

BEAUTY'S SISTER WEDS EQUERRY TO THE KING

Mrs. J. Graham Menzies Becomes the Bride of Sir George Holford.

GEORGE V. IS PRESENT

Alexandra Presents Bridegroom With Gold Cigar Box Designed by Herself.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. LONDON, July 17.—Mrs. J. Graham Menzies, formerly Miss Wilson of Trinity Croft, a daughter of Mrs. Arthur Wilson and sister of the famous beauty, Miss Muriel Wilson, was married to-day to Sir George Holford, the owner of Dorchester House, the headquarters of the American Embassy and of Ambassador and Mrs. Reid. The wedding took place in the chapel royal of St. James's Palace. Sir George is equerry to King George V. and is immensely wealthy.

Queen Alexandra presented the bridegroom with a gold cigar box which had been especially designed by herself. On the lid were miniatures of the King, Edward and Queen Alexandra, and the Duke of Clarence, who died just before he was about to be married to Queen Mary, his brother's wife. Sir George Holford's first appointment was as equerry to the Duke of Clarence, who was then the compe Prince of Wales. Diamonds surmounted the miniatures and underneath were the initials of each and the royal crown of diamonds and rubies in the center. Inside was the inscription: "To George Holford in remembrance of his many years of service from Alexandra."

Mrs. Menzies was given away by her brother, Stanley Wilson. She wore a white dress of tulle and lace, and a cloak of white chiffon embroidered with gold. Her hairdress was composed of gold lace and pink roses. She carried a bunch of beautiful orchids. King George, Queen Mary, Queen Alexandra and the Princess Victoria were present at the ceremony, which was performed by Canon Edgar Sheppard. The Queen wore a cream chiffon dress handpainted in a design of pink flowers, a cream hat and cream feathers. The King was in a gray frock suit and silk hat with a tie of blue and red and a white carnation in his buttonhole. Queen Alexandra was in black. Princess Victoria was in white.

Among others present at the wedding were Ambassador and Mrs. Reid, Count Albert Menzies, the Marquis de Soveral, the former Portuguese Ambassador, the Duchess of Marlborough, the Earl and Countess of Chesterfield and the Marquis and Marchioness of Ripon.

FORDHAM AND ST. XAVIER COLLEGES TO BE UNITED

Collegiate Department of Both Institutes Will Unite to Insure Efficiency.

NEW REGIME IN SEPTEMBER

Preparatory Work of the Two Will Be Kept Separate, as Heretofore.

A statement was given out yesterday at the College of St. Francis Xavier to the effect that the proposed union of the collegiate department of that institution with Fordham University, as reported yesterday morning in THE SUN, had been decided upon. The change will go into effect with the opening of the college year in September.

Members of the faculties and the friends of the two institutions have long discussed the change with a view to greater efficiency of action and economy of forces, and the shifting of the residential center of the city northward, along with a comparative increase in rapid transit facilities, has promoted the final determination to make it. The statement issued yesterday says in part:

"After mature deliberation and after securing the opinions of competent judges in the matter it has been decided to coordinate and concentrate the collegiate educational work of St. Francis Xavier's College and of Fordham University. The preparatory and high school work of both institutions will remain separate and distinct as heretofore. Only the collegiate departments, viz., the freshman, sophomore, junior and senior classes of the two institutions, will be united and located at Fordham.

"The proposed joint or affiliation with Fordham University the College of St. Francis Xavier will retain its own charter and corporate (legal) existence. The American and college flags will be hoisted and the formal opening exercises will include addresses by Mrs. Belmont, Miss Elizabeth J. Ryan, president of the Rhode Island Suffrage Association, and Miss Cora Mitchell, president of the Newport County League.
