

timbers that were all that was left of Maurer's. Then in a fearful tone he asked a policeman what had happened. "Oh, nothing," said the policeman, glancing at the young man's shining coat. "A young fellow with big feet danced old Maurer's place into the ground." But this didn't amuse the inquirer a bit. "This is awful," he said hoarsely. "I was going to get married here this afternoon."

The young man was Thomas Martin Murphy, cashier for the Brooklyn Eastern Terminal Railway, and he was to have married Miss Ida Victoria Blum, the daughter of Frederick Blum, a Bronx architect, at Maurer's in the afternoon.

When the policeman heard that he got into communication with the Westchester police station, which is a sort of official nurse for the neighborhood in great crises.

They hustled about and got a hall on Silver street for the wedding and escorted the bride party there. Then the policeman on the fire lines spent a busy afternoon relieving the 300 wedding guests, who came of course to Maurer's.

CRAZED BY THE BLACK HAND.

Widow With Seven Children and a Gray Haired, Frightened Woman.

In the observation ward at Kings County Hospital are two women, one gray haired and about 62 years old, the other the mother of seven children. Both are thought to have been made insane by Black Hand threats and acts.

The husband of the younger woman, Vincenzo Minerva, was a construction boss for the Long Island Railroad and also contracted for excavating. One day a letter marked with death heads and cross bones came to him demanding $1,000. Minerva thought he had compromised by paying a small sum, but the demand was repeated, and when he refused to pay men lay in wait for him and beat him. Friends found him at dawn and took him home. Pneumonia developed and he died in December. He left little money.

Two months ago James, the seventh child, was born. There was just enough money for a doctor. The family had to leave their home and move into a poor tenement on Rockaway avenue. Nick, the oldest boy, tried to sell coal and ice, but luck was against him.

Last Saturday the mother screamed about the Black Hand trying to kill her husband. She seemed to think him still alive.

Neighbors and policemen found mother and children suffering from starvation. The mother was taken to the hospital, the children to the Children's Society.

The name of the gray haired woman is Saladino. On Saturday she rushed into a tenement at New Jersey avenue with a knife crying: "I'll kill them all because 'the Black Hand' ruined me!"

THE WORLD'S BIGGEST BABY.

At 27 Months He Weighs 122 Pounds and Eats Like a Harvest Hand.

MOUNT AIRY, Ga., June 25.—In James Adolph Cody, two years and three months old, Mount Airy boasts the biggest baby in the world.

James Adolph now weighs 122 pounds and is growing every day.

With the first indication of his abnormal growth his parents consulted a physician and James Adolph was put under his care. All efforts to keep the baby on a diet suited to one of his age proved as unsuccessful as the physician's treatment to keep down his growth. His measurements are:

Height, 39 inches; neck, 14 inches; bust 33 inches; waist, 36 inches; around arm above elbow, 12 inches; wrist, 8 inches; across hand above thumb, 6 1/2 inches; across first finger, near hand, 2 1/2 inches; around thigh, 25 inches; above knee, 16 inches; below knee, 13 inches; ankle, 9 inches; around foot, 8 1/2 inches; length of foot, 6 1/2 inches; across shoulders, 15 inches.

James sleeps well, is perfectly healthy and very strong. His appetite is more like a grown person's than a baby's. For breakfast he will eat three or four large biscuits, with bacon, gravy, butter and syrup, two glasses of buttermilk and if allowed will drink two cups of coffee.

Between breakfast and dinner he will eat 12 more biscuits with butter and syrup. For dinner he will eat a big plate of greens or vegetables with boiled bacon, corn bread, biscuits, a whole pie if he can eat it, and a glass of milk.

He eats again between dinner and supper, and his supper is in keeping with breakfast and dinner.

HELD AT GUN POINT IN CHURCH.

Deacon, After Passing Plate, Robbed of Proceeds by Masked Man.

