

UP TO ROOSEVELT TO DECIDE

HITCHCOCK AND SHERMAN TO SEE HIM ABOUT HUGHES

And Urge Him to Drop His "Hands Off" Attitude and Speak Out for His Say Alone Will Count—Popular Sentiment Even, the National Chairman Hears.

It has not yet been determined whether or not Gov. Hughes is to be renominated. The decision rests with President Roosevelt. That assertion is made on authoritative information.

If the President, as a result of the reports he is getting from all parts of the State, concludes that Gov. Hughes still has a hold on the popular vote Mr. Hughes will be renominated. If he believes assertions which have been made to him personally and by letter by the State leaders that the nomination of Gov. Hughes will tend to weaken the national ticket in this State the Governor will be turned down.

That describes the gubernatorial situation as it exists at this moment. The issue lies with the President and whatever decision the President makes will be acquiesced in by Woodruff, Parsons, Fassett, Odell and the other State leaders who are working their mightiest to prevent the renomination of the Governor.

Frank H. Hitchcock, chairman of the Republican national committee, and James S. Sherman, the Republican Vice-Presidential nominee, will go to Oyster Bay to-day to consult with the President. Mr. Hitchcock and Mr. Sherman will urge upon the President the necessity of taking some definite policy either for or against Mr. Hughes. Apparently Mr. Taft is to have no say in the matter. Mr. Hitchcock and Mr. Sherman will advise the President that it is time that he dropped his so-called "hands off" attitude and let it be known plainly just what is his opinion as to the advisability of renominating the Governor.

It is not likely that the President will give much help from Mr. Hitchcock in making up his mind. When Mr. Hitchcock was in Utica on Tuesday to attend the notification of Mr. Sherman he had conferences with many up-State Republican leaders, and as a result of those conferences Mr. Hitchcock returned to town yesterday with the same impression that he had when he left to see Mr. Taft, and that is that the popular sentiment for and against Hughes, so far as he has been able to get a line on it, is about evenly divided.

Mr. Hitchcock conferred for several hours yesterday at headquarters with members of his executive committee, but the only information given out at the close of the meeting was that the purpose of the conference had been principally to consider the Republican situation in this State.

That Mr. Hitchcock considers the situation an acute one would seem to be shown by the fact that he has cancelled the engagement he had made to confer to-day in Boston with the leaders of the New England States. He had been his intention to leave New York last night for Boston, but he announced last night at headquarters that he would be unable to follow out this plan, as he had to go to Oyster Bay to-day with Mr. Sherman to consult with the President. This announcement was made after Secretary Corley, who is supposed to be always in close touch with Oyster Bay, called at the national headquarters and had a talk with Mr. Hitchcock.

The statement was made yesterday at headquarters that Mr. Hitchcock expects that all the favorite son candidates whose names were presented to the Republican national convention, and also those who had been talked of as possible nominees, would get out and stump the country for Mr. Taft.

Senator Foraker, who did not leave town until late yesterday afternoon, did not call on Mr. Hitchcock, although the national chairman had fully expected that he would have had an opportunity of talking over the Ohio situation with Senator Foraker. The Senator's name was one of those on the list of the big Republicans who were said to have assured Mr. Hitchcock that their services would be at the disposal of the national committee.

The plan to have only a small committee of nine to collect contributions has been changed. It has been determined to increase the active committee, as it is called, to include a representative from every State. To each of these members will be assigned the task of taking charge of the work of obtaining campaign money in his particular State.

Utica, Aug. 19.—In response to a telegram from the President's secretary James S. Sherman, the Republican Vice-Presidential candidate, will start at midnight for Oyster Bay. The invitation requested Mr. Sherman to take lunch with President Roosevelt to-morrow, and it is understood that Chairman Hitchcock of the national committee will also join in the conference over the campaign work.

Mr. Sherman said that he would stop in New York on his return and spend a day there, reaching home Friday night. He expects to begin active work on the stump about October 1, but he has promised to go to Illinois at the request of Speaker Cannon and Representative McKim, the last week in September, when he will make a number of speeches.

The nominee said to-day that Chairman Hitchcock, whom he will see in New York, had informed him that he would be wanted for active work on the stump in October, but not before that time. Mr. Sherman has, however, arranged a campaign trip on his own account for the last week in September, when he will visit Illinois and be at the service of Speaker Cannon and Representative McKim, the last week in September, when he will make a number of speeches.

