

LEFT TRAIL OF BAD CHECKS.

DRY GOODS STORE THIEF CAUGHT AT IT AT LAST.

Fless Carried a Business Man's Cards and Signed the Same Name to Checks—Has a Wife, a New York Sweetheart and a Poetical Jersey City Girl.

Housed in the Tenderloin station last night was a man whose arrest will be welcome news to a score of the big dry goods firms.

A month ago the Brooklyn stores began to get hold of those worthless checks.

A description fell into the hands of Detective Larkin, and he kept it in mind.

He was standing near the entrance of the store late yesterday afternoon when the couple entered.

He bought several pairs of hose, a dress suit case and some neckwear.

The prisoner pulled out his card case and extracted one of a dozen cards.

"Do you know who I am?" demanded the man when he was arrested.

"No, I don't, but I hope to," said Larkin.

"Well, you have made an error that will cost you dearly."

The prisoner pulled out his card case and extracted one of a dozen cards.

"That is who I am, and my check is as good as gold," he said.

"We'll know in a little while," said Larkin, taking his prisoner to a private office.

There Larkin telephoned to Mr. Denekes's business place and found him there.

Mr. Denekes hurriedly changed into his store but couldn't identify the prisoner.

The $50 check, which bore Mr. Denekes's name, he pronounced a forgery.

"The signature looks something like mine, but I never wrote it," said Mr. Denekes.

The business cards found on the prisoner were shown to Mr. Denekes.

On his way out of the store he looked around for the woman, but didn't see her.

On the way to the police station the prisoner begged to be allowed to go.

"She has plenty of money," he said, "and she will help me."

When the prisoner was searched his right name was learned.

My dear boy, I think, sweetheart, I was born with a poet's instinct.

AFTER MISS PAGE'S MURDERER

POLICE THINK A MAN KILLED HER IN HER HOME.

Contents of the Stomach to Be Analyzed to Try to Fix the Hour of the Crime and Determine Whether She Was Alive at Noon, as Her Note Indicated.

BRYAN TO GIVE UP HIS CLAIM

Report That He Will No Longer Contest for the $50,000 Bennett Bequest.

NEW HAVEN, April 2.—After the Bennett will hearing was concluded in the Superior Court in this city on Thursday, ex-Senator Towne J. Bryan's personal counsel, had a half hour's secret conference with Judge Henry Stoddard.

All the parties in the case decline to discuss the report.

The probable basis of settlement would be the withdrawal of the part of Mr. Bryan to all claims to the $50,000 mentioned in the sealed letter with the understanding that Mr. and Mrs. Bryan be entirely cleared of the imputation that they in the slightest degree used any influence whatever on Mr. Bennett when he wrote the sealed letter.

"I don't see how Mr. Bryan can take this money under the circumstances.

"I don't see how Mr. Bryan can take this money under the circumstances.

Another victim of the notorious Ann O'Delia Dine De Bar dropped in the Jefferson District Police court yesterday.

McCoys, to whom Mrs. Cronkite has assigned her claim for the value of the dog, and who then brought suit in his own name against Youngling, says that on April 15, 1903, he delivered the dog to Youngling at the latter's kennels in Yonkers.

When the dog was returned to him, he found it was a different dog.

When the dog was returned to him, he found it was a different dog.

When the dog was returned to him, he found it was a different dog.

When the dog was returned to him, he found it was a different dog.

When the dog was returned to him, he found it was a different dog.

When the dog was returned to him, he found it was a different dog.

When the dog was returned to him, he found it was a different dog.

When the dog was returned to him, he found it was a different dog.

When the dog was returned to him, he found it was a different dog.

When the dog was returned to him, he found it was a different dog.

When the dog was returned to him, he found it was a different dog.

When the dog was returned to him, he found it was a different dog.

When the dog was returned to him, he found it was a different dog.

When the dog was returned to him, he found it was a different dog.

When the dog was returned to him, he found it was a different dog.

HAD MRS. BURNS D. A. R. BADGE.

Negro Arrested in Cincinnati May Solve Hotel Robberies of Jewels.

CHICAGO, April 2.—Through a robbery amounting to some thousands of dollars, Mrs. John C. Burns, who disappeared from Chicago in 1901, has been heard from.

