

1912 ELECTRICAL SHOW TO BE THE BEST EVER

It Will Open in Grand Central Palace on Wednesday Morning.

SAM ON DECK

Many of His Departments Will Exhibit—Luncheon for T. A. Edison.

The annual electrical show which opens in the Grand Central Palace on Wednesday, has become the measure of twentieth century progress.

There will be displayed a great collection of really extraordinary achievements. For instance, there is the exhibit of the gardener down on Long Island who by electrifying his irrigation trenches has cultivated a high degree of profit a farm in a section of land which no other method has shown any possibility of reclaiming.

The United States Department of the Interior's reclamation work in the Southwest, where deserts are being converted into fruitful farmlands, is illustrated.

The Department of Agriculture's experiments with electricity in horticulture are also demonstrated.

The Census Bureau shows the electrically operated machines which do the intricate work of tabulating the statistics of our business and other various pursuits.

The War Department's display includes the model harbor built by the Government for the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition at a cost of $5,000—a complete model showing the perfection of our coast defenses.

The Isthmian Canal Commission shows a working model of the Gatun dam region of the Panama Canal.

The exhibit of the bureau of mines will include the safety devices employed in the bureau's campaign to reduce deaths and injuries among the mine workers.

The electrical show has in the last few years developed into the annual automobile show as well.

The Electrical Show will open with a luncheon in honor of Thomas A. Edison who celebrates the thirtieth anniversary of his establishment in the city of the first central station in the world for generating and distributing electricity.

The show will be open from 10 A. M. to 7 P. M. from October 9 to October 15, inclusive.

SOCIETY AT LAKEWOOD

Many Guests at Hotel and an Early Season Seems at Hand.

LAKEWOOD, N. J., Oct. 5.—With the opening of the Laurel House, the resort's pioneer hotel, the fall season was formally launched here this week.

It is seldom that so many of the cottagers have been on hand at this time of the year and every indication points to an early season.

The Laurel House opened with an unusually large number of its patrons back. The hotel is again under the management of A. J. Murphy.

It is reported that Mrs. George Fales Baker of Philadelphia has purchased the Freeman estate at Forest avenue and the Lake Drive.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wilcock returned early in the week and opened their Forest avenue house.

Mrs. E. M. Horne has opened her cottage on the Lake Drive.

H. M. Forrest arrived Monday at his cottage on Second street. Mr. Forrest will remain during the fall season, taking part in the annual fall golf tournament at the Country Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Lynch opened their place, Lynx Hall, on Forest avenue last Saturday and will remain for the entire season.

Dr. and Mrs. C. L. Lindley arrived at their winter cottage this week, after having spent the summer at Spring Lake.

Sherwood B. Ferris and Miss Eleanor Ferris arrived at their Fifth street cottage for the season in the early part of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Archibald D. Davis returned on Saturday to their winter residence on First street, where they will spend the entire season.

P. S. P. Randolph of Philadelphia returned from Narragansett Pier Monday and opened his Madison avenue cottage, where he will remain for the season.

Besides the Laurel House, the Bartlett Inn, Lexington, Carasanto and Madison have all opened for the winter. Registration at all the houses has been excellent. Among the arrivals from New York are:

Laurel House—Mrs. A. T. Compton, Miss L. R. Compton, Mrs. J. L. Quackebush, Miss Quackebush, Miss Swaine, James V. Swaine, James A. Allen, Mrs. N. Christiana Borgh, Mrs. Kane, John F. Morgan, Mrs. N. S. Flack, Mrs. C. W. Woodley.

WEDDINGS

Ewing—Sheldon.

GREENWICH, Conn., Oct. 5.—Since the day, more than a year ago, when the little racing yacht Sue, guided by the hand of Mrs. Mary Rowland Sheldon, crossed the line a winner in the Indian Harbor Yacht Club's race for lady pilots, the dapper little racer has brought only good fortune to its owner, Frederick Ewing, banker and yachtsman, of New York.

The wedding of Mrs. Sheldon and Mr. Ewing took place at a cocktail in the afternoon at the home of the bride's father, George Rowland of Field Point road. It was a quiet wedding, yet one of the prettiest of the season in Greenwich. The house was attractively decorated with autumn foliage gathered by members of the family and by friends of the bride and arranged by them.

