

WU MURDER DOOMS MANCHUS

TROOPS ENRAGED BY FATE OF REFORM GENERAL.

Confusion and Dismay in Peking Palace—Wealthy Leaving City—Foreigners Called to Lakan Quarter—Soldiers in Ugly Mood—The Rebellion Spreads.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. PEKING, Nov. 7.—The Chinese crisis has become considerably more acute with the murder of Gen. Wu, which has violently embittered the Lan-chow army, reformers generally and the anti-Manchu party, for Wu, although not an aggressive reformer, was regarded as among the strongest sympathizers with the revolution.

Gen. Wu, who was educated in Japan, was assassinated yesterday at Shih-kai-chwang. Thirty Manchu soldiers rushed into the tent where he was sleeping and murdered the general, who had been deposed and placed under arrest. The story is that Gen. Wu had secretly gone over to the revolutionists and was betraying the Manchus. His assassination was followed by fighting between the Manchus and Chinese troops. Several officers and men on both sides were killed.

It now looks as if the Throne's humiliation will avail nothing to save the imperial family and the dynasty from overthrow. The city is full of alarming rumors and anxiety is general. The enraged Chinese troops in the Peking district are reported to have repudiated their allegiance to the Throne which the imperial concessions had secured and are marching toward the capital. The vanguard of the Twentieth division is reported to have reached the Feng-tai junction, six miles outside the city, and to have stopped their trains and encamped, awaiting reinforcements. The railway in the direction of Hankow has been cut.

The exodus of the wealthy to the northward continues. There is a steady procession of cars on the roads. The railway to Kai-gan, which alone remains in the control of the Manchus troops, is crowded with refugees and there is much confusion.

The report that the capital had fallen and that the court had fled is not true. The report possibly arose from the fact that Prince Tsai Hsun, a brother of the Regent, Prince Chun, has not been seen for the last three days. He obtained a month's leave of absence as acting Minister of the Navy and there is a suspicion that he has desecrated.

There is much confusion at the palace and there are persistent reports that the court is preparing to flee. The first appearance of Chinese troops at the gates is expected to lead to fighting. The Manchu imperial guards seem to be in a dangerous mood.

The American and other Foreign Ministers have advised their governments to come to the legation quarter, and many foreigners are urging the Ministers to call for reinforcements.

The National Assembly formally elected Yuan Shih Kai Prime Minister of China today.

Chang Shao Tseng has refused the appointment of imperial envoy to the Yang-tse provinces to act as conciliator of the people. He prefers the command of the Lan-chow army, which is a section of his forces.

Feng-tai has conflicting reports from Hankow. One version is that fighting, burning and looting continue and another is that the fighting has been stopped pending negotiations.

Shanghai is reported to be in a state of anarchy. The Amoy Governor has fled and looting is general.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 7.—Wu Ting-fang in a telegram received here today says the Emperor and his suite have fled from Peking to Tientsin. This report has not been confirmed.

The rebel control in the south is spreading every day. At the present time practically the whole lower Yangtze Valley except Nankin has gone over to the revolutionists. The Chinese telegraph offices here hoisted the flag of the revolution today.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—The commanding officer of the Inniskilling Fusiliers, who are stationed at Aldershot, has received orders to prepare a strong draft of the men there to reinforce the first battalion of the regiment in China.

FRENCH POWDER SCANDAL.

Report on Abuses in Handling of Dangerous Explosives to Be Made Public.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. PARIS, Nov. 7.—Although M. Messimy, the Minister of War, promised some time ago that he would publish the results of the inquiry into the powder scandal which developed at the time of the explosion and fire on the battleship Liberté, the report is withheld because, it is alleged, it would compromise the memory of Gen. Brun, the late Minister of War. The Cabinet, however, will publish the findings of the commission.

M. Maissin, the director of the Pont de Bois powder works, who accused his predecessor, M. Louppe, of remarking old B powder with recent dates, never specifically complained of the powder, which caused the Liberté disaster. MM. Louppe and Maissin will be sent before a council of inquiry with a view to the dismissal of other officers.

