

THE DAY OF THE YOUNGERCOPS

PARADE SHOWS BLUECOATS AREN'T ROUND ANY MORE.

The Mayor Entertains Gov. Dix and Other Notable Folks and Distributes Medals—Schmittberger's Pets Make Their Usual Hit—So Do Men.

It was the Mayor's party of course, but it does add to the occasion to have on hand a Governor, a Governor's gay young aide, a Major-General, a Rear Admiral and a host of important folks in phg hats and cutaways when the police force rolls through Madison Square.

The thing that struck most of the experienced parade-goers yesterday was that New York's police force is getting younger. The day of the rollypoly, pollywog captain and the patrolman as fat as a pig seems to have gone by.

There were enough interesting features for every one to gather some individual impression that stood out stronger than other mental snapshots. The Governor was impressed by the youth of the rank and file. The Mayor thought the police army was well disciplined and a model of effectiveness.

The parade was swift in starting, slow in finishing; slow at the end of things because there were more in column than in previous years and because there were a few extra fancy evolutions as a memento.

The Mayor came early, walking briskly from his motor car and accompanied by the young man he called "a steam engine in boots," the Hon. Clem Driscoll, First Deputy Police Commissioner, Commissioner Crosey, a young looking man who was to see his men parade for the first time.

The Governor followed immediately with his ornate naval aide, Commander De Kay.

THE MAYOR HONORS OUT THE HONORS. He put the medal of the Police Department, the most coveted decoration, on the breast of Patrolman Andrew Gelderman, who saved a child from being killed by a street car in Brooklyn.

got to the stand one knew that Smiling Dick Walsh was coming along. The applause rolled down the avenue cresting on the side in the trees chirping "Hello, Dick!"

On the east side of the avenue directly facing the stand the honor company— the men who have won medals for heroism from 1898 till now—were lined up.

THE MAYOR HONORS OUT THE HONORS. He put the medal of the Police Department, the most coveted decoration, on the breast of Patrolman Andrew Gelderman, who saved a child from being killed by a street car in Brooklyn.

THE MAYOR HONORS OUT THE HONORS. He put the medal of the Police Department, the most coveted decoration, on the breast of Patrolman Andrew Gelderman, who saved a child from being killed by a street car in Brooklyn.

THE MAYOR HONORS OUT THE HONORS. He put the medal of the Police Department, the most coveted decoration, on the breast of Patrolman Andrew Gelderman, who saved a child from being killed by a street car in Brooklyn.

THE MAYOR HONORS OUT THE HONORS. He put the medal of the Police Department, the most coveted decoration, on the breast of Patrolman Andrew Gelderman, who saved a child from being killed by a street car in Brooklyn.

THE MAYOR HONORS OUT THE HONORS. He put the medal of the Police Department, the most coveted decoration, on the breast of Patrolman Andrew Gelderman, who saved a child from being killed by a street car in Brooklyn.

THE MAYOR HONORS OUT THE HONORS. He put the medal of the Police Department, the most coveted decoration, on the breast of Patrolman Andrew Gelderman, who saved a child from being killed by a street car in Brooklyn.

THE MAYOR HONORS OUT THE HONORS. He put the medal of the Police Department, the most coveted decoration, on the breast of Patrolman Andrew Gelderman, who saved a child from being killed by a street car in Brooklyn.

got to the stand one knew that Smiling Dick Walsh was coming along. The applause rolled down the avenue cresting on the side in the trees chirping "Hello, Dick!"

On the east side of the avenue directly facing the stand the honor company—the men who have won medals for heroism from 1898 till now—were lined up.

THE MAYOR HONORS OUT THE HONORS. He put the medal of the Police Department, the most coveted decoration, on the breast of Patrolman Andrew Gelderman, who saved a child from being killed by a street car in Brooklyn.

THE MAYOR HONORS OUT THE HONORS. He put the medal of the Police Department, the most coveted decoration, on the breast of Patrolman Andrew Gelderman, who saved a child from being killed by a street car in Brooklyn.

THE MAYOR HONORS OUT THE HONORS. He put the medal of the Police Department, the most coveted decoration, on the breast of Patrolman Andrew Gelderman, who saved a child from being killed by a street car in Brooklyn.

