NUDE CLASSICISM ON MEMORIAL TO QUEEN VICTORIA.

Nonconformist Ministers Make Earnest Protest—Barring Suffragettes From King's Garden Parties—New Spinal Anesthetic—The Social Ball Rolling.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. LONDON, June 5.—The bas-reliefs and classical figures of the new memorial to the late Queen Victoria in front of Buckingham Palace have been universally admired. But the King has received in the course of the week a letter of protest from nonconformist ministers. It says: "What would your gracious mother, the embodiment of all the domestic virtues, say if she could see at her feet these naked bushes whose sole attraction is the display of their wealth of form? Before too late cannot you prevent such a desecration of all the principles of her sainted life in this national tribute to the greatest and best of Englishwomen?"

For the King's garden party at Buckingham Palace it usually is not difficult for any one with decent social credentials to get cards. But this year the King has given stringent orders for the careful supervision of invitations. Card bearers will be rigidly scrutinized and any one transferring an invitation will be visited with the King's extreme displeasure.

The reason for this is that Edward is determined to avoid any suffragette imbrolio. Two suffragettes shouted in the King's ear as he was leading in Minoru after winning the Derby: "Now, sir, go back to London and dissolve your rotten Parliament!"

The Scotch Sabbatharians have found an ally in Lord Rosebery, who in reference to the Sunday railway and steamer services of the Caledonian Railway Company beginning to-day writes to the secretary of the Sabbath Protection Association: "I quite agree with you in regretting the new departure. I rather doubt if the directors fully appreciate the strength of the feeling in Scotland upon the subject."

If Simon Nelson Patten of Pennsylvania came to England he would find himself as unpopular among the suffragettes and suffragists as the Cabinet Ministers. The Daily Mirror says it has received hundreds of letters from indignant women expressing contempt for the professor's suggestions regarding the duties of the suffragettes. An ardent suffragette as well as an authority on social and economic questions, states that she considers his opinion worthless, as it is absurd for one man to try to advise every woman what to do. If Prof. Patten craves excitement he should come to England and deliver a course of lectures.

The chief medical authorities of London are giving a high place to the new anesthetic, stovaine. It is administered by spinal injection. The shock to the patient is said to be far less than that of any other anesthetic. A patient with heart complaint can survive its administration without either chloroform or ether would be dangerous. Special skill is required in its use, so its injection is not performed by the resident anesthetist of hospitals, but only by members of the visiting staff. A patient under the influence of stovaine becomes insensible to pain, but is not unconscious.

The drug is the discovery of a surgeon of Bucharest, Rumania. The anesthetic is used in a combination of strychnine and stovaine. It is injected in the lower part of the spine for operations below the waist and in the neck for operations above. Dr. Bannyrhall is the physician who has brought some of it to London.

The reopening of Parliament after the Whiteaude holidays has set the social ball rolling again, though many American hostesses are still remaining in the country. Mrs. Ronalds is at Stoner Park as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Coventry. Lady Craven is with Lady Wolverton at Ditton Park.

Viscountess Deerhurst is staying at Dynes. Mrs. John Mackay gave an informal dinner on Wednesday. Later she will do her share in giving large entertainments.

Mrs. Almerico Paget has returned from Cannes in better health. Miss Dorothy Whitney will stay with her part of the season. Later they will both go to Harry Payne Whitney's place, Oakley Court.

The Misses Drexel, Marjorie Gould and Frances Livingston Sullivan will be presented at court this morning. Capt. and Mrs. Coudert and Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Schiff are staying in London. One entertainment promised this season by an American hostess for a debutante is an orchid ball. The guests will dress as nearly like those flowers as possible and the rooms will be decorated with orchids only.

The most disappointed youngsters of the world were the Eton boys on Wednesday, when a steady downpour of rain spoiled their annual festival. Several Anglo-American youngsters were among those who waited vainly for mothers and sisters at the trains.

