

"Liberty" were exchanged for "Long live the Sultan," and at 8 o'clock several hundreds of the Hamidieh Cavalry, on foot, with drawn sabres, in a state of intense excitement, crossed the bridge cheering for the Sultan.

EARLY NEWS IN LONDON.

Revolt Not Regarded as Reactionary at First—Sultan and Reformers.

Special Cable Despatches to THE SUN. LONDON, April 13.—Another almost bloodless revolution took place at Constantinople to-day and as the result of the demands of two or three regiments of troops Hilmi Pasha, the Grand Vizier, with all the other members of the Cabinet and the President of the Chamber, resigned.

The upheaval causes no surprise at Sofia, where it had been expected daily. Bulgaria will probably now request the Powers to recognize her independence regardless of Turkey's views. The Cabinet will decide in a short time whether to mobilize the army. Military measures depend on European opinion toward the Turkish revolt.

The second edition of the Daily Mail prints a Constantinople despatch, dated midnight, which states that the situation is calmer. The Morning Post's Constantinople correspondent ascribes the outbreak to an order issued directing the troops to obey their officers under all circumstances, even if ordered to shoot their colleagues.

It is rumored also that Tewfik Pasha will be Grand Vizier and Ehedem Pasha Minister of War. It is unconfirmedly reported here that the Turkish mutineers killed the Minister of Justice and several Deputies and wounded the Minister of War. The non-mutineers are said to have fired into the crowds with machine guns.

VIENNA, April 13.—A despatch from Constantinople says that a number of armed civilians joined the soldiers. Two officers who tried to check the mutineers were killed. Constantinople despatch dated 4 P. M. states that the mutineers, besides insisting upon the protection of the Mohammedan faith and the dismissal of the Grand Vizier, demanded that the Committee of Union and Progress be dissolved and that the troops be allowed to participate in State affairs.

It is added that the Minister of War was seized and is held a prisoner by the mutineers. It is stated that thus far seventeen have been killed and thirty wounded. TERRORISM characterized the new régime, just as it was a prominent feature in the old order of things. As showing the uncertain state of affairs in Turkey one need only refer to the cruel murder of Hassan Fehmi, editor of the Serbesti, who publicly criticized the policy pursued by some of the leaders. The real saviors of Turkey in last summer's revolution, Niazî Bey, Enver Bey and the grand old man Kiamil Pasha, had been got rid of one way or another and the last condition of Turkey was rapidly becoming worse than the first.

There is nothing yet to indicate who were the real leaders of to-day's revolt or whether it is a well organized movement. A military dictatorship, such as seems to be impending, is full of danger anywhere, and in Turkey at the present moment it contains possibilities appalling to contemplate. It is reported to-night by way of Vienna that some dissatisfaction prevails here, but that the European quarter seems safe.

NO LONG DEBATE ON TARIFF

DEMOCRATIC SENATORS NOT INCLINED TO MUCH TALK.

Conference This Afternoon to Decide on Their Policy—May Make No Minority Report—Matter of a Commission to Be Voted On—Alixed J. J. J. J.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—The Democratic Senators will hold a conference to-morrow afternoon to try to reach a conclusion as to what shall be their policy in dealing with the tariff bill. There has been no meeting of the Democratic members of the Finance Committee with a view to submitting a minority report. There appears to have been such a wide divergence of views among the Democrats as to the merits of the bill that it was deemed wiser to take the whole subject into a conference before agreeing on any definite party programme.

The conferees may decide that no minority report shall be submitted and justify this action by pointing to the fact that the Republican members of the Finance Committee refuse to grant to the members of the minority the necessary time to consider and deliberate upon the bill before it is reported to the Senate.

The whole matter of the attitude of the minority toward the measure will be threshed out in the conference. One thing to be settled will be the time to be devoted to debate. There is no disposition among the Democrats to delay the vote on the bill by extended speeches. With a few exceptions the local interests of the Democratic Senators have been cared for in the bill.

The Republican members of the Finance Committee did not meet to-day. Senators Aldrich, Burrows and Smoot were in the committee room, but transacted no business relating to tariff schedules. The members of the majority of the committee were so completely worn out by their labors in the preparation of the bill that they were inclined to take a rest.

By agreement among the members of the committee the question of the maximum and minimum tariff and the administrative features will not be taken up until after Thursday. The debate will be begun on that day, when Senator Aldrich will make a statement for the majority of the committee explaining the features of the bill. It is hoped that there will be no further delay in the bill's passage.

