

THE WILEY CASE

The industries employing flourides, saccharin, alum, sulphurous acid, benzoic acid, benzoate of soda, sulphate of copper, coal-tar dyes and ether flavors have been bitterly opposing Dr. Wiley for many years, and would be delighted to see him removed from office.

The people have been eating these things for many years and are eating them now, for they have no means of appreciating the gravity or the extent of food adulteration.

In spite of the fact that Dr. Wiley is powerless to interfere with food adulteration when it is confined to the State of its origin, his honesty and his zeal are a constant menace to everything bad in the food world.

Foods prepared in any State and not shipped outside of that State may contain "ANYTHING" so far as prosecution by the Federal Government is concerned. It is only when the adulterator takes a chance by shipping his product into another State that the Federal Government can act.

The present situation has inspired the following telegram from Francis H. Leggett & Company to President Taft:

TO THE PRESIDENT,

WHITE HOUSE, WASHINGTON, D. C.:

We believe the conservative and honest food manufacturers of the United States are in sincere sympathy with the work of Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, and we believe that no greater act of injustice could be committed than to inflict upon this great champion of pure food any unnecessary worry or sorrow. We hold him to be unimpeachable and incorruptible, and we look upon his services as invaluable to the nation.

FRANCIS H. LEGGETT & CO.

Leggett's Premier Pure Food Products are absolutely free from all such drugs, and they stand as living witnesses that Dr. Wiley's contention that such drugs are unnecessary and bad, is right.

Premier Canned Vegetables and Fruits, Premier Cereals, Premier Jams, Premier Jellies, Premier Extracts, Premier Spices, Premier Olive Oil, Premier Olives, Premier Sauces, Premier Coffee, etc., etc., represent Dr. Wiley's ideals of unjuggled purity, and we take this opportunity to declare our attitude toward Dr. Wiley and the cause he represents.

DETECTIVES FOUND ICE, PLENTY

WALDO THINKS IT COULD BE GOT HERE IN ABUNDANCE.

Also Finds That the Wholesalers Raised the Price on July 1. Two Days Before the Hot Spell Set in Inquiry as to Whether There is Conspiracy Afoot.

Commissioner Waldo's ice squad got back from up river yesterday and reported that there is more ice on hand in the big storage barns between Kingston and Hudson than there was last July. The motor boat sleuths reported also that there seemed to be plenty of workmen around these storerooms and that there was apparently no reason why the city couldn't get an adequate supply in hot spells.

The observations of this squad were included in a report that Commissioner Waldo will send to-morrow to Mayor Gaynor, District Attorney Whitman and Deputy Attorney-General McQuaid. It will be used as a basis for the separate investigations that are to be conducted by the county and the State into alleged restraint of trade by the Knickerbocker Ice Company, its subsidiary concerns and the large independent shippers.

The District Attorney's investigation will get under way next Tuesday when Magistrate Robert Appleton sits in the library of the District Attorney's office.

The ice squad worked fast. Commissioner Waldo sent the men out last Thursday night and they made the rounds of the Hudson River icehouses in twenty-four hours. The detectives had little difficulty acquiring information.

They found that one storeroom contained 60,000 tons of ice, considerably more than it had last year. None of the supply has been withdrawn this summer. The other storerooms contained from 5,000 to 30,000 tons. An employee of the Knickerbocker Ice Company told them that he had seventeen gangs of twenty-five loaders each but that he was obliged to send out barges half to two-thirds loaded because there is not enough laborers to keep full barges going.

The detectives reported, however, that they believed much more ice could be handled than had been sent out. They said that some of the big concerns were hiring inefficient labor cheap and that some of the barges had come down in ballast for want of cargo.

Commissioner Waldo did not make public the report he has drawn up for the Mayor, District Attorney Whitman and Deputy Attorney-General McQuaid. The report, he said, would have to come from one of the three.

