys' lodging house, in Forty-fourth street; W. Bayard Cutting has provided a lay out for the girls in the Elizabeth Street Home; the boys of the East 10th Street Home; the boys of the West Side Lodging House will have their Thanksgiving dinner this year, although James King Gracie who for twenty-five years has given them all the turkey and cranberry sauce, died a few days ago. The dinner will be provided by the Gracie estate.

At the Five Points Mission Home preparations have been made to dine 600 children, and across the street the Five Points House of Industry will give a dinner to 1,000 poor children. The workers at the Doyers Street Mission will give a dinner to homeless men and women frequenting the mission, and the children and mothers of the Hope Mission School and to the unfortunate women who live in Chinatown.

The Bowery branch of the Y. M. C. A. will feed 500 men in relay and other ways. The prisoners at the Tombs and on Blackwell's Island will get a big feed. The department of Public Charities has ordered 7,000 pounds of turkey and 6,000 pounds of chicken for the hospitals and other institutions.

At the Bowers Mission 5,000 men will receive breakfast, the place being opened for a few days in the morning, twenty-five families will receive family dinners at 5 o'clock and 1,000 men will be fed in the evening.

Protestant Episcopal City Mission Society, of which Bishop Potter is president and the Rev. Robert B. Kimber superintendent, is another of the big distributors of Thanksgiving cheer. They are going to send cigars and oranges to the prisoners in the Tombs, the Workhouse and the Reformatory. This is practically the first time that these men and women have been remembered in the distribution of the day's good things.

The society is also going to distribute oranges in many of the city hospitals. Then they are going to give a Thanksgiving dinner to 1,000 prisoners in the Broomfield street, near the Bowers. Three hundred families, who cannot get a dinner, are to have sent to each a basket containing turkey, sugar, potatoes, turnips, apples, cranberry sauce, and celery.

CONVICTS PICKED UP AT SEA.

Had Been in Open Boat 13 Days When Found—From New Caledonia.

VICTORIA, B. C., Nov. 25.—The steamer Moana, which arrived to-day from Australia, brought news of the picking up at sea of seven escaped convicts from the penal settlement at New Caledonia, who had been drifting at sea in an open boat for thirteen days. The prisoners, who had secured a fishing smack, converted a sapling into a mast and put to sea, intending to escape to the Australian coast. None of the prisoners had the slightest idea of navigation. All would have perished had they not been rescued by the steamer Cromarty, 400 miles north of New Caledonia, which took them to Sydney. The convicts, who were all armed, were weak and emaciated when rescued.

ELEVATED CARS HEATED NOW.

Kingsbridge Power House Has Got to Work on Them—Interference by Strikers.

Vice-President Bryan of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company explained yesterday why the cars on the elevated railroad have not been heated, and promised also that passengers would hereafter have no cause to complain. He said:

When the labor troubles occurred last spring and the Interborough company saw that it would be impossible to have the new power-house machinery delivered by the end of the Manhattan division commencing Nov. 1, of this year, the Interborough company made a contract with the Kingsbridge Power House of the Interurban Street Railroad Company, which power is operated in the Kingsbridge power house. The Kingsbridge power house proceeded to install the cables and substation machinery, and the Interborough company to safeguard its system and provide for emergencies. This work was vigorously pushed and was completed in a few days.

It is stated that the work was started at the Kingsbridge power house and the 3,000 kilowatts of current was used that day and will be used all this winter. The extra current enabled us to heat all the cars on the sixth and Ninth avenues. This morning we succeeded in getting the second unit started in the Kingsbridge power house, and we have now a supply of current to heat every car on the entire system. This supply of current will be kept on during the winter. If strikers had not interfered on our new power house we would now have a supply of current to heat every car on the entire system.

Mr. Bryan said that the company was operating a train service 25 per cent. greater than that recommended by the State Railroad Commission. The Kingsbridge power house will be in service on the second avenue division and this number will soon be increased to 250.

GEN. CORBIN REVIEWS THE 13TH.

There were also among the many visitors some of the National Guard officers of Pennsylvania and all the regiments in Brooklyn and Manhattan were well represented. Col. Austen put his men through a regular drill, which was very well executed. The regiment was divided into three battalions of four companies each. After the drill, which continued for nearly an hour, the men being put through a series of physical exercises, the organization reformed for review. Gen. Corbin reviewed the regiment and with ninety-seven cheers on his devoted head in a Thanksgiving bar room raffle, succumbed yesterday to delirium tremens, wrecked a Jersey City saloon and caused the Fire Department to be called out.