PAWNED JEWELS EXPOSE. Governor's Publicity Scheme Embarrasses Many Russian Families. Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. ST. PETERSBURG, June 5.—Many society people in south Russia are embarrassed by the step taken by the Governor of Odessa in consequence of frauds in the pawnbroking depot, which is a municipal monopoly in Russia.

It was discovered that genuine stones had been replaced by imitations in jewelry pawned at the depot. The Governor, wishing to find the extent of the frauds, published a full list of the names of the persons who had pawned the goods, with a description of the pledges, and asked the owners to come and inspect their property.

The publication spread consternation among many families, especially among middle women whose names were printed as having pawned jewelry the origin of which they were unable to explain to their husbands. Sources of well known families felt humiliated in the eyes of their neighbors by the publication of their extensive dealings with the pawnbroker.

GONE TO STUDY THE PLAGUE. Marine Hospital Surgeons Sail From Porto Rico for Venezuela. Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. SAN JUAN, P. R., June 5.—Assistant Surgeon W. H. Kellogg of the Marine Hospital Service arrived here on Thursday and sailed yesterday from Mayaguez on the steamship Saullia for La Guayra.

U. S. UNIVERSITIES PRAISED.

Prof. Lefranc of Paris Impressed by Harvard and America in General.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. PARIS, June 5.—Abel Lefranc of the College of France, the professor who lectured at Harvard recently, has returned with an enthusiastic impression of America, particularly of American university life. He told the correspondent of THE SUN that the many books he had studied on the subject did not convey an adequate idea of the intensity of American activity.

He was deeply impressed by the evidences of idealism and intellectual progress among the people, who have been represented by European writers as rough and uncultured, while it was plain that he had been surprised at the courtesy and politeness he encountered. The language used might be brusque, but Americans, he said, do not make useless compliments.

Another surprise was American architecture. He said: "I saw no ugly houses. Optimism seems to be the basis of American character, both national and individual."

He agreed with the remark Henry James made to him that this optimism produces a ferment that may cause a crisis from time to time, but at the same time it gives buoyancy, enabling Americans to surmount such a crisis.

He lauded Harvard's independence in having refused gifts from the State so as to avoid hampering conditions. Such independence, he said, was impossible on the European continent. The greatest difference between French and American universities is the power American undergraduates had to select their own subjects for study, whereas the French were tied to certain courses. This reform Prof. Lefranc ascribed to Dr. Eliot, whom he regards as the highest intellectual authority in the United States.

AMERICAN COLLEGE JUBILEE.

Many Prelates Expected in Rome for Celebration Beginning To-day.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. ROME, June 5.—The celebration of the jubilee of the North American College will take place from June 6 to 16. On June 7 there will be a welcome reception at the college. On June 8 a pontifical mass of requiem for the deceased founders of the college, benefactors and alumni will be celebrated by Archbishop Farley. The sermon will be preached by the Cardinal of St. Joseph. On June 9 a pontifical mass of thanksgiving will be celebrated by the Archbishop of Boston and the sermon will be by the Archbishop of Baltimore.

On June 16 a "Te Deum" will be sung and there will be the benediction of the blessed sacrament in the college church by the titular Bishop of Heliopolis.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. PARIS, June 5.—Twelve pictures belonging to the late Vicomte Chabert were sold today and realized $89,000. Six portraits by Largilliere accounted for $73,000.

The highest price, $21,000, was paid for a portrait of the actress Ducloux. A portrait of Mme. Parabere brought $16,400, and one of Baroness Prangin $12,400. A companion portrait of Baron Prangin brought only $5,000.

A portrait of Count Berulle sold for $9,800, and one of Marquis Montaut $7,200. Four of Hubert Robert's landscapes brought $16,400, and two Anne Valleyers, $2,600.

WHY FRENCHMEN GO MAD.

