

MISS DREXEL A VISCOUNTESS

PHILADELPHIA GIRL MARRIED TO LORD MAIDSTONE.

Wedding Ceremony in London Despite Rain. Mourning King Stopped Plans for Quiet Wedding. Rush for Church Flowers. Great List of Gifts.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN.

LONDON, June 8.—The wedding of Miss Margaret Drexel, only daughter of James J. and Mrs. Drexel of Grosvenor Gardens, London, and Philadelphia, to Viscount Maidstone, elder son and heir of the Earl of Winchelsea and Nottingham, took place this afternoon at St. George's Church, Westminster. The Rev. Arthur Foley Winnington Bishop, Bishop of London, performed the ceremony, assisted by the rector of St. Margaret's Church, Canon Hensley Henric, and several other clergymen.

The church, which was lavishly decorated with white flowers and tall palms, was crowded when the ceremony began at two o'clock. There had been some talk of making the wedding a quiet affair owing to the recent death of King Edward, but King George made it known that it was his desire that the arrangements should not be altered because of the mourning more than could be helped.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, who gave her away. Her wedding dress was of white satin, the skirt arranged with a panel of old lace, while an old lace scarf was draped from one shoulder. The full court train, which fell from the shoulder, was composed of gold brocade, and she wore a pair of double veil, lace at the back and tulle over the face. The lace on her dress and the veil were of interest because the bride's mother, her grandmother and her great-uncle all wore them at their wedding.

There were eleven bridesmaids, including three American girls. They were the bridegroom's sister, Lady Gladys Finch Hatton, the bridegroom's two cousins, the Hon. Hilda Chichester and Miss Essex Manning, Miss Mildred Carter, daughter of the American Minister to the Balkan states, who is soon to marry Lord Acheson, Miss Nellie Post, who is to marry Montague Elliot, and Miss Edith Wynne of Philadelphia; Lady Violet Manuvers, the Hon. Margaret Upton, the Hon. Sybil Fellows, the Hon. Rhoda Ashley and Miss Constance Combe. They were all dressed in simple costumes of soft white satin and instead of hats wore wreaths of marguerites and tulle veils.

The Hon. Charles Mills, son of Lord Hailington, acted as best man.

Despite the King's edict that half mourning might be worn most of the women wore black, relieved by bunches of flowers in the waist. The Duchess of Marlborough wore a white and black chiffon overdress. Her ornaments were pearls. The Duchess of Roxburghe, formerly May Knolly and Lady Alastair Innes-Ker, formerly Anna Bressa, were dressed in unadorned black. The Countess Papanicolaou, formerly Miss Wheeler of Philadelphia, wore black with superb orchids. Mrs. J. H. Smith, mother of Anita Stewart, who married Prince Miguel de Braganza, was wearing the Duchesse de Vigner, wore black duchesse. Her daughter, the Duchess, Mrs. Henry White, Mrs. M. Drummond, Mrs. Cloman and Mrs. Simpson, the wives of the American military and naval attaches, Mrs. Vanderbilt and Mrs. Astor all wore black silk chiffon.

Mrs. A. Drexel, Sr., wore mauve satin duchesse with pearl ornaments. Mrs. A. Drexel, Jr., wore a dress of white chiffon. Lady Essex, formerly Adele Knolly of New York, Lady Johnstone, formerly Antoinette Foy Finchot, and Mrs. Colgate, were gray mauve.

Mrs. Reid, the wife of the American Ambassador, and Mrs. Roosevelt were not present.

It was agreed by all that Miss Drexel was the most beautiful bride London has seen for a long time.

There was a tremendous crowd outside the church. It included many men, who pushed and shoved in an effort to get a view of the bride party.

The guests took huge bunches from the floral decorations as they were leaving the church.

After the ceremony Mrs. Drexel entertained the large party of wedding guests at her home in Grosvenor Square. After the reception the bride and bridegroom left for a motor tour through France and Italy. The fine automobile that Mr. Drexel gave among other things to his daughter as a wedding present will meet them at Calais.

