

CHOATE "ALL FOR JEROME."

Says He Has Taken the Odell Thorn From the Paw of the Republican Lion.

GREAT CROWD HEARS THEM

Lawyers' Meeting Fills Carnegie Hall to Overflowing.

Mr. Choate's speech... He has taken the Odell Thorn from the paw of the Republican Lion.

Carnegie Hall, brilliant and glowing with American flags, heard last night the testimony of the New York bar through some of its foremost representatives to the honor and the ability of William Travers Jerome, and to the righteousness of his cause—the fight for political freedom.

The meeting was abuzz with the fire and the enthusiasm of thousands more than the 4,000 people who actually got inside of Carnegie Hall last night.

In a sense it was a Choate meeting. Mr. Choate was the guest of the evening. Mr. Jerome was the guest of the evening.

Mr. Choate met easily have mistaken himself for the candidate for District Attorney. When he appeared on the platform, his name was called from every part of the house, and here and there in the great galleries men leaned over the railings and called for "Three cheers for Joe Choate."

Mr. Choate dealt contemptuously with the names of Murphy and Odell and with the works of all their kind.

DEAD BANKER BLAMED ANDREWS

Wrote to Wife Just Before Suicide Saying He Had Been Robbed.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 1.—Andrews has ruined me. I have been shamefully robbed.

This was the pitiful cry of Cashier T. Lee Clarke of the Enterprise National Bank of Allegheny on the morning of October 15 when he sat down to write his last letter to his wife and children.

In spite of the tales given out by those interested politically that Clarke had made no statement or confession, the following letter written by Clarke to his wife was found in the house a few hours after the suicide, and was to-night given out by one of the family.

"DEAR WIFE AND CHILDREN: In ten hours or less I will be in the other world. You have been a dear, good wife to me. Andrews has worked my ruin.

"Dear Wife, Keep all the insurance for yourself and babies. How hard it is to leave you all. I have made a desperate effort to keep things going until I could get the road financed, but it has been too slow. The examiner is here and I am ruined. Do forgive me. It is not my fault. I have been shamefully robbed.

This bank will get everything but the life insurance. Your husband's name is T. Lee Clarke. This pitiful letter was found by the fourteen-year-old daughter of Clark within a few hours after her father died.

She read it through her tears, and feeling that it would not be best to burden her mother by any additional word at this time she hid it until after the funeral and then gave it to her mother.

It is understood that earnest efforts have been made by those interested in keeping the bank affairs quiet to get possession of this letter, but Mrs. Clarke insisted on making it public.

The "road" referred to is evidently the Santa Fe Central. Friends of the Clark family to-night declare that the cashier left a letter for Inspector Cunningham too.

YOUNG NATHAN IN HOSPITAL

Boy Implicated in Suit Case Mystery Collapse. Declares Innocence.

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 1.—Morris Nathan, the young man taken into custody at Pittsburg Sunday on suspicion that he was in some way connected with the death of the suit case victim, arrived here late this afternoon in a state of physical collapse.

To-night his condition was such that he was taken to the City Hospital. Nathan is charged with having committed an illegal operation on the suit case, the chorus girl of "The Sherbrooke King" company.

Nathan is a mere boy, barely 21 years old, and has every appearance of either being badly frightened or heartbroken over the death of the chorus girl. He hardly tasted food coming from Pittsburg and slept but little.

Nathan talked a few minutes with THE SUN reporter, saying that he was not in any way connected with the girl's death, and that some other man was responsible for her condition.

Nathan's mother and two brothers were with him at headquarters, and for more than an hour the boy sobbed on his mother's shoulder.

Mrs. Geary, mother of the chorus girl, was put through a severe cross examination this morning. She is said to have been aware of the girl's condition before she left the theatrical company.

KILLED AS HE WAS RETIRING

Load of Buckshot Fired Through a Window—Lynchings Expected.

MORFEE, Ala., Nov. 1.—News was received here to-day from Mary, La., near here that J. J. Elliott, a wealthy resident of that place, was shot to death last night while preparing to retire.

A charge of buckshot was fired through the window and into the body of Elliott, causing instant death.