It has been found, the Commissioner said, "that there is plenty of ice on the river a bigger supply than was on hand last year. The only excuse given by the ice companies for not keeping up with the demand is that they were short of laborers. That is really no excuse, as employment agency or an aid in the newspaper would provide all the loaders necessary. I have made out my report along these lines."

Whatever the reason was the companies that supply New York's ice raised the price on July 1 from $2 and $2.25 a ton to $3 and in some cases up to $5. But the amount taken from the storerooms was hardly more than 50 per cent of the quantity withdrawn last summer when the weather was much less trying.

The Commissioner added that if the ice companies applied to him he would guarantee to get them all the men they needed to keep full barges going. A conference for the purpose of arranging the preliminaries of the District Attorney's investigation into alleged law violation by the Knickerbocker Ice Company and other concerns was held yesterday in the office of District Attorney Whitman. Both De Ford and Peckham worked with Osborne in prosecuting the old American Ice Company, which was fined $5,000 and broken up by the courts. The District Attorney has a notion that maybe the American wasn't really put out of business after all. He will have the Knickerbocker Ice Company's books in court to see whether they will throw any light on this matter.

FISCHER-HANSEN RETURNS.

Sues for Damages Three Concerns That Petitioned in Bankruptcy as Creditors.

The French-American Stores Company, of which Carl Fischer-Hansen, the former lawyer, is president, filed suit in the Supreme Court yesterday for $25,000 damages each from the Franklin Company, the Lambert Dairy Company and Gordon Bros., who filed a petition in bankruptcy against Fischer-Hansen's company on July 12. It alleges that the defendants conspired to destroy the plaintiff's credit.

The complaint sets forth that the plaintiff is in the catering and French pastry business, and is doing an extensive and profitable business and has many thousands of dollars invested in several stores. It alleges that in May the Lambert Dairy Company furnished milk and cream which the plaintiff discovered was watered, and which the dairy company admitted was watered. For that reason the plaintiff refused to pay a bill of $195 and the complaint says the dairy company agreed to make no demand for it.

It alleges that the Franklin Company furnished the mirrors and accessories for the stores, and that the firm installed cheap material and failed to finish its contract. For that reason the plaintiff refused to pay a note given to the company upon which suit is brought. Fischer-Hansen is suing the company for $5,000 for breach of contract, it is alleged. Gordon Bros. are suing on two notes for $200 and the plaintiff intends to defend the suit, it is alleged.

The complaint says further that the defendant's petition in bankruptcy was filed the day after the plaintiff filed the complaint. The defendant's petition in the United States District Court for the appointment of a receiver of the French-American Stores Company, which application was granted, is alleged to be a device to ruin the plaintiff and enable the defendants to attend to the plaintiff's suit that material men and merchandise creditors have refused to extend further credit.

DIDN'T STOP SAILINGS.

Strike Order Failed to Keep Back the Coamo and Seminole.

Strikes of the firemen and other members of the crews of the Coamo of the Porto Rico Line, which sailed yesterday for San Juan from Pier 35, Brooklyn, and the Seminole of the Clyde West India Steamship Line, which sailed from Pier 34, Brooklyn, for San Domingo, were called yesterday by representatives of the marine unions. The strike order did not deter enough men from going aboard to prevent the sailing of the vessels.

The Coamo was able to get a crew in time to sail on her regular schedule at noon. The Seminole was longer in getting a crew and after leaving her pier at 1 P. M. lay off Liberty Island, sailing with a full crew only an hour later.

The marine unions are fighting the Porto Rico Line and have no quarrel with the Clyde Line, but the vessels of the Clyde West India Steamship Line, a branch of the Clyde Line, according to them, are operated by the Porto Rico Line.

The strike against the United Fruit Company officially ended yesterday with the signing of an agreement for a year with the marine unions by A. G. Dunne, New York port superintendent of the company.

The Bermuda-Atlantic liner Oceana, which, although flying the British flag, retains her German officers and crew, left thirty of her stewards on the pier when she sailed yesterday from Jersey City. Chief Steward Meyer had anticipated the revolt and had provided the ship with extra men.