The list of gifts to the bride include the following:

A. J. Drexel, a high pearl collar with diamond slides, a long pearl chain and diamond plaque, and a motorcar; Mrs. A. J. Drexel, a string of beautiful pearls; Mr. and Mrs. George Drexel, a sapphire and diamond ring; Mrs. Joseph Drexel, a sapphire ring and illustrated book by Beuchers.

The Earl and Countess of Winchelsea and Nottingham, a diamond and pearl necklace.

The Duke and Duchesse de Vigner, an emerald fan, the Count and Countess Saxe (Miss Harriet Day), a gold metal bag; Mr. and Mrs. Payne Thompson, a toubon box; Mr. and Mrs. John G. Watumough (great-uncle and aunt), a lace fan; Mr. and Mrs. Craig Biddle, a silver vase; Livingston Biddle, a silver vase; Mrs. Malvina Drummond (Mrs. Marshall Field), a gold bowl; Miss Henry, a leather writing case; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Henry, silver coffee cups; Miss Lattimer of Philadelphia, an emerald case; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Morton, a gold chocolate jug; Mrs. Ogden, two silver sugar muffineers; Mrs. George Cavendish Bentinck, antique gold clock; Lady Arthur Butler, a jade paper weight; Miss Evelyn Butler, a book; Baron A. de Gunzburg, an ivory paper knife; Lady Gerard, set of china plates and knives; Miss Grosvenor, a book; William Gillett, a silver plated cake knife; the Hamilton, a glass box; Mrs. Houldsworth, an inlaid table; Miss P. Henderson, two coffee cups; the Earl and Countess of Harrington, an umbrella handle; Lady Gladys Finch Hatton, an enamel brooch; Lady Hillington, an enamel egg; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. James, an inkstand; Brinsley Hildesley, a jewelled pendant; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur James, pair of Sherraton settees; Miss Millicent James, enamel neck chain; Lady Lowther, an old Persian fan; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lawrence, a travelling clock; Mr. and Mrs. Malvina, a book; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mills, a ring and diamond ring; F. de Marriani, a diamond pin; Lord Norbury, pair of silver sugar muffineers; Sir Nicolo, a book; Mr. and Mrs. W. Platt, emerald necklace; Lady de Ramsey, an enamel paper cutter; Bernard Rait, a book; Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Rice, silver egg stand.

Viscount and Viscountess Ridley, blue

UNITED CIGAR STORES advertisement featuring a large illustration of a cigar and text: 'Every Day 150,000 Customers patronize the United Cigar Stores in New York. These smokers continue to buy in our stores because they appreciate values and because their enjoyment of smoking is increased by their knowledge that United Stores are clean. Many of them regularly smoke the HAVANA-AMERICAN Universal, a high grade Clear Havana cigar at 5 for 50 cents. UNITED CIGAR STORES'

TO CONFER ON LORDS' VETO

LONDON EXPECTS ASQUITH TO TRY COMPROMISE MOVE.

Only Mr. Balfour, Crewe and Lansdowne to Meet Laborites and Nationalists Sure to Be in a Great Rage. Roosevelt to Press Reform of Upper House.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. LONDON, June 8.—Parliament reassembled this afternoon. A message from King George replying to addresses on the occasion of King Edward's death was read in both houses. The sittings were brief and uneventful. Everybody's thoughts were fixed on the prospect of a conference on the issue between the two houses, which seems daily to become more probable.

Walter Hume Long, who was Irish Chief Secretary in the Balfour Ministry said at a public luncheon just before the houses met that any efforts toward a conference would meet with a ready willing and patriotic response from the opposition. It was understood that Mr. Long's announcement was made on the authority of ex-Premier Minister Balfour and other opposition leaders, and it furnished an important contribution to the discussion in the lobbies of what was the only realistic topic there.