Many thanks for your whole-hearted telegram received yesterday. Providence provided perfect weather and the local committee arrangements were elaborate yet complete, and everything connected with the notification passed off most satisfactorily.

Mr. Bacon Ties to Hunt Bears. WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Robert Bacon, Assistant Secretary of State, has left Washington for New York, where he will join a party of friends who are going to the Canadian Rockies to hunt bears. He will be away from Washington until October 1, and the State Department during his absence will be in charge of Alva A. Adee, Second Assistant Secretary of State.

MRS. LIBAIRE HURT; MAY DIE.

Well Known Singer One of the Victims of an Auto Wreck.

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 19.—Mr. and Mrs. John G. Gluek of this city were killed and Mrs. Emma Libaire of New York was so badly injured that she is expected to die when a motor car containing five people and driven by Mr. Gluek was struck by an express train on the Minneapolis and St. Louis line this morning at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Libaire's three-year-old daughter Dorothy was in the car with her mother, but she was only slightly injured. Roy Witt, aged 11, of this city, a relative of the Glueks, was fatally hurt.

Mrs. Libaire is the wife of Edward Libaire, a civil engineer, who is a brother of three members of the firm of Libaire & Cooke, New York brokers. She is a sister of Mrs. Gluek and has been visiting her in this city.

The party were on the way to Mr. Gluek's summer home at Lake Minnetonka when the accident occurred.

While crossing the Minneapolis and St. Louis tracks Mr. Gluek failed to notice the approach of the express because of a deep cut at the crossing and the motor was squarely on the track when struck.

Gluek was killed outright. Mrs. Gluek, who is thought to have been but slightly injured from the force of the collision, was pinned beneath the car and was burned to death following the explosion of the gasoline tank.

Mrs. Libaire was in the rear seat and was thrown fifty feet. Her spine is injured and she sustained internal injuries. She has been unconscious since the accident and at 9 o'clock to-night it was announced that she cannot recover. Mr. Libaire is hurrying here from New York.

Gluek was a brewer and one of the wealthiest men in Minneapolis.

Edward W. Libaire, who lives at 112 West 151st street, received a telegram informing him of the accident yesterday afternoon and left at once for Minneapolis, accompanied by his wife's sister, Miss Muller, who lived with them.

Mrs. Libaire is a choir singer of note. She sings contralto in the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church and also in a Fifth avenue synagogue. She has also one child.

Mr. Libaire is a civil engineer employed in one of the city departments. He was graduated from the school of engineering at Columbia in 1894. He is a chess player of note, having written a book on the subject. He is an expert tennis player.

Mr. Libaire's brothers, Adolphe, Henry and Charles, are members of the brokerage firm of Libaire & Cooke at 10 Wall street.

H. H. HARRIMAN WEDS MRS. HALL.

Fatal Note Printed, but No Prescher Can Be Found Who Admits Typing the Note.

NEWPORT, Aug. 19.—There was much surprise to-day when it became known that Mrs. May Brady Hall and Herbert M. Harriman had been married this morning at the home of Mrs. Hall in Clay street. It is not known who performed the ceremony. Both Mrs. Hall and Mr. Harriman have been married before. Mrs. Hall twice, and both have been divorced. None of the ministers of the city has acknowledged having performed the ceremony.

Under the law a Justice of the Superior or of the Supreme Court could have performed the ceremony, but as far as is known none of the Justices of either court was in Newport to-day.

Every precaution was taken to keep the affair secret. Mrs. Hall and Mr. Harriman did not apply for their marriage license until Tuesday evening, calling upon City Clerk Frank Fullerton after his office had been closed for the day. He was evidently pledged to secrecy until this morning.

Mr. Harriman at the City Hall gave his age as 36, his occupation as that of a gentleman and said that this was his second marriage.

Mrs. Hall, who is a daughter of the late Judge Brady of New York, gave her age as 42 and admitted that it was her third step in matrimony. Her last husband was Major Charles Hall of the English army, whom she divorced last winter in the Superior Court here on the ground of desertion.

Only a few intimate friends and relatives were let into the secret, and while as yet it has not been ascertained who performed the ceremony it has been learned that Joseph Harriman, a brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man and that Mrs. Joseph Harriman acted as matron of honor.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Harriman left Newport via the Wickford steamer for New York. Both declined to speak of their marriage, nor will any of the others give out anything in regard to the wedding.

Just previous to Mr. and Mrs. Harriman's departure a formal notice of the wedding was sent to one of the Newport papers for publication.