T. S. Russell, white, and Edward Robertson, a negro, were arrested and the latter confessed. A lynching is looked for.

B. F. CLYDE LEFT $100,000

Will and Codell Disposing of Steamship Man's Property.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 1.—An estate exceeding $100,000 is disposed in private bequests by the will and accompanying codicil of B. Frank Clyde, vice-president of the Clyde Steamship Company, who was killed by a train on the Pennsylvania Railroad at Fifty-second street station on October 21.

BATTENBERG AT ANNAPOLIS

BEARER OF KING EDWARD'S MESSAGE CORDIALLY GREETED.

British and American Ships Fire Salutes, and Naval and Civil Dignitaries Exchange Warm Visits With the Royal Visitor Goes to Washington To-day.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 1.—Prince Louis of Battenberg, the bearer of a special message from the monarch of the British Empire to the President of the United States, has set foot on American soil, and has been received with honors by his rank and mission by Admiral Sands, Supers, intend of the Naval Academy, and Gov. Warfield of Maryland.

The joint fleet of American and British war vessels is lying in Annapolis roads, forming by far the most brilliant naval spectacle ever seen in these waters. The British vessels dropped anchor off Annapolis this morning. Salutes of twenty-one guns were first exchanged between the Drake and Maine, flagships of Prince Louis and Admiral Sands, respectively.

Lieutenant-Commander Thomas P. Magruder, aide to Supt. Sands, and Col. Edmund H. Woodside, aide to Gov. Warfield, were at once despatched on a boarding party to ascertain the time when Prince Louis would come ashore, and arrangements were made for an immediate visit.

Prince Louis reached the beachhouse wharf of the Naval Academy in his launch just before noon. He was accompanied by Capt. Keyon, Naval Attaché of the British Embassy at Washington, who has joined the fleet here. Standing on the wharf to receive them were Admiral Sands and his aide, Lieutenant-Commander T. P. Magruder, and immediately fronting the landing place was a company of marines commanded by Capt. Keyon.

These presented arms as Prince Louis landed. After an exchange of formal salutes Admiral Sands and Prince Louis grasped each other's hand warmly and the Prince was conducted to the carriage and was driven around the parade ground to Admiral Sands's residence.

The visiting party stayed at the superintendent's residence for about a quarter of an hour and then drove to the Government House, where they were received by Gov. Edwin Warfield, assisted by Secretary of State Oswald Titchmarsh, Adjutant General Clinton L. Riggs, Col. Edmund L. Woodside, his staff and Capt. William Baird, U. S. A.

The Prince was genial and democratic in his manner, an incident illustrating the latter quality occurring when, just as he was leaving the Government House, he obligingly stopped on the steps to accommodate several newspaper photographers who wished to snap him.

Admiral Sands and Gov. Warfield returned the calls at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The visit was accompanied by his aide, Lieutenant-Commander Magruder, and his aide, Lieutenant-Commander Magruder, and his aide, Mr. John De P. Dow, Mayor of Annapolis, who extended the freedom of the city to the distinguished visitor.

The British fleet surprised every one with its early appearance. It was due to the speed tests to which the fleet has been put since its departure from Halifax. The fleet maintained the splendid average of eighteen knots an hour for the whole trip and arrived here about six hours ahead of schedule time. The Drake especially made some phenomenal records for shorter distances.

PRINCE LOUIS AT WHITE HOUSE

He and Officers of His Squadron Will Be Entertained at Dinner.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—The entertaining of Prince Louis of Battenberg and his staff will begin with a reception in the White House on Friday afternoon. This will be little larger than the function arranged by the British ambassador and Mr. John De P. Dow, Mayor of Annapolis, who will be received by a dinner in honor of the Prince. On Saturday the visitors will be entertained at dinner in the White House.

On Friday evening Mrs. Southard, lady of the ambassador, will be the hostess at a dinner in honor of Commander Robert G. Corlett of the Royal Navy, attached to the Essex of the British fleet, who will be her guest during their stay in Washington. There will be numerous small and large luncheons and rallies during the visit.

ROBBERS RATED IN BATTLE

"Nitro Gang" of Bank Robbers Beaten by Police—One Dead, Two Wounded.

RIVERVIEW, Ky., Nov. 1.—After a bloody fight at Willard, a small town near here to-day, a posse of citizens put an end to the operations of a band of bank robbers known as the Nitro Gang. The band had just after bank in the Ohio River Valley.