ARMY FLIERS IN HARD LUCK.

Dangerous Storms in the Upper Air Stop French Contest—Weymann Hurt in Fall.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. REIMS, Nov. 7.—The final flight for the competition organized by the War Department, the preliminaries of which have occupied a month, were started today but resulted in a fiasco. The contests had already been postponed for three days owing to the prevalence of what were called storms.

The men went up this morning, but all came down except Weymann, the American aviator, owing to what they called the dangerous storms aloft. Weymann fell after he had been up some time, bruising himself and damaging his machine.

TO STUDY EFFECTS OF CANAL.

Governor Oliver of Jamaica to Visit Panama on Official Mission.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. PANAMA, Nov. 7.—Sir Sydney Oliver, the Governor of Jamaica, is due here on Thursday for a visit to the Panama Canal.

The Governor is coming for the purpose of studying the effects of the canal when completed on the British West Indian possessions, especially Jamaica.

1,000 FOOT WHITE STAR LINER.

Ship to Outclass the Olympic Ordered From Harlan & Wolff.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. LONDON, Nov. 7.—It is reported from Belfast that the White Star line has ordered from Harlan & Wolff a liner to be 100 feet longer than the giant Olympic; that is to say, a vessel nearly 1,000 feet in length.

The report is not denied by either the line or the shipbuilding firm.

NOBEL PRIZE FOR MME. CURIE.

Second Award to Woman Chemist—She Gladly Denies Ability.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. STOCKHOLM, Nov. 7.—The Nobel prize for chemistry has been awarded to Mme. Curie, who jointly with her late husband received the Nobel prize in 1903, shortly after they had discovered radium.

PARIS, Nov. 7.—Mme. Curie, the co-discoverer with her late husband of radium, writes a letter to the Temps in which she protests against what she calls the atomization of her name in the press and public into her private life in the circulation of stories connecting her name with that of Prof. Langevin whose wife has just sued him for a separation.

Mme. Curie says: "I might spare myself any explanation as to what has been published about me, but the stupid extravagance of the allegations in regard to my pretended disappearance with Prof. Langevin obliges me to give the most express denial of the correctness and authenticity of anything which may be attributed to me. I have done nothing derogatory to my honor."

Mme. Curie says she will not prosecute the newspapers for the stories that were printed about her owing to the apologies she has received. She adds, however, that if any repetitions of the stories are printed in the future, she will sue the papers for libel and will devote whatever damages she may receive to science.

Mme. Curie then reproduces a very humble letter of apology from the writer of the original story which appeared in the Journal.

FAUNAL RAID ON ABYSSINIA.

Son of H. C. Frick and Party to Seek Small Game for Smithsonian.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. LONDON, Nov. 7.—A faunal expedition rivalling that of Col. Theodore Roosevelt in size and importance starts for Abyssinia on Wednesday headed by Childs Frick, son of Henry C. Frick, Dr. D. G. Raftery of Pittsburgh, J. C. Bick, a mining engineer of California, and Col. McEwen, who accompanied Col. Roosevelt.

The purpose of the expedition is to obtain birds and small mammals for the Smithsonian Institution and the Carnegie Institute museums. En route the party will shoot big game.

The expedition will land at Djibouti and will go from there to Hara by train. The next stage will be from Hara to Lake Rudolf. Instead of depending upon porters for the transportation of the impediments a caravan of mules and camels will be employed.

It is expected that the expedition will occupy seven or eight months.

SCRATCHES AND JABS.

Real Blood Shed in Paris Duel in Which Mlle. Simone's Ex-Husband Figured.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. PARIS, Nov. 7.—Charles Le Bargy of the Théâtre Français, former husband of Mlle. Simone, now Mme. Casimir Perier in private life, who is playing in the United States, and M. Malherbe, a journalist, fought a duel this morning. Both men were wounded.