WHEELING, W. Va., June 25.—Hardly twenty feet from the pulpit in which the Rev. W. H. Fields of the First Christian Church was exhorting a congregation of 400 persons, the church treasurer, Brook E. Adams, was robbed this morning at the point of a pistol by a masked man who escaped.

The robbery was committed in a small room which opens into the main auditorium and the door between was open.

The collection had just been taken, the communion dispensed and Mr. Fields had begun to preach on "The Duty of God and Man" when Adams retired to the ante-room with the collection plates. As he finished counting the money and was about to take his pew in the church he looked up to find himself confronted by a masked man with a big gun.

"Give me that money," the fellow said. "Well, take it," Adams replied, but the thief compelled Adams to pick up the money and hand it over. Then with the pistol still pointed at Adams he backed slowly toward the door and dashed down an alley.

Mr. Adams notified Dr. J. A. Monroe, a church official, and between them they decided not to inform the pastor of what happened until after the sermon.

A woman living near the church said she saw two boys playing about the doorway, but had seen no one else.

The First Christian Church is in the heart of the city. The collection was small to-day, amounting only to about $20.

SMOKE THAT DIDN'T MEAN FIRE.

Laborers of Three Chinese Laundrymen Much Intertwined With.

Smoke from every chimney and crevice of a Chinese laundry caught the eye of a Goodman in Third avenue near Fortieth street last night and the Goodman with visions of a hobnob in the tenement district ran shouting to the engine house and a block away.

Engine 21 was ready for any fire in the red light district and slayers were ready to pull out to the laundry and bursting in upon three Chinese, Ming Wah, Rupert Linn and Henry Song, who were sitting at a table playing their cards in an atmosphere of official smoke with smoke. All the attention the three showed toward first to the room and then to the engine house. They were finally ordered out and the engine and Henry Song explained.

"Smoke from a chimney," they stop up.

"In this case," said the fireman, "Bad weather had choked the chimney with soot."

J. & W. FISHER, LAR & CO. NEW YORK SOLE AGENTS

MORE SETTLEMENTS MADE

By the Strikers With the Coastwise Steamship Lines.

It was reported last evening on behalf of the committee of sailors, firemen and others that the Bull, Luckenbach and Munson lines have yet to be heard from. Settlements have been made following the strike against the Morgan Line with the Morgan, Clyde, Mallory, Old Dominion, Savannah, Ward and Texas City lines, and replies from the United Fruit Company, Latamora, A. Holt, American-Hawaiian, Booth, Grace and Barber lines are expected to-morrow. The committee will have its final conference with the representatives of the Porto Rico Line over the demands to-day.

All of the smaller companies, it was stated, are at peace with the seamen.

In all cases the demand for $5 per month increase in wages to waiters, second stewards, pantry men and porters, has been compromised, both sides agreeing to an advance of $2.50 a month. The companies which have settled have all agreed to a uniform scale of wages of $40 a month for the firemen except the Mallory Line. H. P. Griffin, vice-president of the International Seamen's Union, said that this was through a misunderstanding on the part of the Mallory Line representatives.

"When we are through with the rest of the lines," he said, "we will take up this matter with the Mallory Line again. The wages of the firemen must be uniform on all the lines. The question of the fall of fares is a separate question on all the lines, the sailors and firemen's fare to be of the same quality as that provided for other messes, but it remains to be seen how that will work out. Practically all the lines with the exception of the Old Dominion Line will allow the seamen while on shore 60 cents a day for food, being 10 cents a day over what they had been getting. At first it was decided that all the companies would give the men meals on board while the ships were in port, but later it was proposed to make this allowance 60 cents a day instead. This has now been agreed to."

Griffin said that none of the companies would make more than a verbal agreement. This he thought a mistake, as would leave more loopholes for future friction than if the agreement had been drawn up and signed.

FIRST AID TO INJURED MINERS.