Romance a Very Small Factor—Money Losses and Drink Lead.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. PARIS, June 5.—The authorities of the Department of the Seine have published statistics of the 4,000 insane persons who came under their care last year. The column giving causes deals a blow at romance, as "the loss of a beloved person" occurs only seventeen times. Love is responsible for only three cases of insanity and remorse for one case.

Money losses and drink were the chief agents.

The Weather. The storm of slight intensity but with a wide area of rainfall which has been moving eastward had its centre on the coast of New Jersey yesterday morning. Rain continued to fall in the New England States, west to the lake region.

REIGN OF PEACE IN TURKEY

AMBASSADOR LEISHMAN TELLS OF YOUNG TURK EFFORTS.

Disaffected Army Corps Disbanded and Court-Martial Punishing Massacres in Asia—Treasure Trove in Yildiz Kiosk—The New Sultan's Pledge.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—In a mail report sent to the State Department John G. A. Leishman, the American Ambassador at Constantinople, tells of improved conditions in Turkey. The old First Army Corps, which was stationed at Constantinople, had been disbanded when he wrote, the leaders of the opposition movement were being tried, and the Government had shown an intention to effect a thorough reorganization at the capital.

Abdul Hamid, the deposed Sultan, is at Salonica with a small retinue under guard. Most of his former followers have been arrested. At the Yildiz Kiosk about $10,000,000 was found in cash and negotiable securities. The Ambassador mentions a report that jewelry worth several million dollars was also discovered there.

The new Government intends, according to the Ambassador, to restore order throughout the Asiatic provinces as well as in Constantinople, and battalions have been despatched to the Adana and Cilician districts. A court-martial under the presidency of Kemal Pasha has been sent to these districts with orders to try all offenders and be unsparring with the guilty irrespective of their positions. The Ambassador says that the firmness and energy displayed by the Macedonian officers has aroused confidence that they will be successful in their difficult task, and the belief is growing general that peace will be restored to Turkey.

Great praise is bestowed on the army, which the Ambassador says has shown qualities of discipline and capacity of organization. The new Sultan has given evidence of his readiness to acquiesce in all the desired reforms. A first Cabinet has been formed. With his report Ambassador Leishman sent a copy of a communication from the new Sultan, Mohammed V., to Tewfik Pasha informing him of his appointment as Grand Vizier.

In this respect the Sultan says: "The aim of my Government will always be to guarantee liberty, equality and justice to all my subjects and to apply the Shari'ah law and the codes of the State in the territory under my jurisdiction. The foundations of the empire may be strengthened. I have a firm assurance that my Ministers, trusting in God's help and aided by the good officers of my constitution, will join with the representatives of the nations in supporting my efforts. The constitution gives us guarantees of success."

"My first duty being to suppress the disorders which have broken out in different provinces of the empire and to encourage my officers to bring about the disappearance of discord among the different elements of the population I propose to take efficacious measures to decrease the number of brigands and to bring them to an end once and for all and to cause the different nationalities of the empire to live in peace and harmony. I will endeavor to improve the condition of the land and sea forces, to improve the administration of justice and finance and to supply the provinces with schools. Legislation with regard to commerce, agriculture, public works and industries will be enacted in accordance with the progress of our age and in a manner suitable to the needs of the nation. The treaties with the European countries will be confirmed and will be conscientiously observed. The good and friendly relations between our empire and other States will be confirmed and strengthened."

CHAUCHARD VALUED TO FRANCE.

Art Collection Legated at $5,000,000—His Many Charities at Funeral.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. PARIS, June 5.—The pictures and other works of art that the late H. A. Chauchard has left to the nation are estimated to be worth $5,000,000. There are twenty-five Corots, twenty-seven Meissoniers and seven Milletts, including the famous "Angelus."

In consideration of this prospective benefaction Chauchard received the Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor, which entitles him to the attendance of a whole division of troops at his funeral. The funeral will be most elaborate, costing some $40,000. It will be carried out in eighteenth century style. Six thousand employees will be present.