The pawn tickets were traced, and it was found that he had pawned a diamond set badge of the Daughters of the Revolution, on which "Mrs. Hattie L. Burns" was inscribed.

Through the national headquarters of the organization at Washington the detectives traced Mrs. Burns to New York and learned that within the last few weeks she visited New York Washington and Palm Beach, Fla.

Mrs. Burns is and Mr. and Mrs. Charles V. Daily of New York are now on the way to Cincinnati for the purpose, if possible, of identifying Mrs. Burns, who was a well known member of several women's clubs and the Daughters of the American Revolution, mysteriously disappeared from Chicago soon after the robbery of her jewelry at a hotel here, and until the arrest of Taylor at Cincinnati had not been heard from by the authorities here.

That is considered to be near enough to furnish a theory as to the crime, especially if the time arrived at by Prof. Wood's analysis of the contents of the stomach does not correspond with the 12 noon written on the note left by Miss Page, which she was about to go to her brother in a hospital in Boston.

The State detectives are not satisfied that the note, although it was dated at noon, may be taken as conclusive evidence of the time of the murder.

There is a well defined expectation in the minds of the detectives that the chemist will find that Miss Page was killed before 12 o'clock.

There is a well defined expectation in the minds of the detectives that the chemist will find that Miss Page was killed before 12 o'clock.

There is a well defined expectation in the minds of the detectives that the chemist will find that Miss Page was killed before 12 o'clock.

There is a well defined expectation in the minds of the detectives that the chemist will find that Miss Page was killed before 12 o'clock.

There is a well defined expectation in the minds of the detectives that the chemist will find that Miss Page was killed before 12 o'clock.

There is a well defined expectation in the minds of the detectives that the chemist will find that Miss Page was killed before 12 o'clock.

There is a well defined expectation in the minds of the detectives that the chemist will find that Miss Page was killed before 12 o'clock.

There is a well defined expectation in the minds of the detectives that the chemist will find that Miss Page was killed before 12 o'clock.

There is a well defined expectation in the minds of the detectives that the chemist will find that Miss Page was killed before 12 o'clock.

There is a well defined expectation in the minds of the detectives that the chemist will find that Miss Page was killed before 12 o'clock.

There is a well defined expectation in the minds of the detectives that the chemist will find that Miss Page was killed before 12 o'clock.

There is a well defined expectation in the minds of the detectives that the chemist will find that Miss Page was killed before 12 o'clock.

There is a well defined expectation in the minds of the detectives that the chemist will find that Miss Page was killed before 12 o'clock.

There is a well defined expectation in the minds of the detectives that the chemist will find that Miss Page was killed before 12 o'clock.

There is a well defined expectation in the minds of the detectives that the chemist will find that Miss Page was killed before 12 o'clock.

There is a well defined expectation in the minds of the detectives that the chemist will find that Miss Page was killed before 12 o'clock.

There is a well defined expectation in the minds of the detectives that the chemist will find that Miss Page was killed before 12 o'clock.

There is a well defined expectation in the minds of the detectives that the chemist will find that Miss Page was killed before 12 o'clock.

There is a well defined expectation in the minds of the detectives that the chemist will find that Miss Page was killed before 12 o'clock.

There is a well defined expectation in the minds of the detectives that the chemist will find that Miss Page was killed before 12 o'clock.

COULDN'T WED; SHOT HIMSELF

DIED IN THE HOME OF THE WOMAN HE LOVED.

Oswald J. Miller Was a Strict Christian, and Would Not Violate the Rules of His Church by Marrying Divorced Woman—He Killed Himself in Her Bed.

Hoboken, committed suicide last night in the home of Edward Johnson, an ice dealer, at 92 Jewett avenue, Jersey City.

Miller was 27 years old. He was an inspector for a Brooklyn elevator company.

Miller was 27 years old. He was an inspector for a Brooklyn elevator company.

Miller was 27 years old. He was an inspector for a Brooklyn elevator company.

Miller was 27 years old. He was an inspector for a Brooklyn elevator company.

Miller was 27 years old. He was an inspector for a Brooklyn elevator company.

