

WATER POWER CONSERVATION

GOVERNMENT'S POLICY CRITICIZED AT ENGINEERS MEETING.

Secretary of the Interior Says a More Decisive Policy is Needed—Water Power Control to Waste, Says S. Z. Mitchell, White Forests Are Main for Fuel.

Walter L. Fisher, Secretary of the Interior, was one of the speakers yesterday afternoon at a public conference on water powers and their government control held by the National Electric Light Association and the Engineers' Building in West Thirty-ninth street.

Mr. Fisher said that a difficulty in conservation matters was that the Government had no definite policy. There is no real controversy between the Federal and State governments as to water power control, he said, and both should work together.

Other speakers suggested that there should be less Government meddling and more sane control and said that there are now hundreds of acres of land so tied up that even the President can do nothing with them.

Mr. Mitchell went on to say that present governmental regulations on water power development because the laws are so framed that capital is frightened away.

Mr. Mitchell went on to say that present governmental regulations on water power development because the laws are so framed that capital is frightened away.

Mr. Mitchell went on to say that present governmental regulations on water power development because the laws are so framed that capital is frightened away.

Mr. Mitchell went on to say that present governmental regulations on water power development because the laws are so framed that capital is frightened away.

Mr. Mitchell went on to say that present governmental regulations on water power development because the laws are so framed that capital is frightened away.

Mr. Mitchell went on to say that present governmental regulations on water power development because the laws are so framed that capital is frightened away.

Mr. Mitchell went on to say that present governmental regulations on water power development because the laws are so framed that capital is frightened away.

Mr. Mitchell went on to say that present governmental regulations on water power development because the laws are so framed that capital is frightened away.

Mr. Mitchell went on to say that present governmental regulations on water power development because the laws are so framed that capital is frightened away.

Mr. Mitchell went on to say that present governmental regulations on water power development because the laws are so framed that capital is frightened away.

Mr. Mitchell went on to say that present governmental regulations on water power development because the laws are so framed that capital is frightened away.

Mr. Mitchell went on to say that present governmental regulations on water power development because the laws are so framed that capital is frightened away.

Mr. Mitchell went on to say that present governmental regulations on water power development because the laws are so framed that capital is frightened away.

Mr. Mitchell went on to say that present governmental regulations on water power development because the laws are so framed that capital is frightened away.

Mr. Mitchell went on to say that present governmental regulations on water power development because the laws are so framed that capital is frightened away.

Mr. Mitchell went on to say that present governmental regulations on water power development because the laws are so framed that capital is frightened away.

Mr. Mitchell went on to say that present governmental regulations on water power development because the laws are so framed that capital is frightened away.

Mr. Mitchell went on to say that present governmental regulations on water power development because the laws are so framed that capital is frightened away.

Mr. Mitchell went on to say that present governmental regulations on water power development because the laws are so framed that capital is frightened away.

Mr. Mitchell went on to say that present governmental regulations on water power development because the laws are so framed that capital is frightened away.

GOSSIP OF WALL STREET.

GRAB AT BANK RECEIVERSHIP

APPELLATE COURT HARSH OVER ONE OF JACKSON'S STUNTS.

The motion by the Carnegie Trust Company and Henry Schneider as temporary receivers of the Oriental Bank for one month in 1908 to collect disbursements and legal fees came before the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court yesterday on appeal by the bank from a decision of D-Cady Herrick as referee awarding the trust company $3,000 and Schneider $1,000 and giving the counsel, John B. Stanchfield and Charles A. Collin, $7,500, which with disbursements brought the total amount allowed to over $10,000.

The Appellate Division by majority decision reduced the Carnegie Trust Company's fee to $1,000 and the counsel fees to $2,000.

Presiding Justice Ingraham was opposed to granting the receivers any fees or disbursements from the funds of the bank, and reviewing the circumstances under which the receivers were appointed said that the attorney-general was solvent and that the Metropolitan Trust Company had agreed to advance sufficient money to pay all the bank's debts.

Justice Ingraham said it appeared that the Carnegie Trust Company had been negotiating with the bank to advance money, but that the creditors were satisfied with the Metropolitan Trust Company's offer.

Justice Ingraham said it appeared that the Carnegie Trust Company had been negotiating with the bank to advance money, but that the creditors were satisfied with the Metropolitan Trust Company's offer.