No public reference was made to the topic in the House of Commons, but in the House of Lords the Earl of Crewe, the Government leader, referred to Lord Rosebery's reform resolutions as having been removed from the agenda and put on the list of sine die motions. He suggested that the whole matter had better stand over for a week or two when perhaps the Government would be able to speak more definitely.

Lord Rosebery (reception rose and speaking in reference to the course of business said he had received information from influential quarters that in the opinion of those qualified to judge it would be better if he did not proceed with his resolution for the reform of the second chamber immediately on the reassembling of Parliament.

There was an idea, Lord Rosebery said, that the recent bereavement of the nation would afford an opportunity for some form of pacification as between the acute demands of the two parties on this great constitutional issue. There was also a feeling, Lord Rosebery declared, that it was not desirable to embarrass the beginning of a new reign by pushing forward issues affecting the Constitution so grave as those which they have been discussing this year.

In his judgment this did not apply to his resolutions. It was said that if he pressed his resolutions he could invite reprisals and would provoke those who were not unwilling to be provoked. Nothing could be more unfounded in logic, said Lord Rosebery, than any such pretence. The House of Lords resolutions had nothing to do with the veto power.

Therefore when he said he would not proceed with his resolutions immediately he did not wish it understood that he deferred them as having any relation to the Government resolutions.

In political circles to-night it is regarded as practically certain that the Government will invite a conference. Nothing is officially announced, but there is reason to believe that a conference, if one is held, will be confined to Premier Asquith, Mr. Balfour, the Earl of Crewe and Lord Lansdowne.

The Nationalists and Laborites will not be represented. Indeed, they generally oppose the idea. Many of them are indignant at the Government's willingness to adopt such a method.

One of the Labor leaders said to-night that a conference implies compromise, and that there is no room for compromise. Rather than agree to a conference he would prefer that the matter be dropped for the present.

CONVAUGHT EAGER FOR CANADA

King's Uncle Said to Have Set His Heart on Governor-General's Post.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. LONDON, June 8.—With the reassembling of Parliament to-day there was a revival of the rumor that the Duke of Connaught will succeed Earl Grey as Governor-General of Canada.

It is stated that the Duke is eager to obtain the appointment. He regards his military career as at an end and would like to fill a great administrative position such as that in Canada.

ROOSEVELT JARS PEACE MEN

HIS GUILDHALL SPEECH CONDEMNED IN RESOLUTIONS.

Dangerous Precedent, Says International Arbitration Association—No Politics in Caller Dinner—Ambassador Reception Given for Mrs. Roosevelt.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN.

LONDON, June 8.—The committee of the International Arbitration and Peace Association has adopted a resolution regretting that Col. Roosevelt in his Guildhall speech created a dangerous precedent in dealing with delicate questions of politics. It protests against his encouragement of violence in the suppression of national feeling and self-development in Egypt.

Incoming mails brought clippings to-day from American papers saying that political importance is being attached to Col. Roosevelt's dinner with Robert Collier on his return to the United States. Col. Roosevelt characterizes this as nonsense. He says the dinner was arranged at a luncheon given by Mr. Collier before Col. Roosevelt started on his African trip and there is no more political meaning in the dinner than there was in the luncheon, and that is none.

The date was not fixed at the time, but while Col. Roosevelt was at Gondokoro, when he knew nothing of the most recent happenings in politics and any possible political import was still absent, the date was settled upon.

Ambassador and Mrs. Reid gave a reception in honor of Col. Roosevelt and his family this afternoon which was remarkable, because it was the only semi-entertainment in London since the death of King Edward where it was the exception to see a woman in a colored costume. Mrs. Reid received the guests at the top of the great marble staircase of Dorchester House, which was decorated with bowls of pink roses.

Mrs. Roosevelt, in a black crepe dress, with a loose flowing veil over her black hat, received in one drawing room and Mrs. Longworth and Miss Ethel Roosevelt, in white, in another drawing room.

