

WED FOR BUSINESS REASONS

ROSENBERG SAYS HE REALLY DIDN'T WANT A WIFE.

Ehrlich insisted, however, and he married Ehrlich's daughter—then came business conflicts and wreck—this in answer to separation suit.

Gerard Rosenberg, a dealer in veenings at 105 Fifth avenue, filed his answer yesterday in a suit for separation brought by Rose Rosenberg on the ground that he abandoned her on September 2 at 27 Lenox avenue.

Rosenberg says that Ehrlich kept after him constantly and told him the panic would soon be over, and that the minute he married the daughter Ehrlich would do all in his power to assist him.

Rosenberg said that his wife insisted on taking an apartment and a servant because all his friends had them, and when he complained that he couldn't stand the expense his father-in-law said: "You will get credit from banks to the extent of $20,000."

Rosenberg says that Ehrlich then suggested that they both quit the glove business and import goods, saying: "The United States is big enough for both of us."

Rosenberg kept on doing business at a loss, he says, until a year ago his father-in-law, who had indorsed his notes for $2,000 at the State bank, failed to pay the bank called on him to get new indorsement.

Rosenberg says he is now living in a furnished room at $2 a week, has only $100 worth of merchandise and $3,700 of debts. His wife humiliated him by telling him constantly that her father took him out of the gutter, and he says that when he insisted on moving to a flat where he could pay the rent she said he was making her live in a cheap house.

Rosenberg says finally that his matrimonial career, which began under auspicious circumstances at Sherry's came to an end when his wife threw his mother's trunk on the floor and broke it, although his mother lives in Germany and his wife had never seen her.

SEVEN BURGLARIES.

Four Small Boys and Woman Involved in Craeksmen's Exploits.

Four boys, two of them 13 and two 9 years old, were arraigned yesterday before Justice Hoyt in the Children's Court charged by Paul Szerner, a detective attached to the Alexander avenue station, with having committed seven burglaries since August 26.

The boys are William and Edward Smith, brothers, who live with their parents at 246 East 136th street; Thomas E. Brown, 177 Lincoln avenue; and Lawrence Cuomo, of 276 East 137th street.

They have displayed spectacular skill in breaking into the places they are supposed to have robbed, so the detective said, smashing skylights or plate glass windows.

From several places, so Szerner says, they got a quantity of pencils and stationery which they told him they had sold in Thirty-seventh street. On September 8 from the flat of Owen Fallon in a house at 2470 Third avenue, Szerner says, they got money and other articles which the Smith boys' mother, Anna, took from them and pawned. He will charge her with "impairing the morals of minors," he says.

A search of Eddie, the older Smith boy, disclosed, according to the detective, a bunch of false keys and some copper wire belonging to the New York Telephone Company.

SENTENCED TO GERMANY.

Youth Who Robbed Woman Escapes Prison by Returning to Fatherland.

Judge Swann yesterday suspended sentence in the case of Eli Knoller, a young man of good family, whose parents live in Germany, after Knoller had pleaded guilty to grand larceny. The New York representative of Knoller's father's firm in Berlin is now the secretary of the German Consulate applying in court and gave assurance that the young man would leave the country. He came here a couple of years ago because his father thought this country was a good place for a stormy youth to calm down. He became a bookkeeper and boarded with Mrs. Bertha Lindner at 55 West 131st street.

At a time when he was sixteen weeks behind in his board and could not comply with Mrs. Lindner's requests for cash when he took much of her silverware and other articles and pawned them. This money saved him with his landlady until she found where it had come from. He was arrested on August 21.

ALMS BOX THIEF CONVICTED.

Will Serve Nearly Two Years for Stealing 60 Cents.

John Jacquy, who says he is a plumber from New Brunswick, N. J., but who admits having served terms for petty larceny, was convicted yesterday in the Court of Special Sessions of having robbed the Capuchin Church of St. John the Baptist on September 6 of eighty-nine cents. He was sentenced to eleven months and twenty-nine days in the penitentiary and to pay a fine of $250. As the fine will have to be worked out in a day for a dollar he will have to serve almost twenty months.