Justice Ingraham said it appeared that the Carnegie Trust Company had been negotiating with the bank to advance money, but that the creditors were satisfied with the Metropolitan Trust Company's offer.

Justice Ingraham said it appeared that the Carnegie Trust Company had been negotiating with the bank to advance money, but that the creditors were satisfied with the Metropolitan Trust Company's offer.

Justice Ingraham said it appeared that the Carnegie Trust Company had been negotiating with the bank to advance money, but that the creditors were satisfied with the Metropolitan Trust Company's offer.

Justice Ingraham said it appeared that the Carnegie Trust Company had been negotiating with the bank to advance money, but that the creditors were satisfied with the Metropolitan Trust Company's offer.

Justice Ingraham said it appeared that the Carnegie Trust Company had been negotiating with the bank to advance money, but that the creditors were satisfied with the Metropolitan Trust Company's offer.

Justice Ingraham said it appeared that the Carnegie Trust Company had been negotiating with the bank to advance money, but that the creditors were satisfied with the Metropolitan Trust Company's offer.

Justice Ingraham said it appeared that the Carnegie Trust Company had been negotiating with the bank to advance money, but that the creditors were satisfied with the Metropolitan Trust Company's offer.

Justice Ingraham said it appeared that the Carnegie Trust Company had been negotiating with the bank to advance money, but that the creditors were satisfied with the Metropolitan Trust Company's offer.

Justice Ingraham said it appeared that the Carnegie Trust Company had been negotiating with the bank to advance money, but that the creditors were satisfied with the Metropolitan Trust Company's offer.

CIVIL SERVICE REFORM LUNCH.

Superhuman Efforts of Judges to Get Their Own Men for Subordinates.

Civil service reform was discussed yesterday at a luncheon given at the City Club under the direction of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Civil Service Reform Association and the City Club.

Mr. Burlingham said he was very much opposed to Mayor Gaynor's plan for substituting a small paid board for the present Board of Education. He also had regretted to learn that the State Civil Service Commission had yielded to a request that fifty-four jobs be released from the civil service list.

Gov. Dix, Mr. Burlingham added, "now has a test before him. It is now for the judges whether he meant what he said before his election—that he believed in observing the civil service law in letter and in spirit."

In order to get laws passed, Mr. Burlingham said, the reformers have had to throw sops to the Legislature and the Judges by giving them clerks and court officers outside the civil service list. He thought that the efforts of some of the Judges to get the court officers they wanted by going outside the list were "simply superhuman."

It seemed to Mr. Foulke that the spoils system was an inevitable development of the political and judicial appointments, which was a kind of political economy depending not on the value of a man in dollars and cents but on the number of votes he can control.

Dr. McKelway praised women as reformers among those at the luncheon were Mrs. George McAneny, Mrs. Alice Gilmore Wheeler, Miss Ellen Collins, Miss Jean Dabrow, Mrs. Fanny G. Villard, Mrs. Mary G. Melvin, Miss Agatha Murray, Miss Agatha Murray, Dr. L. T. Chamberlain, Charles C. Conant, George B. Bishop, Henry H. Hardum, Mrs. Grissell, Mrs. C. C. Burlingham, Mrs. Frisell, Robert S. Mintun, Paul Fuller, Edward P. Call and Prof. E. W. Bemis.

THEATRE TREASURER A THIEF.

I. J. Carpenter Confesses to Robbing the Gayety's Safe in Brooklyn.

The mystery of the robbery of the safe at the Gayety Theatre in Brooklyn was cleared up yesterday by the arrest of I. J. Carpenter, 22 years old, of 1123 Herkimer street, Carpenter, who is treasurer of the theatre, took a check with the other loot for $100, made payable to him. Besides this check there was $117.47 in cash and another check for $619, which had several names on it.

When the detective questioned Carpenter at the theatre yesterday afternoon he denied any knowledge of the theft.

When Carpenter broke down and offered to take the detectives to the place where what remained of the money was hidden, the night of the robbery, in his aunt's address, where he lives with his aunt, a Mrs. Wilson. There he pointed out the two checks and $622.83 in cash in the trunk of a car.

They are required under the resolution to make an investigation and report their findings as to the cost to the Government of handling and transporting the different classes of second class mail matter and the rate that should be charged in order to reimburse the Government.

Now the move is on foot to extend these provisions to make the commission competent to investigate the postal service in all its branches.