Miller was 27 years old. He was an inspector for a Brooklyn elevator company.

Miller was 27 years old. He was an inspector for a Brooklyn elevator company.

Miller was 27 years old. He was an inspector for a Brooklyn elevator company.

Miller was 27 years old. He was an inspector for a Brooklyn elevator company.

Miller was 27 years old. He was an inspector for a Brooklyn elevator company.

Miller was 27 years old. He was an inspector for a Brooklyn elevator company.

Miller was 27 years old. He was an inspector for a Brooklyn elevator company.

Miller was 27 years old. He was an inspector for a Brooklyn elevator company.

Miller was 27 years old. He was an inspector for a Brooklyn elevator company.

Miller was 27 years old. He was an inspector for a Brooklyn elevator company.

Miller was 27 years old. He was an inspector for a Brooklyn elevator company.

Miller was 27 years old. He was an inspector for a Brooklyn elevator company.

Miller was 27 years old. He was an inspector for a Brooklyn elevator company.

Miller was 27 years old. He was an inspector for a Brooklyn elevator company.

Miller was 27 years old. He was an inspector for a Brooklyn elevator company.

Miller was 27 years old. He was an inspector for a Brooklyn elevator company.

Miller was 27 years old. He was an inspector for a Brooklyn elevator company.

Miller was 27 years old. He was an inspector for a Brooklyn elevator company.

Miller was 27 years old. He was an inspector for a Brooklyn elevator company.

Miller was 27 years old. He was an inspector for a Brooklyn elevator company.

Miller was 27 years old. He was an inspector for a Brooklyn elevator company.

SURGEONS FOR MRS. G. J. GOULD.

An Operation for Appendicitis From Which She Is Recovering Well.

Mrs. George J. Gould was operated on for appendicitis on Wednesday at her home, Sixty-seventh street and Fifth avenue.

The operation was performed by Dr. William B. Anderson of 34 West Forty-seventh street. Two other physicians assisted.

The operation was successful, it was said at the Gould house last night, and the patient is improving.

Mrs. Gould was at her home when she had an acute attack of the disease. An operation was decided upon and it was performed as soon as the necessary plans could be made.

Mrs. Gould was Miss Edith Kingdon, who was with Augustus Daly's company when Mr. Gould first met her. They have five children.

Mrs. Gould was Miss Edith Kingdon, who was with Augustus Daly's company when Mr. Gould first met her. They have five children.

Mrs. Gould was Miss Edith Kingdon, who was with Augustus Daly's company when Mr. Gould first met her. They have five children.

Mrs. Gould was Miss Edith Kingdon, who was with Augustus Daly's company when Mr. Gould first met her. They have five children.

Mrs. Gould was Miss Edith Kingdon, who was with Augustus Daly's company when Mr. Gould first met her. They have five children.

Mrs. Gould was Miss Edith Kingdon, who was with Augustus Daly's company when Mr. Gould first met her. They have five children.

Mrs. Gould was Miss Edith Kingdon, who was with Augustus Daly's company when Mr. Gould first met her. They have five children.

Mrs. Gould was Miss Edith Kingdon, who was with Augustus Daly's company when Mr. Gould first met her. They have five children.

Mrs. Gould was Miss Edith Kingdon, who was with Augustus Daly's company when Mr. Gould first met her. They have five children.

Mrs. Gould was Miss Edith Kingdon, who was with Augustus Daly's company when Mr. Gould first met her. They have five children.

Mrs. Gould was Miss Edith Kingdon, who was with Augustus Daly's company when Mr. Gould first met her. They have five children.

Mrs. Gould was Miss Edith Kingdon, who was with Augustus Daly's company when Mr. Gould first met her. They have five children.

Mrs. Gould was Miss Edith Kingdon, who was with Augustus Daly's company when Mr. Gould first met her. They have five children.

Mrs. Gould was Miss Edith Kingdon, who was with Augustus Daly's company when Mr. Gould first met her. They have five children.

Mrs. Gould was Miss Edith Kingdon, who was with Augustus Daly's company when Mr. Gould first met her. They have five children.

Mrs. Gould was Miss Edith Kingdon, who was with Augustus Daly's company when Mr. Gould first met her. They have five children.