Bureau of Mines to Give an Exhibition of a Mine Disaster and Rescue Work.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—In line with the efforts to reduce the number of deaths in the coal mines of the United States the Bureau of Mines will hold a national first aid to the injured field meet on Saturday, September 16, in Arsenal Park, Pittsburgh, Pa. President Taft, Secretary of the Interior Fisher and Dr. Joseph A. Holmes, director of the Bureau of Mines, will attend and speak to the miners. The Bureau of Mines will have the cooperation of the Pittsburgh Coal Operators Association and the American Red Cross.

It is expected that between 20,000 and 30,000 miners will attend and that many of the important coal companies will send their trained first aid and rescue corps to take part in the exhibition. Already a number of teams have entered and are in training for the event, which promises to be the most important gathering of miners ever assembled in Arsenal Park is the site of the testing station of the Bureau of Mines and the experts of the bureau are busy arranging for a unique program.

Teams from the coal mines will give exhibitions of their skill in bringing injured miners from the mines and binding their wounds and fractures. In addition to the first aid teams the miners will witness gas and coal dust explosions in miniature, which will be staged in the great explosive gallery of the Bureau of Mines.

In Arsenal Park there will also be a temporary gallery, which will resemble a coal mine. This will be placed at the bottom of a natural amphitheater, giving a clear view to thousands of persons. There will be a gas explosion in this play mine; miners will be "ontombed" and one of the Government rescue corps in oxygen helmets will enter and save a miner. One side of the miniature mine will be open its entire length in order that the onlookers may witness everything that happens in an underground horror except the loss of life.

BEACHEY'S FINE FLIGHT.

He Escapes a Violent Storm by Only Three Minutes.

BEAUFORT, June 25.—Lincoln Beachey, the California aviator, made a remarkable flight in a Curtiss airplane to-day. He was scheduled to fly from the race track across the Niagara River at Fort Erie to the old driving park in the northern part of the city and thence to Niagara Falls.

At the hour scheduled for the flight a storm of tropical violence blew from the south. Beachey made a quick trip over the house-tops of Buffalo and started for the Falls on the very rim of the storm. Five minutes after he left the ground at the driving park rain fell in torrents and fully 40,000 people got a drenching.

On his way back to Buffalo, a Niagara River suburb of Buffalo, Beachey was barely two minutes ahead of the down-pour and going like the wind. He covered the eighteen mile air line on the last leg of the journey in a fraction over sixteen minutes. He escaped the storm at the Falls by three minutes.

On Tuesday and Wednesday Beachey will make a dip under the suspension arch bridge, which clears the water by 168 feet and has a lateral spread of barely 100 feet.

ROBBING CHURCH'S POOR BOX.

Sexton Catches Him at It and He Gets Six Months.

Thomas Coxman, the sexton of St. Michael's Catholic Church on West Thirty-fourth street, saw a man fishing in the poor box in the vestibule of the church with a piece of whitebone Corcoran grabbed him and held him. Father Gleason held him until Detective Curran came around. The prisoner fought the detective all the way to the station house in night court, where the man said he was Frederick Coxman, 435 West Houston street. Magistrate Corcoran spoke of his offense as "most contemptible" and sent him to the workhouse for six months. The St. Michael's poor box has been robbed several times this year.

NO TARIFF REVISION NOW

PRESIDENT WOULD PUT IT OFF UNTIL REGULAR SESSION

Or Until He Receives Reports From the Tariff Board—He Will Veto the Reciprocity Bill if It Is Loaded Down With Tariff Revision Amendments.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—It has been made clear to the Senate leaders that President Taft is opposed to any tariff revision until this fall. The President objects not only to any amendment to the Canadian reciprocity bill lowering tariff rates but believes that the program for passing independent bills revising schedules is ill advised. His attitude, which has become known since his return last night, will have a still further depressing influence on the efforts of Senator Wesley Jones and others looking to a plan of tariff revision in which Republican regulars and insurgents were to unite and relieve the consumer and confuse the Democrats. The plan has already met the disapproval of some Republican leaders, who point out that nothing could come of such a Republican legislative program while Democrats control the House.

