

ONE WITH THE REAL SAILORS

300 AMATEUR SAILORS GO TO SEA

They will sail westward from New York in the West Virginia, a 300-ton schooner, under the command of Captain...

Others sat about with copies of the "Young Mariner's Ready Reference," trying to learn how to make a compass, and...

There were no smiling midwives, carrying orders from the doctor, and there were no long tons, and no ham-pocks in the rigging...

Being an amateur sailor, just like going to State camp at Peekskill, there, at least, there are no regulars, and the sentries can keep them away if they do come...

There were no smiling midwives, carrying orders from the doctor, and there were no long tons, and no ham-pocks in the rigging...

Being an amateur sailor, just like going to State camp at Peekskill, there, at least, there are no regulars, and the sentries can keep them away if they do come...

There were no smiling midwives, carrying orders from the doctor, and there were no long tons, and no ham-pocks in the rigging...

Being an amateur sailor, just like going to State camp at Peekskill, there, at least, there are no regulars, and the sentries can keep them away if they do come...

There were no smiling midwives, carrying orders from the doctor, and there were no long tons, and no ham-pocks in the rigging...

GOY TOO MUCH WAR TAX.

Estate of Mrs. Wertheim Gets Judgment for $21,000 From Government.

A decision against the United States Government, through Collector Herold of the United States Internal Revenue Service, has been handed down by United States District Court Judge Joseph Cross in the suit brought by Otto H. Kahn and Elizabeth Wertheim, executors of the estate of Mrs. Clara F. Wertheim, who died at Morristown on August 15, 1903.

The action was brought to recover from the Federal Government the sum of $42,081.91, which was paid to Collector Herold at Newark under an assessment made upon the legacy bequeathed to Mrs. Wertheim by her father, Abraham Wolff, at his death, in 1900.

Mrs. Wolff left an estate valued at $700,000. The legacy to the daughter amounted to $1,400,000. The revenue department, in enforcing the war revenue tax act of 1905, fixed the assessment upon Mrs. Wertheim's legacy upon an actual basis of expectancy of life, the estate of all that portion of the tax that was represented by the actual period of enjoyment.

Judge Cross gave a judgment against the Government for $21,040.95. He held that the estate was liable for only $10,520.48, the amount of assessment upon the time actually enjoyed by the legacy. He said that the question was as to the actual possession and enjoyment of the life tenant in her estate. Mortality tables, he said, could not be relied upon under such circumstances.

Chief of Police Murphy of Jersey City expects that the city will experience its third dry Sunday to-day. He issued orders yesterday instructing the precinct commanders to exercise the greatest care in enforcing the provisions of the new excise law...

There was a rumor in Hoboken last night that a brigade of volunteer Sunday crusaders were going to get a good many against liquor dealers who take chances by selling booze on the quiet.

Henry Glarner, a waiter living at 207 East Twenty-fifth street, and Mrs. Florence de Lelu, of 250 West Forty-fifth street, were arrested last night in connection with the theft of silverware and table linen from the Hotel St. Regis.

Kennedy says that Glarner has been employed from time to time at the hotel for two years. He left there on July 11 after a fight with an omnibus. Kennedy says that Glarner got to know the woman when she was keeping a summer boarding house at Summit, N. J., and Kennedy says the stuff was taken from the hotel to help furnish the place.

THE LOST JEWELS STAY LOST.

SUSPICION THAT THEY'LL REAPPEAR IF "A PERSON" WILL PUT UP.

Police have their two prisoners still, but no Complainant Yet—McLaughlin Looks for Arthur James, Wireless Wiretapper Who Was Chummy With the Bunch.

The police made little or no progress yesterday toward finding Mrs. Halsey Corwin's jewelry. They succeeded in having Albert M. King, the bookmaker, and Mrs. Elizabeth McBetty, or McVitty, held for a further examination on Monday.

When the two prisoners were arraigned in the Tombs court on Friday Mrs. Corwin wouldn't make a complaint against them. Yesterday, according to the attendants, she had to be almost dragged to the court room. Again she didn't stop forward and make any accusation, but simply answered a few questions when called out to do so.