Some time ago M. Le Bargy and M. Malherbe, both of the Théâtre Français, were on the point of fighting a duel over statements attributed to them by interviewers. A week ago a court of honor decided that a duel was unnecessary on the ground that the reporters had misrepresented the statements made by both actors.

The sequel, however, occurred this morning when M. Malherbe, one of the journalists, fought five hours with rapier with M. Le Bargy. M. Malherbe was jabbed three times, while M. Le Bargy was scratched on the hand.

WOMEN OUT OF SUFFRAGE BILL.

Asquith's Adult Measure for Next Session Enrages Mrs. Pankhurst.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. LONDON, Nov. 7.—Prime Minister Asquith announced in the House of Commons this afternoon that a bill dealing with adult suffrage would be introduced at the next session of Parliament. It contains no clause favoring women, but the Premier indicated that one might be moved during the progress of the bill.

The suffragettes are extremely angry at Premier Asquith for not including the women in the bill. Mrs. Pankhurst says the suggestion that an amendment favorable to women may be moved is "an insult to our intelligence." A vigorous anti-Government campaign will be begun on Wednesday.

DIKE MORNY'S CERTIFICATE.

Paris Police Gather in Man Who Seems to Have New Birth Hearings.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. PARIS, Nov. 7.—A man arrested by the Paris police today charged with being under decree of expulsion had in his possession an authentic birth certificate in the name of Charles, son of the Duke Morny. The certificate was in an envelope addressed to Duke Morny, 142 Macdonald street, New York, and bore date of June 20, 1910.

The prisoner has several records on file in the police annals under varying names and nationalities.

BRITISH TRADE BOOMS.

Enormous Increases in Imports and Exports and Still Growing.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. LONDON, Nov. 7.—The Board of Trade returns for October, published today, show that the imports for the month were £20,815,120, an increase of £2,804,498 over the preceding month. The exports for the same period were £45,540,303, an increase of £5,855,071.

The imports for the ten months ended October 31 were £250,249,001. The exports for the same period amounted to £374,724,190, an increase of £33,458,098 over the corresponding period last year.

Wounded Major of Colon Recovering.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. PANAMA, Nov. 7.—The shooting of Emilio Clara, the Mayor of Colon, on Sunday night, was the result of his attempt to arrest a drunken man who was celebrating Independence Day. Mr. Clara is reported to be out of danger.

TURKEY'S HOPE IN AMERICA.

NOTE ON TRIPOLI MASSACRE SENT ONLY TO U. S.

Mediation Seems to Be Expected, but the Porte Won't Accept Loss of African Province—Home Says Ailes Quiet at Derna—Artillery and Cavalry Work.

Special Cable Dispatches to THE SUN. LONDON, Nov. 7.—A Turkish official told THE SUN correspondent to-night that Turkey's note with reference to the Tripoli massacre had been addressed solely to the United States. Turkey was satisfied from the previous attitude of Europe that it was useless to appeal to the concert of nations.

The official said that undoubtedly the dispatch of the United States scout cruiser Chester to Tripoli was in response to the note, but he declined to give the note's contents. He explained that America's independence of the European situation and the part she had taken in ending the Russo-Japanese war constituted the reason for Turkey's appeal to her Government.

He said further that the response of the United States to the note was altogether satisfactory. There was optimistic feeling at Constantinople over the result. It was understood that the Chester was to ascertain from the American Consuls and others the facts regarding the alleged massacre, and it was expected that the report of her commander would be communicated to other nations by the American Secretary of State.

It was denied that this action on the part of Tripoli indicated that she desired mediation in the sense of accepting the loss of Tripoli. The official said that 10,000 Turks and Arabs would invest the Tripoli littoral probably within a week.

ROME, Nov. 7.—Official despatches from Tripoli say that long ranges firing by artillery, machine guns and rifles is continuous.

The arrival of reinforcements was made the occasion for the capture by the Italians of Fort Amiddi, where a battery of machine guns has been mounted. The fighting accompanying the movement was not severe and only a few men were wounded.

