Russian Squadron Appears in Korea Strait.

Japanese Ships in Pursuit, Battle May Be Raging.

Cruiser Nitaka Keeping in Touch With Enemy—Appearance of the Russian Warships Off the Coast of Japan, Causes Great Excitement—Squadron Is from Vladivostok and Includes Three Cruisers—Rumor of Big Russian Loss in Battle North of Port Arthur.

Special Cable Dispatches to THE SUN. TOKYO, June 15.—In the absence of any official or authoritative account of the sortie of the Vladivostok squadron it is only possible to send what appears to be the most reliable of the numerous reports.

The squadron reported to consist of the cruisers Rurik, Rosia and Cromvovl, and, according to some accounts, of a flotilla of torpedo boats, arrived on Tuesday in the Strait of Corea, whence sounds of cannonading were heard on the Japanese and Korean coasts.

At a point where the Russians bombarded the island of Okino, which lies half way between the island of Tsushima and the Japanese mainland.

It is reported that the Japanese warships at Saesio and elsewhere hastened in the direction of the firing, and that the cruiser Nitaka encountered the Russians off Tsushima Island. The Nitaka was severely damaged, but at last report was still trying to keep in touch with the enemy.

TRANSPORTS FIRED ON. The Japanese transports Ugo Maru and Fuyo Maru, homeward bound, had previously been sighted by the Russians, who pursued them, firing sixteen shots, but the transports reached Katsumoto safely.

Another account says that the Russians intercepted three laden Japanese transports, two of which are missing. The steamship Ibari Maru, which left Moji for Bikan at 10 P. M., June 14, returned at midday to-day flying the signal: "The enemy's vessels are on the sea."

The Ibari Maru subsequently reported seeing the merchant steamer Hitachi Maru fired upon at 6 o'clock in the morning. She also saw another steamer surrounded by the Russians.

Another report states that the Russians met some Japanese steamers north of Kishima Island, some of them outward bound from Moji, while others were from the west. The warships fired on them, causing great damage.

EXCITEMENT IN JAPAN. The lack of definite news is attributed to fog and rough weather. The arrival of the enemy's ships close to the Japanese coast is causing great excitement, although it is declared that no city is exposed to attack. There is considerable anxiety regarding shipping, it being known that there are a number of unescorted vessels at sea.

The Jiji Shinko prints the following: "We are of the opinion that the three Russian ships arrived at Kishima Island on June 14. The firing heard was not directed against warships. The steamers fired upon by the Russians were not injured and escaped to port. A dense fog prevailed around Tsushima Island on the morning of June 15. Since they were last seen one of the Russian vessels has parted company with the others."

"We have carefully guarded the Strait of Corea and a scout immediately reported the enemy's ships to the squadron. The scout kept them well in touch throughout the day. At times she was barely a mile away from them. There was a clear horizon and the sea was running."

"We hoped ere darkness set in to locate and fight the enemy, but it was difficult to find and engage them, though their speed was restricted to 15 knots owing to one of the older ships not being able to keep up with the rest."

RUSSIAN LOSS REPORTED. SHANGHAI, June 15.—Telegrams from Tokio in reference to the raid of the Vladivostok squadron in the Strait of Corea variously report that the Russians were destroyed or escaped to the eastward after a severe engagement with a Japanese squadron.

Admiralty is without any information. So far as can be judged from the most reliable reports, the firing was confined to shelling Japanese transports and merchantmen along the coasts of the islets, with probably an exchange of shots with the Japanese cruiser Nitaka, which was apparently detailed to watch the Russian movements.

RUSSIAN SHIPS CUT OFF.

Japanese Fleet Reported Between Them and Vladivostok. Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. TOKYO, June 15.—It is learned that the Russian Vladivostok squadron surrounded the transport Sitachi Maru, which when last seen was enveloped in smoke. It is feared that she was sunk. The Ugo Maru received sixteen shots, but managed to escape and to reach Katsumoto. The Mado Maru left Moji yesterday, and it is feared that the Russians sank her.

A Japanese fleet is pursuing the Russians, who escaped to the eastward in a fog. It is certain that the Russian squadron will soon be destroyed by the vastly superior Japanese fleet which is preventing its return to Vladivostok.

LAND FIGHTING CONTINUES.

Russian Losses North of Port Arthur Said to Be Heavy. Special Cable Dispatches to THE SUN. ST. PETERSBURG, June 15.—There is no further official news of the fighting near Wafangkau, which is reported to have been renewed to-day and to be proceeding over an extended front on a large scale.