Some of the guests came from the Drexel wedding at St. Margaret's, Westminster. Among those present were the Duchess of Marlborough, Lady Paget daughter of the late Paron Stevens of New York, Mrs. Cora, Countess of Stafford, and Lady Johnstone.

The Earl of Selborne, formerly First Lord of the Admiralty, Chancellor Lloyd-George, Sir Horace Plunkett, Sir Alfred and Lady Pease, Lord Brooke, W. W. Jacobs and Sir John Mills were guests at a luncheon given in honor of Col. Roosevelt to-day by Col. Arthur Lee, the former British Military Attaché at Washington.

ROOSEVELT EMBARKATION.

Special Train to the Docks and Eight Steamers for the Party.

Emil I. Boas, resident director of the Hamburg-American Line, received yesterday despatches from the London representative of the line saying that arrangements for the embarkation of Col. Roosevelt and his family aboard the steamship Kaiserin Augusta Victoria at Southampton had been completed. Col. Roosevelt, accompanied by Sir Edward Grey will walk from New Forest to Southampton station, where he will board the special train that will take Mrs. Roosevelt, Kermit, Ethel Roosevelt and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth from London. The party will occupy the royal saloon of the special, which will go from Southampton station to the docks. There a tender chartered by the Hamburg-American Line will convey the party to the Kaiserin Augusta Victoria, anchored in the Solent. There will be a total of more than 700 first and second cabin passengers on the Kaiserin.

Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt will occupy an enlarged imperial suite made up of five of the finest staterooms on the lower promenade deck on the port side forward, numbered from 200 to 208. They will be all connected like the suite of a hotel. In the saloon are three lower Promenade berths without upper berths, six lower berths without upper berths, two sofa berths, two bathrooms, writing tables and a dozen wardrobes. Mrs. Longworth, Miss Ethel Roosevelt, and Kermit will be in three staterooms on the starboard side of the lower promenade deck, just abaft the imperial suite that adjoins that of Col. Roosevelt.

Commodore Fred H. Dalzell, in command of the fleet that will greet Col. Roosevelt here, has issued orders for the water parade. The fleet will be in twelve divisions, consisting of steamboats plying inland waters, steam yachts, tug-boats and other harbor craft. All vessels taking part in the parade will assemble off the Quarantine station at Clifton, Staten Island, at 8:30 A. M. on June 18. The tug Dalzelline will be the flagship and when she gives the signal for the fleet to start the rest of the fleet will know that Col. Roosevelt has boarded the revenue cutter Androscoogin. This will be the signal for an outburst of vapor horns and whistles from the fleet for two minutes. A blast of one minute from the Dalzelline will start the fleet moving.

The Androscoogin, with Col. Roosevelt and the Mayor's committee of 200 will be preceded by the patrol fleet of revenue cutters under Capt. O. C. Hamlet and the police boat patrol in command of Capt. Frederick Mott. The fleet will sail up the Hudson to the foot of Fifty-ninth street and down to Pier A, where Col. Roosevelt and the committee will be landed at 11 o'clock. The fleet will then disband. The vessels of the fleet will sail in double column fifty feet apart and 100 feet astern of one another at a speed of ten miles. All vessels in harbor are asked by the reception committee to dress ship.

TWO CABINET OFFICERS TO COME

Meyer and Wilson Will Be Taft's Representatives at Roosevelt Reception.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—When Col. Roosevelt comes home again George von L. Meyer, who was Postmaster-General and Secretary of the Navy in his cabinet and who continues in the latter office under Mr. Taft, and Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, who has been in that office for many years, will be waiting to greet him for the Taft Administration. It was made known at the White House to-day that the President had asked Mr. Meyer and Mr. Wilson to go over to New York to greet their former chief. Both agreed in addition the President will send his personal greetings to Mr. Roosevelt in letter form. Capt. A. W. Butt, who is military aid to Mr. Taft and who was one of several such aids to President Roosevelt, will be the Mercury of the occasion.

COL. ROOSEVELT NEEDN'T PAY.