His resolution directs attention to the fact and provides that the commission shall have full powers of investigation, to subpoena witnesses and call for the production of books and documents. This means that the overhauling is to be thorough.

ANTI-SUFFRAGE WARNING. Mrs. Clark of Montclair Asks the Men to Keep Level Headed in a Election. MONTCLAIR, N. J., April 8.—"If my husband don't vote for my candidate I'll feel like breaking his head," was the remark made by a woman of this town in the presence of Mrs. James F. Clark in the heat of the local campaign for the election of women to the Board of Education.

BLUNDER IN NEW-FIFTH GIRLS. President Marion Le Roy Burton of Smith College told the New York branch of the alumnae at their annual luncheon yesterday at Delmonico's that although Smith didn't yet have nearly enough professors its material equipment was constantly on the increase.

BROOKLYN FIREBUG CAUGHT.

Arrested While He Was Starting His Third Blaze for the Night.

Policeman Patrick McGrouty of the Grand avenue station in Brooklyn was notified early yesterday morning by a resident of the three story house at 1193 Fulton street that an attempt had just been made to set fire to the building.

The policeman saw the young man stop in front of the apartment house at 28 Spenser place, take a bag of waste paper which was hanging on a picket and then disappear in the vestibule. McGrouty then made quick tracks to the house and reached it just as the young man had set fire to the stuff he had taken from the bag.

At the Grand avenue station the prisoner gave his name as Frederick Moskos, 22 years old, of 462 Wvokoff avenue, and said that for five years he had been employed as bartender at Bomberman's saloon at Nostrand avenue and Fulton street.

"Last night," he said, "I worked until closing time. Then I went down to the corner of Franklin avenue and Fulton street and had several drinks there. Then I went out to the street and was caught by the policeman. It is true I set fire to the place. I don't know why."

White Meeks was being questioned the police of the Grand avenue station were notified of another incendiary fire in the apartment house at 1181 Fulton street, which he is believed to have started as he ran out of the building.

At the Grand avenue station the prisoner gave his name as Frederick Moskos, 22 years old, of 462 Wvokoff avenue, and said that for five years he had been employed as bartender at Bomberman's saloon at Nostrand avenue and Fulton street.

At the Grand avenue station the prisoner gave his name as Frederick Moskos, 22 years old, of 462 Wvokoff avenue, and said that for five years he had been employed as bartender at Bomberman's saloon at Nostrand avenue and Fulton street.

At the Grand avenue station the prisoner gave his name as Frederick Moskos, 22 years old, of 462 Wvokoff avenue, and said that for five years he had been employed as bartender at Bomberman's saloon at Nostrand avenue and Fulton street.

At the Grand avenue station the prisoner gave his name as Frederick Moskos, 22 years old, of 462 Wvokoff avenue, and said that for five years he had been employed as bartender at Bomberman's saloon at Nostrand avenue and Fulton street.

At the Grand avenue station the prisoner gave his name as Frederick Moskos, 22 years old, of 462 Wvokoff avenue, and said that for five years he had been employed as bartender at Bomberman's saloon at Nostrand avenue and Fulton street.

At the Grand avenue station the prisoner gave his name as Frederick Moskos, 22 years old, of 462 Wvokoff avenue, and said that for five years he had been employed as bartender at Bomberman's saloon at Nostrand avenue and Fulton street.

At the Grand avenue station the prisoner gave his name as Frederick Moskos, 22 years old, of 462 Wvokoff avenue, and said that for five years he had been employed as bartender at Bomberman's saloon at Nostrand avenue and Fulton street.

At the Grand avenue station the prisoner gave his name as Frederick Moskos, 22 years old, of 462 Wvokoff avenue, and said that for five years he had been employed as bartender at Bomberman's saloon at Nostrand avenue and Fulton street.

At the Grand avenue station the prisoner gave his name as Frederick Moskos, 22 years old, of 462 Wvokoff avenue, and said that for five years he had been employed as bartender at Bomberman's saloon at Nostrand avenue and Fulton street.

At the Grand avenue station the prisoner gave his name as Frederick Moskos, 22 years old, of 462 Wvokoff avenue, and said that for five years he had been employed as bartender at Bomberman's saloon at Nostrand avenue and Fulton street.