President Taft believes that tariff revision should wait upon the report of the Tariff Board. The President, it is believed, will outline a plan of tariff revision based on the board's report when Congress meets in regular session in December. In the next important speech he is to deliver, at Indianapolis on July 4, the President will deal with the general subject of tariff revision. It is regarded as certain that he veto the Canadian reciprocity bill if it comes to him loaded down with amendments dealing with tariff revision, and there is little doubt also that he will decline to approve the farmers' free list bill and the other tariff measures of Democratic origin if these pass the Senate.

President Taft's friends believe that he will be the gainer politically by turning his back on tariff revision plans now and withholding his support until he has a report next winter from a board of experts.

The Canadian reciprocity bill will probably be debated with some earnestness in the present week. Senator La Follette's amendments carrying general tariff revision will probably be unfolded before the gaze of Senators within a few days. The Democratic Senate conference is likely to shed some light on the situation. While matters are still rather chaotic, the President has been advised by Senate leaders that a vote on the Canadian bill will be reached earlier than had been expected. As to how long the tariff bills may be before the Senate there is nothing definite. The Root amendment will be voted on to-morrow and will undoubtedly be rejected. The President has been so advised by his party friends in the Senate.

The possibility of a coalition between Democrats and insurgent Republicans in the Senate on a tariff revision programme is more remote than ever. The insurgents are beginning to turn against their allies the Democrats. They are charging that the Democratic leaders in the Senate are working in harmony with the regular Republicans to pass Canadian reciprocity without amendment and then get away after a show of considering the other tariff bills. The insurgents say the Democrats do not want to see legislation enacted revising tariff schedules downgraded at this time.

"The situation is lying politics with the question to keep it alive for their next campaign," said an insurgent Senator to-day.

The insurgents say to-night that the tariff amendments will have to be fully debated before there is any agreement fixing a day for a vote on Canadian reciprocity.

"It will be six weeks at least before there is an agreement to vote on the Canadian reciprocity," said one of the leading insurgent Senators to-night.

The situation is now reversed in the Senate. Some time ago the Democratic Senators were declaring that the insurgents would be made to fish or cut bait on the question of relieving the consumer from the intricacies of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law. The Democrats declared that they would put up to the insurgents the House tariff bills and compel them to vote for or against them. Now the insurgents are coming forward with a tariff revision programme and aggressively declare that the Democrats are seeking to evade the issue. There is every indication that a bitter struggle is just ahead in the Senate between the insurgents and Democrats, in which each side will try to fix upon the other the responsibility for delaying or defeating general tariff revision.

PRESIDENT HAS A DAY OF REST.

Attends Church in the Morning and Takes Motor Ride in the Afternoon.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—President Taft took an entire day of rest by way of recuperating from his week of strenuous visiting and speechmaking in New York and New England.

This morning the President went to All Souls' Unitarian Church with his son Charles, who has just finished his preliminary examinations for Yale University, which he hopes to enter in the fall. He has not yet said what success he had in leaving the usual anxiety he and his "schoolboys" waiting to learn their mark.

The President spent a short time with Secretary Hills and heard from him that certain Senators had made their usual optimistic report on the Senatorial situation with regard to reciprocity. Mr. Taft, however, spent little time on official matters to-day.

In the afternoon he motored out about sunset to the Rock Creek National Park with Mrs. Taft and Aunt Della Torrey, who is still enjoying her stay in Washington.

Prices of Diamonds Going Up.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Buy your diamonds now. The price is going up, according to United States Consul Frank W. Malvin at Amsterdam, Holland, who reports that polished diamonds are 10 to 12 per cent higher than a year ago, excepting very small stones. Dealers say, however, that prices will continue to advance.

