STANDS BY HIS ACCUSED WIFE

Man Who Was Poisoned Says in Court "Minnie Didn't Do It"

PITTSBURG, June 5.—"Minnie is innocent," declared George M. Strochacker in court to-day when his wife was put on trial charged with having poisoned him last January by putting strychnine in his coffee and food...

Strochacker refused to prosecute and is bitter against the authorities for having her indicted. "My wife is innocent," he said, "Nothing in all this world, thing, now or hereafter, can make me believe that Minnie gave me that strychnine. She must be vindicated, for she is innocent. There cannot be enough injustice in this world to try her."

Chief Chemist McTaggart of the city bureau of chemistry testified that one hundredth of a grain of strychnine found in the sandwich prepared for Strochacker had killed a guinea pig and that one-fiftieth of a grain caused the death of another in four minutes.

Strochacker led his accused wife to a chair in the courtroom and set her to work eating the sandwich which she had prepared for him. He and his thirteen-year-old daughter throughout the ordeal.

Miss Jessie Miller, a stenographer employed in the office with Strochacker, testified that the symptoms he displayed soon after he had eaten a lunch prepared by his wife. It was between the sandwich and this lunch that Chemist McTaggart said he found the strychnine. A small piece of the bread was exhibited. Dr. C. L. Campbell and Dr. W. B. McOrtle also testified to the symptoms of strychnine poisoning shown by Strochacker after his collapse on eating the poisoned bread.

"I know I was poisoned," Strochacker declared to-night, "but Minnie did not do it. Some person did poison me and I am presently trying to fasten the guilt on her."

SOCIALISTS WHIP MADERISTS

HEAVY LOSSES IN BATTLE WITH LIBERALS IN CHIHUAHUA

SHOOTING OF GOV. REDO OF CULIACAN CONTINUED AND DENIED TROOPS MOVING VIA JUAREZ TO REDUCE MAGONISTA REPUBLIC SET UP IN LOWER CALIFORNIA

LOS ANGELES, June 5.—Followers of Francisco I. Madero in the rôle of Federalists and rebels fighting under the banner of the so-called "Liberal" party met near the town of Paloma de San Antonio, State of Chihuahua, Mexico, on Saturday. There were about 200 Liberals under Gen. Rangin, Lateris and Ondivero. The Maderists number nearly 800 and the battle was fought in an open field near the town.

The Maderists attacked and were repulsed with heavy losses. The "Liberals" admit that many of their men were wounded, but report none dead. The battle lasted three hours and then the Maderists withdrew to the hills.

The "Liberals" are nearly all Socialists and they dislike Madero as bitterly as Diaz. They are directed by the Liberal party's revolutionary junta, which is maintained here, and the first news of the battle was contained in a telegram to the junta to-day.

Gov. Redo of the State of Sinaloa, who refused to surrender Culiacan to Manuel Bonilla, provisional Governor sent to take charge in conformity with the agreement Madero reached with the Diaz Government, was shot at sunrise yesterday. The Federal commander, who remained loyal when the troops deserted to the Maderists, was also shot.

Both men were previously tried and condemned to death. TROOPS, June 5.—Twenty executions of Magonistas in the Altar district, near Culiacan and Altar, have resulted in restoring quiet in the section, according to passengers arriving overhead here to-day.

Following a sharp engagement between the Maderists and Magonistas a written order was found on one of the latter who was killed. The order, ostensibly coming from Magon of Los Angeles, instructed his men to plunder, rob and devastate the country held by the Maderists. The finding of the note led to the executions.

It is said that the entire Altar district is now safe for travelers and that the depredations of any character are being committed. Telegrams denying the reported assassination of Gov. Diego Redo of the State of Sinaloa were received at the office of the Southern Pacific of Mexico here to-day. One advice says that provisional Governor Bonilla sent a telegram to Francisco I. Madero denying the rumor of the execution of the Governor. Bonilla reports to Madero that Redo is free, and an escort for the sake of safety, has been promised him whenever he chooses to leave Culiacan, the capital city of the State of Sinaloa.

El Paso, June 5.—Thirteen hundred Mexican Federal soldiers left Chihuahua for Juarez on Saturday to fight against the Maderists to pacify the Magonistas and Socialists who have set up an independent republic in that territory. The soldiers are under command of Gen. Luque, a noted fighter who has been prominent in the Chihuahua campaign.

Abram Gonzales, the new Governor of Chihuahua, says the troops will stop in Juarez for a few days pending a decision as to whether they shall go through the United States by train or march overland through Mexico to Guaymas and there take a boat to Innesada, Lower California. The troops are expected to reach the United States by train or march overland through Mexico to Guaymas and there take a boat to Innesada, Lower California.

