

Adence in her ability to crush Japan in the long run is unwavering. Russia, it is contended, is bound to defeat Japan.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—Continued reiteration of the report of the capture of the Ishan or Koshan forts at Port Arthur tends to create the belief that it is accurate, although the different versions are apparently traceable to stories told by arrivals in London.

DEPORTATION WAS A PLOT.

Alleged Evidence That It Was a Scheme to Hurt Colorado Republicans. DENVER, Col., Aug. 25.—It was given out at the State House today that the deportation of fourteen men from Cripple Creek on last Saturday night was the result of a plot hatched between the Democratic leaders and Secretary Haywood of the Western Federation of Miners, chiefly for political effect and with the view of injuring the Republicans.

It is positively known that Mr. Woodruff and Mr. Malby have been selected for the places mentioned, and it was the opinion last night that there will be no change in the programme, although some of Mr. Woodruff's friends who believe that he should be nominated as Governor are averse to his becoming temporary chairman of the convention, on the ground that it looks like a plan to shelve him.

DROWNED IN OQUAGA LAKE.

Edna and Amelia Kramer of Brooklyn and Robert Cantel of East Orange, N. J. DEPOSIT, N. Y., Aug. 25.—By the capsizing of a small sailboat on Oquaga Lake, a popular summer resort four miles from this village, this afternoon, three of its seven occupants, Edna and Amelia Kramer, sisters, of 253 Woodbine street, Brooklyn, and Robert Cantel of East Orange, N. J., were drowned. Young Canfield was endeavoring to rescue the sisters when seized by one of them and, not being able to extricate himself, sank in about 30 feet of water. The survivors were Edith and Walter Cantel of East Orange and the Misses Haebler and Auerbach of Brooklyn. The lake is being dragged to-night for the bodies, none of which has yet been recovered.

DROWNED MAN—CARL L. ROSE.

And His Body Will Be Taken Out of Potter's Field. His Clothes Identified. NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 25.—Detective James Ward returned this evening from New York, where he had been with proof that the body found in the Sound last Sunday and buried in the Potter's field was that of Carl L. Rose, the missing shirt manufacturer. With Ward was Rose's brother-in-law, H. A. Bolz of New York.

It is considered probable by officers here that the dock company took the suggestion of the British Consul-General to proceed to the repairs to the Russian cruiser. In this event Russia, of course, would recognize that nothing could be gained by a postponement of her decision, particularly as each day of delay made the situation more grave, and consequently announced that the vessels would disarm entirely and remain at the port until the close of hostilities.

As it is, the Japanese will probably advance the claim that the Russian vessels which sought refuge in Shanghai in an unseizable condition belong to her by right, but in this contention, which it is believed will result unfavorably to the Japanese, can be decided in good time.

POLICE WAR IN TENDERLOIN.

INSPECTOR WALSH'S GAMBLING RAIDS ANGER COTTELL.

Captain Says He Was Securing Evidence Against Two Places and Inspector's Men Spotted His Plans—Plain Talk for Sleuth Delany After "Jump" Raid.

There is trouble brewing between Capt. Cottrell of the Tenderloin station and Inspector Walsh, whose inspection district takes in the Tenderloin. The trouble came to a head yesterday when Walsh's men made a "jump" raid on an alleged poolroom at 521 Sixth avenue. The same men made a raid the previous day at 675 Sixth avenue, but took no prisoners.

The place raided yesterday is over a saloon on the northwest corner of Sixth avenue and Thirty-first street. Five of Walsh's men took part in the raid, Rear-Admiral Baxter, O'Sullivan, Hart and Delany. The last named is the inspector's wardman and a brother of Corporation Counsel Delany. He is a detective sergeant and he was in charge of the raid. After forcing the door the party found twenty-five men in the place. They picked three prisoners who, they thought, had something to do with the management. They also got a telephone sixty-one packs of cards and a poker table.

The raiders took their three prisoners direct to the Tenderloin station. Capt. Cottrell reached the station about the same time they did. He had heard of the raid and he was plainly angry. He didn't know his place until the raiders took the three prisoners had been entered on the blotter. Then he went to his room and summoned Delany.

"I've got something to say to you, and you can report what I say to Inspector Walsh," said Capt. Cottrell. "I told Walsh several days ago that I was trying to get both the places until the raiders took the last two days. I told him that I was employing men outside of the department to get the evidence against these two places and that when I raided them I would have them right and convict them. On top of that you come into this precinct and upset my plans and disrupt my work. Now, I won't stand for it, and I don't care who sent you here."

"I know the reason why you have done it, and I won't stand for it. As you are concerned I will make a complaint against you if you mix up in the running of this precinct again. When you made your plan to raid the place, you should have found one of my men in front of the place. You know that man and you can't deny it. Delany replied that he didn't know that Capt. Cottrell was trying to obtain evidence against the two places.

HALF HOUR FIGHT WITH FLAMES

Wood Turner's Place on East Sixty-fourth Street Gives Firemen a Scare.

David Shuldiner, a plate glass dealer at 300 East Sixty-fourth street, when leaving his store at 6:25 o'clock last evening saw a thin stream of smoke coming from the windows of the second floor of 323, occupied by Charles Alberts, architectural wood turner. Shuldiner turned in an alarm. By the time the firemen reached the scene the flames were pouring from all the windows of the first and second floors of 319 to 323, which comprise one five story building. Battalion Chief Grouse sounded a second alarm.

When Deputy Chief Binns arrived it seemed as if the building, as well as the adjoining it, was doomed. East Sixty-fifth street, was doomed, and he turned in a third alarm. The highly inflammable contents of the building, with shavings scattered about, soon spread the flames, gave the firemen an extremely difficult task, but they had the fire out in half an hour.

KILLED GIRL WHO LEFT HIM.

William Harmon Then Shoots Himself and Jumps Through a Second Story Window.

William Harmon, a driver for the American Ice Company, shot and killed Eileen Wood in a furnished room at 151 Adams street, Brooklyn, last night, and then attempted to commit suicide by shooting himself and leaping from a second story window. He is 28 years old, and she was 24.

They had been living at a furnished room house on Lawrence street, but recently had quarreled frequently. Last night Harmon found her in the Adams street house a little after 10 o'clock. They went to a front room on the second floor to talk the matter over. Some time afterward the occupants of the house heard three pistol shots and then a crash of glass.

A crowd gathered around the unconscious Harmon on the sidewalk, and acting Capt. Kelly of the Fulton street police station, Dr. Ingalls of the Cumberland street hospital, found Harmon suffering from a bullet wound in the breast and a fractured skull, and took him unconscious to the hospital. Eileen Wood lay dead in the hallway above. She had been shot twice in the face. She had evidently dragged herself to the hall after she was shot.
