

TAKE ROCKEFELLER AS TEXT.

SCIENTISTS DISCUSS HIM AT THEIR ANNUAL MEETING.

One Speaker Says That Mrs. Rockefeller Declared That Her Husband Was Too Poor to Buy Oysters—Another Tells of Mathematical Tests of Literature.

Seven hundred scientists, representing practically every country in importance in the United States, were at Columbia University yesterday for the fifty-seventh meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Then the divisions retired to sectional meetings where all sorts of subjects were discussed, from the color blindness of field mice to the abilities of Oliver Wendell Holmes as an author.

One of the most interesting sessions of the day was that of the section of social and economic science, which was opened by a talk by Charles A. Conant.

Rockefeller is the leading exponent of individual competition, his millions have come to him by the way of corporations.

John D. Rockefeller is poorer in his house in West Fifty-fourth street than he was when, as a young man, he went to a farmer in Macon, Ill., and asked the farmer to carry out some lumber for building pipe lines.

As a result of this wealth concentration, industrial society is practically divided into two classes of the enormously rich and the miserably poor.

These conditions are not normal nor the result of natural law or causation, but are instead the result of a monopoly of land and mineral resources.

Robert G. Newbegin, publisher, who is being sued by Mrs. Henrietta S. E. King, of 500 Madison avenue, widow of J. Howard King of Albany.

Prof. F. L. Wells read a paper before the biological section of the American association, in which he sought to show that the quality of the work of distinguished authors may be determined by absolutely scientific methods.

MANN CASE TO JURY TO-DAY.

A Couple of Thankful Letters to Count Ward Brought.

Col. William D. Mann, of Town Topics will know to-day what the jury thinks of the charge that he committed perjury when he swore at the trial of Norman Hapgood that he did not write "O. K., W. D. M." on a letter from Count Reginald Ward about Rico mining stock.

Col. Mann did not go on the witness stand. Several witnesses were called who swore that the initials "O. K., W. D. M." were not written by Col. Mann.

Wayne was called to the stand and denied it. While Wayne was testifying two letters written by Mann to Count Ward were brought out. They were written here and sent to England.

December 20, 1905. My dear Count: You must think me a great big boor to neglect my correspondence and do and particularly answer to so nice a letter yours of February 1.

Col. Mann called only a half dozen witnesses in his defence.

QUINN ALTERED BONDS.

The Deposed Priest Who Was Found Dead With a Woman.

RED BANK, N. J., Dec. 27.—It has come to light that Charles S. Quinn, who was recently deposed as assistant rector of St. Agnes' Church, Atlantic Highlands, and who subsequently was found dead with a woman in a New York hotel, had been tampering with bonds of the late Rev. William J. O'Farrell, the priest in charge of the parish during the Quinn regime.

Edgar H. Cook of Atlantic Highlands has been engaged as counsel for the executor of Mr. O'Farrell's estate. When an inventory was made of the personal estate the condition of the bonds was discovered.

Mr. Cook took the bonds to the office of the surety company in New York, and an examination showed that chemicals had been used in erasing the names.

As a result of this wealth concentration, industrial society is practically divided into two classes of the enormously rich and the miserably poor.

TUGBOAT MEN WANT MORE PAY.

Harbor Union to Confer With the Employers Today.

A committee of the Harbor Boatmen's Union will have a conference to-day with one or two companies which own tugboats plying in New York harbor in reference to a general demand which has been made by the union on behalf of the crew and deck hands for an advance in wages of $10 a month.

The corporation is constituted in fact a monopoly in our industrial system.

Robert G. Newbegin, publisher, who is being sued by Mrs. Henrietta S. E. King, of 500 Madison avenue, widow of J. Howard King of Albany.

Prof. F. L. Wells read a paper before the biological section of the American association, in which he sought to show that the quality of the work of distinguished authors may be determined by absolutely scientific methods.

At the beginning of next year, he said, demands would be made for an advance of $10 a month for the firemen and deck hands on the tugboats.

PRESIDENT GOES TO PINE KNOT

AND TAKES ALL OF HIS FAMILY WITH HIM.

Archie Forgot His Gun and Sent a Negro Messenger for it on a Bicycle—He Rode So Fast That a Policeman Arrested Him—The President Interfered.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—The President and all the members of his immediate family except his oldest daughter, who is married, left Washington this morning for an outing in Virginia.

Archie Roosevelt found after reaching the railroad station that he had forgotten his rifle, which he expected to do some shooting at Pine Knot, and a negro messenger by the name of Jackson, who is employed at the White House and who happened to be at the station, was directed to make haste back to the mansion and bring the gun back with him.