M. Chauchard was always charitable. He distributed immense sums every Christmas and repeatedly made huge gifts to the poor. He bought a pavilion at Versailles that was formerly a French royal dwelling as a retiring home for his wife.

The Journal reports on good authority that M. Chauchard's fortune amounted to $20,000,000. He was married to a French noblewoman, Calmette and Leygue, $2,000,000 each.

REVENGE OF A BRIGAND.

Refusal of a Girl's Hand Causes Murder of Parents and Their Defenders in Sicily.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. ROME, June 5.—Giuseppe Lombardo, 62 years old, a notorious member of the Mafia, who had spent a third of his life in prison, attacked near Siracusa the residence of a girl whom he wished to marry and stabbed them to death.

He also killed two men who had gone to the defence of the father and mother and seriously wounded another man who attempted to disarm him.

DEVASTATED BY LOCUSTS.

Fire the Only Remedy for Sicilian Plague, and It's Just as Bad.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. ROME, June 5.—The countryside at Gervasi, Sicily, is scourged with locusts. Entire crops have been destroyed.

The only effective remedy is to burn the locusts, but this plan has been only partially adopted for fear of burning the trees.

HISTORIC FINDS IN GERMANY.

Prof. Learned Gets Points on the Hessians and Steuben—German Eyes on America.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. BERLIN, June 5.—Prof. M. D. Learned of Philadelphia in searching State archives throughout Germany for documents relating to America unearthed a heap of diplomatic correspondence which he says throws new light on many parts of American history where Germany is concerned. Interesting material was found regarding the Hessian mercenaries and the conditions under which they were hired by England to fight against the Americans.

The documents show that Germany and Great Britain were under mutual obligation to give such aid to each other. Much material was found dealing with Baron von Steuben, the Prussian soldier of fortune who was commandered by Washington to teach tactics to the American soldiers. One incident in his career Prof. Learned thinks will make America laugh, but he does not divulge it.

One feature of the find is proof that Germany has for hundreds of years been more interested in America than any one has believed. She had minute details of the Revolution sent by her representatives in London. The correspondence between Frederick the Great and Washington in the private archives of the Hohenzollerns will be accessible to Prof. Learned.

FAREWELL TO CONSUL WYNNE.

Tributes of Regard at Luncheon of the Consul-General Stationed at London.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. LONDON, June 5.—It has been the custom of the Consul-General stationed in London to meet weekly at a friendly luncheon and discuss informally topics of interest to them. To-day's luncheon partook of the nature of a farewell function to Consul-General Wynne.

The speeches uniformly sounded a note of extreme regret at his approaching departure and were an expression of the personal affection universally felt for him.

Mr. Wynne replied feelingly and expressed regret that he would be unable longer to enjoy the weekly reunion. He thanked his hearers for their friendly assistance in the past and concluded by saying: "God bless and prosper you all."

RUSSO-CHINESE TARIFF SCRAP.

Pekin Government Refuses to Acknowledge Newly Opened Custom Houses.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. ST. PETERSBURG, June 5.—A serious tariff dispute has arisen between China and Russia. The latter restored the protective tariff in her Far Eastern provinces on April 1 and established custom houses.

China refused to pay any duty on goods sent across the Russo-Chinese frontier for a distance of fifty kilometers into Russian territory, which distance includes the important trading stations of Khabarovsk, Blagovestchensk and Novokievsk.

China holds that under the existing treaty she can introduce goods of any origin until February 12, 1911.

AVIATION IN ITALY.

D'Annunzio Invents 140 Words for His New "Aeroplane Romance."

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. BOLOGNA, June 5.—Gabriele D'Annunzio states that he has already created 140 new Italian words, which will appear in his new novel, which is described as an aeroplane romance.

The poet's partner in word manufacture is Lieut. Calderara, the well known aviator, who was a pupil of Wilbur Wright. The new words are Italian equivalents for the more important English and French words that are used in the science of aviation.

WILHELMINA NOT SCARED.