Jacquy was surprised in the church by Brother Anselm, who teaches in the parochial school adjoining it. The church has had so many robberies of its poor boxes that Brother Anselm installed an electric alarm. On September 6, while he was in the church, he heard the buzzer sound and found Jacquy opening one of the boxes. One other box had been opened and eighty-nine cents taken. Jacquy pleaded guilty.

A GUN LAW TEST.

Lawyer Gets Himself Arrested After Two Unsuccessful Efforts.

Joseph Darling, an attorney of 116 Nassau street, who lives at 44 East Fifty-seventh street, was arrested yesterday for having a loaded revolver in his possession by Capt. John W. O'Connor of the East Fifty-first street station. He was taken before Magistrate Kernochan in Yorkville court and held in $500 bail for Special Sessions.

As soon as the case had been disposed of in the Yorkville court Darling went out a writ of habeas corpus and went before Supreme Court Justice Gavegan, who already has under advisement the case of a pawnbroker who insists that the Sullivan law is void so far as it applies to pawnbrokers. Assistant District Attorney De Ford, who appeared in opposition to the writ, said that there was no dispute as to the facts and Justice Gavegan wanted to know if the question involved was not purely academic.

"I have been moved to take this action because 500,000 persons in New York have weapons on their homes and I thought it best to test the law, which says they have no right to defend their homes," replied Lawyer Darling. "I want to know what my rights are."

"No one tried to interfere with your rights, did they?" asked the court. "No, but I want to find out right away just what I can do," replied Darling.

"He only wants to make trouble," put in Mr. De Ford. "He could have obtained a license had he wished to do so."

"Why didn't you get a license?" asked Justice Gavegan. "Because I believe the law is unconstitutional, and there are 500,000 people who agree with me,"

"I have been there, but got no satisfaction," said Darling, "and I was already engaged in determining whether the law was valid in all respects, but suggested that if Lawyer Darling tampered with it at the present time he might find his liberty interfered with."

Darling then jumped up and explained that he had no bondsman and had been held in $500 bail. The court then released Darling on his own recognizance until to-day and dismissed the writ.

Darling, aiming to subject the new law to a test, wrote a letter on September 12 to the Police Commissioner, Walter J. Burley, in which he considered the Sullivan statute a dead letter and challenged its constitutionality.

Justice Gavegan was summoned to court for a Magistrate's investigation. His uncorroborated testimony was insufficient and he was released. Later in the day he returned to the court with an old pistol and was again sent away.

Yesterday morning a revolver was found in a room in his residence and his arrest followed.

NABBED WITH ANOTHER'S GUN.

Sabella, Uncle of Kidnapped Boy, Had Wrested Pistol From Assailant.

Onofrio Sabella, the uncle of Vincenzo Sabella, the Italian boy who was kidnapped eight weeks ago, presumably by Black Handers, was held in $1,000 for trial yesterday in the Tombs police court by Magistrate Barlow for having a revolver in his possession. Sabella's defense was that three of the gang who had stolen his nephew had attacked him and run away on sighting a cop, leaving him with a revolver in his hand that he had wrested from one of them.

Vincenzo Sabella, the father of the stolen boy, to hear out his brother's story was in court with a badly battered head. He said that on Monday afternoon he was in a grocery store in East Fourteenth street making collections when three men of the type he recognized as Black Handers rushed into the store and saying this was his punishment for telling the police of the disappearance of his son beat him with their fists.

Onofrio said that he was near his home, 125 Clinton street, at that same time when three men jumped out of a hallway and pummeled him. He had a friend with him and the two were giving a good account of themselves when one of the assailants drew a revolver and fired at him. The bullet didn't hit him, and he took the gun away from the other. Just then a policeman came along and the policeman, Sgt. McCoy of the Mulberry street station, arrested Sabella.

DOG WOULD A SAILOR BE.

Chink's Purse Defeated, Although He Did Robbed the Chinese Cruiser.