But if He Insists Duty Will Be Collected on His Imports.

A despatch from London saying that Col. Roosevelt had declared that he would not accept free entry for himself and his family at this port because he had represented the United States as a special ambassador at the funeral of King Edward inspired an official of Collector Loeb's staff to say yesterday:

"It is true, as Mr. Roosevelt says, that he has not asked that his baggage be exempted from examination. He is clearly entitled under the law to have his baggage passed without inspection, but if he insists otherwise all that we can do is to tax him as we do passengers who have not the right to free entry. It is his legal privilege to bring in free of duty everything that he has bought abroad, but he cannot compel us to accept his privilege. It may be that he thinks his appointment as a special commissioner through the accident of the King's death is a thing that would hardly justify him in making a claim of free entry.

There is one thing certain in the minds of the customs officials, and that is that if the Colonel's baggage is not admitted free it certainly will be "expedited" that is examined swiftly by a special inspector and sent swiftly on its way.

Senate Committee to Meet Roosevelt.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. STRATFORD, June 8.—Lieut.-Gov. White to-day announced the appointment of the committee to represent the Senate in greeting ex-President Roosevelt. It consists of Senator Cobb of Jefferson, Senator Holden of Onondaga, Senator Meade of Monroe, Senator Hamilton of Chautauque, Senator Coats of Franklin, Senator Grady of New York and Senator Harden of Kings.

PARIS STREET CAR STRIKE.

Fifteen Hundred Employees of Northern Lines Quit Work.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. PARIS, June 8.—Fifteen hundred conductors and mechanics employed by the Paris Northern tramways went on strike this morning and caused the entire suspension of service on thirty different lines. The decision to strike was reached at a meeting of the Labor Exchange shortly after midnight, a motion to that effect being carried amid great enthusiasm.

Messengers mounted on bicycles were immediately sent to the twenty depots to prevent the men starting to work at 5 o'clock in the morning. It is possible that the strike may spread to the Eastern tramway lines. So far no disorders have been reported.

The trouble has been caused by the employment of non-union men. The staff of the general Omnibus Company is preparing for a strike in sympathy with the striking tramway employees. The employees of the Northern Railway have decided to continue and extend their strike.

Many foreigners are hastening to England fearing that if they delay their departure they will be marooned in Paris. The officials say they are prepared to cope with all difficulties.

The employees of the Northern Railway declare that the company has failed to fulfill its promise to better their condition. Their average pay is from 40 cents to $1.20 a day. The employees of other lines are treated better than this.

WALLER ANTIQUES SOLD.

Great Disposal of Valuable and Furniture at Christie's Good Money.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. LONDON, June 8.—At the sale of the Waller collection at Christie's to-day a pair of old Worcester vases and covers (17th century) high sold for $3,465; a Chelsea vase 21 inches high sold for $3,250; a pair of Chelsea vases 18 1/2 inches high, $9,450; a Sevres jardiniere, $5,045; a pair of Sevres vases, oviform shape, painted with Dutch figures at a repast, after Teniers, 11 inches high, $9,500; a Hispano-Mauro bowl 13 1/2 inches in diameter and 8 1/2 inches high, $3,937; a circular dish, 10 1/2 inches in diameter made at Faenza or Saffaggiolo about 1515, $6,300; a pair of terra cotta statuettes of Bacchantes 18 1/2 inches high, by J. C. Marin, $5,250; a suite of Louis XVI furniture consisting of settee and ten fauteuils, the seats and backs covered with old Aubusson tapestry and with painted panels, $14,300 and a suite of gilt wood furniture of Louis XVI design consisting of settee and six fauteuils covered with old Aubusson tapestry, $5,000.

WILL RISK BARCELONA.

Cotton Men to Meet There Next Year Short Time to Be Continued.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. BRUSSELS, June 8.—The international cotton congress has decided to meet next year in Barcelona. It was resolved that spinners throughout the world should continue on short time until they are satisfied that production is no longer in excess of consumption.