THE MAYOR HONORS OUT THE HONORS. He put the medal of the Police Department, the most coveted decoration, on the breast of Patrolman Andrew Gelderman, who saved a child from being killed by a street car in Brooklyn.

THE MAYOR HONORS OUT THE HONORS. He put the medal of the Police Department, the most coveted decoration, on the breast of Patrolman Andrew Gelderman, who saved a child from being killed by a street car in Brooklyn.

THE MAYOR HONORS OUT THE HONORS. He put the medal of the Police Department, the most coveted decoration, on the breast of Patrolman Andrew Gelderman, who saved a child from being killed by a street car in Brooklyn.

THE MAYOR HONORS OUT THE HONORS. He put the medal of the Police Department, the most coveted decoration, on the breast of Patrolman Andrew Gelderman, who saved a child from being killed by a street car in Brooklyn.

in the window curtains rolled up and to report any violation of the law in that respect or in trafficking in liquor in bar-rooms on that day could not be excused.

Philip Rhinelander gave a luncheon at Martin's for the Governor, Maj.-Gen. Grant, Admiral Leutze and the heads of the city departments.

Police Parade Made Dealers Hold—A Casual Cop From Brooklyn Ends It. When most of the police were marching on Fifth avenue at noon yesterday energetic youths plucked out Park row in front of the newspaper offices as a most suitable place to run a few gambling games.

THE DEALER HAD MANY CUSTOMERS. His line was a dollar, there were a few dollar bets, but not many. Before throwing the dealer would shout: "Make your bets, boys. Over seven is the lucky bet today. Get your money down! All down! Watch 'em roll, boys!"

LONG WANTED THREE CAUGHT. After Trip to Panama They Returned to Neighborhood of Badger Game. A man and two women who are accused of having robbed a man of $600 in a house at 228 West Thirty-seventh street three months ago were arrested early yesterday by Detectives Reilly, Shibles and Curran in the adjoining house, Magistrate Freeman in the West Side court yesterday held them without bail for a hearing to-morrow.

LEFT SIX CHILDREN BEHIND. Woman Obedient Her Husband's Injunction to Abandon Them. HACKENACK, May 13.—A woman left her six children in the office of Sheriff Robert Conklin to-day. Supt. Bratt of the Children's Home was notified and he agreed to care for the six. Constable Nessel was sent to catch the mother, who was locked up on a charge of abandonment. She is the wife of August Dietzman, a tinsmith of Cliffside Park, who is in jail here on a charge of arson in default of $10,000 bail.

THE POLICE FORCE. The Mayor desires to express his gratification at the splendid showing made by you in to-day's annual parade and also to thank you for your faithful and intelligent service during the last year. Testimony of your politeness, courtesy and service to citizens comes to me constantly from all quarters of the city. Complaint of any of you unlawfully assaulting or mistreating any one has become rare indeed. The way in which you responded to the direction to see that all barrooms were fully exposed on Sundays to passers by, by hav-

THE POLICE FORCE. The Mayor desires to express his gratification at the splendid showing made by you in to-day's annual parade and also to thank you for your faithful and intelligent service during the last year. Testimony of your politeness, courtesy and service to citizens comes to me constantly from all quarters of the city. Complaint of any of you unlawfully assaulting or mistreating any one has become rare indeed. The way in which you responded to the direction to see that all barrooms were fully exposed on Sundays to passers by, by hav-

MAY BE CITY FERRY STRIKE

ENGINEERS SAY THAT WILSON MUST BE REINSTATE.

They Haven't Used the Word Strike, Says Spokesman of Engineers, but Men Won't Give Up. Doesn't Think They'll Get a Satisfactory Reply From Gaylor.

The engineers of the municipal ferryboats held two meetings yesterday, one of the day shift and the other of the night shift, and endorsed the demand of their committee which called on Mayor Gaylor that Jonathan Wilson, chief engineer of the Staten Island ferryboats, who has been dismissed by Commissioner Calvin Tomkins of the Dock Department, be reinstated.

It was asked if the engineers were going to strike unless Engineer Wilson were reinstated. He replied: "Our committee made no threat of a strike and said nothing about a strike. As to the refusal of the Mayor to recognize me, that does not depress me in any way. I went as the spokesman of the committee because of my position as head of the organization to which the engineers belong. No threats were made, but I can say that the engineers will insist the Engineer Wilson be reinstated."

