

WANTED A LAW, PAID $10,000

Continued from First Page. Auerbach, rendered on April 29, 1901, for investigating legislative matters. "What assentive legislation was that?" asked Mr. Hurrell.

I think I recall a fight in New York against some discriminatory legislation years ago. Mr. Case was excused at this point, but Supt. Hotchkiss told him that he might be summoned at any time he will be needed later on.

There was a quick shift in the bearing from Case to Kennedy. The white dressed in a frock coat, smiled and appeared to be quite at his ease. Supt. Hotchkiss raised his right eye and asked the witness where he went after the hearing on Friday.

My impression is that it would not be the answer. My recollection is that I did not see him. FRIEND SURPRISE, MALBY WROTE. A letter from Malby said: "My Dear Mr. Aldridge: We had a conference yesterday at which the question of insurance was broached. I made the suggestion, as you suggested, that no tax be made on unearned premiums."

Mr. Hotchkiss was loaded down with letters and papers which he threw on the table. There weren't half enough, though, the Superintendent said. Mr. Kennedy explained that the insurance committee had only one small safe, which was emptied as often as it was filled. The emptied contents were destroyed, which, thought Mr. Hotchkiss, was unfortunate.