It was also resolved that as members of the Cotton Spinners Federation and European merchants had sustained losses in consequence of forged American bills of lading the international committee should approach the president of the permanent Liverpool bill of lading conference and request that the conference confer with American and European bankers, cotton exchanges and cotton employers' associations with a view to rendering such frauds impossible in the future.

CROWN PRINCE HAS TOOTHACHE

His Majesty's Heir, Suffering Pain, Has to Cancel All His Engagements.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. BERLIN, June 8.—The Crown Prince is incapacitated by a swollen face resulting from trouble with his teeth. He suffers some pain, but the trouble is not serious.

All his immediate engagements have been cancelled.

CARDINAL RAMPOLLA ILL.

Might Have Been Pope Instead of Pius X. but for Austrian Veto.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. ROME, June 8.—Cardinal Rampolla, who was Papal Secretary of State under Pope Leo XIII and who would have been elected to succeed him but for the Austrian veto, is seriously indisposed.

KAISER WELCOMES NEW COUSIN.

Prince Frederick William of Prussia Weds Daughter of Mediatized House.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. BERLIN, June 8.—At the New Palace at Potsdam this morning the Kaiser's second cousin, Prince Friedrich Wilhelm of Prussia, was married to the Princess Agatha of Ratibor, one of the beauties of the court.

The Kaiser made a speech at the wedding breakfast in which he called the bride "My dear Agatha" and declared that he and his family received her among them with open arms.

The marriage is not technically a mediocrity, as the Princess is a son of the mediatized house of Hohenzollern-Schillingfurst. Her father, Victor, second Duke of Ratibor and Prince of Corvey, is the head of the second or third branch of the second line of the second or Schillingfurst division of the Waldenburg house of the Hohenzollerns. The Hohenzollerns date back authentically to 1143, while the Kaiser's own lineage can only be traced to about 1081.

Straw Hats for Men

Every braid that is now in the good graces of fashion; every shape that best "becomes" the varying physiognomy of man.

Included in the showing are a great many styles produced especially for us and not obtainable elsewhere.

The prices are such as you would pay everywhere, but the qualities are distinctly identified with our standard—the best.

Peruvian (Of fine, even, closely woven texture.) Panamas at 5.00, 7.50, 10.00, 12.00 to 25.00.

Italian Leghorn Straw Hats, at..... 5.00
Philippine Bangkok Hats, at..... 5.00
Siam Peanut Braid Hats, at..... 2.00

American or Japanese Mackinaws, in the finest grades of their type. 2.00, 3.00 & 4.00

English Milan Straw Hats, with flat or soft roll, or pencil curl brim. 3.50 & 5.00

China or Swiss Split Braid Straws, at 2.00, 3.00, 4.00 and 5.00

English sennet Straw Hats, from the coarsest to the finest braids, 2.00, 3.00 & 4.00

Summer Outing Hats and Caps at 50c to 2.50

Of khaki, Russian Towelling, mohair, shantung, duck or Townsend's English Tweeds.

Broadway Saks & Company 34th Street

Lehigh Valley Railroad

The Black Diamond Route

The nervous energy of the times has so speeded up everything that comforts are often overlooked. Safe, fast and comfortable are never forgotten axioms on the Lehigh Valley. Safe, because every mile of double-track from New York to Buffalo is protected by the best automatic block signals; fast, because of powerful engines, rock-ballasted road beds, efficient engine-men and prompt service; comfortable, because of most modern equipped cars, every convenience and courteous service. Two new popular Trains.

By Day. The all Parlor Cars-Black Diamond Express leaving New York daily at 12.00 noon arrives Buffalo 10.27 P. M. Library-Smoking Car, a la carte Dining Car where appetite comes with eating, luxurious observation Parlor Cars and unsurpassed service.