Word comes from Lower California that Gen. Proves has sent for additional men, arms and ammunition to resist the Federalists and straight insurgents. He and his men will fight for the independent republic, which they have set up, with a view to the famous Confederate General Mosby as President.

Railroad communication has been restored between Mexico city and El Paso. The train arrives tonight with many connections with through trains from Mexico. As yet no trains are operating at night, passengers lying over at Chihuahua and Torreon, and taking three days to travel from El Paso to Juarez.

News from Sonora to-day confirms the report of the killing of Gov. Diego Redo of Sinaloa after the capture of the capital of that State, Culiacan. Both Gov. Redo and the commander of the Federal troops were killed for opposing the entry of Manuel Bonilla, appointee of Madero to the Governorship. Redo was a young man, and his father, a well-known personal friend. They resided on the same street in Mexico city.

MEXICO CITY NERVOUS

Fears There May Be Riots When Madero Arrives To-morrow

MEXICO CITY, June 5.—The Maderist troops under command of Gen. Juan Almazan, which have been menacing this city for the last few days, were withdrawn this afternoon in the direction of Contreras, which is fifteen miles distant. They were stationed at Huipulco, which is only six miles from the outskirts of the city.

For several days they have been regarded as a menace. It is understood that they with other bands of Maderist troops asked to be permitted to enter the city and take part in the reception accorded to Francisco I. Madero when he arrives here on Wednesday. The Government is discussing the matter, and while it has arrived at no decision as yet it is believed that a way will be found to grant the request.

PESTS AND PARASITES.

GYPSEY-MOTH LARVAE PREVENTED FROM ASCENDING THE TREE BY A BAND OF TREE TANGLEFOOT.

This is one of the efficient means of control, and especially for the protection of trees adjacent to infested territory.

An article in the April number of the "National Geographic Magazine," of Washington, D. C., entitled "Pests and Parasites," gives startling figures on the damage insect pests cause to trees and plants. It urges the necessity of national inspection of all imported plants and trees. The Gypsy and Brown-tail moths imported into Massachusetts have cost that State many millions of dollars and killed countless trees which it will take generations to replace. These pests are spreading all over New England and Northern New York, and there is great danger of their overspreading the entire country.

The article contains several photographs of actual conditions, illustrating the best means of control, one of which was reproduced above, showing a mass of caterpillars crowded below a band of Tree Tanglefoot, which effectually prevents their ascending the tree. They will soon starve below the Tree Tanglefoot, being unable to reach the leaves—their natural food. This banding compound, Tree Tanglefoot, is especially effective against the moths named and also Tussock moths, which greatly injure shade trees in all the States bordering on the Great Lakes.

One application of Tree Tanglefoot is sufficient for the season, as it will remain sticky about three months fully exposed to all weather conditions. Ten to twenty times as long as any other known substance. Tree Tanglefoot is now practically the only banding compound used, its superior lasting qualities having made it universally preferred. Its advantages over bands of burlap or cotton batting are, that it gives absolute protection where other bands give only partial protection and require daily inspection, and, in the case of burlaps especially, the killing of caterpillars which have congregated below it—a most disgusting task.

It also has a great advantage over spraying, in that, being non-poisonous, neither the trees themselves nor the birds which may eat of their berries, fruits or seeds, are poisoned. Birds are an important factor in destroying injurious insects. It is now believed by some horticultural and entomological authorities that continuous spraying of trees results in their being gradually poisoned, the poison being found in the wood, the leaves and the fruit, apparently absorbed by the sap and carried to all parts of the tree.

In the hands of the amateur, Tree Tanglefoot is the safe preventive, as spraying must be done by experts, else immediate and serious injury may result. Tree Tanglefoot is put up in one, three, ten and twenty pound cans, ready for use. It is easily applied with a small wooden paddle or putty knife. Full directions appear on each can. The price is 24c to 30c per pound. Each pound will make about nine lineal feet of band.

Tree Tanglefoot is made by The O. & W. Thom Company of Grand Rapids, Mich., the manufacturers of Tanglefoot fly paper, which is used in every village and hamlet in the United States and Canada, and has also an extensive sale in 25 States. Tree Tanglefoot is as much superior to all other tree banding compounds as Tanglefoot fly paper to all other fly papers. In case local seed dealers or druggists have not yet a supply of Tree Tanglefoot, this can be obtained directly from the manufacturers.

Government, State, city and village authorities now use 80% to 90% of the Tree Tanglefoot manufactured, but its use by private individuals to care for their trees is increasing rapidly because it affords protection for the least cost and is the safest and simplest remedy against Gypsy, Brown-tail and Tussock moth caterpillars.