Stockholders of the UTAH CONSOLIDATED MINING COMPANY who are not satisfied with the manner in which the affairs of the company have been conducted are requested to cut out, sign and mail the following proxy to us immediately:

Know all Men by these Presents, That the undersigned Stockholder in the Utah Consolidated Mining Company do hereby appoint George L. Walker and Frank H. Blaney, both or either of them, as true and lawful Attorneys, with power of substitution, for and in the name of, to vote at the meeting of the Stockholders in said Company, to be held at Jersey City, New Jersey, or elsewhere, April 18th, 1911, or at any adjournment thereof, with all the powers... should possess if personally present, hereby revoking all previous proxies.

This proxy will be voted for a complete change of management and full information for stockholders. If you are carrying Utah Consolidated stock in a brokerage account, instruct your broker to give us the proxy. Write or call on us if you desire further information.

FRANK H. BLANEY and GEORGE L. WALKER, 69 Devonshire St., Boston, Mass.

GRIEF HASTENED HIS DEATH.

Bachmann's Two Sons-in-Law, Brothers, Died and He Followed Quickly.

Grief is believed to have hastened the death on Friday night of Robert Bachmann, a grain and feed dealer, at his home, 306 South Second street, Williamsburg. He died on a couch in the same room where the body of his son-in-law, Frederick Wannamacher, was laid out in a coffin.

Peter and Frederick Wannamacher were 46 and 43 years old respectively and each married a daughter of Bachmann. The latter was 77 years old and had been associated with his son-in-law in the grain and feed business at 151-153 Goerck street, Manhattan, for many years. He was well to do.

At the time of Peter's death Frederick was slowly recovering from an illness which had kept him confined to his home for some time. His brother's death affected him, particularly when he went to the Avenue A house to assist the widow in making the arrangements for the funeral.

Bachmann, who was greatly distressed over the double death, came to Manhattan to look after the business. When he returned home he told his widow daughter that he was feeling well; that he believed the death of the two men was affecting his heart. His daughter calmed him and later the aged man seated himself in a chair in the forenoon and when the body of Frederick Wannamacher was laid out. Toward evening the family noticed that Bachmann's head was drooping forward.

At the Grand avenue station the prisoner gave his name as Frederick Moskos, 22 years old, of 462 Wvokoff avenue, and said that for five years he had been employed as bartender at Bomberman's saloon at Nostrand avenue and Fulton street.

At the Grand avenue station the prisoner gave his name as Frederick Moskos, 22 years old, of 462 Wvokoff avenue, and said that for five years he had been employed as bartender at Bomberman's saloon at Nostrand avenue and Fulton street.

At the Grand avenue station the prisoner gave his name as Frederick Moskos, 22 years old, of 462 Wvokoff avenue, and said that for five years he had been employed as bartender at Bomberman's saloon at Nostrand avenue and Fulton street.

At the Grand avenue station the prisoner gave his name as Frederick Moskos, 22 years old, of 462 Wvokoff avenue, and said that for five years he had been employed as bartender at Bomberman's saloon at Nostrand avenue and Fulton street.

At the Grand avenue station the prisoner gave his name as Frederick Moskos, 22 years old, of 462 Wvokoff avenue, and said that for five years he had been employed as bartender at Bomberman's saloon at Nostrand avenue and Fulton street.

At the Grand avenue station the prisoner gave his name as Frederick Moskos, 22 years old, of 462 Wvokoff avenue, and said that for five years he had been employed as bartender at Bomberman's saloon at Nostrand avenue and Fulton street.

At the Grand avenue station the prisoner gave his name as Frederick Moskos, 22 years old, of 462 Wvokoff avenue, and said that for five years he had been employed as bartender at Bomberman's saloon at Nostrand avenue and Fulton street.

At the Grand avenue station the prisoner gave his name as Frederick Moskos, 22 years old, of 462 Wvokoff avenue, and said that for five years he had been employed as bartender at Bomberman's saloon at Nostrand avenue and Fulton street.

MARINE INTELLIGENCE.

MINIATURE ALMANAC THIS DAY.

Ss Bremen, at Bremen from New York, 11:00 A. M. Ss Philadelphia, at Philadelphia from New York, 11:00 A. M.

Ss Philadelphia, at Philadelphia from New York, 11:00 A. M. Ss Philadelphia, at Philadelphia from New York, 11:00 A. M.