All the members of her party were with her. They reached a point higher than was ever attained before on this peak, after suffering terrible hardships. One of the party, a Russian, was taken sick and this compelled the others to abandon the attempt.

48 HOURS IN A TREE.

Boy Hunting Wild Turkeys Fell Into a Fork and Nearly Perished.

DEWEY, Okla., Aug. 19.—Claude Bowman, a farmer boy who lives in the country near this city, while hunting for wild turkeys in the forests of Tiger Creek had a narrow escape from death. He had found a number of the birds and, firing into a flock, he wounded two, but they got away.

While tracing the wounded turkeys he came to a steep cañon and lost sight of his game. Peering into the cañon he saw the turkeys flapping and fluttering below. He started to descend the rocks through a crack in the cliff. His foot slipped and he slid down the decline, landing in the fork of a large tree at the bottom of the cliff. He landed with his body about midway in the forks of the tree, striking on his stomach face downward.

He cried for help, but no one could hear him. He remained in this condition for more than forty-eight hours, when he was rescued by a searching party led by his father.

FOLLOWS WIFE IN SUICIDE

SHE SHOT HERSELF WHEN HE SAID HE WOULD LEAVE HER.

Edward H. Hacker, a drummer, quarrelled with his wife for 24 hours before the double tragedy—he took up a revolver she used and killed himself.

Edward H. Hacker, a drummer, posted his wife Mary for twenty-four hours by threatening to leave her, until she finally killed herself yesterday afternoon. Then he picked up the revolver she had used, drove off those who had heard the shot and come to save him, and in a drunken fit of remorse killed himself.

The double suicide occurred in Hague Court, an apartment house at 400 West 118th street, where the Hackers had sublet a room from Mrs. Evelyn Ritchie, who has a seven room apartment on the ground floor. Hacker married his wife, who came from Louisville, Ky., in St. Louis about two years ago. Then he brought her here to live while he was on the road as a travelling salesman for the McColl company, fashion publishers, in West Thirty-seventh street.

He was about 41 and she 38. In his long absences on the road he wrote to his wife almost daily and she answered his letters promptly. When together no one had seen them quarrel. On his last trip, however, the letters were much more infrequent.

At first Mrs. Hacker thought her husband was sick, but on Tuesday he came home at the usual time. She asked him if there was any one he loved better than her. At first he denied her, but she kept coming back to the question until it irritated him. They had a quarrel—their first, the tenants said—but after a while they mixed it up again. Just to show the neighbors that they were reconciled they began to sing.

Both Hacker and his wife had good voices, and for an hour or more they entertained the neighbors with airs from grand opera. It wasn't long before the quarrel broke out again, and this time it wasn't fixed up. Hacker slammed the door on his wife and went out.

When he showed up again at the Hague at 5 o'clock yesterday morning after six hours debauch he was very drunk. The first thing he did was to pick a fight with the bellboy, James Hill. Then he went to meet his wife. It wasn't a pleasant meeting. She scolded him and abused him until about the middle of yesterday afternoon, when he got up, still unsteady, and began packing his grip. That brought his wife's reproaches to a stop.

"Edward," she said, "are you going to—leave me?" "I am," he answered. "I've taken all your talk I want."

"What will become of me?" she asked. "What do I care?" he replied. "You can go about yourself for all of me."

She got up from the piano at which she had been seated, almost hysterically, and had been trying to humor him with music, and ran into the room of another tenant, Mrs. Louise Weedoc. She found a revolver on the dressing case and took it. When she returned Hacker was standing in the hall with his hat and his grip, arguing with Mrs. Weedoc, who was trying to persuade him not to leave. According to the story Coroner Dooley got Mrs. Weedoc told Hacker that his wife would shoot herself if he went away. He murmured something like "Shoot herself, eh?" and then a shot came from his apartment. Hacker and Mrs. Weedoc ran inside. They found Mrs. Hacker in an alcove in the parlor. The blood was running from her mouth, where she had shot herself.

"My God, Mary, what's this! What have you done?" cried Hacker.

"You would have left me, Edward," said Mrs. Weedoc, and— She couldn't say any more.

Mrs. Weedoc went for a doctor, followed by Miss Texas Guyan, an actress, who lives with Mrs. Ritchie. When they returned with Dr. Benjamin E. Dolphin of 430 West 118th street they found the door locked against them. They were let in by George Marran, a notary of 423 West 116th street, who ran across the street when he heard that the shot would shoot himself if he went away. With them was Frederick Wolf, who lives in the same apartment.