Four of the robbers are in jail—two unharmed, one mortally wounded and one slightly wounded. Two others are fleeing for their lives before an armed posse. Bloodhounds are being used in the chase.

The robbers blew open a brick bank at Ridgeville, Ind., last week and on Friday night tore to pieces the First National Bank of Hagerstown, Ind. They got away with nearly $200,000 after a battle in which they killed one man and wounded two.

The roundup of the robbers followed their raid on the Bank of Willard, at Willard, Carter county, Ky., early yesterday. The men arrived six strong. As they came they found an Eastern Kentucky Railroad locomotive under steam and in charge of a watchman, whom they bound and gagged and tied to the engine, which they made all preparations to use in their escape.

They then went to the bank, which they entered without trouble. Dynamite was used on the bank's vault. They had picked the streets and were preparing for their dash out when the citizens appeared and gave battle.

BOY SHOT FROM AMBUSH

Was Returning From a Party When Assassin Fired on Him.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 1.—Clarence Brown, 18 years old, was shot from ambush and fatally injured while returning from a party last night. Young Brown and Edward James were driving in a buggy, and just behind them was another party of young men, all returning home. When within two miles of Brown's home four shots were fired from the bushes at the side of the road, one of the bullets striking Brown in the side and another in the abdomen.

James hurried home with the wounded boy, and when a physician was called he pronounced the wound fatal. Brown believes that he was shot by a hired assassin. The assassin thought he was some one else who had attended the party. He has no clothes, and as far as he knows, has done nothing to give offense to any one.

$10,000 TO $100,000 BET ON JEROME

The Odds on McClellan Stand at 2 to 1 to 1.

The gradual lengthening of the odds on Jerome was shown yesterday by the placing of one bet of $10,000 on Jerome against $1,000 on the field. F. Schwed took the long end against A. J. Kohn. From 10 to 4 the betting ranged to 10 to 6. Schwed also placed $500 on the field against $2,000 on Jerome. Many small bets of $100 to $50 were made on Jerome. J. Healy placed $3,000 to $1,500 on the favorite.

One bet was placed at even money that Hearst would poll 170,000 votes. J. J. Judge and F. Schwed each put up $1,000 on this proposition.

Odds on McClellan closed at 2 1/2 to 1, or about the same figure which has ruled for several days. Bunnell & Co. reported a lot of $5,000 to $2,000 on McClellan.

AUTOMOBILE KILLS ITS DRIVER

Turns Turtle and Crushes H. A. Brooks—Collapsed Wheel Causes the Accident.

EGG HARBOR CITY, N. J., Nov. 1.—An automobile owned and driven by H. A. Brooks of Philadelphia and carrying his wife and Mr. G. M. Price of the same city, turned turtle a few miles from here to-day. Mr. Brooks was caught between the machine and killed instantly. Mr. Price fell in with it, but was not struck by the frame and escaped with trifling bruises. The women were thrown to one side and sustained no worse injuries than cuts and bruises.

The party was en route from Philadelphia to Atlantic City. At Dougherty's Corners the road makes a sharp turn. Mr. Brooks attempted to negotiate it at high speed and the rear inner wheel collapsed. The machine skidded along a few yards and then turned over. Mr. Brooks lost his life by holding fast to the steering wheel. His body was crushed under the hood. Both he and Mr. Price were connected with the wholesale clothing firm of Tracy Morris & Co. of Philadelphia.

QUEER FINDS IN GAS TRAGEDY

Couple Fought Before Being In Hotel—Woman Had Summons for a Man.

A man and a woman supposed to be Michael Oliver and Margaret, his wife, address unknown, were found asphyxiated by gas at 5:30 o'clock last night in the Eagle Hotel, at 1730 Lexington avenue. The couple went to the hotel on Tuesday night and registered as Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, New York city.

One of the chambermaids in the hotel went to their room and smelled gas. A porter broke into the room and the pair were found dead, with gas escaping from two jets.

The woman's mouth was covered with blood and it was found that she had a broken jaw. The police of the East 104th street station believe the couple had a fight during the night, because the furniture was upset. The police believe that either the man or woman got up during the night and turned on the gas.