The ceremony was performed in the living room before a pile of autumn leaves. The Rev. Dr. Cornelius Brett of Jersey City, an intimate friend of the bride, was the officiating clergyman. About fifty guests were present, most of them being members of the immediate families and classmates at Yale of the bridegroom.

The bride wore a gown of champagne charmeuse with garniture of duchess lace and a large brown tulle hat. She wore corsage bouquet of orchids and carried a prayer book. She was unattended. William Ewing of St. Louis, a brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

At the reception, which immediately followed the ceremony, Mrs. George Lauder, Jr., a sister of the bride, received with Mr. Rowland. They were assisted by Mrs. Henry Rowland of Paris and Mrs. Ewing of St. Louis, mother of the bridegroom.

The bride is a sister of Henry Rowland of Paris, Kaspar Rowland of Niagara Falls and John Rowland, who was a member of the crew of the yacht Kathema, which a short time ago was thought to have been lost in a race to Bermuda.

Seamans—Flint.

BOSTON, Oct. 5.—In the South Congregational Church at noon today Miss Ruth Huntington Flint, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Huntington Flint of Brookline, and William Shepard Seamans, Jr., son of Dr. W. S. Seamans of 515 Madison avenue, New York, were married by the Rev. Edward Cummins, rector of the church. Miss Citra Hutchinson of Philadelphia was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Constance Zerrahn and Miss Marie Lee. Woodbury Seamans of New York was best man. The ushers were Ralph Debois Flint, Harvard, '07; John Anderson Sweetser of Brookline, Lawrence McKeever Miller of Tuxedo Park, D. C. Coursey Fales, Gilbert Edward Jones, Jr., and Francis Nathan Barnes, Jr., all of New York and graduates of Harvard, '11.

After the ceremony there was a reception at the home of the bride's parents on Kilbuck road, Brookline.

Munson—Vandeveer.

Miss Frances Lindlow Vandevanter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob H. Vandevanter of Plainfield, N. J., and Samuel Lyman Munson, Jr., of Albany, were married yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents in Woodland avenue, Plainfield, by the Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelis, assisted by the Rev. Joseph Addison Jones of Albany. Miss Marguerite Vandevanter was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Anna Garrigues and Miss Margaret Platt Mead of Plainfield. Miss Frances Allen Benson of Albany and Miss Alice Woodfin of Rutland, Vt. Edward Alexander of New York was best man. The ushers were Nevil Ford of Boston, Howard H. Wood of Hartford, Conn., Edward Munson, Dr. L. Whittington, Lorham, Robert Whalen and Noel S. Bennett of Albany and Jacob L. Vandevanter and Joseph Nell Vandevanter of Plainfield.

Dallam—Forbes.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 5.—John Law Dallam was married today to Elizabeth Fitzgerald Forbes, daughter of the late Dr. William S. Forbes, for many years a professor at New York Medical College. Miss Forbes is a sister of Commodore William Innes Forbes of the Schuykill navy and a niece of the late John C. Sims, who was secretary of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. The wedding took place in country seat of the bride's aunt, Mrs. John C. Sims, at Chestnut Hill. The bride was given in marriage by Murray Forbes of Greensburg, Pa., her brother. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. Andrew Harris, rector of St. Paul's Church, Chestnut Hill. Mr. Dallam is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania Law School, class of 1893.

Bird—Snow.

In the First Presbyterian Church in Orange, N. J., last evening Miss Jacqueline Snow, daughter of Mrs. Henry Howland Dillingham, Victor Herbert, the composer, and Miss Anne Caldwell, James O'Dea and Lawrence McArt, the authors of the musical comedy, left yesterday afternoon for a special train for Philadelphia, where the show, in which Elsie Janis and Montgomery and Stone are featured, opens in the Chestnut Street Theatre tomorrow night. Victor Herbert will conduct at the opening performance. The production will come to the Globe Theatre in November.

COLUMBIA HAS 8,502 STUDENTS.

