A LAWN FETE AT BELAIR

Interest in Suggested Visit of Princess Patricia of Connaught.

Newport, R. I., July 20.—Those who have been cooped up in hot city offices need not be altogether envious of their apparently more fortunate friends who have been here. There really has not been much choice in regard to temperature except for those who live well out on the cliffs. For all this there has not been any letup on the part of outdoor sports, lawn tennis and golf enthusiasts having any sort of weather save a downpour of rain, and thus far there have been no storms of any severity. Newport life goes on in its systematic way at this early part of the season, every one taking the opportunity for a good rest before the rush of August festivities sets in. To be sure there are dinners and luncheons, as is always the case in the hospitable village. Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish had the largest dinner thus far of the summer last Saturday night, informal dancing following. The appointments of the dinner were such as Mrs. Fish is noted for, but there did not seem to be much enthusiasm for dancing. While numerous dinner dances have been arranged for the summer, there seems to be no great desire for the cotillon, for which, no doubt, such leaders as Eliza Dyer and Phoebe Ingraham will be truly careful. With the experience of last winter in New York it seems as if the cotillon will be cut out altogether and in its place there will be general dancing. If such conditions were favored in the winter they will surely be more in keeping with the summer season here, when in spite of such elegant surroundings there is always a certain informality nowadays to the dances. Mrs. French Vanderbilt gives a small dance to-night for Miss Mary Shreve Ames, sister of F. Lothrop Ames of Boston, and last night Mrs. John R. Drexel had a small dance at her villa.

If the Princess Patricia of Connaught should decide to make a visit here next month, as it has been rumored, her presence would add much zest to the season. When it was reported about three months ago that the Duke and Duchess of Connaught would come here for a visit in August, there was immediately an official denial from Ottawa. Since that time the Duchess has been seriously ill and it is possible that she will soon go to England for a while, and in that case no doubt the Princess would accompany her mother. In any case if Princess Patricia, as she is called by her intimate friends, should come here she will undoubtedly visit Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt at Beaulieu. Mrs. Vanderbilt has sent out invitations for dinners on August 2 and 4 and is reserving August 23 for some sort of an entertainment which her friends here wish might be something like that given at Beaulieu nearly ten years ago, when "The White Rose" was performed by a company from New York. That entertainment is yet talked of, and such a one would indeed be welcome this summer, which finds more people in Newport than for many years. Count and Countess Laszlo Szecsenyi after spending ten days with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney on Octopus Mountain, near Lenox, returned here on Wednesday evening, going at once to the Breakers to join Mrs. Vanderbilt, who is giving there a formal dinner on July 29. Mrs. Vanderbilt has reserved the night of August 12 for a dinner and dance.

to remain throughout the summer. One of their near neighbors will be Mrs. Adolf Ladenburg, who has been here less than a week. It is not often that so many late rentals are made during the summer as has been the case this year. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Prince of Boston have just leased the Gilbert villa, Le Chalet, in Bellevue avenue. Their sons, Frederick H. Prince, Jr., and Norman Prince, will play polo during the regular season of that sport. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Widener are soon expected here, and they will take the villa in Bellevue avenue belonging to Mrs. Gill, formerly Mrs. Woodbury Kane. Mrs. Stanley McCormick of Boston has recently leased the villa of E. S. Grand L'Hotelville, which has not been occupied in years, and just a few days ago Howard Taylor of New York took possession of Needwood, a villa in Parker avenue.

The successful lawn fete given on Tuesday afternoon at Belair, the estate of the late George H. Norman, for the benefit of St. Mary's orphanage of Providence, R. I., makes all regret that the garden party of former days should not be revived in Newport, where there are so many superb gardens and lawns. Mr. and Mrs. William R. Hunter, who recently disposed of their country place in Middletown to Michael Van Beuren of New York, have taken Belair for this summer. It belonged to Mrs. Hunter's father. The lawn fete was decidedly picturesque and it had a wonderful setting of verdure. The copper beeches, elms, oak trees and ornamental shrubs are among the finest here. One of the tables that attracted much attention was laden with small fruits and garden vegetables, suggesting a scene from a market place in some foreign city. There were also many contributions from the private hothouses of the Newport estates of luscious green and white Hamburg grapes, nectarines and peaches for which this place is famous. The sum of $1,800 was netted for the orphanage.

Commodore and Mrs. Elbridge T. Gerry are giving a dinner party on Tuesday night. For the first time in the memory of almost even the oldest inhabitant of Newport Commodore Gerry's famous yacht Electra is out of

THE GREAT AUGUST FURNITURE SALE

Direct Savings of From 20% to 50% On Every Good Kind of Furniture.

THIS IS AN EXTRAORDINARY SALE IN EVERY WAY—an Abraham and Straus event never yet equaled by other stores. It is extraordinary in the enormous quantities of fine Furniture shown and sold. It is wonderful in its vast variety and its newness of designs. It is amazing in its underpricing. Planned for months ahead, it represents the best work of the best factories of the world at the lowest prices of the year. Invented years ago to meet the problem of keeping employees of both factory and store busy the year round, it is of mutual benefit. The factory and store can afford to lose profit for the extra business done—and you, the consumer, CANNOT AFFORD to lose the advantages of such sensational savings, such fascinating completeness of stocks, such immensely satisfying assortment. If you are in the country, it will pay you to spend a day in town to take in this sale.