They found Hacker against the wall with the pistol which his wife had used. "If you come near me," he warned them, "I'll shoot."

They advanced, but instead of shooting he ran to his room in the back of the apartment and locked the door. The men hurried around to a window opening on the roof. Before they got there there were three more shots. When they forced the door they found Hacker dead with a bullet in his heart. One bullet had gone into the ceiling and the other through the window.

Among the letters which Coroner Dooley found on the dead man was one addressed to W. G. Hacker, 947 Highland avenue, Newark, N. J.

Mr. Hacker said last night at his home, 67 Winthrop street, Newark, whether he has removed from 947 Highland avenue, that he was no relative of Hacker, the suicide.

TROOPS QUELL RIOTING TROOPS.

Regulars Called to Subdue Men From Fort St. Louis at Atlanta Railroad Station.

ATLANTA, Aug. 19.—Eighty United States soldiers going from Fort Slocum, N. Y., to the Philippines engaged in a riot at the Atlanta terminal station this evening and were only subdued by the arrival of troops from Fort McPherson.

The Fort Slocum men are now locked in their coaches and will be guarded by Fort McPherson troops until the train leaves.

The men for the Philippines reached here about noon and were sidetracked to await the arrival of comrades who had been left at Danville, Va. The soldiers soon found a "Blind Tiger" and under the influence of whiskey took possession of the terminal station. The rioters also fought among themselves and Joseph Blake and F. L. Smith were badly stabbed. Blake will probably die.

The Atlanta authorities notified Col. Thompson of the Department of the Gulf and he ordered regulars from Fort McPherson to the station. When the regulars arrived they were ordered to load with ball cartridges and shoot to kill if commanded. Lieut. Bankhead and Osterman then ordered the rioters into the coaches. They hesitated, but yielded when the Fort McPherson men made ready to fire.

N. Y. HOTEL MAN ARRESTED.

Alva Walker Alleged to Have Driven Auto Up Closed Mountain Road.

WORCESTER, Mass., Aug. 19.—Alva Walker, a wealthy New York city septuagenarian, owner of the Hotel Boreford at Eighty-first street and Central Park West, was arrested yesterday with a party of ladies for endangering his life and the lives of others by climbing Mount Wachusett in an automobile over a closed road.

Observation officer Rhodes, made the arrest with the intention of making an example of Walker. The latter with his party was bailed out.

He said he did not own the auto and would go to New York immediately. He was in court to-day and told his story. Judge Gallagher of the Fitchburg court found him guilty, but placed the case on file upon payment of costs.

Officer Rhodes said Walker admitted owing the car and driver, Lawrence B. Jones, $100. Walker admitted knowing he was violating a State regulation, which was the technical charge brought against him. Walker threatens suit for false arrest.

MORE WARRANTS FOR THOMAS.

Motor Vehicles Commissioner Makes Two Complainants Against Autoist.

TRENTON, Aug. 19.—By direction of Commissioner J. B. Smith, Inspector Ackerman of the State Department of Motor Vehicles swore out warrants to-day for the arrest of E. R. Thomas at Long Branch. There were two complaints, one for driving the car which was responsible for the accident last Saturday at an illegal rate of speed, and the other for running it without a driver's license. The car, a 120 horse-power Hotchkiss, which Mr. Thomas was driving was registered in the name of Harry Leiber, 311 West Forty-third street, New York. Mr. Smith sent out a formal notice to-day that this license would be revoked.

Commissioner Smith said that there were at least five other complaints against the car for speeding on file in the office and that the reports of reckless driving by Mr. Thomas in this and other States had been amply confirmed. Inspector Ackerman recommended the revocation of both the car and driver's license, which resulted in the discovery that Mr. Thomas had no such license. The penalty for speeding is $100, and for driving without a license $500 or sixty days in jail.

Commissioner Smith also announced that the department had decided to adopt a new policy with reference to the registration of high powered cars, and had notified all agents that no car above 65 horse-power shall be registered except by mail, and application to the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, and that his purpose was to issue, if any, only temporary registrations to such cars, believing that the use of excessively high powered machines could not be justified except under very extraordinary conditions.

LONG BRANCH, N. J., Aug. 19.—Alexander Jackson, one of the State inspectors connected with Commissioner Smith's office at Trenton, came to Long Branch this afternoon, apparently to inspect the car. "You don't ought and you out two warrants for the arrest of E. R. Thomas. They will be served to-morrow morning by Detective Sergeant W. D. Walling.