Complete Registration May Show 9,000—School of Journalism, 55. During the first week of registration for the academic year 1912-13 Columbia University has exceeded the enrollment of all previous years, making a high record of 8,502 students. It is probable that when the complete registration figures are ready the total number of students will be over 9,000, not including 2,000 or more who have registered in the extension teaching department.

Every department shows an increase excepting the school of engineering, where there has been a falling off of about thirty students. However, the addition of the new schools of journalism and practical arts have made up for the loss in the applied science faculty.

In Columbia College 752 students are enrolled and there are 43 students in the law school, an increase of fifteen over last year. Three hundred and two students are enrolled for medicine, 820 in business, 125 in fine arts, 1,100 in the graduate faculties and 350 in Teachers College. The school in Barnard College has registered 388, an increase of 100 over last year.

PROF. LEWIS BOSS DEAD.

Head of Dudley Observatory and Author of Standard Astronomical Works.

ALBANY, Oct. 5.—Prof. Lewis Boss, director of the Dudley Observatory since 1876, died today of hardening of the arteries. He was born in Newport, R. I., in 1846, and was graduated from Dartmouth College, where he got his first taste for astronomy under Prof. C. A. Young. After leaving college he held several Government positions in Washington. As examiner of surveys in the General Land Office he located the northern boundary of the United States from Lake of the Woods to the Rocky Mountains. In 1870 he was made the head of the Dudley Observatory. From 1883 to 1885 Prof. Boss was State Superintendent of Weights and Measures. At the same time he was editor of the Albany Express. Then he resumed his astronomical work.

For several years past the Dudley Observatory has been doing work for the Carnegie Institution of Washington, D. C., and in this work he took a party to San Luis, Argentine, to observe the transit of Mercury. He wrote several books on astronomy, including "Declination of Fixed Stars," 1878; "Catalogue of 8,241 Stars," Leipzig, 1890; and "Catalogue of 1,059 Standard Stars," 1910. These are all looked upon as standard works.

Prof. Boss was a member of several astronomical and other scientific societies in Europe. In 1871 he married Miss Helen M. Hutchinson of Washington, who, with one son, Benjamin Boss, of Albany, and three daughters, Mrs. Phillip Farnsworth of Summit, N. J., Mrs. John Hale McElroy of Albany, and Mrs. Harold Greene of Albany, survive him.

LYMAN TIFFANY DEAD.

Civil War Veteran Known in Washington and Newport.

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 5.—Lyman Tiffany of Washington died today at his summer home, Fair Acre, at Jamestown. He was 75 years old. He was a veteran of the civil war and a member of Lafayette Post, G. A. R., of New York. Until two years ago he had his summer home at Newport, but at that time he purchased the Jamestown property. Mrs. Alexander J. Anderson, a daughter, has her home here.

Mr. Tiffany was a member of Kane Lodge of Masons of New York and a member of the Washington Club of Washington. He had spent his winters in the capital since 1887.

Mr. Tiffany is survived by his wife, a son, Capt. George S. Tiffany, U. S. A., and two daughters, besides Mrs. Anderson. They are Mrs. Tiffany Whiting and Mrs. Kemp, the latter the wife of Col. Herbert V. Kemp, Royal Engineers, British army.

HENRY E. PICKETT.

He Was the Constructor of the First Pipe Line for Conveying Oil.

PHILADELPHIA, N. Y., Oct. 5.—Dr. D. G. Pickett of Fredonia has received news of the death of his nephew, Henry E. Pickett of Sacramento, Cal. Mr. Pickett was formerly a resident of Springfield, Pa., and in the '80s was an oil operator at Titusville. He laid a pipe line from the oil wells to Oil Creek, a distance of eleven miles where oil could be shipped to market. The first output sent by way of this line, which was the first ever laid for such a purpose, was sent to the Rockefeller company.

For eighteen years Mr. Pickett was interested in gold mines in California. Recently he had to do with the Arkwright Falls in Chautauqua county for generating electricity for use in western New York.

Richard Renshaw Nell.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 5.—Richard Renshaw Nell died today at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Edward J. Frew in Wagon. He was 63 years old.
