

WOMAN HELPS GET BURGLARS

DETECTIVE'S WIFE CONFRONTS THEM AT WORK IN A HALL.

Other Detectives, Who Had Been Shadowing, Rush Up When She Sees Them. Police Say They Are Old Timers Who Turn on Gas, Then Rob Tenants.

The wife of Leonard Woodie, a Brooklyn detective, who is attached to the Adams street station, helped to capture two burglars early yesterday morning.

The Woodies occupy a fourth floor flat in a six-story tenement house at 282 South Second street, Williamsburg, and Mrs. Woodie was at home alone with her six small children when she was awakened at 2 o'clock by a noise at the hall door.

She listened and heard two men talking in a low tone and at the same time trying to insert a key into the door lock. She quietly dressed herself and after turning up the gaslight in the kitchen quickly opened the door and confronted the burglars in the hall.

They had transferred their attention to an adjoining flat and were trying to force an entrance there. Mrs. Woodie, pointing her hand at them in a manner which led them to believe that she had a revolver ordered them not to move. Then she began to scream for help and as neighbors got up to learn the cause of the commotion Detectives Tunney and O'Connor of Brooklyn police headquarters, who had been shadowing the burglars for an hour, dashed up the stairs and captured them.

The burglars attempted to put up a fight, but were quickly subdued. The detectives recognized their prisoners as old timers. One was Herman Gritzhandler, a plasterer, 31 years old, of 214 Wallabout street, and the other Meyer Krunch, a tailor, 40 years old, who lives at 87 Cook street.

Tunney and O'Connor were on the lookout for crooks along the Williamsburg Bridge plaza soon after midnight Friday night when they saw Gritzhandler and Krunch going along Havemeyer street, at the upper end of the plaza. The detectives were satisfied that the pair were out to do a "job," and they shadowed them.

The burglars surveyed a number of dwellings and finally stopped in front of the South Second street tenement. By sneaking up close to buildings on the opposite side of the street the detectives got in front of 282 and they discovered that the two men had opened the door lock with false keys and turned off the gaslight in the halls. They decided to wait a while in order to give the burglars a chance to get to work. Then making sure that their shooting irons were in good shape the detectives entered the building and removed their shoes so as to make no noise. As they were ascending the stairs they heard Mrs. Woodie's cry and ran up to the fourth floor.

The burglars had all their tools with them, which comprised skeleton keys, a lock pick and an ingenious cylinder key. As they were about to enter the door they saw Mrs. Woodie's eyes and she started to scream. The burglars turned and ran to the fourth floor.

The burglars had all their tools with them, which comprised skeleton keys, a lock pick and an ingenious cylinder key. As they were about to enter the door they saw Mrs. Woodie's eyes and she started to scream. The burglars turned and ran to the fourth floor.

The burglars had all their tools with them, which comprised skeleton keys, a lock pick and an ingenious cylinder key. As they were about to enter the door they saw Mrs. Woodie's eyes and she started to scream. The burglars turned and ran to the fourth floor.

The burglars had all their tools with them, which comprised skeleton keys, a lock pick and an ingenious cylinder key. As they were about to enter the door they saw Mrs. Woodie's eyes and she started to scream. The burglars turned and ran to the fourth floor.

The burglars had all their tools with them, which comprised skeleton keys, a lock pick and an ingenious cylinder key. As they were about to enter the door they saw Mrs. Woodie's eyes and she started to scream. The burglars turned and ran to the fourth floor.

The burglars had all their tools with them, which comprised skeleton keys, a lock pick and an ingenious cylinder key. As they were about to enter the door they saw Mrs. Woodie's eyes and she started to scream. The burglars turned and ran to the fourth floor.

The burglars had all their tools with them, which comprised skeleton keys, a lock pick and an ingenious cylinder key. As they were about to enter the door they saw Mrs. Woodie's eyes and she started to scream. The burglars turned and ran to the fourth floor.

The burglars had all their tools with them, which comprised skeleton keys, a lock pick and an ingenious cylinder key. As they were about to enter the door they saw Mrs. Woodie's eyes and she started to scream. The burglars turned and ran to the fourth floor.

The burglars had all their tools with them, which comprised skeleton keys, a lock pick and an ingenious cylinder key. As they were about to enter the door they saw Mrs. Woodie's eyes and she started to scream. The burglars turned and ran to the fourth floor.

The burglars had all their tools with them, which comprised skeleton keys, a lock pick and an ingenious cylinder key. As they were about to enter the door they saw Mrs. Woodie's eyes and she started to scream. The burglars turned and ran to the fourth floor.