The man had a card in his pocket showing that Michael Oliverette had been treated at the Flower Hospital dispensary and there was an empty pay envelope, No. 81, of the Raap Construction Company.

The woman had a summons in her pocket issued by Magistrate Brown last Tuesday from the Harlem court for William New-year, who was said to be a waterman at 1021 street and Second avenue.

AGED COUPLE DON'T SPEAK

The Talkies, Who Have Been Married 40 Years, Are Deaf To Each Other.

PATENTON, N. J., Nov. 1.—Despite the efforts of their daughter, a hearing and deaf couple, Joseph Talks and his wife, who have been married forty-six years, had to go before Recorder Noonberg to-day to try to settle their differences. Although living under the same roof, at 81 Pennington street, the seventy-year-old couple have not spoken to each other for two years.

Talks had not supported his wife since last July, and he was brought to court on a notice of non-support, his wife not wishing to make a complaint. The visit to the Recorder's court was futile, as the Recorder could not unwind the domestic tangle. In dismissing the couple he told Talks he would take a complaint of non-support against him if the latter didn't contribute toward his wife's maintenance.

TELL OF ARCTIC CURRENTS

Casks Set Adrift 50 Years Ago Reported to Geographical Society.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 1.—After drifting for several years over arctic seas, two casks set adrift by agents of the Geographical Society have been recovered on northern coasts and cablegrams announcing their discovery were read to the members of the society by President Henry G. Bryant at a meeting in Witherspoon Hall to-night.

The casks were set adrift at the suggestion of Admiral Melville, made in 1850, that thirty-seven casks, containing literature in various languages, be dropped at the furthest northern points reached by explorers. Together with the literature were enclosed blank forms requesting that the finders of the casks fill in the date and circumstances of the find and send them to Philadelphia.

An no word had been received from any of them it was feared that the casks, stowed bound with iron bands, had become lost or imbedded in icebergs and that nothing would ever be learned of them. The fact that two have been discovered, however, has encouraged the members of the society greatly, as they say that their having been found in various languages, being about as far as the Arctic current it round and possibly across the pole itself.

It was discovered that two casks ago on the shore of the northern coast of Siberia, ninety-five miles northwest of Randall's Island, having drifted 380 miles in a south-easterly direction.

The other casks set adrift on September 13, 1850, was found within a few days of the other of the north coast of Iceland.

JUDGE PARKER TO IMPROVE HIS PIGS

ALTON, Ill., Nov. 1.—Judge Alton B. Parker, presidential candidate on the Democratic ticket at the next election, purchased a fine blooded hog from an Alton man this week and had it shipped to the Europa piggeries, to be used in improving the swine raised there.

MAYOR ORDERS BANNERS DOWN

IN WHICH THE AMERICAN FLAG IS USED FOR CAMPAIGNING.

They Are Mostly McClellan Banners, but That Doesn't Count New Law Says No Such Use Shall Be Made of the Flag. Fact Brought to Light Yesterday.

Mayor McClellan last night sent directions to the presidents of the different boroughs to see to it that the American flag shall be no longer used in this campaign with political matter or emblems annexed. All along lower Broadway there have been flung out banners made out of the American flag to which the name of the Mayor is attached, as well as inscriptions either praising the Mayor or condemning his opponents. "Take them down," is the Mayor's order.

At the last session of the Legislature a law was passed prohibiting the use of the American flag for political advertising purposes. The text of the law is given below. When the Mayor saw it yesterday he sent this order. It is based on his knowledge that Section 16, chapter 100 of the Laws of 1905 is being violated by the attaching, affixing, appending or annexing of pictures, inscriptions or devices to the American flag or ensign.

I wish to call your attention to the law, that you may see to it that it will be enforced strictly both in letter and spirit, and to suggest that you take immediate action to that end. Respectfully, GEORGE B. MCCLELLAN, Mayor.

