BRITISH WIN CHESS MATCH

AMERICAN PLAYERS FAIL ON SECOND DAY.

Complete reversal of form on the part of the American players in the eleventh annual cable chess match yesterday resulted in the comparatively weak British team carrying off the victory by a score of 5 games to 4, with one unfinished, which latter game must also result in a British victory, which was scored by Baron Albert de Rothschild of Vienna.

Starting with a lead of two wins, the result of the efforts of A. B. Hodges and H. G. Oigt on Friday, the American side added only one more victory, which was scored by Frank J. Marshall, the international tournament player, at the expense of J. H. Blackburne at the top board in brilliant style.

C. S. Howell, New York State champion, took liberties with a drawn position and drifted into a losing line of play, while H. Helms, with a decisive advantage over his opponent, entered upon an unsound combination and lost the exchange.

Barry agreed to a draw with Lawrence at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, and this side still led by two points. The advantage was quickly cut down, however, when three Americans succumbed in succession—Ruth and J. H. Blackburne and Howell at 3 P. M. Marshall wound up the day with a draw and an announced mate in five moves at the expense of the American.

LOCAL SOCCER MEN SHUT OUT CORNELL, 4 TO 0.

Playing on Packed Snow in Ithaca No Deterrent to Morningstars, Who Trim Cosmopolitans as Handily as Others—Haverford Beats Harvard.

Ithaca, March 27.—With an eleven as usual most cosmopolitan in character, Cornell faced Columbia in a soccer game to-day. The outcome of a hard battle was the fourth successive triumph for Columbia in the intercollegiate series this year. The score was 4 goals to 0.

On the Cornell team, besides six Americans, were two East Indians, a Greek, a German and Spanish, and the scores, unfamiliar with the foreigners' names, had troubles of their own. The up-state weather conditions were different from those expected by the New York city men, who had to play on packed snow four inches deep.

Diab, who had been the best goalkeeper for Cornell, was unable to stop the well directed shot. Fish scored the other point for Harvard a minute before time was called, getting a penalty kick.