The burglars had all their tools with them, which comprised skeleton keys, a lock pick and an ingenious cylinder key. As they were about to enter the door they saw Mrs. Woodie's eyes and she started to scream. The burglars turned and ran to the fourth floor.

The burglars had all their tools with them, which comprised skeleton keys, a lock pick and an ingenious cylinder key. As they were about to enter the door they saw Mrs. Woodie's eyes and she started to scream. The burglars turned and ran to the fourth floor.

The burglars had all their tools with them, which comprised skeleton keys, a lock pick and an ingenious cylinder key. As they were about to enter the door they saw Mrs. Woodie's eyes and she started to scream. The burglars turned and ran to the fourth floor.

The burglars had all their tools with them, which comprised skeleton keys, a lock pick and an ingenious cylinder key. As they were about to enter the door they saw Mrs. Woodie's eyes and she started to scream. The burglars turned and ran to the fourth floor.

The burglars had all their tools with them, which comprised skeleton keys, a lock pick and an ingenious cylinder key. As they were about to enter the door they saw Mrs. Woodie's eyes and she started to scream. The burglars turned and ran to the fourth floor.

The burglars had all their tools with them, which comprised skeleton keys, a lock pick and an ingenious cylinder key. As they were about to enter the door they saw Mrs. Woodie's eyes and she started to scream. The burglars turned and ran to the fourth floor.

The burglars had all their tools with them, which comprised skeleton keys, a lock pick and an ingenious cylinder key. As they were about to enter the door they saw Mrs. Woodie's eyes and she started to scream. The burglars turned and ran to the fourth floor.

The burglars had all their tools with them, which comprised skeleton keys, a lock pick and an ingenious cylinder key. As they were about to enter the door they saw Mrs. Woodie's eyes and she started to scream. The burglars turned and ran to the fourth floor.

BRIDGE WALK OPEN TO-DAY.

North Promenade of Queensboro Span to Take Traffic in Daylight.

Because thousands of sightseers are expected to cross the new Queensboro Bridge to-day the north promenade will be opened in addition to the south promenade, the only one that has been in use since the opening of the bridge last Tuesday. Shortage of lighting facilities will make it necessary to close the north promenade after dark.

Thieves already have been at work on the new structure. Yesterday morning it was found that they had stolen about a thousand feet of copper telephone wire, which has been strung temporarily under the floor of the lower deck.

George Pople, 30 years old, of Flushing, who made trips to Manhattan seventy years ago when the only ferry at Thirty-fourth street was a rowing boat, is to ride across the new bridge to-day in an automobile. Mr. Pople retired from business many years ago. He says there have been a few changes in traffic conditions around New York since 1840, when the Astoria ferry advertised that their boats had a capacity of four loads of hay.

In the afternoon the police will be on duty at Thirty-fourth street where the ferry at Thirty-fourth street was known as "Moses's Ark," after its owner, Moses McGrath, who kept a shack on the river-front with the present site of the Grand Central Station was the cattle market.

PALMIST'S IMPRESSIVE GETUP

Impressed Detective With Notion That He Was Man the Police Wanted.

Lieut. William Brown of the Detective Bureau, while riding in a Forty-second street cross-town car on Friday afternoon was reading a newspaper description of Hylo Salada, a palmist, who was reported to have stabbed a man on Thursday evening. He glanced out of the window of the car and saw a man who seemed to him to fill the bill entering a house. The man was tall and slender, his face was dark, and he wore a short, pointed beard. On his head was a black velvet turban streaked with red.

Brown jumped out of the car and followed the man inside. Sure enough it was Salada, he admitted, having had some trouble with Gottlieb Nelson, the owner of an apartment house at 120 West Forty-seventh street, who was in Flower Hospital as the result of two jabs with a pocket-knife in the stomach. Nelson told the detective that the knife was on the table in his sitting chamber. Brown found it there, and there were bloodstains on the table.

In the West Side court yesterday Magistrate Breen held Salada in $1,500 bail for examination next Saturday. Nelson was well enough yesterday to identify Salada, who the palmist was taken to him in the hospital.

COURT HOUSE DEDICATED.

$300,000 Building at Somerville, N. J., Opened to the Public.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., April 3.—Somerset county's new $300,000 white marble court house was opened to the public and dedicated to-day. Thousands of people from all over the countryside were present. Ex-Congressman Alvah A. Clark was master of ceremonies. Among the speakers were ex-Chief Justice and Chancellor William J. Magie, who for twenty years was presiding Judge of the Somerset court; Justice Charles W. Parker, the present presiding Judge of the court; Justice James H. Bergon, Judge Louis H. Schenck and Richard V. Lindbury. The dedication exercises were held in the main court room.