The Italian cavalry rode out of Bengazi last night and captured two guns. All is quiet at Derna.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 7.—The commandant of the gendarmerie at Akkita, in the Red Sea, reports that an Italian cruiser bombarded that town for an hour on Sunday. The Turkish gunboat Halidi, which responded, was sunk. The crew was saved.

According to despatches received here the Italians have lost 200 killed and many wounded in an engagement near Tobruk. The Turks lost 90 killed and 50 wounded.

The War Office has dampened the enthusiasm that had arisen over reports of the capture of Derna by admitting that the official reports do not mention the capture of the town or of prisoners. Nevertheless, it is said, the army has won an important victory in which 500 Italians were killed and eighteen guns captured.

MILAN, Nov. 7.—The repression of Arab "rebels" in Tripoli will be sterner, according to Gen. Frugoni, who is nominally under Gen. Canova but who will probably take the chief command in that country. Gen. Frugoni, who is renowned for his firmness, expressed his determination to treat the "rebels" as brigands and to punish them "without excessive scruples."

Italy, the General says, will press the war in other quarters and will demand that Turkey pay the cost of the conquest of Tripoli.

PALERMO, Nov. 7.—King Victor Emmanuel paid a visit today to the wounded soldiers who have been sent back from Tripoli to the military hospital here. The King was enthusiastically cheered as he drove through the streets.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—The scout cruiser Chester spent several hours today at Tripoli and sailed later for Marseille. Commander Decker of the Chester got into communication with John Q. Wood, American Consul at Tripoli, who reported that the army had captured the town.

Although officers of the State Department would not admit it, it is believed here that the trip of the Chester to Tripoli was primarily for the purpose of obtaining a report from Consul Wood upon the alleged atrocities committed by the Italian troops upon the Arab population.

The Italian Embassy gave out a despatch today saying that Tripoli was assuming its normal aspect. No mention was made of the reported deaths of the Italians at Derna. In part the despatch read:

The cities of Homs and Suva are calm in Benghazi. In the control of the Italian General Frugoni and the Carabinieri have reached Tripoli where the Italian troops are continually arriving.

ARABS RISE IN TUNIS.

Fortify the Cemetery and Murder Italians—Troops Storm Defences.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. TUNIS, Nov. 7.—Fifteen thousand Arabs have risen against the authorities over the cemetery. The Arabs have occupied and fortified, saying that they intend to defend it against the Italians.

The troops stormed the cemetery. Ten Europeans were killed and many were wounded. Many Italians have been murdered here.

ANGRY AT CRUELTY CHARGES.

Protest of New York Italians—Telegram From Ambassador at Washington.

The Baron di San Severino, head of a committee of Italian citizens which met at the offices of an Italian newspaper on Monday night to protest against the published accounts of Italian atrocities in Tripoli, received the following telegram yesterday from the Marchese Cusani Gonalonori, the Italian Ambassador at Washington:

I heartily appreciate and heartily share the unanimous indignation of my fellow countrymen at the callous insinuations against our brave soldiers. They are officially conveyed by our patriotic colony my trust that the present manifestations of protest be inspired by that control and dignity which are the best proof of the loyalty and correctness with which Italy is steadfastly proceeding toward her high, noble goal.

There were 200 members of the Italian colony present at Monday's mass meeting and they sent a telegram to the Ambassador telling of their protests to which his is an answer. Another meeting of the same character will be held next week.

FALL KILLS MRS. HAVEMEYER.

WALKED OUT FRENCH WINDOW WHEN NURSE WAS GONE.

The Wife of James Havemeyer Fell Nine Stories and Was Killed Instantly—A Daughter-in-Law of William F. Havemeyer, Thrice Mayor of New York.

Mrs. James Havemeyer, a daughter-in-law of William Frederick Havemeyer, three times Mayor of New York, fell from a window of her apartment at 34 West End avenue yesterday afternoon and was instantly killed. Mrs. Havemeyer, who was an invalid, had been left alone by her nurse. Her son, John Craig Havemeyer, said that he thought his mother fell out of the window, which had a low sill.