Ss Philadelphia, at Philadelphia from New York, 11:00 A. M. Ss Philadelphia, at Philadelphia from New York, 11:00 A. M.

Ss Philadelphia, at Philadelphia from New York, 11:00 A. M. Ss Philadelphia, at Philadelphia from New York, 11:00 A. M.

Ss Philadelphia, at Philadelphia from New York, 11:00 A. M. Ss Philadelphia, at Philadelphia from New York, 11:00 A. M.

Ss Philadelphia, at Philadelphia from New York, 11:00 A. M. Ss Philadelphia, at Philadelphia from New York, 11:00 A. M.

Ss Philadelphia, at Philadelphia from New York, 11:00 A. M. Ss Philadelphia, at Philadelphia from New York, 11:00 A. M.

Ss Philadelphia, at Philadelphia from New York, 11:00 A. M. Ss Philadelphia, at Philadelphia from New York, 11:00 A. M.

Ss Philadelphia, at Philadelphia from New York, 11:00 A. M. Ss Philadelphia, at Philadelphia from New York, 11:00 A. M.

Ss Philadelphia, at Philadelphia from New York, 11:00 A. M. Ss Philadelphia, at Philadelphia from New York, 11:00 A. M.

Ss Philadelphia, at Philadelphia from New York, 11:00 A. M. Ss Philadelphia, at Philadelphia from New York, 11:00 A. M.

Ss Philadelphia, at Philadelphia from New York, 11:00 A. M. Ss Philadelphia, at Philadelphia from New York, 11:00 A. M.

6% BONDS

New York Real Estate Security Company

Dated Jan. 1, 1911 Due Jan. 1, 1926 Interest January and July Denominations $1,000, $500, $100 Offered at par and interest

The business of the New York Real Estate Security Company is to operate conservatively in carefully selected income producing New York Real Estate and in mortgages on high grade real estate in the metropolitan district.

The 6% bond offered by the company is secured by a trust mortgage covering the entire assets of the company.

For further information write for circular "19" New York Real Estate Security Co. 42 Broadway, New York City.

Stock Exchange Houses

Opportunity to sublet approximately 2,000 square feet for three years at reduced rent, with probable renewal. Immediate possession.

Address B. PERRY, Room 442, 42 Broadway.

NOTICE OF ELECTION OF DIRECTORS

No independent nominations having been made for one or more vacancies to be filled in the Board of Directors of the New York Life Insurance Company at its 1911 Election of Directors, and the Board of Directors of the New York Life Insurance Company will be held at the Home Office of the Company, No. 66 Broadway, in the City of New York, on Wednesday, April 12, 1911, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, and to remain open until 4 o'clock in the afternoon of said day, at which time the polls shall be closed.

INDIAN LACE FOR CATHEDRAL. On the occasion of the opening of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine a complete lace altar set will be presented to the cathedral by Miss Amy Townsend. It consists of twenty-five pieces and is given in memory of Miss Townsend's mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Townsend. It is also made as a recognition of the work done by Miss Sibley Carter among the Indians, for the lace has been made entirely by the Indians in Minnesota and Wisconsin began to make the altar set for the cathedral and for four years, until Miss Carter died, the work was under her supervision. A part of the set was made by Onedias, but a larger part of it came from the Sioux.

HER CASE AGAINST SHUBERT. Mrs. Marie Taylor Barnett Tells of Being Struck in the Face. Mrs. Marie Taylor Barnett of 345 West Seventieth street, who is trying to secure the arrest of Jacob J. Shubert, the theatrical manager, on a charge that he struck her in the face on the stage of the Winter Garden on March 23, testified to the facts of the alleged assault in the West Side police court yesterday.

By Marconi Wireless. Ss Rotterdam, for New York, was 600 miles east of Sandy Hook at 8:40 P. M. Ss Bremen, for New York, was 1,170 miles east of Sandy Hook at 8:40 P. M.

Ss Philadelphia, at Philadelphia from New York, 11:00 A. M. Ss Philadelphia, at Philadelphia from New York, 11:00 A. M.

Ss Philadelphia, at Philadelphia from New York, 11:00 A. M. Ss Philadelphia, at Philadelphia from New York, 11:00 A. M.

Ss Philadelphia, at Philadelphia from New York, 11:00 A. M. Ss Philadelphia, at Philadelphia from New York, 11:00 A. M.