Mrs. Gould was Miss Edith Kingdon, who was with Augustus Daly's company when Mr. Gould first met her. They have five children.

Mrs. Gould was Miss Edith Kingdon, who was with Augustus Daly's company when Mr. Gould first met her. They have five children.

Mrs. Gould was Miss Edith Kingdon, who was with Augustus Daly's company when Mr. Gould first met her. They have five children.

Mrs. Gould was Miss Edith Kingdon, who was with Augustus Daly's company when Mr. Gould first met her. They have five children.

Mrs. Gould was Miss Edith Kingdon, who was with Augustus Daly's company when Mr. Gould first met her. They have five children.

Mrs. Gould was Miss Edith Kingdon, who was with Augustus Daly's company when Mr. Gould first met her. They have five children.

Mrs. Gould was Miss Edith Kingdon, who was with Augustus Daly's company when Mr. Gould first met her. They have five children.

Mrs. Gould was Miss Edith Kingdon, who was with Augustus Daly's company when Mr. Gould first met her. They have five children.

JUDGE PARKER HERE, SILENT.

JUSTICE TRUAX THINKS CONVENTION WON'T INSTRUCT.

And Can Afford to Let Formal Instructions Go With No Large a Majority for Parker—Bryan Is Meditating a Careful Piece About D. B. Hill.

Justice Truax, who is the president of the Manhattan Club, said that at the annual dinner of the club he will hold forth in the next three weeks, the list of speakers would probably include not only Judge Parker and David B. Hill, but also George Cleveland.

Justice Truax also refused to talk upon political subjects. He sent word to the reporters that he had simply come to New York to attend the funeral of the son of one of his closest friends.

Justice Truax also refused to talk upon political subjects. He sent word to the reporters that he had simply come to New York to attend the funeral of the son of one of his closest friends.

Justice Truax also refused to talk upon political subjects. He sent word to the reporters that he had simply come to New York to attend the funeral of the son of one of his closest friends.

Justice Truax also refused to talk upon political subjects. He sent word to the reporters that he had simply come to New York to attend the funeral of the son of one of his closest friends.

Justice Truax also refused to talk upon political subjects. He sent word to the reporters that he had simply come to New York to attend the funeral of the son of one of his closest friends.

Justice Truax also refused to talk upon political subjects. He sent word to the reporters that he had simply come to New York to attend the funeral of the son of one of his closest friends.

Justice Truax also refused to talk upon political subjects. He sent word to the reporters that he had simply come to New York to attend the funeral of the son of one of his closest friends.

Justice Truax also refused to talk upon political subjects. He sent word to the reporters that he had simply come to New York to attend the funeral of the son of one of his closest friends.

Justice Truax also refused to talk upon political subjects. He sent word to the reporters that he had simply come to New York to attend the funeral of the son of one of his closest friends.

Justice Truax also refused to talk upon political subjects. He sent word to the reporters that he had simply come to New York to attend the funeral of the son of one of his closest friends.

Justice Truax also refused to talk upon political subjects. He sent word to the reporters that he had simply come to New York to attend the funeral of the son of one of his closest friends.

Justice Truax also refused to talk upon political subjects. He sent word to the reporters that he had simply come to New York to attend the funeral of the son of one of his closest friends.

Justice Truax also refused to talk upon political subjects. He sent word to the reporters that he had simply come to New York to attend the funeral of the son of one of his closest friends.

Justice Truax also refused to talk upon political subjects. He sent word to the reporters that he had simply come to New York to attend the funeral of the son of one of his closest friends.

Justice Truax also refused to talk upon political subjects. He sent word to the reporters that he had simply come to New York to attend the funeral of the son of one of his closest friends.

Justice Truax also refused to talk upon political subjects. He sent word to the reporters that he had simply come to New York to attend the funeral of the son of one of his closest friends.

Justice Truax also refused to talk upon political subjects. He sent word to the reporters that he had simply come to New York to attend the funeral of the son of one of his closest friends.

Justice Truax also refused to talk upon political subjects. He sent word to the reporters that he had simply come to New York to attend the funeral of the son of one of his closest friends.