Chink, a small dog, wandered away from his home in Brooklyn a week ago and just naturally headed for the foot of West Eighty-eighth street, where is the landing used by the sailors of H. L. C. M. S. Hai Chi. Then the little dog sat him down on his haunches and waited until three women boarded a launch bound for the cruiser. The little dog followed and the boatman in charge of the launch put him on a thwart, where he could see what was going on. When the three women left the ship the dog stayed. That is the reason Police Commissioner Waldo received the following letter yesterday:

"COMMISSIONER WALDO: A small dog was found on board our ship on Monday last. On its collar bears the following description: A. S. P. C. A. Dog License 1932R2. Would it be possible for you to find out to which dog belongs to and claim for it. Shall be most obliged. I am, yours very truly,

"(B) M. C. MANG, Lieut. I. C. N."

Inquiry disclosed that the dog belonged to the Peacock and I'm not going to say anything about it. Even if I did the newspapers the facts they wouldn't be reported correctly."

The parents of the boy who had been to the bank said they didn't know what had become of him. At the Detective Bureau it was said that no search was being made for the boy.

HELD FOR DOUBLE MURDER.

Court Cancels Bail of Saloon Man Who Shot Man and Boy.

Casimir Iig, a saloon keeper of 547 Southern Boulevard, the Bronx, was arraigned yesterday before Judge Foster on two indictments of the Grand Jury charging him with a double murder. The court refused to continue the $10,000 bail on which Coroner Shogout of the Bronx had released Iig and he was committed to the Tombs to await trial.

Iig is charged with killing with a shotgun Charles Schultz, a boiler fireman who came to his saloon on August 26 and after starting a rumpus broke one of Iig's big plate glass windows. The charge of buckshot also hit an eleven-year-old boy, Thomas Callahan, whose home was at 88 East 149th street. The boy died a few days later in Lebanon Hospital.

When the case came before the Coroner's jury shortly after the killings they returned a verdict of double murder. However, the Coroner held Iig in bail for the Grand Jury. That body held him responsible for both deaths. Eugene Kelly, the Peacock, for bail, made an effort to have Judge Foster fix bail. The latter denied this and set the case down for Monday for pleading.

Aid for Marquis de Gulchiville.

The SUN acknowledges the receipt of $5 each from E. G. H. and E. N. H. of Philadelphia, Pa., in aid of the Marquis de Gulchiville, who was killed on the Seventeenth street. The money was delivered last evening.

NEW CITY CHARTER REPORTED

SENATE CITIES COMMITTEE TAKES FAVORABLE ACTION.

Bills introduced to pay the expenses of the Merritt Craft investigation committee and the expert witnesses and counsel in the Alids Trial.

ALBANY, Sept. 22.—Both the Senate and Assembly met to-day. The Senate adjourned until to-morrow and the Assembly until Monday night. Gov. Dix after announcing he would send a direct communication message to the Legislature on Wednesday next, returned to Lake George, where he will remain to-day.

Senator Travis objected to Senator Cullen as chairman of the Cities Committee reporting to the Senate to-day the amended New York city charter on the ground that a majority of the members of the committee did not attend the meeting yesterday at which it was decided to report the charter favorably.

Finally it was agreed to receive the report of the committee with the understanding that it could be rejected by the Lieutenant-Governor when as presiding officer there is a full attendance of Senators next Wednesday. The friends of the charter insisted that this agreement meant nothing as the charter would be reprinted and be on the desks of the members for three full days before the next business session of the Senate is held on Wednesday next.

Senator Travis said he took the action he did upon a precedent already established by Lieut.-Gov. Conway, that there might be a majority of the members of a committee present and voting to report a bill, and that the bill would be on the floor of the Senate. While Senator Travis technically is right it cannot be seen where the charter will be delayed by the action he took to-day.

The Senate Finance Committee to-day introduced three bills making new appropriations of $175,888 and reappropriating $130,860 for various State expenditures which were lumped in a single appropriation and not itemized in the regular annual supply bill and consequently voted by Gov. Dix. These items were itemized in to-day's agenda.