Half an hour before the sailing time the thirty went to Meyer and said they would quit unless they got an advance of $2.80 a month. Meyer told them their wages would remain the same, and they walked down the gangplank, most of them without their hats and nearly all in their uniforms. They thought they would be called back at the last moment.

ARBUCKLES' COLONY BURNS

BUILDING WAS PLANNED FOR THE WORKWORN

And Was Part of Mr. Arbutckle's Scheme to Turn His Farm at New Paltz into a Refuge—Several Other Structures Destroyed and Loss May Be $75,000.

POUGHKEEPSIE, July 15. A great pillar of fire rose on the plains below Lake Mohonk shortly after 2 o'clock this morning, marking the destruction by fire of the beautiful and costly colony building on Mary and John Arbutckle's farm at New Paltz. While the flames were converting the towering structure into ashes Mr. Arbutckle slept soundly in his room in the Lake Mohonk Hotel.

The colony building was the latest development in Mr. Arbutckle's plan to convert his 800-acre farm at New Paltz into a centre for recreation and partial self-support for old men and women and young men and women who need employment in the open air and nutritious food to bring them back to a condition of health that will enable them to withstand the wear and tear of city life. The building was erected on the lines of a big hotel, with a frontage of several hundred feet and a depth of about eighty feet. It was five stories high and surrounded on the first floor by a piazza eighteen feet in width planned for use at all seasons of the year.

The building, which was of frame construction, was rapidly nearing completion. The plumbers had finished, the electric wiring was done, lathers and masons were finishing their walls and painters were at work.

The night watchman discovered fire in one of the upper stories. He gave the alarm and the few people residing in the neighborhood, which is several miles from New Paltz, the nearest village, were aroused, but their efforts to check the flames, which had gained considerable headway, were fruitless. The New Paltz fire department turned out with its apparatus, but there was no available water supply on the property and it could do nothing except to stand and watch the building burn.

The flames extended from the Colony building to the power station and the pumping plant, which were destroyed, and to the farm house occupied by Elmer Smith and family. All these buildings were burned.

The loss is estimated at about $75,000. Mr. Arbutckle was told after breakfast of the loss he had sustained. He drove down from Lake Mohonk and looked at the ruins.

"I do not know what I will do about rebuilding," said Mr. Arbutckle. "I do not know how much the money loss is or whether there is any insurance. I leave those details to others. All I can say is that this is a great loss."

In the colony building Mr. Arbutckle planned to give a comfortable home to several hundred aged men and women. He has invented a sewing machine that cripples can use and earn from $7 to $9 a week. It is designed particularly to give work to cripples who cannot use their feet.

It is Mr. Arbutckle's plan to have 10,000 chickens on his New Paltz farm for the old women and men care for. He also planned to have his wards knit stockings, make fishing nets and do many other little things that would bring in some profits and keep them occupied. Most of his plans will go on whether or not he decides to rebuild the costly Colony building.

UNCHIVALROUS SHIP.

Wanted Only Half an Hour for Texas Girl an Hour Late—Tug Called in.

Fourteen girls decreed by the readers of the San Antonio Express to be the handsomest bachelors in Texas have been accumulating experience in the North and started home yesterday by the Mallory liner Denver, which sailed for Galveston half an hour late because one of the girls decided that the time the Denver was scheduled to sail was an hour earlier than she wanted to go. That is why she showed up on the pier at 2 o'clock. Capt. Young had been persuaded to wait half an hour, then the ship's lines were cast off and she headed out in the river. George Witting of the Express, who had charge of the party, had discovered the dilettery young woman, Olive Black, strolling leisurely down toward the pier eating bonbons. Arthur Pyle, passenger agent of the line, got a little tug, the J. A. Reynolds, and put Miss Black aboard. She rather liked the sensation of climbing to the deck of the Denver up a ladder while the thirteen other Texan peaches, as Mr. Pyle called them, gave the rebel yell.