This is the way the new law regulating the display of the national flag reads: "Any person who in any manner, for exhibition or display, shall after the first day of September, 1905, place or cause to be placed any word, figure, mark, picture, design, drawing, or any advertisement of any nature upon any flag, standard, color or ensign of the United States of America or State flag of this State or ensign, or shall expose or cause to be exposed to public view any such flag, standard, color or ensign, upon which after the first day of September, 1905, shall have been printed, painted or otherwise placed, or to which shall be attached, appended, affixed or annexed any word, figure, mark, picture, design, or drawing, or any advertisement of any nature, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $100, or by imprisonment for not more than thirty days, or both, in the discretion of the court; and shall also forfeit a penalty of $50 for each such offense, to be recovered, with costs, in a civil action or suit in any court having jurisdiction; and such action or suit may be brought by or in the name of any citizen of this State, and such penalty when collected, less the reasonable cost of expense of action or suit and recovery, to be certified by the District Attorney of the county in which the offense is committed, shall be paid into the treasury of this State; and two or more penalties may be assessed for and recovered in the same action or suit."

MISSIONARIES MURDERED

Five American Presbyterians Butchered at Lienchun.

SPECIAL CABLE DISPATCH TO THE SUN. HONOLULU, Nov. 1.—Five American Presbyterian missionaries were murdered on October 28 at Lienchun. They included Mrs. Maclure, Dr. Chestnut and Mr. and Mrs. Peals.

Mrs. Maclure's child was also killed. Cable dispatches received in this city yesterday said that five American missionaries had been murdered at Lienchun, China. The Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions at a late hour last night had received no confirmation of these dispatches. The missionaries named are the Rev. and Mrs. John Rodgers Peals, Mrs. Charles Edward Maclure and child, and Dr. Eleanor Chestnut. All are representatives of the Presbyterian board. The Rev. Dr. Arthur J. Brown, secretary in charge of China work, made this statement yesterday afternoon.

"We have just sent a cipher cable to the Canton mission, of which Lienchun is a station, asking the Rev. Dr. V. V. Noyes, the treasurer, to cable if there is any foundation for the report that the Lienchun missionaries are in danger. Dr. Noyes can get the cable before early morning, to let me know if he has any news to-night. We do not expect anything before to-morrow, and as I say, we are hopeful that the report is untrue."

Lienchun is a city of considerable importance, situated inland from Canton more than two hundred miles. To reach it from Canton a journey of nearly three weeks is necessary up a tortuous river in a small boat for a part of the way and the remainder by mule pack.

Dr. Chestnut was appointed as a foreign medical missionary in 1893. She was absent on furlough last year, and was, it is supposed, home in Alton, Mo. She had charge of a woman's hospital.

Mrs. Charles Maclure is the wife of Dr. Maclure, another foreign missionary. Her husband, a fighter, died by name is among those reported killed. Mrs. Charles Edward Maclure's maiden name was Ella M. Wood. She was born in Philadelphia, Pa., in 1850, and was graduated from Wooster University, Ohio, and Lafayette Medical College, Philadelphia. She was appointed foreign missionary in 1889 and sailed for China on September 21 of that year.

The Rev. John Rodgers Peals was born in New Bloomfield, Pa., September 17, 1879. He was graduated at Lafayette College and Princeton Theological Seminary. His wife was a Miss Gill. Peals was among the newest appointees of the board.

COP FLUNG 30 FEET

Sand Cart on the Wreck Side of Central Park West Heads Off His Bicycle.

While speeding along Central Park West yesterday afternoon, Bicycle Policeman James F. Haggerty ran head on into a cart loaded with sand and was flung thirty feet through the air. His uniform was torn and he slightly injured his shoulder and leg. The cart was smashed into scrap iron.

The sand cart belonged to the Metropolitan Street Railway Company and was driven by Rocco Marcardi, a twenty-year-old Italian lad, of 312 East 104th street. Haggerty was going north on a carting job. The cart was coming south on the wrong side of the road and was hidden from the cop by the carriage. Just as Haggerty started to pass the cart, the sand cart pulled out to cross the street, shutting the cop in. He struck the tail of the cart at an angle and was flung to the ground sideways.

Haggerty picked himself up and arrested the driver. In the West Side Court, a representative of the railway said the company would replace Haggerty's wheel. Haggerty's bicycle was discharged and the prisoner with a reprimand. The railway representative intimated that his company would follow suit.

VOTE FOR JEROME, SAYS MR. ROOT

He Hates a Thief—Letter From the Secretary of State to Judge Flammer.