In a separate bill is made an appropriation of $50,000 for the unpaid expenses incurred by the Merritt Craft investigation committee, and a separate bill appropriates $53,600 for the expenses and services in the Alids trial of expert witnesses and for the compensation and disbursements of counsel employed by the committee. This investigation committee for former Senator Alids will be paid, as they were employed by the Senate. The expense of former Senator Conger for counsel and disbursements, which amounted to $17,500, already had been paid by Conger himself.

In the new supply bill introduced to-day is contained an appropriation of $25,000 for the legislative department of the city and county affairs, $20,000 for the expenses of the Hammond New York city charter revision committee of last year, $4,000 for an expert witness, a congressional reapportionment committee, $1,500 each for counsel fees for Assemblymen Kopp and Spielberg of New York and Edward A. Alids for the same services in title to their seats, $10,000 for the Sullivan monument park in Chemung county, $6,000 for repairs to the Saratoga monument at Schuylkill, $2,500 for improving the Seneca River and $105,000 for the Mohawk new State Insane Hospital at Yorktown.

Gov. Dix has not given up hope of inducing Dean Bailey to become State Commissioner of Agriculture. Dean Bailey would accept the office if he could be assured he would not have to work in a political atmosphere. Gov. Dix is so keen on securing his own disbursements of the agricultural interests of the State that the dean's final acceptance of the post is prophesied.

BOY POISONED BY CANDY.

Doctors Pump Out Mixture of Dyes and Save His Life.

When Eddie O'Hare, 11 years old, of 124 Willour avenue, Long Island City, started for school yesterday afternoon his mother gave him a cent. He stopped at a small candy store on the way and bought five candy marbles. They were dyed different colors. He ate the whole six and shortly after school began he told the teacher he felt sick.

He was sent home and Dr. Taylor of 175 Academy street and Dr. Bumster of 36 Ely avenue, who were called, found him in convulsions. Father, Vincent St. Patrick's Church, in the vicinity, was also summoned.

It was found necessary to administer chloroform to allay the spasms so that the stomach pump could be used. A mixture of different colored dyes, principally yellow, was taken from the child. O'Hare's condition was said to be serious. The Board of Health of Queens will be asked to make an investigation.

This is the second schoolboy to be poisoned in Queens this week. Joseph McCarthy, 9 years old, of 208 Tenth street, Elmhurst, was taken home from school last Monday by two of his companions. They found he had been poisoned and he was unconscious and died shortly after Dr. Wood had been summoned. Coroner Ambler of Queens is investigating this case.

BANK CLERK MISSING.

Park National Officer Says "A Few Newspapers" Are Gone Too.

The newspapers were informed yesterday by a news agency that a seventeen-year-old clerk or messenger had robbed the National Park Bank of $1,500. The boy had been employed in the bank for three months, it was said, and one morning had been called in to help in sorting the registered mail. Suddenly he got headache power or something left the room and never came back. Then the money was missed.

Reporters who called at the bank yesterday were told that Edward Ewer, the cashier, was the only one authorized to speak about the matter.

"It only amounts to a few hundred dollars, and I'm not going to say anything about it. Even if I did the newspapers the facts they wouldn't be reported correctly."

The parents of the boy who had been to the bank said they didn't know what had become of him. At the Detective Bureau it was said that no search was being made for the boy.

TOWN HAS A MURDER RECORD.

Dallas, Tex., Has Had 41 Killings in the Last 38 Weeks.

DALLAS, Tex., Sept. 22.—When J. V. Harris, a street car conductor, was shot and killed this afternoon by D. L. Hoffman, a street car motorman, homicide No. 41 for the city of Dallas in the thirty-eight weeks ending January 1, 1911, was recorded. This singly makes a record for the country at large in cities of 100,000 inhabitants.

Dallas for three years has been afflicted with a wave of homicidal insanity, averaging more than one a week for that time.

SOME BOYS WEAR KNICKERBOCKERS TILL THEY'RE FULL 17 OR 18 YEAR SIZE.

Other boys want long trousers when they're 13 year size, and look better so.

So we've plenty of long trouser suits cut specially for boys—not little old men's suits.