For more than fifty years Mrs. Havemeyer, who was 65 years old, had been confined to a bed by a nervous condition. Yesterday afternoon her nurse was called from the room, which is on the ninth floor of the New Century Apartments, at West End Avenue and Seventy-ninth street. When the nurse came back there was no one in the room, but the French window was swung open. The nurse looked out and saw her patient lying on the sidewalk beneath the window.

Policeman Neary, who was on his way to his duty, came up after Mrs. Havemeyer had fallen and he and Supt. Palmer carried her body into the apartment house.

Dr. Johnson of the J. Hood Wright Hospital was sent for, but there was nothing for him to do except to say that she had died instantly. Coroner Holtzhauser was summoned and he had his physician, Dr. O'Hanlon, investigate Mrs. Havemeyer's death.

Dr. O'Hanlon's report was that Mrs. Havemeyer had fallen from the window, which was about 100 feet high, and was struck by the head of a window blind. He was chairman of the committee of seventy that helped expose the sewer in the city in 1883 and again in 1873.

James Havemeyer is now retired. For a while he was engaged in the sugar business, but he has since turned to real estate. His wife was Miss Sarah Cordelia Conklin, a daughter of William L. Conklin. She was born in this city.

Mrs. Havemeyer, who survives her, is a broker with an office at 45 Exchange place. He came to the New Century apartments with his parents, George and Mrs. John C. Havemeyer, who have lived there since they were married. Mrs. Havemeyer has attracted attention from time to time by first leaving the sugar business, then the real estate business, and then by her social service work in which she has been very active.

NEW REBEL FOR HAYTI.

Triboulet St. Juste Says He'll Make All the Trouble He Can for Leconte.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. KINGSTON, Jamaica, Nov. 7.—Triboulet St. Juste, formerly Haitian Consul-General here, has issued a manifesto in the local press in which he declares himself the leader of the Liberal party in Hayti. He expresses his determination to return to that country and overthrow the Government of President Leconte, whom he brands as a scoundrel.

News received here from Hayti yesterday was to the effect that everything was quiet in the republic. Several pardons were issued, including the son of the late President, Antoine Simon, left here for Hayti today.

WORK FOR SANITARIUMS.

Tangier Plague Peril Brought Home to Delegates at Dinner.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. PARIS, Nov. 7.—The International Sanitary Convention met this afternoon. M. De Selves, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, received the 103 delegates representing forty-one countries at a banquet this evening.

While the banquet was in progress M. De Selves received a telegram from Tangier protesting that stringent measures should be taken to guard against the spread of the plague which has broken out there with violence.

MISS ELSIE WON'T PLAY HERE.

London Musical Comedy Actress Marries Wealthy Scotch Widower.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. LONDON, Nov. 7.—Lily Elsie, a London favorite musical comedy artist, was married today to Ian Ballough, a wealthy Scotchman, whose first wife, Maude Darrell, died a year ago.

Miss Elsie was to have appeared in New York this season in Lehár's opera "The York of Luxembourg," but her contract with Klaw & Erlanger will probably be cancelled.

CHAGAS ADMINISTRATION OUT.

First Republican Ministry of Portugal is Shaken Today.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. LISBON, Nov. 7.—The members of the Chagas Ministry are reported to have handed in their resignations. It was the first Portuguese Cabinet under the definitive Republican régime. It has only been in office a few weeks.

Dr. John M. T. Finney of Baltimore, a Trustee, Spoken Of.

The subcommittee of the board of trustees of Princeton University, which has been for some time investigating the field of presidential possibilities for the university, held a meeting in New York two days ago. No result of their meeting was announced. It is felt, however, among Princeton men who are in touch with what is moving among the trustees that the field for presidential candidates is narrowing down and that the subcommittee is coming near to a unanimous agreement. If the subcommittee is able to settle unanimously on one man it is felt that its recommendation will be accepted by the board of trustees as a whole. This is not a certainty.