Carriage in Which She Was Taking Prince to Be Baptized in Collision.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. THE HAGUE, June 5.—As a carriage containing Queen Wilhelmina, the Prince Consort and the infant Princess Juliana was drawing up this morning at the door of the church in which the Princess was to be christened, it collided with another carriage which had just come to a sudden standstill.

The carriages were interlocked and there was considerable confusion. The Queen was unmoved by the accident and descended calmly and unhurt from her carriage amid the cheers of the crowd.

AMERICAN POETS DON'T SING

SWINBURNE ON BRYANT, EMERSON, WHITTIER AND OTHERS.

Letters to Stedman Published in the London "Times"—Longfellow Had a Pretty Little Pipe and Whitman Sometimes Sings—Poetry Versus Prose.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. LONDON, June 5.—Some interesting letters from Algernon Charles Swinburne to Edmund Clarence Stedman, now in the possession of the latter's granddaughter, are printed in the "Times." They contain some comments on American poetry. One says:

"Your rebuke on the subject of American poetry is doubtless as well deserved as it is kindly and gently expressed. Yet I must say that while I appreciate, I hope, the respective excellence of Mr. Bryant's 'Thanatopsis,' and Mr. Lowell's 'Commemoration Ode,' I cannot say that either of them leaves in my ear the echo of a single note of song. It is excellent and good speech, but if given us as song it's first and last duty is to sing."

"The one is most august meditation and the other is a noble expression of deep and grave patriotic feeling on a supreme national occasion. But the thing more necessary, though it may be less noble than these, is the pulse, the fire, the passion of music, the quality of a singer, not of a solitary philosopher or patriotic orator."

"Now, when Whitman is not speaking bad prose he sings, and when he sings at all he sings well. Mr. Longfellow has a pretty little pipe of his own, but surely it is very thin and reedy. Again, whatever may be Mr. Emerson's merits, to talk of his poetry seems to me to be like talking of the scholarship of a child who has not yet learned his letters."

"Even Browning's verse always goes to a recognizable tune. I say not to a good one, but in the name of all bag-pipes, what is the tune of Emerson's? Now it is a poor thing to have nothing but melody and be unable to rise above it into harmony. But one or other, the less if not the greater, you must have. Imagine a man full of great thoughts and emotions resolved to express them in a painting who has absolutely no power upon form or color. Wainwright, the murderer, who never had thought or emotion above those of a pig or butcher, will be a better man for us than he."

In another letter Swinburne says: "I read your former letter very carefully and have since reread a good deal of Emerson's first volume of poems, therein mentioned, which certainly contains noble verses and passages well worth remembering. I hope no personal feeling or consideration will ever prevent or impair my recognition of any man's higher qualities. In Whittier power, pathos, righteousness (to use a great old word that should not be left to the pulpiters) of noble emotion, would be more enjoyable and admirable if he were not so deplorably ready to put up with the first word, good or bad, that comes to hand and to run on long after he is out of breath."

"Mr. Lowell's verse, when out of the Bigelow costume, I never could bring myself to care for at all. You know my theory, that nothing which can as well be said in prose ought ever to be said in verse."

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. TOULON, June 5.—The trials of wireless telephone service between land stations and the cruiser Condé at sea were concluded last evening. The results were very satisfactory.

THEY SMUGGLED CHINESE.

Two Railway Brakemen Plead Guilty to Charges of Conspiracy.

CHICAGO, June 5.—William H. Clark and Robert W. Stephenson, railway brakemen, the latter a son of Judge J. M. Stephenson of Cripple Creek, Col., pleaded guilty to charges of conspiracy before Judge K. M. Landis in the District Court to-day. Clark and Stephenson are two of the eight men indicted for smuggling Chinese into the United States from Mexico.

According to the Government's charges Clark and Stephenson induced cooks on Pullman cars to conceal Chinamen in their cars, smuggling them from Duques, Mexico, to El Paso, Tex. They are brakemen on the El Paso and Southwestern Railway.