Already three papers have been served on Mr. Thomas at the hospital, one by the city of Long Branch for reckless driving, another by Daniel Connolly, driver of the wrecked rig, for assault, and the third by Paul Seelig, an applicant to the State for a license, for assault on a woman who he had killed. Mr. Seelig has brought suit for $100,000 damages in tort, which is returnable next Monday in Trenton.

THE LUCK OF O. D. EARL.

Through a Treasury Woman's Expert Work He Recovers $75,000.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The redemption division of the office of the controller of the currency has just succeeded in identifying about $75,000 worth of national bank notes from a box of fragments delivered to it several days ago by O. D. Earl, a citizen of Morrilton, Ala.

Earl buried $10,000 worth of bank notes in the earth in 1904 for safe keeping because he had lost faith in the security of banks. When he dug up the tin box in which he had deposited them before covering them with earth, he discovered that the box had rusted and the bills had decayed until it was impossible for him to identify them.

He appealed to a local banker to help him. Accompanied by the cashier of the bank at Morrilton, Lloyd Rainwater, and armed with a letter of introduction from his member of Congress, Charles C. Reid, Earl came to the Treasury Department and handed in the box of mouldy paper.

Mrs. A. E. Brown, the expert of the redemption division, was put to the work of identification. At 11 o'clock to-day, after working three days, she had identified all but $1,000 of the bills and the Treasury paid Earl the money for their redemption. It is not unlikely, Mrs. Brown thinks, that she may ultimately recover most of the other $1,000 from the fragments.

WHERE IS NORMAN E. MACK?

Leaders Here Concerned Over When He Is Going to Open Headquarters.

Democratic leaders in this city are beginning to feel concerned at the apparent want of interest that Norman E. Mack, chairman of the Democratic national committee, and William J. Conners, chairman of the State committee, are showing in the campaign arrangements for this city.

It was understood when Mr. Mack went to Chicago two weeks ago to open the Western headquarters in that city that he would be back here not later than last Monday. It was announced also that Mr. Conners would be in town on the same day to open State headquarters at the Victoria Hotel.

Not only was Mr. Mack and Mr. Conners not shown up, but it was declared yesterday that they were not expected to get here until toward the end of the month. Mr. Mack has rented nineteen rooms in the Hoffman House, but they are entirely deserted save for John A. Mason, chief clerk of the national committee, and a few employees, whose work seems to consist of unlocking the doors of the headquarters in the morning and locking them again early in the afternoon.

Mr. Mack had intended to conduct the national campaign from this city, but it was learned yesterday that he has changed this plan and that he will make Chicago his centre of operations.

JOHNSON NOMINATED AGAIN

CONVENTION'S UNANIMITY MAY COMPEL HIM TO ACCEPT.

Minnesota Democrats Mention No Other Name—Nominating Speech Ended in the Middle by March of Delegates—Cheers for a Canned Speech by Bryan.

ST. PAUL, Aug. 19.—John A. Johnson was nominated for the third time for Governor this afternoon amid the most tumultuous scenes ever witnessed in a Minnesota political convention.

To-night it is said by leading Democrats that the Governor cannot refuse to accept the nomination. Gov. Johnson refuses to make any statement to-night. He says he will outline his plans to-morrow.

Shouting and singing, the delegates marched over the platform and about the hall. No other name was presented. Mayor D. W. Lawler of St. Paul made the nominating speech. When about half through he said: "There is no name to be considered by this convention except the name that is in the mind and heart and mouth of every Democrat of Minnesota, John A. Johnson."

A shout of triumph greeted Johnson's name, and amid loud cheers the St. Louis county delegation started to march toward the platform. Mayor Lawler tried in vain to continue his speech, but the other delegates fell in line behind St. Louis county and in an instant the convention had gone wild.

The ticket follows: Governor, John A. Johnson; Lieutenant Governor, Julius Reiter; Rochester, Attorney-General, M. E. Matthews of Lyon county; Treasurer, Frank Zinnis, St. Cloud; Secretary of State, R. F. Lamb, Murray county.

Bryan sentiment was pushed to the limit in the convention hall. A large crayon drawing of the candidate occupied the centre of the stage and brought volleys of Bryan cheers as the delegations filed into the hall.

Shortly after the convention opened William J. Bryan was called upon to speak through a phonograph. The announcement brought cheers that caused the auditorium to tremble. The applause was continued uproariously for many minutes. Finally Chairman Day rapped for order and the house became quiet. Then the phonograph started. The words were clear and distinct and were audible throughout the hall.