Justice Truax also refused to talk upon political subjects. He sent word to the reporters that he had simply come to New York to attend the funeral of the son of one of his closest friends.

Justice Truax also refused to talk upon political subjects. He sent word to the reporters that he had simply come to New York to attend the funeral of the son of one of his closest friends.

Justice Truax also refused to talk upon political subjects. He sent word to the reporters that he had simply come to New York to attend the funeral of the son of one of his closest friends.

Justice Truax also refused to talk upon political subjects. He sent word to the reporters that he had simply come to New York to attend the funeral of the son of one of his closest friends.

Justice Truax also refused to talk upon political subjects. He sent word to the reporters that he had simply come to New York to attend the funeral of the son of one of his closest friends.

Justice Truax also refused to talk upon political subjects. He sent word to the reporters that he had simply come to New York to attend the funeral of the son of one of his closest friends.

Justice Truax also refused to talk upon political subjects. He sent word to the reporters that he had simply come to New York to attend the funeral of the son of one of his closest friends.

Justice Truax also refused to talk upon political subjects. He sent word to the reporters that he had simply come to New York to attend the funeral of the son of one of his closest friends.

341 KILLED IN SUMATRA FIGHT.

Achinese Suffer in Battle With the Dutch Troops.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. AMSTERDAM, April 2.—A despatch from Kotaraja, Sumatra, and the Telegraph says that the column of Dutch troops which is operating in the Acheen district found all the villages in Gajoolens strongly entrenched. A fight ensued between the Achinese and the Dutch troops.

The enemy had 541 killed. The Dutch loss was three killed and twenty-five wounded.

The enemy had 541 killed. The Dutch loss was three killed and twenty-five wounded.

The enemy had 541 killed. The Dutch loss was three killed and twenty-five wounded.

The enemy had 541 killed. The Dutch loss was three killed and twenty-five wounded.

The enemy had 541 killed. The Dutch loss was three killed and twenty-five wounded.

The enemy had 541 killed. The Dutch loss was three killed and twenty-five wounded.

The enemy had 541 killed. The Dutch loss was three killed and twenty-five wounded.

The enemy had 541 killed. The Dutch loss was three killed and twenty-five wounded.

The enemy had 541 killed. The Dutch loss was three killed and twenty-five wounded.

The enemy had 541 killed. The Dutch loss was three killed and twenty-five wounded.

The enemy had 541 killed. The Dutch loss was three killed and twenty-five wounded.

The enemy had 541 killed. The Dutch loss was three killed and twenty-five wounded.

The enemy had 541 killed. The Dutch loss was three killed and twenty-five wounded.

The enemy had 541 killed. The Dutch loss was three killed and twenty-five wounded.

The enemy had 541 killed. The Dutch loss was three killed and twenty-five wounded.

The enemy had 541 killed. The Dutch loss was three killed and twenty-five wounded.

The enemy had 541 killed. The Dutch loss was three killed and twenty-five wounded.

The enemy had 541 killed. The Dutch loss was three killed and twenty-five wounded.

The enemy had 541 killed. The Dutch loss was three killed and twenty-five wounded.

The enemy had 541 killed. The Dutch loss was three killed and twenty-five wounded.

The enemy had 541 killed. The Dutch loss was three killed and twenty-five wounded.

The enemy had 541 killed. The Dutch loss was three killed and twenty-five wounded.

The enemy had 541 killed. The Dutch loss was three killed and twenty-five wounded.

The enemy had 541 killed. The Dutch loss was three killed and twenty-five wounded.

The enemy had 541 killed. The Dutch loss was three killed and twenty-five wounded.

The enemy had 541 killed. The Dutch loss was three killed and twenty-five wounded.

The enemy had 541 killed. The Dutch loss was three killed and twenty-five wounded.

LOST DOG, $500.

Bull Terrier Named Chief Vanishes From Youngling's Kennels.

HAS DISS DE BARS JEWELRY.

Mrs. Ruth Says the Woman Gave It to Her as Security for $800 Loan.

COUPLE TO WED AGAIN.

Mr. and Mrs. Clapp, Divorced After Living 33 Years Together, Will Remarry.

WOMAN IN LAND FRAUD CASE.

Mrs.