There is much opposition in Congress to the creation of a commission. Representative John W. Weeks of Boston is opposed to the creation of a commission and is doing his best to counteract the influence of Ex-Gov. Guild and his colleagues. Ex-Representative Watson of Indiana, who has been working for the tariff bill, is also opposed to the commission with Senator Aldrich to-day.

Senator Beveridge introduced in the Senate yesterday his bill creating a tariff commission to be composed of six members. He is anxious to have the bill passed for fear it will be lost in the House. He is willing to concede that his own idea may not be the most desirable and expressed willingness to adopt any other view that may seem more feasible. It is very certain that whatever action the Finance Committee may take in the matter the Senate will have an opportunity to vote upon the question.

THE MEDAL FOR SAN FRANCISCO

FRANCE TO PRESENT ONE TO THE CITY THAT REVIVED.

Latest in the Series Marking Her Friendship for This Country Is to Commemorate Her Grief and Her Appreciation of Heroism—Jusserand to Deliver It.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—M. Jusserand, the French Ambassador, has written to Secretary of State Knox a letter telling of a gold medal which France wishes to present to the authorities in San Francisco to commemorate France's grief over the earthquake and fire and her appreciation of the heroism of the resurrection of the city following the disaster.

The Ambassador tells of receiving from the United States Government a medal commemorating the old Franco-American alliance just at the time the fire was destroying San Francisco. At that time the Ambassador expressed the hope that one of the next medals to be struck and added to the series would be for the city which was so bravely reborn on account of the San Francisco earthquake.

The words which I spoke thus, spontaneously and without any premeditation caused by that event, turned out to agree so exactly with the sentiment of my country that the Government of the republic has appropriated the medal in its honor. It consequently decided to justify them, while at the same time the inhabitants of the devastated region were on their part setting about to restore to the city its original beauty with its very energy and success which it had been so easy to predict.

In conformity therefore with the wish which I took to have the medal struck, the medal is to be added to the series of those which have marked from time to time, ever since the earliest days of American independence, the persistence of the sympathy which has existed between the two countries.

RUSSIA LETS IN BOOKS. Post Office Department Here Notified of the Abolition of Censorship.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Russia has removed the ban on books and publications coming within her borders. For many years the Government has exercised a strict censorship over printed matter and particularly books of a political character.

MOVEMENTS OF NAVAL VESSELS. WASHINGTON, April 13.—The cruiser Des Moines has arrived at Puerto Cortes and the collier Nero at Newport News; the cruisers Chester, Birmingham and Salem have sailed from Newport on a trial trip, the cruiser Tacoma from Puerto Cortes for New York via Key West; and the cruiser Prairie from Newport for Hampton Roads. The battleship Kentucky has been placed in reserve at the Philadelphia yard.

Taft to Speak at Gettysburg. WASHINGTON, April 13.—President Taft has decided to attend the Memorial Day celebration at Gettysburg on May 30, and has so indicated to Gov. Stewart of Pennsylvania. The President will deliver an address before a large number of veterans.

THE DEMOCRACY OF MUSIC

The Pianola Piano

Extends the Privilege of Producing Music to Everyone

Do you realize what the Pianola offers you? Think of this for a moment: A few years ago there was no such thing as a Pianola. Today, the name of this instrument is as well known as the name of the piano itself.

Have you been classing the Pianola with automatic producers of music? Can you not see that you must be wrong—that there is something far more vital in the Pianola, than in these purely mechanical reproducers of music?

And there is. In a word, this is what the invention of the Pianola has done: It has taken music out of the class of the so-called accomplishments—has made it an art to be enjoyed by all, rather than the exclusive possession of the privileged few.

THE AEOLIAN COMPANY

AEOLIAN HALL, 362 Fifth Ave. Near 34th Street, NEW YORK

If you listen to the Pianola, you hear music that is actually being played by someone—music that is instinct with the individuality of the performer.

CAUTION: The word Pianola is a trade-mark name. It belongs only to the Piano-player made by the Aeolian Company. Unless you understand this, you might make the mistake of buying another instrument on the strength of the genuine Pianola's reputation.

PIANOLAS (to be used with any piano) cost $250 to $450. PIANOLA PIANOS (piano and Pianola combined in one case) cost $550 to $1050. Moderate Monthly Payments.