Dr. John M. T. Finney, a trustee of Princeton, who is an eminent surgeon of Baltimore and member of the faculty of Johns Hopkins, has been very favorably considered by the subcommittee. His name has been among those who have latterly received most attention from the committee. It is said, however, that others have received as favorable attention as has Dr. Finney, so that no definite fixing upon Dr. Finney, it is believed, has yet come to pass.

Among Princeton graduates as a whole Dr. Finney's name comes somewhat as a surprise. Graduates in the section about Baltimore and the middle South, however, know and speak of him with approval as a man of eminence in his profession of broad view and in touch with men and affairs. He was of the class of 1884 at Princeton and among other events of his career played on a football team that beat Harvard and also had a Yale victory to its credit. It is thought by these men that Dr. Finney has the quality of broad sympathy and catholicity that it is felt is needed to avoid any recurrence of factional feeling in the university.

MME. GADSKI'S RECITAL.

The Popular Dramatic Soprano Entertains a Large Audience.

Mme. Johanna Gadski gave her annual song recital yesterday afternoon at Carnegie Hall. The stage was prettily decorated with palms trimmed with autumn leaves, and when the inevitable bow of floral offerings covered the piano at the end of the first part of the programme the effect was altogether charming. The audience was one of good size and its applause bodeen a hearty interest in the art of the favorite singer.

Mme. Gadski has her own conception of the method of arranging a programme and she therefore begins her entertainment with a group comprising songs by Grieg, McDowell, Kurt Schindler, E. Schindler (her accompanist) and Liszt, in the order named. Whether the prima donna had or had not an idea of placing Liszt in a strong light in order that she might add her little bit of the mass of celebrity observations is only matter for conjecture. But by her grouping she certainly made Liszt look large for the time.

Furthermore her singing of his "Lorelei" was one of the best pieces of interpretation in her afternoon's performance, and the applause which it evoked was none the less a great and excellent merit. The second group consisted of songs by Schubert, Schumann and Brahms, and here the singer rose to her greatest heights.

It was in Brahms's "Auf den Kirchhof" that Mme. Gadski uttered the profoundest dramatic note heard in her entire recital. Some of her other songs disclosed simplicity and careful study, but none of them quite reached the moving force of this. So also did the Schumann's "Schneegeklöckchen" and Brahms's "Das Mädchen spricht." The distinction of an encore also went to a delightful song by Eugen d'Albert, entitled "The Maiden and the Butterfly" heard in the first group on the programme. But by this time the audience was in a mood to cry continually, like the daughters of the horse-shoe, "Give, give."

Mme. Gadski has grown much in public favor as a leader singer and she has bestowed hard study on this branch of her art. The technical inequalities which marked her singing in earlier years have been overcome to a great extent and she has acquired a more flexible manner of interpretation than she displayed in her first concert.

OPERA SEATS TO-NMORROW.

Sale of Single Seats Begins—Two New Singers.

Sale of single seats for the first week of the Metropolitan opera season will open to-morrow morning at the box office.

With Caruso, Mme. Destinn and Gilly will arrive this morning on the Kronprinzessin Cecilie two new members of the Metropolitan opera company—Mme. Margarete Matzenauer, contralto, late of the Royal Opera, Munich, and Herman Weil, tenor, who has been with the Royal Opera, Stuttgart. Mme. Matzenauer will make her American debut as Amneris in "Aida" next Monday evening, while Mr. Weil will be heard for the first time here as Krusenrid in "Tristan und Isolde" on the Friday night following.

Furniture that Conveys a Meaning

IT is chiefly its capacity for the expression of a personality that elevates the well-considered piece of Furniture above the range of the common-place.

The Easy-Chair, for instance, suggesting, in the amplitude and suavity of its lines, the intimacy of reposeful ease; the Table that prefigures the very meaning of hospitality; or the Sofa with its hint of drowsy comfort. Such furnishings as these, fashioned with integrity and designed with artistry, are to be found in any one of the Twelve Galleries we devote to their display.