By Night. The New Buffalo Train leaving New York every evening at nine arrives Buffalo 8 A. M.; Buffet Library-Smoking Car, conveniences of an up-to-date hotel, a bite to eat, something to drink, a smoke before going to bed, Parlor Sleepers with individual berth lights—in which you may read yourself to slumber. Not only does the traveller on the Lehigh Valley reap dividends of comfort but time flies quickly and travelling is made a pleasure. Tickets and information simply by phoning to any of our terminals: 1460, 355, 140 Broadway and Hudson Terminal.

POPE DIDN'T HIT AT GERMANY.

Least of All at Protestants—His Recent Encyclical Explained.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. ROME, June 8.—The Osservatore Romano publishes the following: "Owing to the agitation in Germany due to erroneous interpretations and inexact versions of the recent pontifical encyclical on the occasion of the thirtieth anniversary of the canonization of St. Charles Borromeo we are authorized to make the following declaration: 'The Holy Father in his encyclical, 'Etsi Saepe,' meant to combat errors of the modernists. He had not the least intention, as is evident from the text of the encyclical, to offend non-Catholics in Germany or their principles. The encyclical simply contains several historical appreciations of St. Charles Borromeo's epoch, in which neither peoples nor princes are mentioned.

"It is to be noted that reference was made to the Catholics of those times who rebelled against the teachings and authority of the Apostolic See. How benevolent the Pope's sentiments are toward Germany and her rulers is shown in a manifest way, as they were also on a recent occasion."

The "recent occasion" alluded to was the pilgrimage of Prussians who had an audience with the Pope. Plus then expressed cordial sentiments toward Germany and blessed the Kaiser and the members of the royal family.

CONNECTICUT RICHFIELD SPRINGS NEW YORK STATE SARATOGA

For description of attractive features, information regarding the Hotels of these Summer Resort Sections

Read THE SUNDAY SUN June 12

Readers Leaving the City for the Summer may have The Sun and The Evening Sun sent to them by mail at the following rates, inclusive of postage: THE SUN, daily, per month, 30 cents; daily and Sunday, per month, 50 cents; THE EVENING SUN, per month, 30 cents. Leave orders with newsdealers without extra charge. Addresses changed as often as desired.

The Weather. June 9. The only change in general weather conditions yesterday was the slight eastward movement of the area of high and low pressure occupying the interior of the country. The pressure remained low over New England and eastern Canada and in the Rocky Mountain section, and was high on the Pacific coast and eastward from the Mississippi River to the middle and south Atlantic coasts. Hail fell in Montana, the Dakotas, Kansas and Missouri and there were a few showers over northern New England. Elsewhere the weather was generally fair. It was warmer in the central valleys, the southern lake regions and the middle Atlantic and England New States. In this city the day was fair, cooler in the morning; warmer later; wind fresh southwest, average humidity, 42 per cent; barometer, 30.05; wind velocity, 12 to 16 miles; at 4 A. M., 30.05; 5 P. M., 30.05. The temperature yesterday, as recorded by the official thermometer, is shown in the annexed table.

	1910	1909	1908	1907
9 A. M.	67°	62°	64°	74°
12 P. M.	71°	65°	67°	79°
3 P. M.	74°	68°	70°	82°
6 P. M.	71°	65°	67°	79°
9 P. M.	67°	62°	64°	74°
Lowest temperature, 72° at 2.45 P. M.

WASHINGTON FORECAST FOR TO-DAY AND TO-MORROW. MONDAY. For eastern New York, fair to day, increasing cloudiness to morning, light variable winds. For New England, fair to day, partly cloudy to morning; light variable winds, mostly westerly. For eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey, partly cloudy to day; showers to morning; light variable winds. For the District of Columbia, Delaware, Maryland and Virginia, partly cloudy to day, followed by increasing cloudiness and showers to night or to morning; light variable winds. For western Pennsylvania, increasing cloudiness followed by showers to night or to morning; light to moderate variable winds. For western Pennsylvania, increasing cloudiness followed by showers to day; showers to morning, moderate easterly winds.