It is reported that 20,000 Japanese are employed in an effort to outflank the Russians, who continue to hold their own. Three squadrons of Japanese cavalry are said to have been destroyed. One account places the Russian losses in Tuesday's fighting at 306 killed and wounded.

A Russian column, consisting of a few hundred men, which had been for several weeks acting independently in Corea, has now rejoined Gen. Kourpatkin's army. The column found and destroyed many secret stores of Japanese provisions, and obtained valuable information of the Japanese movements.

LONDON, June 15.—The Tokio correspondent of the Express says that news has been received, but has not been published officially, of a great Japanese victory near Fuchau, on the railway north of Port Arthur. The Russians were completely overwhelmed. They lost more than a thousand men, and left all their guns on the field, retreating in disorder.

This apparently refers to the engagement reported on Tuesday by Lieut.-Gen. Stakelberg, in which he said that the Japanese attack had been repulsed, and that the Russians kept their position.

A despatch to the Daily Mail from Newchwang says that the Russians are moving a strong force from Liaoyang and Kaichau, avowedly for the purpose of covering an attempt to relieve Port Arthur.

Various points between Haicheng and Kaichau are held by numerous bodies of Russians, the largest number being seven miles from the coast. Chinese arrivals, bringing stories of fighting, which cannot be verified. It is not doubted, however, that Gen. Kourpatkin has altered his plan of campaign and has made a wide dispersal of his troops.

NOVIK MAKES A SORTIE. Russian Cruiser Engages Togo's Small Boats—Japs Laying Mines. WASHINGTON, June 15.—The following cable was received at the Japanese Legation to-day:

"Admiral Togo reports that our torpedo boat flotilla proceeded to Port Arthur on the night of the 13th and succeeded in laying mines at certain points and safely returned. About noon of the 14th, when our second destroyer flotilla and three torpedo boat flotillas were bombarding the enemy on the shore near Shampingtau for facilitating the reconnaissance of our army, the enemy's cruiser Novik, with ten destroyers, came out from Port Arthur and sharp firing was exchanged."

"Our flotillas tried to entice the enemy by gradually retiring, but at 3 P. M. the enemy withdrew. No damage done to our ships."

"Our cruiser Chitose heard explosions and sound of heavy firing at 4 P. M. of the same day in the direction of Port Arthur."

RAISULI'S DEMANDS GROW.

BANDIT DECLINES TO RELEASE PERDICARIS AND VARLEY.

Wants the United States, England and France to Give Guarantees that the Sultan Will Carry Out His Promises—Demands Control of More Provinces.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. TANGIER, June 15.—Raisuli, the bandit, now demands, as a condition of the release of Perdicaris and Varley, that the control of four provinces be given to him and that an agreement be made with the Sultan shall be guaranteed by three nations, the United States, England and France, so far as the performance of the Sultan's promises is concerned.

At the very moment when the release of Ion Perdicaris and Cromwell Varley seemed assured, their captor, the brigand Raisuli, has increased his demands upon the Sultan of Morocco and refuses to let the prisoners go unless his additional conditions are complied with.

"He wants to be Lord of the Mountains of the Moor," said an officer to-day after reading a telegram just received from Consul-General Gummeré, at Tangier, telling of the blith in the negotiations for the ransom of Perdicaris and Varley.

Mr. Gummeré told in his message that the mission sent by the Sultan of Morocco to Raisuli's camp to acknowledge the Sultan's compliance with practically all the terms laid down by the bandit for freeing his hostages had been met with increased demands. Raisuli now insists that the Sultan shall not only release all of Raisuli's followers from prison, but shall throw into jail all of Raisuli's enemies. He demands also that the territorial limits over which the Sultan agreed to give control to Raisuli should be increased. Three provinces instead of one are now asked for by him.

Raisuli has also gone a step further in his insistence upon guarantees from the United States and England that the Sultan shall carry out his promises to the bandit. He now demands that France, as well as England and the United States, should guarantee his obligations to accede to Raisuli's condition, and the Sultan's emissary so informed him. There will be no change in the Administration's attitude.

Owing to these new demands, the release of Perdicaris and Varley has been indefinitely postponed. The Sultan is at Fez and it will take some time to communicate with him and get his answer back to the bandit's stronghold.

Officers here are much irritated over the new turn the affair has taken and refer to Raisuli as an impertinent scoundrel. But they don't see what the Government can do with Raisuli up in the mountains and the American flag at Tangier.

Rear Admiral (Chinese) telegraphed the Navy Department to-day that he had sent his flagship, the armored cruiser Brooklyn, from Tangier to Gibraltar for coal, and had taken quarters temporarily on the cruiser Atlanta, which remains at Tangier.

TO INVESTIGATE DOWIEISM.

