

ITALIANS CRITICISE CHARLTON CASE DELAY

Comment on Reply From U. S. He Will Not Be Extradited for a Year.

AWAIT A COURT RULING

Authorities Hold Man 2 Years—Argue Italy Has Nullified Treaty.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. Rome, April 27.—The Ministry of Justice on several occasions has solicited information from the United States Government as to Porter Charlton, who murdered his wife and packed the body in a trunk which he threw into Lake Como, two years ago. The last reply received was that Charlton would be handed over to the Italian authorities for trial within at least another year. He has been kept under medical observation by the American authorities.

This reply is unfavorably commented upon here. The Italians say Americans should not criticize the delays in Italy under the law, since such dilatoriness in the administration of justice apparently prevails in that country.

R. Lloyd Clarke, who has been counsel for Charlton ever since the young man landed here on June 23, 1910, said yesterday that Charlton's case is now before the Supreme Court of the United States and that a decision as to whether Charlton can be extradited will not be made until next fall.

Charlton will remain in the Hudson county, New Jersey, jail until the Supreme Court decides whether under the treaty of 1888 he is extraditable for the murder of his wife in June, 1910. His father, Judge Charlton, who is now the Judge of the United States Court in Porto Rico, got out a writ of habeas corpus shortly after the young man came to this country and was arrested for the murder of his wife, Blanche Scott Castle Charlton.

The lower courts denied the writ asked for by Judge Charlton and Mr. Clarke appealed to the Supreme Court of the United States on constitutional grounds. His argument was that Italy's breach of the extradition treaty permitted the United States to exercise its right to turn over to the Italian Government any alleged criminal apprehended here. That is the main point that the Supreme Court will rule on in the Charlton case.

The whole argument in the Charlton case is that the treaty of extradition between Italy and this country has been nullified by the refusal of the Italian Government to permit the extradition of Italians who have been wanted here for alleged criminal acts. Mr. Clarke argued that in 1888 in the Paladini case, in 1889 in the Vivilla case, in 1891 in the Dellipopo case, and in 1894 in the Di Biasi case, the State Department was unable to secure extradition from Italy of defendants wanted here.

TITANIC SAILORS IN PORT.

Will Be Kept Prisoners Practically Until Evidence is Taken.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. Plymouth, April 27.—The Red Star liner Lapland, with some of the crew of the Titanic aboard, will arrive here at 10 o'clock Sunday morning. The men practically will be kept prisoners on the dock while the solicitors of the White Star company and the Board of Trade take the preliminary depositions in order to select witnesses for the wreck commission, of which Lord Mersey is chairman. The stewardesses will go to a local hotel. The crew will be paid off here, except those who are wanted as witnesses, and will probably reach Southampton next Tuesday.

EX-GAMBLER IS INDIGNANT.

Denies He Dressed in Woman's Clothing to Escape From Titanic.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. London, April 28.—The Daily Chronicle printed a story from New York recently about how two gamblers on the Titanic were known as Doc Owen and Karl Homer, took refuge in one of the lifeboats dressed in women's clothes.

GRECIANS WARN CRETANS.

Athenian Newspaper Tells Islanders to Take Government's Advice.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. Athens, April 27.—An official denial has been issued of the statement made by the newspaper Hestia to the effect that the Government would resign if the Powers did not solve the Cretan problem in a month's time.

The newspaper Patris says that the policy of Greece was clearly indorsed in the recent elections and warns the Cretans not to force the hands of Greece and to conform to the advice of the Government, which possesses the confidence of the Greek nation.

Despite objections seventeen Cretan Deputies to the Greek Chamber of Deputies arrived here today for the purpose of attempting to take seats in that body, despite the fact that Premier Venizelos has announced positively that they will not be admitted. These who arrived today had an enthusiastic reception. Additional Deputies are expected on Monday.

D'ANNUNZIO WRITES LIBRETTO FOR OPERA

This Time Italian's Triangle Includes a Father and Son—Tragic End.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. Paris, April 27.—Gabriele d'Annunzio has completed a libretto for a dramatic opera for which Mascagni is writing the music. The scene of the opera is laid in the early part of the fourteenth century. A young girl named Desirée Malatesta has married an elderly widower named Nicolo. She becomes enamored with her husband's son Ugo, and the couple confess their love during a pilgrimage to the Notre Dame at Loreto. Nicolo surprises them and is about to thrust his poniard through the curtain which hides the lover when Desirée cries out: "It's your son!"

Nicolo hands over the couple to justice and in the last act they are seen awaiting death in a dungeon. It is reported here that the opera will be produced simultaneously in Paris and Milan, but the Paris Opera says that the negotiations have not commenced as yet.

The task of awarding the triennial Osiris prize of 100,000 francs has proved too much for the Institute of France. The founder of the prize wished to recompense the person who made the most remarkable discovery or did the most remarkable work in science, letters, arts or industry.

It was suggested that the inventors of wireless telegraphy, especially M. Branly, should be awarded the prize, as the Titanic disaster had again shown the importance of the discovery, but this proposal was ruled out as dating too far back. Other persons wished the prize to go to the French Medical School at Beirut, but institutions of such a nature were not considered qualified under the will establishing the prize.

Diphtheria Closes Seton Hall.

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J., April 27.—Seton Hall College is closed because of diphtheria, and four cases in the infirmary at this time having caused grave concern. A dozen students who are believed to have been exposed to the disease are under observation at the infirmary. Nearly all the students have gone home. The death was that of Charles English, 11 years old, a student in Wesley Hall, the preparatory school. He was ill nearly a week in the infirmary. Yesterday he was taken to his home, where he died. He was the son of John English of Eagle Rock avenue, West Orange. Dr. Richard D. Freeman of South Orange, is the college physician.

FISCAL REFORM CAUSE OF RISE IN RENTES?

Senatorial Committee Proposes Exemption of State Funds From Tax.

MAIN FACTOR IN ADVANCE

Edmond Thery Says Amount of New Securities Caused Previous Decline.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. PARIS, April 27.—The past week has seen a two point rise in rentes which is a welcome change from the steady decline so long marking the State funds. As there is no apparent cause, externally or internally for this improvement it has been ascribed to the Senatorial committee's proposals for fiscal reform which have now been drawn up after the bill which passed the Chamber has been under its consideration for two years.

POPE POSTPONES CONSISTORY.

Although Vatican Denies Alarming Rumors as to Health.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. ROME, April 27.—The Osservatore Romano semi-officially denies the alarming rumors as to the health of Pope Pius X., which, it says, are belied by his numerous daily audiences. The correspondent of THE SUN learns, however, that despite the optimism of the Vatican, the doctors, while admitting that a recurrence of the gout is unlikely, fear that the Pope's overwork may develop nephritis. Meanwhile the consistory which was expected at the end of April has been postponed.

LOWTHER OPTIMIST TO END.

Did Not Take Too Gloomy View of Himself in Writing Will.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN. LONDON, April 27.—The will of the Hon. William Lowther, father of the Speaker of the House of Commons, was filed for probate today. The estate is valued at $2,330,975, on which the death duties are $290,000. In view of the fact that the deceased was 90 years of age it is interesting to note that in a letter filed with documents addressed to his solicitors in September, 1909, he says: "I do not take too gloomy a view of myself."