Consul Malvin says that the syndicate controlling the rough diamond market is limiting the production and that the yield of the diamond mines as a whole is decreasing.

No Evidence That Robbers Poisoned Ryserson.

HACKENSACK, June 25.—Coroner W. H. Tracy says he will not hold an inquest in the case of William Ryserson, 231 West Twenty-sixth street, New York, who died at Ransome on Wednesday last from a dose of cyanide sublimate, which Ryserson said had been forced down his throat by two highwaymen who robbed him of $500. The Coroner says the county detectives have found nothing to support Ryserson's statement. Ryserson's widow wanted an inquest.

MAY BE MOTOR BOAT ROBBER.

Scared From Two Houses by Women. He Fights and Is Caught in a Third.

NEW ROCHELLE, June 25.—After a struggle in the attic of the residence of Vaughan J. Weatherley, 75 Main street, New Rochelle, at 5 o'clock this morning Police Sergeant Edward Deveau and Patrolman John McGowan captured a man whom they believe to be one of the crew of a black motor boat that has robbed several residences and stolen at least one motor launch within the last month.

The prisoner, who gave his name as Frank Colton, 56 years of age, and a fictitious address in Mount Vernon, is so badly beaten that he could make no statement to-day. The uniforms of the policemen were almost torn from them in the fight.

It was found Mrs. George W. Lippincott, her daughter Helen and her son Wallace of 10 Garden Walk, Home Park, that the burglar was captured. Mrs. Lippincott was aroused when the lock of a kitchen window was broken at 1:30 this morning. While she telephoned to the police Miss Lippincott, who several years ago swam a quarter of a mile and rescued a drowning child in Echo Bay, went into the kitchen with her father's revolver. Her brother mounted guard with a rifle at the front of the house.

The burglar changed his mind about entering the Lippincott house, and going to the house of Charles B. Pearson, next door, jimmied the kitchen window and entered. Mrs. Lippincott called up the Pearson house on the telephone and a moment later the burglar was seen to jump through the window and run toward Main street.

Deveau and McGowan found prints of bare feet on the Lippincott and Pearson porches and then waited until daylight to continue the search. They found at the Weatherley house, two blocks from the Lippincott residence, that a rear window had been jimmied. The Weatherleys are away for the summer and have left the house furnished, putting only their silver in safe deposit. The policeman found a gun, a barbed-wire, hiding in a closet in the attic.

When they opened the closet door the man attacked them with a shoe. Colton is a powerful man and the fight lasted twenty minutes. When the prisoner was handcuffed the floor was red with the blood of the three men.

The police found about $2,000 worth of jewelry and trinkets, Luridan and Persian rugs packed in a tarpaulin. They believe Colton and his confederates intended to return to-night and carry their plunder away in the motorboat which has been seen along Long Island sound frequently of late.

LUNATIC ON TELEGRAPH POLE.

Descending. He Breaks Strati Jacket and Attacks Woman Ambulance Doctor.

A middle-aged man perched on top of a telegraph pole at North Tenth and Berry streets, Williamsburg, yesterday kept shouting "I am Joe Miller, the joker!" To the crowd that gathered was added Policeman Shaugnessy. He recognized the orator as an insane man for whom a general alarm had been sent out two hours before.

The man was Frederick Schmidt, who lived with his sister, Mrs. Augusta Romanoff, at 842 Driggs avenue. According to the sister he was in the asylum at Kings Park, L. I., for several years and was liberated about two months ago, when he appeared to be rational. His delusion had been that he was a great writer of fiction and jokes.

After his liberation Mrs. Romanoff took him home. Recently he again began to act queerly and a watch was kept upon him. Yesterday he left home by way of a fire escape.