The new house, which with its picturesque surroundings is said to be the most beautiful building of its kind in New Jersey, is built on the site of the old court house, which was destroyed in 1798 and razed in 1907 to make way for the new structure. Several other old county buildings in Court House Square are being razed and a $1,000,000 memorial fountain to the late John H. Lord, a New York merchant, is to be erected in front of the court house.

APHORISMS OF BYRNES

After Getting Himself Out of and Another Into Trouble With the Police.

"Predestination overcomes prudence. There can be no tarrying in this town for me," said Edward J. Byrnes to Police Lieuts. Fogarty and Jones yesterday after making good his promise to be "on the level with the police" by "turning up" a man they wanted.

Byrnes had been discharged after a Grand Jury investigation of the killing of Lieutenant Fogarty but was immediately arrested on a charge of receiving stolen property, only to be discharged again by Magistrate Kernochan.

But through information furnished by Byrnes, Fogarty and Jones and Detective Wood arrested Fillmore Hillingier, a bell-boy, 26 years old, of 240 West 114th street on a charge of stealing some brushes, a cigarette case and a watch from the Hotel Le Marquis, in East Thirty-first street, last summer while he was working there. Byrnes said that Hillingier pledged with him for drinks at a hotel, and that Magistrate Kernochan held the prisoner in $1,000 bail.

TROWEL ON ITS TRAVELS.

Masonic Implement Owned in New York Will Be Taken to Mexico on May 10.

EL PASO, April 3.—The traveling trowel of Justice Lodge, 753 of New York, now in possession of Southern California Lodge, 278, of Los Angeles, will be turned over to a Mexico city lodge of Masons with ceremony on May 10.

The trowel, which is made of silver, was started on its way by the New York lodge on December 6, 1905, and it is the intention to give it into the custody of every grand lodge jurisdiction in the world before its journey, which will require at least twenty years, is completed.

It has already been in possession of the Masonic jurisdictions of New York, Canada, Wisconsin, North Dakota, Idaho, Illinois, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Oregon, Washington, Vancouver, B. C., and California.

It will be taken to Mexico city by the California Masons and delivered into the hands of the Anaheim lodge with great ceremony, four well known California Masons carrying it and being accompanied by others in a special train.

First of the Season's Catch of Elevated Train Bowdies.

The Public Service Commission, after receiving complaints of rowdiness on the East Side elevated tracks in the rush hours, advised the Interborough company and several inspectors were put on the trains yesterday.

The inspectors arrested Morris Levy and Frank Bloom on Third Avenue trains and arraigned them in the Yorkville police court.

J. Sherman Moulton, counsel for the elevated road, told Magistrate O'Connor that young rowdies sometimes get on the rear of trains and throw the red signal lights into the street and set the handbrakes.

LAST RITES FOR PETROSINO

WILL BE MOST IMPRESSIVE IN CITY'S POLICE ANNALS.

Body of Assassinated Lieutenant to Arrive on Wednesday—Services in Old Cathedral—Representative Processions—Burial in Calvary Cemetery.

Second Deputy Police Commissioner Higher finished arrangements yesterday for the funeral of Lieut. Joseph Petrosino, who was killed in Sicily and whose body is on board the Cunard steamship Slavonia, due on Wednesday.

The steamship will be met at Quarantine by the police boat Patrol. The body will be transferred to the Patrol and taken to Pier A. A lieutenant, twelve detectives and two troops of patrolmen will escort the body to the Petrosino home, at 233 Lafayette street. The line of march will be along Whitehall street, to Broadway, to Ann street, along Park row, Centre, Elm and Lafayette streets.

The funeral will be on Friday, and is expected to be the most impressive police funeral ever held in this city. The procession will start from the house at 12 o'clock and move to the Old Cathedral, at Mott and Prince streets, where short services will be held. Because the day is in Holy Week no regular mass may be said. The services there will probably occupy an hour, and then the procession will start for Calvary Cemetery.

Commissioner Bingham will be in the procession. As a mark of sympathy on the part of another city department Chief Croker and a representation of firemen will be in line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will have two mounted aides. Then will come the police flag of honor, followed by four squads of mounted policemen comprising 150 men. Chief Croker of the Fire Department will be in the rear of the procession. Each detachment will consist of 100 men and will be commanded by a deputy chief. A battalion of policemen will follow the line. A platoon of mounted police will lead the parade. Chief Inspector McCafferty, in whose bureau Petrosino had worked, the chief inspector will be mounted and will