It was asked if the engineers were going to strike unless Engineer Wilson were reinstated. He replied: "Our committee made no threat of a strike and said nothing about a strike. As to the refusal of the Mayor to recognize me, that does not depress me in any way. I went as the spokesman of the committee because of my position as head of the organization to which the engineers belong. No threats were made, but I can say that the engineers will insist the Engineer Wilson be reinstated."

POLICE SAVE HIS MONEY. By Interrupting the Little Game and Arresting One of Three Strangers. Robert Grant, a Scotchman who recently got out of Mexico with his savings because he did not want to be hit by a bullet, drew $600 in gold from the Mechanics and Metals National Bank, 28 Wall street, yesterday, and decided to go to Boston on the night boat to visit his three sisters before sailing for his home in Grantown, Scotland. At Broadway and Barclay street he met two affable strangers and all hands crossed the river in Hoboken to kill time until the boat sailed.

PARADE SHOWS BLUECOATS AREN'T ROUND ANY MORE. The parade was swift in starting, slow in finishing; slow at the end of things because there were more in column than in previous years and because there were a few extra fancy evolutions as a memento.

PARADE SHOWS BLUECOATS AREN'T ROUND ANY MORE. The parade was swift in starting, slow in finishing; slow at the end of things because there were more in column than in previous years and because there were a few extra fancy evolutions as a memento.

PARADE SHOWS BLUECOATS AREN'T ROUND ANY MORE. The parade was swift in starting, slow in finishing; slow at the end of things because there were more in column than in previous years and because there were a few extra fancy evolutions as a memento.

PARADE SHOWS BLUECOATS AREN'T ROUND ANY MORE. The parade was swift in starting, slow in finishing; slow at the end of things because there were more in column than in previous years and because there were a few extra fancy evolutions as a memento.

B. Altman & Co. 5TH AVENUE, 34TH AND 35TH STREETS, NEW YORK

A SPECIAL SALE OF WOMEN'S COATS & WRAPS. IN SPRING AND SUMMER STYLES FOR TO-MORROW (MONDAY). GREY MIXED CHEVIOT COATS $14.50

WOMEN'S TRIMMED HATS AT $15.00. WILL BE OFFERED TO-MORROW (MONDAY), ON THE THIRD FLOOR, AT THE ABOVE SPECIAL PRICE.

FOULARD SILKS AT REDUCED PRICES. WILL BE ON SALE MONDAY IN DRESS LENGTHS, AMONG THEM THE FOLLOWING: FOULARD SILKS, 40 & 42 INCHES WIDE PER YARD, 95c

1,000 HOMESPUN RUGS. SIZE 3x6 FEET, USUAL PRICE $3.25, WILL BE PLACED ON SALE TO-MORROW (MONDAY), AT $1.75 EACH.

AN UNUSUAL SALE OF CHILDREN'S DRESSES. HAS BEEN ARRANGED FOR TUESDAY, AS FOLLOWS: 700 WHITE AND COLORED COTTON DRESSES, 4 TO 14 YEAR SIZES AT $2.00, 2.75 & 3.50

WOMEN'S PETTICOATS AT SPECIAL PRICES. SILK JERSEY TOP PETTICOATS, BLACK OR COLORS $3.90

AITKEN, SON & CO BROADWAY & 18th STREET. SPRING SALE OF TRIMMED MILLINERY. PRICES FAR BELOW COST. FUR STORAGE. Dry Cold Air. IMPROVED METHOD. C. G. Gunther's Sons. Established 1820. 391 FIFTH AVENUE. Ninety years' experience in the care of furs. Telephone 7260 Madison.

L. P. Hollander & Co. Announce a MAY SALE of French Underwear. Gowns Were $8.50 $6.50. Chemises Were $5.50-$6.50 4.50. Combinations Were $7.50-$8.50 5.00. Unlaundered hand emb. Drawers $1.50. FIFTH AVE., at 46th St.

B. Altman & Co. ANNOUNCE AN EXCEPTIONAL OFFERING OF WOMEN'S SUMMER DRESSES FOR WEDNESDAY, MAY 17TH. COMPRISING A VARIETY OF MODELS SUITABLE FOR MORNING OR AFTERNOON WEAR, COMMENCEMENT DAYS, ETC.. OF BORDERED DIMITY, IN COLORS AT $6.75