When Shaugnessy recognized him on the telegraph pole he persuaded him to descend by telling him that the crowd wanted to hear his jokes. Before the arrival of Dr. Elizabeth Bruyn, the woman ambulance surgeon of the Williamsburg Hospital, Schmidt knocked down Shaugnessy and ran to the street by the front door of the police station, where he fought Doorman Denker, Lieut. Edward Kelly and Policeman Frank Connolly, the clerk.

He was put into a strati jacket, but while the ambulance surgeon was attending him he broke his fastenings and attacked her. Half a dozen policemen fell upon him and tied him with ropes. He was taken to the Kings County Hospital observation ward.

Young American Artist Gets Commissions on the Baltic.

Paul Swan, a young American artist who arrived last night by the White Star liner Baltic, painted the portraits of two children of his fellow voyagers on the trip. The parents had seen the artist working rapidly and cleverly on canvases depicting sailors and stewards of the liner and were so much impressed with the faithfulness of the pictures that they gave him commissions on the spot.

Mr. Swan says he has been travelling in Egypt for five months of the eight he has been abroad, and that while there he got an order for the portrait of Sir Eldon Ford, British Agent, and Consul General in Egypt, and from others less distinguished in London and painted the portrait of the Duke of Bronté otherwise the Hon. Alexander Nelson Hood. He said he had to London after he has spent a short summer vacation here. Mr. Swan is 23 and studied art first in Chicago.

THE LORIMER INVESTIGATION

FUNK OF THE HARVESTER COMPANY TO TESTIFY TO-DAY.

He Will Be Followed by Edward Hines, Who, He Said, Requested a Contribution of $10,000 From His Company—Roger Sullivan Also to Be Called.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Clarence S. Funk, general manager of the International Harvester Company, will take the witness stand to-morrow before the Senate committee which is investigating the charges of corruption in the election of Senator William Lorimer of Illinois. Mr. Funk's testimony will be the first direct evidence obtained by the committee as to the alleged request for a contribution of $10,000 from the Harvester company, which Mr. Funk says was made by Edward Hines of the Edward Hines Lumber Company.

The testimony taken by the committee last week was preliminary and collateral to the main line of the investigation. With Mr. Funk's testimony to-morrow, however, the committee will begin to unfold the main story of the allegations of bribery and corruption in the election of Senator Lorimer. Mr. Funk will be followed by Edward Hines, who is charged with having requested the $10,000 contribution from Mr. Funk. Edward Tildon, president of the National Packing Company, who, Mr. Funk says, was mentioned by Mr. Hines as the receiver of the alleged $10,000 contribution, will also be heard this week. When these three witnesses have been heard the main story of the inquiry will be revealed to the members of the committee and subsequent witnesses will be called to amplify and corroborate Funk's story. It is probable also that Gov. Deneen of Illinois and several other less important witnesses will testify this week.

A subpoena has been issued for Roger Sullivan, Democratic national committee man from Illinois, whose name was mentioned yesterday by Herman H. Kohlbas, editor and publisher of the Chicago Free Press.

Mr. Sullivan has never appeared before the Senate committee on Privileges and Elections or the Helm committee of the Illinois Legislature which investigated the Lorimer election last winter. While the members of the committee do not know whether or not Mr. Sullivan has any valuable information on the subject, Chairman Dillingham thought it advisable to summon him on account of his prominent position in Illinois Democratic circles.

A sufficient number of witnesses have been subpoenaed to keep the committee in session here for more than two weeks. Chairman Dillingham wishes to hear as many witnesses as possible in Washington, so that the committee will not have to come here from Chicago for any great length of time while the Senate is in session. It was the original plan to begin hearings in Chicago on July 5 next. It is probably, however, that the witnesses who have been summoned here will be able to complete their testimony before the end of next week. Later the committee intends to convene in Springfield, Ill., to give enough to accommodate the Legislature which elected Senator Lorimer.

TO GET MERIDA'S TREASURE.

Inventor of New Apparatus Hopes to Go Down 200 Feet to Sea's Bottom.