The convention was a waving riot of color, every delegate having been presented with a flag, which he waved on the slightest provocation.

LUSITANIA MAKING NEW RECORD.

And Has Made the Best Day's Run Already—May Get In Early To-morrow.

The Lusitania, whose agents confidently expect her to appear off the Sandy Hook lightship early this evening, broke her own record for a westward day's run on the nautical day ending at noon on Sunday.

She logged 650 miles in 25 hours 20 minutes, the period between noon and noon, travelling at the unexcelled hourly average of 26.40 knots. The best previous day's run, which she made on July 9, was 643 miles.

Although she may reach the lightship at a time when the ordinary liner might do so, as the Cunard company does not care to run risks even through the deep Ambrose fairway with the swiftest and swiftest floating fabric in the world.

Besides eclipsing her former best day's run the Lusitania is pretty sure, bearing accidents, to make the quickest time ever between Europe and America and create a new hourly average.

The big turbine is traversing the short northern route, this being her first trip on it this season. Thus she will cover about 110 miles less than when she made her record trip over the southern lanes of 2,800 miles. It is not unlikely that she will be reported off Sandy Hook between 7 and 8 o'clock to-night, with a record of 4 days and about 18 hours, and possibly an hourly average of something like 25.40 knots.

The daily runs of the Lusitanias, as reported by her captain by wireless to the Cunard office here, were: Monday, 650 miles; Tuesday, 681 miles; Wednesday, 623 miles.

LANCASHIRE MILLS MAY CLOSE.

Employers Propose to Force a 5 Per Cent. Cut in Wages.

SPECIAL CABLE DISPATCH TO THE SUN. LONDON, Aug. 19.—By a vote of 92 per cent. of their number the employers in the cotton spinning trade of Lancashire have decided to close down the mills should that course be necessary to force the employees to accept a 5 per cent. reduction of wages.

WOULDN'T BELIEVE POLICEMEN.

Jury Who Refused to Accept Their Testimony Discharged Without Thanks of Court.

James Hamilton, an insurance broker of the 18th Street, The Bronx, who has been on the panel of jurors in Judge Malone's court in General Sessions this month, was discharged yesterday because he said he would not believe the testimony of any policeman. Hamilton had been called as a juror in the case of Michael De Fargo, an Italian accused of picking a pocket. Assistant District Attorney McGuire asked Hamilton if he had any prejudice against the testimony of policemen.

"I have a strong prejudice against police evidence," he said.

Judge Malone heard the answer and discharged Hamilton at once.

"Any citizen of this country who would say a thing like that," he said, "should not be allowed to serve on a jury. It is outrageous to say that you would not believe the testimony of a policeman without any good reason. You are utterly unfit to serve on this or any other jury. You are discharged without the thanks of the Court."

GUY STANDING, THE ACTOR, NOT TO BE FEARED.

Guy Standing, who appeared in New York as the star in "The Right of Way," on July 6 left Washington, where he had been a member of the Page stock company, saying that he intended making a trip to Europe. "The Right of Way" opens at the Broadway Theatre, Brooklyn, in two weeks and rehearsals have been going on for some time without standing. The management has been unable to find him and his relatives do not know where he is.

SPECIAL CABLE DISPATCH TO THE SUN. BERLIN, Aug. 19.—The Kaiser has subscribed $25,000 to the fund for the Koch Institute for combating tuberculosis. This makes up the $250,000 that was necessary to obtain the $125,000 promised by Andrew Carnegie.

NEW LIGHT ON CADET HAZING.

Col. Scott Gives Information to Secretary Wright Which Will Delay Action.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Col. Hugh I. Scott, Superintendent of the West Point Military Academy, had a long conference with Secretary of War Wright this afternoon at which the cases of the eight cadets who were found guilty of hazing were thoroughly discussed.

Col. Scott furnished the Secretary with additional information regarding the hazing incidents, which has delayed action for about ten days.

It is expected that Secretary Wright will make a statement explaining the status of the cadets to-morrow.

FULL SAIL UP THE BAY.

New Jersey Naval Reserves Bring in the Old Frigate Portsmouth.

Shelbicks took notice when the old United States frigate Portsmouth, manned by the New Jersey naval reserves, came gallantly through the Narrows, nearly from her cruise to sea, flying pretty nearly all her canvas, including belling royals.