The train on which the President and his family traveled did not leave the scheduled time, but that was due to a large amount of baggage that was to be loaded and not to the incident of the rifle and the bicycle policeman.

The President and his family will remain in Albemarle county until Monday, when they will return to Washington in time for the New Year's reception at the White House.

Dr. Frank E. Beckwith died at his home in New York City, Dec. 27, at the age of 70. He was a prominent physician and surgeon.

LOST SANG GATHERER

From a Hut in the Forests of Ontario County, N. Y.

CANANDAIGUA, Dec. 27.—A report reaches relatives of Truman Andrews of South Bristol that he was found dead in the outskirts of New York city yesterday.

He was a grower of ginseng and late last week left his home to take about thirty pounds of ginseng to market.

For many years the old man had lived alone in his hut in the woods near Rowell corners in the wildest and most romantic and picturesque section of Ontario county.

Ships for H. H. Rogers' Coal Fleet. NORFOLK, Va., Dec. 27.—The New England Coal and Coke Company, which will transport from Norfolk to New England, and later probably to foreign ports, the coal brought to this port by the railroad.

Harvard Man on Yale Board. NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 27.—For the first time in years a Harvard graduate will be a member of the Yale corporation.

At the Club,

at dinner, at parties, and affairs of like character, the correctly dressed man dons his dinner coat. Ours will grace any occasion.

We present the new Tuxedo model, with angular lapels and collar faced with silk. The back is slightly shaped and the front closes with a single button. $12.50 to $50.

Wm. Vogel & Son, Broadway, Houston St.

EYE NO PLACE FOR WHISKEY.

Magistrate Walsh So Decides, and Pouring It There Constitutes Assault.

Pouring whiskey in a person's eye constitutes assault, according to a decision handed down by Magistrate Walsh in the Essex Market police court yesterday.

Jan Urban lives with his wife at 252 East Second street and Urban's cousin, Tomasz Warynkiewicz, lives with them.

The victim brought Urban to court yesterday on a summons. After hearing the facts Magistrate Walsh ordered a complaint.

WALTER APPLETON CLARK DEAD.

Best Known as an Illustrator of Popular Magazine Fiction.

Walter Appleton Clark died yesterday at his studio at 33 West Sixty-seventh street after an operation for appendicitis.

Mr. Clark up to the time of his death was an illustrator. He was that exclusively throughout his nine full years of work.

Clark died of a violent illness, the manner of work that so many picture lovers know him for.

CONCERTS In the Auditorium Morning and Afternoon TODAY The Gaitz-Hocky String Quintette Under the Direction of Gregor A. Gaitz-Hocky

Morning Concert 10:30 o'clock. Organ: a—Traumerei, Schumann; b—March from "Tannhauser," Wagner.

Afternoon Concert 1:30 to 4:30 o'clock. Organ: a—Improvisation on well-known themes, Depew; b—Cantilene Nuptiale, Dubois.

INTERMISSION. Organ: a—Nocturne in E Flat, Chopin; b—Finale in B Flat, Chopin.

Violin Solo—"Humoreske," Dvorak; Piano Solo—"Rigoletto" (paraphrase), Verdi-Liszt; Quintette—"1. Pastoral," Leoncavallo.

Violin Solo—"Melody in F," Rubinstein; Organ Solo—"Marche Grecque," Ganne; Organ Solo—"with roll," Marchionely.

GOT BLACK HAND AGENT. Roll of Bad Money Given to Bad Man and His Arrest Follows. Detective Sergeant Joe Petrosino and his assistant caught a real Black Hand agent late yesterday afternoon.

Advertisement for Wanamaker's Store, featuring illustrations of men in suits and a woman in a dress. Text: The Wanamaker Store Store Closes at 5:30 P. M. The Wanamaker Store.

Advertisement for Men's Shirts and Pajamas. Text: New York Won't See in the Next Six Months Another Such Offering of Men's Shirts and Pajamas. All splendidly made, of excellent materials, perfect in every way and beautifully laundered—AT THE LOWEST PRICES OF THE YEAR.

Advertisement for Concerts in the Auditorium. Text: Those Who Have Bought the Game—"Substitute GOLF"—And All Others Interested In It are invited to visit the Sixth floor of the Wanamaker Building this morning, at 10 o'clock, or a little after, to witness the Match Play of the First Round of the INTERSCHOLASTIC SUBSTITUTE GOLF TOURNAMENT.

Advertisement for Presentation Watches. Text: PRESENTATION WATCHES And Other New Year's Gifts. NEW YEAR'S DAY is growing to be a gift occasion second only to Christmas. Then it also presents the opportunity to return gifts to those who favored you unexpectedly on Christmas.