Also plenty of the big sizes in knicker suits, and you know how hard it is to find variety in big boys' sizes.

Blues and blacks for dress; mixture suits for school, including some very handsome Scotch effects.

Everything else big boys or little boys wear—shoes with smart but sensible lasts; hats with the "college air"; shirts, scarfs, underwear, collars, stockings—everything.

Everything men wear, too.

CHEAPER SUGAR SOON.

Head of Trust Says American Crop Will Relieve Shortage.

Boston, Sept. 22.—Relative to accusations made against the American Sugar Refining Company that it is attempting by raising sugar prices to recoup moneys expended in settling Government suits, Edward F. Atkins, vice-president and managing director of the company, said to-day:

"The present high price of refined sugar is due entirely to scarcity of raw material, and over such conditions the refiners have absolutely no control."

"The last Cuban crop, which was finished in June, was some 300,000 tons or 1 per cent short. Furthermore, owing to the unprecedented weather in Europe and a drought in Germany and Austria such as has not been recorded in years, the crops there will be out last probably by 1,500,000 tons. These conditions were not fully apparent until the last six weeks and have been taken advantage of by European speculators to bring the price of raw sugar to an abnormally high figure."

"Competitors who have been short of immediate raw sugar supplies have been obliged to advance their price to the present level. It is just commencing and in two weeks deliveries will be freely made. This crop is estimated at 530,000 tons. The Louisiana crop of 250,000 tons will come upon the market very rapidly after the first of November. These two sources will furnish a total supply by the first of January sufficient to provide for the requirements until the new arrivals from Cuba begin after January 1."

"The present difference between the price of raw and refined sugar leaves the refiner little or no margin of profit. If the public will have patience for a short time longer and no further adverse conditions arise, the market will soon be sufficient to meet all demands."

SUES JACKS FOR $10,000.

Coro L. McWilliams Asks $10,000 Damages for Being Put Out of the Place.

Coro L. McWilliams filed suit yesterday against Jack's restaurant to recover $10,000. A claim of $10,000 is based on allegations that on March 18 last she was ejected from the restaurant by employees of the place, and was choked and beaten while she was being thrown out, and then kicked and beaten while she lay on the sidewalk, as the result of which she is suffering from neurasthenia.

The $10,000 for furs worth $30 and silver purse worth $60, which the employees took from her, and the permit her to go back for after she was thrown out.

WAGON KILLS SMALL BOY.

Driver Released After Victim's Parents Attempt to Attack Him.

Sidney Weinstein, 3 years old, left to play by himself outside the laundry owned by his parents at 905 West Forty-seventh street, was run over and killed yesterday afternoon by a wagon turning from Eighth avenue into Forty-seventh street. Two wheels passed over the boy's head.

Weinstein and his wife saw the accident from the place and ran out. They tried to attack the driver, Frank Meenagh of 1320 Colgate avenue. The Bronx, in the police station, where he had driven to give himself up, but policemen restrained them. Meenagh was not held.

Gustav Mehninger Cuts Off Sister in Will.

The will of Gustav Mehninger, a manufacturer of robes, who died on January 15 last, cuts off his sister, Mrs. Henrietta Steinberg, of 1210 Madison avenue, and leaves the residue of his estate to Mount Sinai and Sydenham hospitals, the Montefiore Home, Hebrew Orphan Asylum and the United Hebrew Charities. The testator left $25,000 to build a tramway and gave $20,000 to relatives and servants.

Priest Transferred.

The Rev. Thomas G. Carroll, D. D., has been transferred by the diocesan authorities from the Roman Catholic Church of St. Francis de Sales in East Ninety-sixth street, of which the Rev. J. H. Hoy is the rector, to St. Joseph's Seminary at Dunwoodie. He will become a member of the faculty.

Lewkowitz's Name Changed to Lake.

Sidney Lewkowitz, a school teacher, got permission in the Supreme Court yesterday to change his name to Lake, and pronounce, spell and write his name constantly, and they cause him great annoyance by the mistakes they make.