There seems to be some question who the woman prisoner in the case is. Despatches from Harrisburg say that she is the daughter of a railway conductor or living there and that her name is McVitty. A merely because she was divorced by a young commission merchant named McVitty of Harrisburg. She gave her name to the police as Elizabeth McBetty, but she lives in West Forty-fifth street where she lived.

Dr. Brandt had gone to Chicago after a patient when the doctor was seized by a patient who had been infatuated with her daughter and that her murder was felonious and premeditated.

Dr. Brandt had gone to Chicago after a patient when the doctor was seized by a patient who had been infatuated with her daughter and that her murder was felonious and premeditated.

Dr. Brandt had gone to Chicago after a patient when the doctor was seized by a patient who had been infatuated with her daughter and that her murder was felonious and premeditated.

Dr. Brandt had gone to Chicago after a patient when the doctor was seized by a patient who had been infatuated with her daughter and that her murder was felonious and premeditated.

Dr. Brandt had gone to Chicago after a patient when the doctor was seized by a patient who had been infatuated with her daughter and that her murder was felonious and premeditated.

Advertisement for Pumstein hairbrushes, featuring a list of products and prices, such as 'Men's Talcum' and 'Bosodent Liquid or Powder'.

MAXIME CALLED AN IMPOSTOR. DIDN'T LEAD BALTIC REBELLION, SAYS "DIE WARHEIT".

Gregory Maxim, who came to this city from Russia in April and was proclaimed as the man who conducted the Baltic rebellion of last autumn, is now denounced as an impostor in the Yiddish daily, Die Warheit.

Ever since Maxim Gorke, on seeing Gregory Maxim in this city, said that he did not recognize him, though well acquainted with the revolutionary leaders in general, there has been a growing doubt about him among the Jews.

Then came an article in the Vorwärts accusing him of treacherous conduct. The rejoinder to this came last Wednesday in the form of a long and bitter attack on Maxim in the Warheit.

Maxime's reply on the day following contained a denial that he had ever asserted that he was President of the Baltic Republic, and that he had never been in the Baltic.

Maxime's title, he said, was chairman of the federative committee of Riga, the centre of the movement. Maxim did not deny, said Caspe, that he held that office, and no true member of the Bund doubted it.

Man Found Unconscious on a Train Dies in Jersey City. The man who was found unconscious on top of a box car in the Pennsylvania Railroad's Harsimus Cove yards in Jersey City early on Thursday morning died yesterday at St. Francis Hospital.

Wash. Bank Dividend Soon. CHICAGO, July 21.—A dividend in liquidation of the assets of the Chicago National and Home Savings banks is expected within a fortnight.

Advertisement for Lord & Taylor, featuring 'Exceptional Values' and 'Women's and Misses' clothing, including 'White Lawn Shirt Waist Dresses' and '1,000 Girls' Wash Frocks'.

Advertisement for The Grand Rapids Furniture Company, featuring 'The Grand Rapids Furniture Company' and 'BEG YOUR ESTEEMED NOTICE OF THEIR REMOVAL TO 34 and 36 West 32d Street'.

WOMAN DIES AT 104. Father Was a Fighter for America and Her Mother a Narragansett Indian. NEW LONDON, Conn., July 21.—Mary Ann Dickerson, widow of Eli A. Dickerson, died this morning at the age of 104 years.

TROLLEY FEED WIRE BREAKS. Five Persons Jump From a Car and Are Injured. A feed wire of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company broke and fell to the ground at Wiloughby and Pearl streets at 8 o'clock last night, frightening the passengers on several trolley cars on Washington street.

TO COPY PRIMARY LISTS. Fagan Republicans Get a Decision Over Party Opponents in Jersey City. Supreme Court Justice Fort and Reed have decided that Secretary Frank J. Lockwood of the Hudson county board of elections must allow Secretary Frank J. Higgins of the Jersey City Republican committee, controlled by Mayor Mark M. Fagan and his friends, permission to copy the names on the primary lists containing the names of citizens who voted at last fall's joint Democratic and Republican primary elections.

Advertisement for Grape-Nuts Pudding, featuring 'Grape-Nuts Pudding' and 'By Telephone'.