Elhu Root, Secretary of State, has written to Judge Charles A. Flammer a letter congratulating him on his withdrawal from the race for District Attorney in favor of District Attorney Jerome. Here is the letter: DEPARTMENT OF STATE, WASHINGTON, Oct. 27, 1905.

MY DEAR JUDGE FLAMMER: I congratulate you upon your withdrawing from the race for the District Attorneyship. It was public spirited and wise, and shows the qualities which have made you such a good Judge and such a good citizen.

The selection of a District Attorney is not so much a question of one party against another as it is of all honest people against all the crooks and criminals of every kind. Jerome now seems to have a good chance of election, and his election would be a great thing for New York. He has vigor and fearlessness and enthusiasm in the cause of justice and hates a thief and cannot be lashed up or put to sleep by any influence whatsoever. Every man who cares about having a decent law abiding life should be for him. I am, always, my dear Judge, faithfully yours,

ELHU ROOT, Judge Charles A. Flammer, 280 Broadway.

R. C. RYERSON DIES SUDDENLY

Well Known Montclair Man Is Found Lifeless in His Office.

MONTCLAIR, N. J., Nov. 1.—Robert C. Ryerson, a well known real estate man, died suddenly at his office here this afternoon. He was apparently in perfect health this morning. No one was with him when he was found lifeless in his office and until a customer entered his office and found him lifeless in his chair.

Mr. Ryerson was formerly a New York broker and a member of the Stock Exchange. He lived in Caldwell, where he had a country seat and did much for the development of the town. He was for two years a member of the Caldwell Borough council and after he took up his residence in Montclair served for several years as a Commissioner of Appeals. He was 58 years old and leaves a widow, a son and three daughters.

WHALEMS HELD IN THE ARCTIC

Eleven Vessels Frozen In to Face the Rigors of a Polar Winter.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 1.—Eleven whaling vessels, almost the entire fleet which sailed from this city, have been caught in the ice in the Arctic. They will not be able to get out until next July or August, and in the meantime their 400 men must face starvation and the hardships of a winter in the north.

This news is conveyed in a telegram from Capt. Bodfish of the steamer William Baylies, who states that only his vessel and the schooner Monterey were able to escape.

Most of the vessels left here early last spring and are not provisioned for a stay in the Arctic.

SUPREME JUDGES WILL VOID

Failed to Have the Necessary Witnesses for a Charity Bequest Document.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 1.—The omission of the names of subscribing witnesses from the will of Chief Justice Edward M. Paxson of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, who devised a large portion of his landed property for the establishment of an agricultural school for poor boys, makes void the provision for such an institution.

Under the law all wills containing charitable bequests must contain the signatures of subscribing witnesses. The omission, however, will not affect the other provisions of the will.

SHOT UP AN INDIAN TOWN

Young Men Disguised as Cowboys Indulge in Wild West Amusement.

DAVENPORT, Ind., Nov. 1.—This town was the scene of wild disorder last night when Archie Witt and the three Borum brothers came here disguised as cowboys and proceeded to shoot up the town in real earnest. They rode up and down in the street firing their pistols into the stores and residences and driving the people into cellars and garrets to get out of range of bullets.

John Neff, who was on the street, walked toward the men who were shooting into the stores. Witt recognized him and turned his revolver on the man and another in the neck.

Turning the pistol on John Tuttle, who appeared about the same time, Witt sent a bullet into his shoulder, and the four cowboys then rode out of the town, pursued by a party of citizens who had armed themselves with shotguns and rifles. Witt and the murderers when they rode away.

It is only 19 years old, and it is thought that he supposed Neff was advancing to shoot at him. Witt was placed under arrest at midnight and is now in jail.

CAR RUNS DOWN AGED COUPLE

William H. Baldwin and His Wife Are Injured—Woman's Legs Broken.

William Henry Baldwin, 70 years old, and his wife, who is five years younger, were seriously injured by a trolley car in Broad street, Newark, last night. They left a north bound car at the James street stop at Washington Park and walked across the rear of it in front of a south bound car.

Both were knocked down and rolled under the car. Mrs. Baldwin was badly crushed about the shoulders and both of her legs were broken. Her husband's head was cut and he sustained some serious bruises. Mr. Baldwin for many years has been a member of the firm of Phineas Jones & Co., wheel makers.
