

NEED WATER TREATMENT, SAY EMINENT DOCTORS

Medical Congress Hears Interesting Discussion by Dr. L. Brieger of Berlin.

VIEW OF DR. KELLOGG

Battle Creek Man Pays Tribute to Dr. Baruch as American Pioneer.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—A feature of the meeting of the International Congress on Hygiene and Demography was the reading of a paper by Dr. L. Brieger of the medical department of Berlin University on the importance of the remedial treatment of disease by water in various forms, and the necessity of physicians making themselves acquainted with it.

Dr. Brieger is one of the greatest authorities on the subject and because of the interest manifested by the delegates who heard it his address is here reproduced in full. Dr. Brieger said:

"We leave out purely operative aid, to mention about one-third of patients treated with it, we see that medical treatment with the products of chemistry and botany has been a failure. As there was no success, however, stated at the opening of the congress for Internal Medicine in 1897, the treatment no longer depends exclusively upon medications.

It was in consequence of this that more attention has been given to the work of the doctors to nourishing foods for the sick as well as to nursing.

Physical therapy, however, remained absolutely neglected, especially hydrotherapy. This was left in the great majority of cases to the laity. The merit of having laid the definite foundations belongs undoubtedly to Wilhelm Winternitz, since his experiments brought the laws of physiology on thermal and mechanical treatment to the attention of the medical profession. Winternitz's pupils, and especially Dr. Simon Baruch (New York) and other investigators, working in the new and flourishing field of physical therapy have built up and extended the doctrine of hydrotherapy.

It is not only the external application of water, but the internal application of water, which is the most important. The water and air bath enables the pores of the skin to strongly contract and thereby protect the body from cooling off and therefore from catching cold.

The necessity, therefore, of applying hydrotherapy to the service of the doctor in his practice is making itself felt ever more and more. When I took over the chair of the Chair in Berlin in 1907 I had much opposition to overcome, especially from doctors. Just about the same thing happened during the earlier development of bacteriology, when the greatest and bitterest opposition came from the highest authorities. My institute soon became of pure necessity being extensively enlarged.

CONGRESS ON HYGIENE IS GREATEST EVER HELD

New Discoveries and Ideas Advanced Most Valuable in Sixty Years.

WORLD FIGHT ON TYPHOID

Action Taken for International Uniformity on Many Subjects.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—At a general session in Memorial Continental Hall today, the great International Congress on Hygiene and Demography, in its fifteenth meeting, came to a close. Heads of delegations from the four corners of the earth and from every State and hundreds of American cities, numbering over 3,000, gave testimonial of the invaluable results of the discussions in the various sections of the congress. They treated every phase of the physical sciences of mankind and of vital statistics, all looking to the health and conservation of the human race.

The exhibition in connection with the congress, which opened last week, will continue to be on view for the general public, with daily lectures on sex hygiene, eugenics and the hygiene of occupations, until October 6. Some of the more prominent participants in the main congress have remained over to deliver talks before the exhibitions. Many of these talks will be devoted to a discussion of the more important features brought out in the papers read during the week in the various sections.

In connection with dissertations on the fighting of diseases and their causes in all forms several new theories which are expected to prove of the greatest importance in the world of applied science were disclosed, among them being a vaccine which is expected to prevent tuberculosis as the vaccine now in use throughout the world is preventing smallpox and typhoid fever. The discovery of the parasite of yellow fever, of the causes and cure of the hookworm disease and infantile paralysis, the development of a better human race by the application of eugenics and sex hygiene and a solution of the social evil were among the other more important points introduced.

Among the resolutions adopted were the approval of the proposition from the section on microbiology and applied parasitology that an international committee be appointed to bring about uniformity in methods of classification of the different organisms of the colon bacilli, which causes typhoid fever; that occupational diseases be reported in uniform manner by international agreement; that greater uniformity be obtained in the reports of the medical departments in the navies of the world as to the causes of disability or death; that an international agreement be made on the uniformity of legal reports of marriages, births, deaths and divorces, and that such reports, made to conform to a uniform standard, be published periodically; that a commission be appointed to bring about uniformity in criminal statistics and that the permanent international committee of the congress be instructed to establish a permanent bureau for future congresses.

It was decided that such a bureau shall be established in the immediate future, to be located at The Hague. At a meeting of the international commission initiatives were extended from Brazil, San Francisco and from the Russian delegation for the meeting place of the next congress four years hence. Since the Russian delegation was without official credentials from its Government it was decided to postpone action until later. Sentiment appeared to favor Russia. Moscow was announced by the delegation as the desired place of meeting.

The evening array has also some hydrotherapeutic features, the use of which is the so-called Officers' Home at Falkenstein, An Faunus, under the direction of a former assistant of mine, Oberstaabsarzt, Dr. Kreiss. The treatment, no further statistics are surely needed to prove the necessity of treatment by water.

These facts prove conclusively that a wider field for medical training in hydrotherapy must be made, since it is no longer the rich only who are treated in spas and homes, but the general masses of the sick, not being fitted up everywhere, prove above all things the necessity of a knowledge of hydrotherapy by the doctor. Too long has this important branch been neglected and left to quacks, to the injury of mankind and of the doctor. This, however, has not been changed, and must remain so, to the welfare of mankind and to the advantage of the doctor.

The paper was discussed by Dr. Plomes of Hannover, Dr. Baruch of New York, whose remarks were published in THE SUN of the 26th inst., and by Dr. J. H. Kellogg of Battle Creek, who said:

PROSPERITY IS AHEAD FOR STEEL INDUSTRY

Makers Convinced That Activity and Good Prices Should Continue Throughout 1913.

BOOKED FOR SIX MONTHS

More Business Now on Hand for Next Year Than Ever Before at This Time of Year.

Prosperity in 1913 seems to be assured to the steel industry because of the large amount of orders which have been booked already for next year's delivery, and steel manufacturers are filled with confidence and optimism over the outlook for good prices and activity to the end of next year at least.