Pastor of the Biggest Church in South Australia Sent Here on a Quest.

KANSA CITY, Mo., June 15.—John Alexander Dowie's agents in Australia are busy, and business and professional men in that country are alarmed over the rapidly with which they are making converts. This is the message the Rev. Andrew Crigton Rankine brings from Adelaide. His mission to the United States is to go to Zion City, Ohio, to investigate the movement.

Mr. Rankine is pastor of the Christian Church, Adelaide, the largest church in South Australia. He says many families in Australia are selling farms and property and setting out for Zion. He sailed from Sydney, on May 9. There were fifty-two persons on the same ship bound for Zion City. Many carried with them the proceeds of their worldly possessions.

Most of the recruits are from the middle class of Australian citizens and are not particularly intellectual. They think that Dowie is the real prophet Elijah," said Mr. Rankine. "They will not believe the newspaper reports sent from the United States concerning Zion City and its career of vicissitudes."

Mr. Rankine is following out a plan devised by influential citizens of South Australia. He will make a thorough investigation of Zion City and send the report back to Adelaide, where it will be published over his signature.

"The conditions are really alarming," said Mr. Rankine. "The sum of my next door neighbor sold a farm of 5,000 acres at $100 an acre and set out for Zion City. Volvia, Dowie's Overseer in Melbourne, lives in fine style, with prancing horses, hansom, liveries and other finery."

Great regret was expressed by all at the occurrence, and the news was immediately telegraphed to Washington.

ARKANSAS IS FOR PARKER. The Democratic State Convention Instructs the Delegates to Elect Him. HOT SPRINGS, Ark., June 15.—The Democratic State convention completed its work at a late hour to-night. The convention was completely dominated by Gov. Davis, and he failed in only one important matter, and that was to defeat Senator Berry for delegate at large to the national convention. The convention instructed the delegates to vote for Judge Parker for President.

Immediately after recovering this morning the contesting Davis delegates were seated by a vote of 241 to 192-1-3. Gov. Davis was unanimously nominated for a third term. The proceedings of the convention were here interrupted by the Hon. H. P. Smead of Camden, who said: "I wish to announce my withdrawal from the contest for delegate at large, and ask you all to vote for Senator James H. Berry. I think it right that he should be elected."

The announcement was received with loud cheering, which continued for two minutes. The convention then proceeded to nominate the remainder of the State ticket. Senators Clarke and Berry, Gov. Davis and Secretary of State J. W. Crockett were elected delegates at large to the national convention.

12,300 FAIRBANKS BUTTONS. Indiana Delegation Orders Them for Booming Purposes at Chicago. INDIANAPOLIS, June 15.—The committee that went to Chicago to make arrangements for the Indiana delegation has returned. John B. Crocker, a close friend of Senator Fairbanks, was chairman of the committee, and while in Chicago he ordered 12,300 buttons with the picture of Fairbanks on them for distribution at the convention.

It was also arranged for the delegates to go to the convention hall from their headquarters in the auditorium annex in carriages, the one carrying the Senator to go in the lead.

CHAIRMAN PAYNE TAKEN ILL.

UNABLE TO PRESIDE OVER THE NATIONAL COMMITTEE.

The Postmaster-General Has a Recurrence of His Illness in a Chicago Hotel—Friends Greatly Alarmed at First, but He Improves Later in the Day.

CHICAGO, June 15.—Chairman Henry C. Payne of the Republican national committee was stricken with sudden illness early to-day in his room at the Auditorium Annex and was unable to preside at the meeting of the committee in the Coliseum this afternoon. Considerable uneasiness was felt at first over Mr. Payne's illness, but to-night he was much improved and was able to be around the hotel for a short time.

The illness of the Postmaster-General is a recurrence of the sickness with which he was afflicted in Washington last winter and which caused him to go South in the hope of recovery. When Mr. Payne reached Chicago on Monday he said he was far from well and that he came to the national committee meeting only from a sense of duty. Since the death of Senator Hanna Mr. Payne has been in a state of falling health.

The long strain attendant upon his duties as Postmaster-General during the investigations of the Post Office Department, followed by anxiety during the illness of his friend and colleague on the national committee, Senator Hanna, served to break down his health early in the winter and made a long rest necessary.

Mr. Payne went South for several weeks to recuperate, and in the mean time reports were frequently circulated that he would resign his office in the Cabinet upon his return to Washington. Following his prolonged illness, was said to be due to epilepsy. It was said that his illness was such as to preclude his taking an active part in the preliminary work of the convention. News of his illness spread rapidly in Republican circles. Great regret was expressed by all at the occurrence, and the news was immediately telegraphed to Washington.