NORFOLK, Va., June 25.—Capt. Charles Williamson, commander of the Williamson submarine tube cruiser, has a contract to recover the treasure sunk with the steamer Merida of the New York and Cuba Steamship Company, which was lost in collision with the steamer Admiral Farragut sixty-five miles east of Cape Charles last month.

The Merida carried besides the valuables of 300 passengers half a million dollars in silver bars. She also carried a rich cargo of general merchandise. She lies in 200 feet of water, and marine men say she cannot be reached by divers.

Capt. Williamson, however, who has demonstrated the safety of his invention by sending three small children 17 feet to the bottom of the Elizabeth River during their Sunday clothes and returning them to the surface safe and sound, says that with his invention men can descend to the sunken steamer and recover the treasure without serious difficulty.

The tube is a flexible affair that can be lowered to any depth by the addition of sections. At the bottom there is a chamber large enough to accommodate two men. Glass windows permit those inside to see out. The tube is supplied with fresh air from the top and the men below can work for an indefinite time without breathing their own exhaled air. A special arm extending at various angles from the chamber. The men in the chamber can, after finding the thing they want, move the chamber by means of their own efforts and by signalling to assistants above.

They wear no diving apparatus or other weighty clothing.

ARRESTED AS HORSE THIEVES.

Father and Son Alleged to Have Stolen Many Livery Rigs.

GREENWICH, Conn., June 25.—Massacre as stablemen cleaning horses, Chief Donovan and Officer Curkin of the Port Chester police force and E. C. Sherwood, proprietor of the Sherwood livery stable of Port Chester, succeeded this morning in causing the arrest at Norwalk of Charles Carvelletto and son Tony, who are charged with the livery rig thefts in East Orange, Paterson, Flushing, Port Chester and Stamford, charges of stealing livery rigs in the last three months.

In Greenwich they tried to get a rig but failed. Their scheme, it is alleged, was to have the younger man, with a bouquet in hand, go to a liveryman and engage a rig and leave a deposit for half a day's use of it, saying he was going to take "his rig" for a ride. The father would meet him not far away.

At Ward's stable yesterday the young man asked for the horse to use this morning and the Port Chester police drove up at a 4 M and went to work in the stable. The father, who had the young man's Hunt of Norwalk arrested at the stable when he came with his bouquet this morning and just around the corner they found his father waiting.

The father, who is a liveryman, Judge McCordell of Flushing, whose rig was stolen last Thursday, went to Stamford to-day and identified the younger prisoner, who is 20 years old.

Mr. Garford is one of the oldest manufacturers in the automobile business and has never produced a car that has not given satisfactory and economical service in every particular. The discontinuance of marketing the Garford product through jobbers and the culmination of manufacturing economies, upon which the factory has concentrated for the past two years, enable us to fix the price at $3,750, fully equipped.

The class of people who own Garford cars is significant of the fact that the makers of this car have attained the very highest degree of efficiency in automobile production.

Cap. French, as he was known by old Brooklynites, made money in real estate and construction after his retirement from the Police Department fifteen years ago. He owned trotters and paces which he entered in brushes along the Ocean Parkway years ago. He was a friend of Hugh McClaughlin.

HOSPITAL ALARM OF FIRE.

The French Institution Only Had a Broken Steam Pipe, However.

A nurse on the sixth floor of the French Hospital, at 450 West Thirty-fourth street, saw what she thought was smoke coming out of the operating room last night. She telephoned downstairs to Pierre Fleury, the night watchman, and he went in a fire alarm from the building without investigating.

There is a fire company on West Twenty-ninth street and in a few moments it came down the street. The watchman ran out and stopped the engine before it reached the hospital and then he led four firemen to the sixth floor by way of the elevator.

They found that a steam pipe had burst in the operating room and that the escaping steam had led the nurse to think there was a fire. The whole affair was conducted so quietly that although there was a big crowd on the street none of the patients heard of the doings.
